A Message From President Thomas J. Schwarz

I am pleased to present the Purchase College Catalog for 2013–2015, which provides information on our academic programs, courses, faculty, and facilities, as well as the academic policies that will govern the college during the next two years. I hope you will enjoy this opportunity to investigate fully the variety and vitality of opportunities at Purchase College: the distinctive combination of programs in the liberal arts and sciences and the performing and visual arts, complemented by our impressive campus facilities and resources.

Purchase College is built upon a three-school academic structure:

- School of the Arts
The School of the Arts administers the arts management program and includes the Conservatory of Dance, Conservatory of Music, Conservatory of Theatre Arts, and School of Art+Design. Degrees offered include the BA, BS (in visual arts), BFA, MusB, MM, and MFA. Postbaccalaureate performers certificates and post-master's artist diplomas in music are also offered, along with several minors and more than 100 courses in the arts for students in all disciplines.
- School of Liberal Arts and Sciences
The School of Liberal Arts and Sciences includes the School of Film and Media Studies, the School of Humanities, and the School of Natural and Social Sciences. Degrees offered include the BA, BS, BFA (in film), and MA (in art history). An extensive array of minors are available to students in all disciplines. A premedical studies program is also offered for students interested in applying to medical, dental, and veterinary schools.
- School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education
The School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education offers the liberal studies degree completion program for adults and transfer students and provides year-round educational opportunities for both matriculated and nonmatriculated students—during the academic year, the online winter session, and three summer sessions, which run from May to early August. These opportunities include credit-bearing and personal enrichment courses (both on campus and online), professional certificate programs, and youth and precollege programs in the arts.

Detailed information on these schools and the academic units and programs within them is available in the Academic Programs and Courses section of this catalog.

To complement and enrich the academic programs, Purchase College provides an equally distinctive living, cultural, and recreational environment:

- The Performing Arts Center, a unique four-theatre complex, offers a full performance calendar and provides a professional venue for student work, along with a K-12 Arts-In-Education program and numerous community-based events. The Neuberger Museum of Art, the 10th largest university museum in the country, offers exhibitions, concerts and films, educational programs, and tours. Both contribute directly to the academic programs while providing members of the college and the wider community with a rich concentration of the arts.
- The Center for Physical Education, Recreation, and Athletics offers an array of credit courses and programs, as well as a gymnasium and outdoor facilities for sports and fitness activities.
- Purchase College also offers eight programs—in Argentina, Costa Rica, France, Honduras, India, Israel, Italy, and Spain—for study abroad, along with an increasing focus on internationalization within the academic programs offered on campus.

Purchase College's commitment to excellence in the liberal arts and sciences complements its distinction in the performing and visual arts. As noted in our 2010–2015 Strategic Plan:

- We have strengthened our commitment to being a learning-centered institution through innovation, inclusion, and internationalization.
- We are committed to providing an environment that encourages creativity, diversity, individuality, and collegiality.
- We seek to nurture our students' talents and their civic, ethical, personal, and physical well-being by providing opportunities for engagement inside and outside the classroom.
- We strive to educate the whole student.
- We recognize our shared responsibility for our students' success.

Our goal is to provide access to the best public education in the arts and the liberal arts and sciences that this country can produce—and to be a true value in higher education.

I hope that you will come to share these riches with us at Purchase College as a visitor, spectator, parent, family member, and especially as a student.

Mission:

Purchase College, SUNY, offers a unique education that combines programs in the liberal arts with conservatory programs in the arts in ways that emphasize inquiry, mastery of skills, and creativity. Our graduates contribute to the arts, humanities, sciences, and society.

Vision:

Purchase College will be recognized nationally and internationally as the leading public institution to pair conservatory programs in the arts with liberal arts programs. We will continue to create opportunities for transformative learning and training in a community where disciplines connect, intersect, and enhance one another.

Values:

Purchase College celebrates individuality, diversity, and creativity in a community of educational excellence.

An Overview of the Campus

Purchase College, referred to as the “gem” of the State University of New York system, combines distinctive programs in the liberal arts and sciences with professional conservatory and studio training in the performing and visual arts. This combination provides a unique educational experience for approximately 4,267 students from more than 43 states (including Puerto Rico) and 28 countries. Of these students, approximately 2,600 live on campus and enjoy an unusually stimulating and creative environment.

Located on more than 500 acres of farmland—originally the property of Thomas Thomas, a Revolutionary War hero—Purchase combines the ease of suburban living in Westchester County with close proximity to New York City. Its academic buildings, designed in the 1970s by leading architects, are clustered around a central plaza modeled on the University of Virginia campus, with easy access to surrounding dormitories and apartments and to a state-of-the-art athletic complex. A three-mile perimeter road within the campus property, Brigid Flanigan Drive, named for one of the college’s generous benefactors, provides both convenient access and a safe environment for recreation.

Purchase College is moving toward completion of its five-year Capital Facilities Plan with more than 21 projects (at a total value exceeding $130 million) in various stages of planning, design, or construction. Major completed projects include the rehabilitation of the central plaza and the heating, ventilation, and air-conditioning systems in the Neuberger Museum of Art, and new headquarters for the University Police Department in previously unused space. Renovation of the Durst Family Humanities Building, which is expected to conclude in June 2014, includes redesigned interior spaces to meet current academic developments; replacement of mechanical, electrical, and plumbing systems; and exterior repairs. Exterior rehabilitation projects are underway in the Visual Arts Building, the dormitories, the Dining Hall, and the physical education buildings. The planning phase is underway for a new academic building—the Center for Integrated Teaching, Learning, and Technology—and three rehabilitation projects: heating, ventilation, and air-conditioning systems in the Dance Building; humidification in the Music Building; and academic restrooms throughout the campus.

A Facilities Master Plan that aligns the next 10-year Capital Facilities Plan with the academic mission of the college has been completed, together with an electric metering project to monitor building electrical demand and reduce energy consumption. In collaboration with the New York Power Authority, the college will also study current building systems and identify possible capital projects in an effort to realize energy savings, as outlined in the Energy Master Plan.

Academic Programs Overview

Purchase College combines, in one college and on one campus, four distinctive yet interacting academic foci: film and media studies, the humanities, the natural and social sciences, and the performing and visual arts. As of fall 2013, the college offers:

- 47 undergraduate majors, with 37 concentrations
- 5 graduate majors, with 17 concentrations
- 30 undergraduate minors
- postbaccalaureate performers certificates and post-master's artist diplomas in music
- numerous internship and study-abroad opportunities

Approximately 65 percent of the matriculated students at Purchase College are enrolled in the BA, BS, and MA programs; the remaining 35 percent are enrolled in the BFA, MusB, MM, and MFA programs. In response to our rapidly changing global society, the college is continuing to develop integrative and interdisciplinary programs as well as innovative opportunities for international and online studies. Detailed information on the Purchase College School of the Arts and School of Liberal Arts and Sciences, their academic units, and the programs offered, is available in the Academic Programs and Courses section of this catalog.

In addition, Purchase College has one of the largest and most diverse continuing education programs in the State University of New York system. The School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education offers the liberal studies degree completion program, specifically designed for adults and transfer students who need to complete their bachelor's degree within a tight timeframe and with a flexible schedule. The school also offers both credit-bearing and noncredit courses for adults, college students, and eligible high school students; professional certificate programs; and noncredit programs in the arts for children and teenagers. In addition, the school administers the college's online winter session and its summer sessions, which attract students from colleges and universities across the nation.

Purchase College is a full member of the New York Campus Compact (www.nycampuscompact.org), an association of college and university presidents and their campuses committed to promoting active citizenship as an aim of higher education. The New York Campus Compact provides statewide leadership in advocating for, supporting, and increasing student involvement in academic and co-curricular public service to strengthen the capacity of member institutions to serve society; to enhance student learning; and to develop in individual students the knowledge, values, skills, and habits of civic responsibility and democratic participation.

Neuberger Museum of Art

The Neuberger Museum of Art is a rare cultural asset for a college campus. Celebrated internationally for its commitment to the art of our time and for its excellent exhibitions and programs, the Neuberger is the 10th largest university museum in the nation. It is housed in a spacious modern facility designed by the world-renowned architect Philip Johnson.

The museum's remarkable permanent collection includes more than 6,000 works of uncompromised quality and variety. Featuring prestigious examples of modern, contemporary, and African art, holdings include the Roy R. Neuberger Collection of American Art; the Aimee W. Hirshberg and Lawrence Gussman Collections of African Art; the Hans Richter bequest of Dada and Surrealist objects; the George and Edith Rickey Collection of Constructivist art; American, Mexican, and European masterworks from the collection of the late Dina and Alexander Racolin; and the Luis Calzadilla Collection of Contemporary Latin American Art.

Nationally acclaimed exhibitions, educational services, public programs, lectures, family programs, art workshops, films, and concerts are presented throughout the year for the campus and the community. Changing exhibitions present a wide variety of media, forms, ideas, concepts, views, and talent in a balanced slate of thematic surveys, solo exhibitions, and period/time-specific shows. Many students use the museum's resources in conjunction with classroom study and participate in the museum's training program as interns and aides in research, public information, installation, and education.

Among its regular offerings, the museum presents the biennial Yaseen Lecture Series, featuring such noted speakers as Claes Oldenburg, Maya Angelou, Chuck Close, Robert Wilson, Meredith Monk, Andy Goldsworthy, and Faith Ringgold. Other amenities include the Museum Café, the Museum Store, and an electronic library.

Admission to all museum programs is discounted or free to Purchase College students, faculty, and staff. The museum is open Tues.–Sun., 12–5 p.m. It is closed to the public on Mondays and closed on major holidays. For additional information and updates during 2013–2015, please visit the Neuberger Museum of Art at www.neuberger.org.

The Performing Arts Center

The Performing Arts Center (PAC) provides models of excellence for students in the study and performance of theatre, dance, and music that are unsurpassed on any East Coast campus. Its mission is to promote the performing arts at Purchase College and fulfill the cultural outreach and public service mission of the college by:

- presenting, developing, and encouraging the highest excellence in the performing arts at the PAC
- enriching the lives of the public and the students of the college by encouraging and advancing public knowledge
- supporting professional artists of merit in the creation and development of new works and assisting in the dissemination of such works throughout the world

- creating models of excellence for students by facilitating and promoting the presentation of works performed by students in conservatory programs
- promoting interest in the study of the performing arts by providing an atmosphere of freedom to pursue creative objectives
- encouraging broad-based and interactive participation in the arts by passionate amateurs in the campus community and the surrounding communities

The Performing Arts Center is an invaluable laboratory and resource for students enrolled in the college's three performing arts conservatories in the School of the Arts. It houses four theatres, with seating capacities ranging from 500 to 1,372. Each of these theatres is designed and equipped for performances of the highest professional quality. The PAC supplements the students' educational experience by offering lectures, discussions, open rehearsals, workshops, and master classes with professional artists and companies. Such world-renowned artists as Bill T. Jones and the Orion String Quartet are often engaged to provide masterful interpretations and insights into the creative process. Purchase College students not only benefit from exposure to internationally acclaimed artists, but also from the PAC's sophisticated production shops. The PAC is also the largest employer of students on campus, and numerous student internships are offered through the arts management program in the School of the Arts.

From September to May, the PAC presents its annual professional series, featuring world-class artists in music, dance, and theatre. The series reaches out to diverse audiences with eclectic tastes. Highlights of past seasons include performances by Lang Lang, Pinchas Zukerman, Garrick Ohlsson, the Mariinsky Orchestra conducted by Valery Gergiev, the Budapest Festival Orchestra, Orpheus Chamber Orchestra, Tokyo String Quartet, Bill T. Jones/Arnie Zane Dance Company, Mark Morris Dance Group, Merce Cunningham Dance Company, Anna Deavere Smith, John Pizzarelli, Patti LuPone, Bernadette Peters, and great artists in world music and dance, as well as rising young artists in each of the artistic disciplines. The PAC also commissions and produces world-premiere dance and theatre works.

In the PAC's DIY/Informal Arts program, professional artists work with amateur artists from various communities to engage them in dance, acting, and music making. South Bay Cabaret, a showcase of Purchase College student talent that is student-curated and managed, takes place several times during the academic year. K-12 Arts-in-Education, a core program of the PAC, serves 7,500 children from 31 school districts in six counties, with 25 percent of the participating students attending on scholarship.

The PAC, which makes its facilities available to numerous local performing arts organizations at low cost, also works with the local artistic community to explore opportunities for residencies, workshops, and joint programming. In addition, its spaces are available for rental to corporate and fundraising groups through the Office of Facilities Rentals. More than 100,000 individuals are drawn to the PAC each year through its student, professional series, and community-based performances and events.

For additional information and updates during 2013–2015 or to purchase tickets, please visit the Performing Arts Center at www.artscenter.org.

The goal of a liberal arts education is to acquire the knowledge and skills necessary to critically appreciate, analyze, and resolve problems—both those encountered in the classroom and in society. To achieve this, the liberal arts curriculum is designed so that students are exposed to many fields of study while they gain mastery in a single discipline. Striking the right balance between in-depth study in a narrow area and exposure to a broad array of disciplinary perspectives enhances personal and professional success. Programs are designed to provide students with the concepts and critical-thinking abilities necessary to understand, create, and communicate, as well as the requisite analytical skills to work effectively in their chosen fields of study.

Academic Organization

In the liberal arts and sciences at Purchase College, majors, interdisciplinary programs, and numerous concentrations and minors are offered by the School of Film and Media Studies, the School of Humanities, and the School of Natural and Social Sciences. Most undergraduate majors lead to the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree. A Bachelor of Science (BS) degree is also available in biology, and a Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) degree is offered in film. In the School of Humanities, the Master of Arts (MA) degree is offered in 20th-century art history.

Interdisciplinary Studies

Within the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences, it is possible to major in one of three interdisciplinary BA degree programs: gender studies, Latin American studies, and liberal arts. Students who wish to pursue an individualized program of study that cannot be accommodated within any of the conventional majors can work with faculty members from different boards of study to create a program of study leading to the BA in liberal arts. In addition, interdisciplinary minors are available in Asian studies, gender studies, and Latin American studies.

Boards of Study

Faculty in the liberal arts and sciences are organized by boards of study—groups of faculty members in the major disciplines and, in some cases, from related fields. Boards of study assume major responsibility for the development of specific programs, the determination of program requirements, and student advising. When a student is ready to select a major, the appropriate board of study identifies a qualified advisor for the student. It is the student's responsibility to be aware of the requirements of each program. New boards of study are created to shape and supervise new programs as student needs require and faculty resources permit.

Faculty

Faculty appointments in the liberal arts and sciences are made on the basis of effectiveness in teaching and dedication to undergraduate education, with attention to scholarly accomplishment and to the intellectual breadth essential to implement interdisciplinary programs. Of our full-time faculty, approximately 86 percent hold a doctorate or other terminal degree; others are award-winning authors, journalists, and filmmakers. In addition to general teaching and advising responsibilities, faculty members guide tutorials and supervise independent research projects and senior theses.

Academic Advising

All students in the liberal arts and sciences have faculty advisors and plan their semester's work in consultation with these advisors. Students are also strongly encouraged to use the services of the Advising Center. In particular, students who have not declared their major are encouraged to meet with a Center advisor for guidance.

The School of Film and Media Studies

The School of Film and Media Studies integrates production and critique of the media that shape contemporary life. The four programs that comprise the School of Film and Media Studies offer studies in new media, video art, and production training in filmmaking. Highlighting the growing convergence of media, these four majors offer rigorous and forward-looking programs that provide students with the professional and critical tools to engage their desired fields of work or study.

Overview of Programs

The School of Film and Media Studies includes four film and media-focused majors: cinema studies; film; media, society, and the arts; and new media. More than 400 students are majoring in these four fields of study, which emphasize filmmaking, screenwriting, new media production, and the aesthetic and sociological study of the film and media industries. The curriculum fuses intellectual and practical training in film and media studies, educating students to be critical producers and consumers of film and media.

BFA Program

The BFA program in film teaches students to become multiskilled filmmakers in fiction, documentary, or experimental film. This major offers training in film history, cinematography, editing, production, scriptwriting, and film analysis, with a primary emphasis on directing.

BA Programs

Most students in the School of Film and Media Studies are enrolled in one of the multidisciplinary BA-granting programs: cinema studies; media, society, and the arts; and new media. These programs teach students to engage media critically and creatively in order to address media as cultural, political, and aesthetic forces. Students learn to analyze media as forms of art and industry and to use media technologies as research tools to intervene in an increasingly mediated world.

In playwriting and screenwriting—a BA program offered by the Conservatory of Theatre Arts in collaboration with the School of Film and Media Studies—students learn to write for both the stage and the screen. The curriculum also helps students to develop a sophisticated eye and gain a deeper understanding of the art and craft involved in making theatre and film.

All students majoring in a discipline in the School of Film and Media Studies share core coursework and integrate their own interest in a particular form of art or media with studies in the social sciences or humanities.

Minors

The School of Film and Media Studies also offers two minors, which are open to students in all disciplines: media, society, and the arts, and screenwriting. The latter program is offered in collaboration with the Conservatory of Theatre Arts.

Faculty

Members of the School of Film and Media Studies faculty are dynamic, interdisciplinary scholars, successful artists, and innovative teachers. As working artists and scholars, they exhibit regularly at museums and art galleries; produce film, video, and new media; serve on the editorial boards of professional journals and the juries of major arts festivals; publish books and articles in scholarly journals across numerous disciplines; and are active members in national professional associations.

Among the many honors accorded to the faculty are the following fellowships and grants: National Endowment for the Humanities, Fulbright, Guggenheim, Ford Foundation, National Science Foundation, Wenner-Gren, New York Foundation for the Arts, Turbulence.org

Commission, Lower Manhattan Cultural Council Grant, and the New York State Department of Energy's Next Generation Emerging Technologies Award.

Faculty members have exhibited at many prestigious museums, galleries, and festivals, including the Whitney Museum of American Art, Arte.Mov, Warhol Museum of Art, New Media When, Neuberger Museum of Art, Sonar Music and Multimedia Festival, Exit Art, Database Imaginary, Venice Biennale, Centre Pompidou, Berkeley Art Museum, New Museum Postmasters Gallery, and La Casa Encendida in Madrid. They have edited Emmy Award-winning television, independent films, and feature documentaries, and their work has appeared at the Cannes Festival, Berlin Film Festival, Sundance Film Festival, New York Lincoln Center, Robert Flaherty Film Festival, British Film Institute, Pacific Film Archive, New York Underground Film Festival, and Mix Fest.

Facilities

The School of Film and Media Studies is located on the ground floor of the Music Building, with additional office and classroom space in the Humanities Building, the Social Sciences Building, and Natural Sciences Building. Facilities include digital editing studios, a physical computing lab, screening rooms, a sound stage, a mix studio, and a film equipment store.

Please note that the Humanities Building is closed through June 2014 for renovations and upgrades. For information on temporary office relocations, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/Humanities/OfficeRelocations.aspx.

The Cinema Studies BA Program

An Intensive Immersion in the Art of Film

The cinema studies major offers students an opportunity for intensive study of the art of film through a broad range of courses in history and aesthetics.

- All students begin with yearlong introductory surveys of film and modern art, then proceed to more advanced courses that focus on a wide variety of directors, national cinemas, genres, modes (narrative, documentary, avant-garde), and critical/theoretical approaches.
- In their senior year, students explore and extend their knowledge of cultural, historical, industrial, philosophical, and artistic perspectives on the medium in their senior project.

Interdisciplinary and Rigorous

This interdisciplinary degree program is rigorous and highly selective, with official admission to the program contingent on successful completion of Introduction to Cinema Studies I and II during the freshman year and a qualifying examination in film history and aesthetics, which is given at the end of the freshman year.

The Cinema Studies Program: Courses

Note: Students who have taken CIN 2760 and 2770/Cinematic Expression I and II (discontinued in Fall 2012) will have satisfied a prerequisite of CIN 1500 and 1510. CIN 1500 is a prerequisite for CIN 1510.

Directing the Scene ICIN 1100 / 4 credits / Fall

An intensive production-oriented course that explores content and form, designed to familiarize students with the fundamentals of storytelling for narrative film. Aspects of filmmaking covered include the dramatic elements and the stylistic elements. Students direct and edit three short films, with each assignment demonstrating specific principles covered in class. Students must have experience operating a video camera and must have access to a digital editing platform or be familiar with Final Cut Pro.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorIntroduction to Cinema Studies I and II*CIN 1500 and 1510 / 4 credits (per semester) / I: Fall; II: Spring

An intensive study of film history with analysis of specific films that represent stages in the evolution of the formal aspects of cinematic expression. Film showings, lectures, seminars.

Close AnalysisCIN 2000 / 4 credits / Every year

The techniques of filmic expression are examined through a focused, detailed analysis of cinematography, editing, lighting, mise-en-scène, and soundtrack in celebrated cinematic works from around the world. Course content is organized around the establishment or subversion of narrative, generic, and stylistic conventions through the works of one director, a particular genre, or a film movement.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructorDirecting the Scene II*CIN 2100 / 4 credits / Spring

Examines the various emotional and intellectual levels layered within a scene that can and do impact the audience. Students closely analyze the construction and purpose of a short sequence in the context of the overall story and write, direct, and edit a short sequence during the semester. Students must have experience operating a video camera and must have access to a digital editing platform or be familiar with Final Cut Pro.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorStorytelling with Images*CIN 2150 Refer to NME 2150 in New Media Courses for description.Music Video and Popular Culture*CIN 2200 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the history of music videos, studying their effectiveness as a sales mechanisms as well as their influence on how today's movies, television and commercials are photographed. Students are required to shoot practice exercises throughout the semester, complete a final paper, and shoot a music video on their own for a campus band or musician. Students must have experience operating a video camera and have access to a digital editing platform or be familiar with Final Cut Pro.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorResearch Practicum: Silent Cinema*CIN 2240 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The goals of this course are two-fold. First, the history of silent film through the advent of sound is explored to reveal what early cinema can teach about the present and future of visual culture. Second, students use this exploration into early cinema to improve their film research skills, from data gathering to revision.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructor

Principles of MontageCIN 2500 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An intensive course for cinema studies majors that combines hands-on practice with close analysis. Students explore the art of montage by analyzing the film language of great directors and by shooting and editing short video projects, with an emphasis on the major principles of montage.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructorHappiness: Philosophy, Film, Literature*CIN 2835 Refer to PHI 2835 in Philosophy Courses (School of Humanities) for description.Cinema and Revolution*CIN 3000 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Third cinema was a movement proposed by Latin American directors in the 1960s and further developed by African directors in the 1970s. It addresses important questions about independent national cinemas, colonialism, race, and identity. This course examines the movement and its global influence, with emphasis on the cinemas of Latin America, Africa, black Britain, and American minorities. Also offered as LST 3000.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, or permission of instructorCross-Cultural Video Production*CIN 3011 Refer to NME 3010 in New Media Courses for description.Women and Film*CIN 3025 Refer to LIT 3025 in Literature Courses: 3000–3999 (School of Humanities) for description.Documentary Film and Theory*CIN 3030 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Through a historical survey of documentary and ethnographic film, this course explores documentary theory, aesthetics, and ethics. Topics include early cinema, World War II propaganda, cinema vérité, radical documentary, the essay film, counter-ethnographies, and contemporary mixed forms. Films by the Lumières, Flaherty, Marker, Rouch, Minh-ha, and others.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, or permission of instructorFilm Sound: Technique and Theory*CIN 3040 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An intense focus on sound technology, with careful attention to the way image, dialogue, music, and sound interact in both film and video. The history of sound technology and sound theory are explored by comparing sound innovations in other fields (music, radio, television) to developments in film/video. Films include The Jazz Singer, The Conversation, Pi, and Run Lola Run.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, or permission of instructorCult Cinema*CIN 3060 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

An exploration of cult films and the subculture surrounding them. What elements determine the second life of films beyond their initial phase of consumption? Do these films share certain characteristics, or does their cult status depend entirely on viewing practices? How do these subcultures police their boundaries? What reading strategies do these subcultures employ? These questions also allow students to reflect on their attachment to films.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructorTelevision Studies*CIN 3070 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the state of television today, with special attention to new genres, narratives, technologies, audiences, and corporate practices, with special attention to the growth of cable networks, online sites, streaming serials, new modes of spectatorship, and new forms of fan culture.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510History of American Television*CIN 3075 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A survey of the development of broadcasting and electronic media in the United States. It emphasizes the cultural and institutional history of the medium, as well as the aesthetic of televisual genres.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructorMexican Cinema*CIN 3080 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

A survey of the history of Mexican cinema from the early 1930s to the present. Students examine popular genres like la comedia ranchera (Mexican cowboy musical), el género cabaretil (dancehall film), and el cine de luchadores (wrestling film) as well as the work of the most prominent Mexican filmmakers (e.g., Arturo Ripstein, Jaime Humberto Hermosillo, Nicolás Echeverría, María Novaro, Guillermo del Toro). Also offered as SPA 3080 and LST 3080.

Fantasy, Film, and RealityCIN 3120 Refer to PHI 3120 in Philosophy Courses (School of Humanities) for description.Animation*CIN 3130 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A survey of animated filmmaking from the inception of cinema to the contemporary era.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructorCinema and the City*CIN 3140 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Explores the role of cinematic representation in shaping the urban imagination. Taking both a historical and a comparative approach, students study the figuration of American, European, and non-Western cities from the silent era to the digital age. Discussions include how cinema has portrayed these metropolitan areas and their people, cultures, and public and private spaces.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

The Cinematic Bestiary

CIN 3170 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

The invention of cinema was fueled by the desire to capture animals and their movements. This course focuses on cinema's enduring obsession with animals, inquiring to what extent that obsession indicates concerns about human limitations. Moving across film genres, students examine the intersection of cinema with animal studies, ecocriticism, and posthumanism. Also offered as PHI 3170.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

The Vietnam War in U.S. Literature and Film

CIN 3195 Refer to LIT 3195 in Literature Courses: 3000–3999 (School of Humanities) for description.

Film, Media, and War Machines

CIN 3200 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An advanced seminar on theories of cinematic and computational media via “the war machine.” Focus is on the relationship between cinematic and military techniques and technologies—what Virilio dubbed “the deadly harmony” between eye and weapon. Emphasis is also placed on the sociopolitics of code, the ramifications of informatic capture and the formation of coded bodies, and the rise of new machines of war and resistance. Also offered as NME 3200.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Spanish and Latin American Cinema

CIN 3211 Refer to SPA 3211 in Spanish Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Latin American Cinema

CIN 3245 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Drawing from the rich cinematography of Latin America, this course focuses on the interaction between film and culture in Latin America. Students discuss and analyze films in the context of sociopolitical events and aesthetic movements, with emphasis on the cultural perspective. Also offered as SPA 3245 and LST 3245.

Prerequisite (for CIN 3245 registrants only): CIN 1500 and 1510

Light and Truth: Film, Photography, and Reality

CIN 3275 Refer to PHI 3275 in Philosophy Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Advanced Broadcast News

CIN 3310 Refer to JOU 3310 in Journalism Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

The Screenplay

CIN 3325 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Designed to foster screenwriting, beginning with creation of the script and working toward completion of a short film by the end of the term. Creative writing and cinema studies students collaborate at all stages of the process, including writing, producing, directing, and editing. Also offered as CWR 3325.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructor

Genres of Affect

CIN 3330 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this course, affect is considered as a form of power—the embodied capacity to affect and be affected. Students explore affective genres of visual culture, such as horror, comedy, melodrama, and pornography. The course draws on a range of theoretical perspectives on affect and emotion, emphasizing work from psychoanalysis, philosophy, feminism, and queer theory. Also offered as MSA 3330.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

Contemporary Global Cinema

CIN 3400 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A study of contemporary global cinema and recent trends in cinematic style and narrative. The course focuses on non-American/non-European cinemas and co-productions and on important developments in the regional cinemas of Africa and Latin America. The final quarter examines “cinema” from a global perspective, particularly the extent to which new technology and cultural circuits have fostered techniques, styles, and narrative forms.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, or permission of instructor

Contemporary European Cinema

CIN 3420 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Focuses on the changing landscape of national and regional cinemas of Europe from the 1980s to the present, including the advent of the MTV-influenced cinéma du look movement in France and the neorealist, indie-inspired filmmaking in the Balkan and former Soviet states. The contested (re)definition of what now encompasses “European cinema” is a defining undercurrent of the course.

Intermediate Video

NME 3470 Refer to New Media Courses for description.

Methods in Film Criticism

CIN 3480 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

An introduction to the history and modes of film criticism, using the films of Alfred Hitchcock or John Ford (depending on the instructor) as the focal point. The goal is to familiarize students with the diversity of critical approaches in film studies, to make them better critics, and to do so by understanding both the aesthetic qualities and social forces that have made Hitchcock (or Ford) not only one of the great film personae of the 20th century, but also a marketing device, an aesthetic, a genre, and a field of study.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

Film, History, and Trauma

CIN 3513 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Historical trauma has characterized the 20th century. Traumatic events return in unexpected forms, haunting communities and shaping both collective memory and mourning practices. Taking a comparative approach across national cinemas, this course analyzes the historical context, style, and narratives of films that circle around the question of trauma. The course covers German, Israeli, Chilean, Japanese, Russian, and American cinemas. Also offered as HIS 3513.

Eastern European Film

CIN 3515 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Major tendencies in Eastern European cinemas between World War II and the late 1980s are explored. Focusing on Polish, Hungarian, Czechoslovakian, and Yugoslav films, students examine the development of these national cinemas in the sociopolitical context of state socialism, and the flourishing of these cinematic traditions into internationally recognized movements and schools. Major thematic and stylistic preoccupations of Eastern European filmmakers are addressed through a close study of works by Polanski, Wajda, Forman, Jancso, Makavejev, Kusturica, and others.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, or permission of instructor

Race and Representation: U.S. Literature and Film

CIN 3533 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Racial imagery in the U.S., from the minstrel era to the present, is examined. Students interrogate the mythologies of this imagery as depicted in U.S. literature and film; rethink key analytical categories in cinema and literary studies in light of U.S. race history (genre and spectatorship); and study the racial uses of and meanings behind certain technical innovations in U.S. literature and filmmaking. Also offered as LIT 3533.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Queer Cinema

CIN 3540 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Emerging queer cinema is explored in its historical contexts and its relation to contemporary theories of gender, sexuality, and their intersection with race, class, and nationality. The course focuses on the "queering of the gaze," interrogating conventional notions of representation, desire, identification, filmmaking, and spectatorship. Featured directors: Warhol, Fassbinder, Haynes, Von Trotta, Akerman, Rozema, La Bruce, Araki, Denis, Jarman. Also offered as GND 3540 and PHI 3540.

Kubrick

CIN 3600 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Stanley Kubrick was one of the most original and cinematic of all film directors. His films were highly original in form, with an innovative use of the medium's primary elements, including editing, composition, and camera movement. Most were also adaptations of classic and contemporary literature. His ability to transform an author's literary vision into his cinematic vision was one of the keys to his genius. This course analyzes his films on their own terms and in comparison to their literary sources.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructor

Cronenberg

CIN 3605 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An exploration of the cinema of David Cronenberg from the beginning of his career to the present.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

Surrealism and Its Legacy

CIN 3680 Refer to LIT 3680 in Literature Courses: 3000–3999 (School of Humanities) for description.

American Film Genres

CIN 3705 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly, Fall)

A detailed examination of the notion of film genre, and consideration of one or more classical Hollywood genres, including the western, musical, melodrama, and film noir.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

The Western

CIN 3715 / 4 credits / Special topic (every third year)

In light of a resurgence of the western in film and television, this course spans the history of the genre, from the earliest silent screen versions of dime store novels to its contemporary manifestations. While paying careful attention to the western as myth, epic, and landscape art, the course also explores themes of freedom, justice, and individualism as embedded and transformed in the genre.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructor

Philosophy and Film

CIN 3716 Refer to PHI 3716 in Philosophy Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

The American Avant-Garde Film

CIN 3730 / 4 credits / Every third year

Film and theories of the American avant-garde cinema since 1943. The approach is historical, surveying the various periods in the American avant-garde and their relation to contemporary cultural phenomena. Among the artists considered are Harry Smith, George Landow, Jonas Mekas, Ken Jacobs, Ernie Gehr, Stan Brakhage, Maya Deren, Kenneth Anger, Michael Snow, and Hollis Frampton.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

Experimental Cinema

CIN 3733 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the historical, cultural, and production contexts of experimental and avant-garde filmmaking. This course attempts an internationalist breadth of coverage by examining the European historical avant-gardes, the American avant-garde of the pre- and post-World War II periods, the underground and independent film movements of the 1960s, and the function of experimental cinema in shaping personal and communal identities (feminist, queer, and minorities).

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

The Independent Spirit in American Film

CIN 3736 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

History of American independent filmmaking from the 1940s to the present. Focuses on a range of directors, including Sam Fuller, Morris Engel, John Cassavetes, and Robert Altman.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

Meaning and Truth in Cinema

CIN 3745 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A survey of the most important developments in film theory. Early theoretical discussions were mostly guided by the need to understand and to legitimize film as a distinct art form and as a new technology of seeing. As a result of the legitimization of film as a cultural fact, film theory became more specialized and a field of its own, alongside art history, literary theory, and philosophy. This course explores how each of these fields has contributed to a deeper understanding of cinema.

Transcendent Visions: The Spiritual on Film

CIN 3755 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Investigation of a range of filmmakers who attempt to convey the spiritual through manipulation of film form. Films by Ozu, Bresson, Dreyer, Tarkovsky, and others.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

New Waves of East Asian Cinema

CIN 3757 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this course on internationally acclaimed auteurs of East Asian cinema (Japan, China, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Korea), emphasis is placed on the concepts of "national cinema" and "new waves." In particular, the critique of nationalism via a radicalization of both content and form in the various new waves is examined.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructor

Topics in Classical Cinema

CIN 3765 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A key element of the classical Hollywood tradition (e.g., classical form, the auteur, the star system, or studio practices) is considered in detail.

American Cinema of the '50s

CIN 3783 / 4 credits / Alternate years

American cinema underwent significant upheaval during the 1950s with the crumbling of the studio system, the proliferation of television, fallout from the McCarthy hearings, and the Cold War. This course examines how such directors as Minnelli, Fuller, Welles, Preminger, Sirk, and Ray responded to these extremes, with attention to the historical circumstances and formal innovations that defined the era.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructor

Hawks and Wilder: Hollywood Auteurs

CIN 3785 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Howard Hawks and Billy Wilder—two of Hollywood's greatest directors—made sophisticated, brilliantly crafted variations on such genres as the gangster film, comedy, western, musical, and film noir. This course examines the complex issues surrounding authorship in Hollywood film, while considering films to be artworks, social artifacts, and commercial entities shaped by genre expectations and factors beyond the control of any individual creative figure.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

The New Hollywood

CIN 3787 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A study of American mainstream films of the "New Hollywood" or "New American" period of cinema, c. 1965 to the present. Students explore the evolution of American popular cinema in relation to stylistic innovation in international cinema, shifting audience demographics in the domestic market, and industrial and social change in the U.S.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructor

Warhol in Context

CIN 3795 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Andy Warhol was the most influential visual American artist to emerge during the 1960s, redefining the practice and meaning of fine art and popular culture. Turning his studio, the Factory, into an avant-garde version of a Hollywood soundstage, Warhol created films that are astonishingly rich in pictorial and behavioral nuance. This course examines Warhol's films and his legacy in film/video art.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

Italian Cinema After Neorealism

CIN 3830 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Survey of Italian cinema of the postneorealist era, with special focus on the films of Michelangelo Antonioni and Federico Fellini.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

André Bazin, Realism, and Cinema

CIN 3835 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An advanced seminar focusing on the criticism of André Bazin, a co-founder of the influential magazine Cahiers du Cinéma and prolific author (What is Cinema? Vol. 1 and 2); the cinema that he championed, including Italian neorealism; his influence on post-World War II film studies and criticism; and his current renaissance in contemporary filmmaking and criticism.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

French Cinema

CIN 3855 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The French refer to filmmaking as the seventh art, i.e., an art form on the level of other fine arts. This course examines French cinema from the silent era to 1970, with special focus on poetic realism and the French New Wave. Films by Vigo, Carné, Renoir, Melville, Truffaut, Godard, Rivette, Rohmer, Resnais, Marker, Varda, and others. Also offered as FRE 3855.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

Contemporary French Cinema

CIN 3857 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The profile of what people think of as “French” cinema has undergone considerable change from the turbulent post-1968 period to the present. This course focuses on major developments in contemporary French cinema from the vantage points of aesthetics, industry, and culture. The role of government subsidies, large European co-productions, and shifts in cultural attention from high-art auteurs (individual authors) to the banlieue (suburb) are studied closely. Also offered as FRE 3857.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructor

Melodrama

CIN 3870 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Melodrama is both a historical genre and a mode of imagination that operates across media. To bridge these two aspects of melodrama, the course examines its theatrical origins, the film genres that employ its rhetorical devices (the woman's film, action and disaster films, horror), and its further development in television series and soap operas.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructor

Cinema Studies Junior Seminar

CIN 3890 / 4 credits / Every year

A survey of the most important developments in film theory. The goal is to familiarize students with the diversity of critical approaches in film studies and increase understanding of both the aesthetic qualities and social forces at work. Topics include the relationship of film to other forms of media and alternative or counter-hegemonic conceptions of cinema.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

Theory and Praxis: Welles and Resnais

CIN 4210 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this advanced seminar comparing the directors Welles and Resnais, their entire oeuvres and their engagement with contemporary theories and philosophies are addressed.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructor

Science Fiction in Film, Literature, and Art

CIN 4220 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Science fiction is addressed as an expanded field of inquiry into bodies, machines, science, and technology. The course focuses on narratives about metropolis, colony, utopia, and other technologies of state, self, gender, race, and capital. It also focuses on various figures (e.g., automaton, android, cyborg, avatar, alien) that have populated films from the birth of cinema to the present.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510

Cinema Studies Senior Colloquium

CIN 4890 / 2 credits / Fall

Prepares cinema studies majors for the conception and writing of their senior project. The course emphasizes research skills, the formulation of a prospectus and a literature review, the development of a bibliography and a filmography, and the outline of a schedule for completion of the project.

Prerequisite: CIN 1500 and 1510, senior standing, and permission of instructor

Cinema Studies Senior Project

CIN 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Students are expected to write an extended (c. 40-page) essay on a distinctive topic in cinema studies, in consultation with a senior thesis advisor. Two semesters required (8 credits total).

The Film BFA Program

The film program provides highly motivated and talented students with intensive training in all aspects of filmmaking. Students develop significant skills in directing, cinematography, editing, production, scriptwriting, and film analysis. By the end of the sophomore year, students consult with the film faculty and choose to focus on either fiction, documentary, or experimental film in their junior year.

The primary emphasis of the BFA program is on directing. At the end of the junior year, however, film majors who have demonstrated exceptional talent in cinematography or screenwriting have the option of specializing in those areas, subject to approval by the board of study. The board's decision is based on demonstration of the student's technical and artistic proficiency.

Facilities

Film majors enjoy a high equipment-to-student ratio and have access to a fully equipped sound stage, mix studio, equipment store, screening rooms, and digital editing studios.

About Our Alumni

More than 85 percent of film program alumni have found work in the film and television industries. A list of representative alumni is available on the admissions site (www.purchase.edu/Departments/Admissions/AreasofStudy/ProgramPages/film.aspx).

The Film BFA Program: Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all film majors must complete the following requirements (102–104 credits, outlined below by year) and maintain the board-of-study standards for academic and professional conduct. Requirements for the major include:

- A minimum of 24 credits in film history, criticism, and/or theory: CIN 1500 and 1510, plus four additional courses
- Satisfactory completion, as determined by the Film Board of Study, of the 16-credit senior thesis film

Note: Criteria for advancement also include the student's fitness and potential for a professional life in the field, as determined by the board of study. Advancement each year is by invitation of the board of study following a scheduled, mandatory review of each student's work. Any student on warning or probationary status is reviewed at the end of the semester (fall or spring). There is an ongoing assessment of professional growth in all work for all students.

The Film BFA Program: Courses

Note: Courses are open only to film majors, unless noted otherwise. In the two-semester course sequences offered every year, successful completion of the fall course is a prerequisite for the spring course. For example, TFI 1090/Exercises in Storytelling (part one, fall) is a prerequisite for TFI 1100/Exercises in Storytelling (part two, spring).

Anatomy of an Indie

TFI 1770 Refer to SOA 1770 in Film SOA Courses for description.

Exercises in Storytelling

TFI 1090 and 1100 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

A series of weekly exercises to develop the student's ability to write scenes in screenplay format. The problems of exposition, characterization, conflict, and action are discussed and studied. Limited to freshman film majors.

Film Workshop

TFI 1160 and 1170 / 5 credits (per semester) / Every year

Introduces the possibilities of film technique. Short projects in motion picture cinematography, lighting, sound recording, and continuity editing, augmented by lectures, demonstrations, film analysis, and readings. In the spring, systems of cinematic structure and form are emphasized.

Introduction to Documentary: Nonfiction Film

TFI 2000 and 2050 / 5 credits (per semester) / Every year

Practical aspects of documentary filmmaking. Students produce four to five short films each term (including describing a process, a place, an interview, and a film portrait). Production is complemented by screenings, class discussions, and demonstrations.

Film Editing I and II

TFI 2010 and 2020 / 3 credits (per semester)

I: Spring; II: Fall

Students learn the fundamentals of film language through editing and are provided with professionally produced picture and sound rushes that they sync-up, structure, and edit into a complete film. Additional individual and group projects are assigned.

Cinematography I

TFI 2090 / 2 credits / Fall

Basics of photography, camera operation, crew organization, picture composition, and lighting.

Cinematography II

TFI 2100 / 2 credits / Spring

Camera movement, angles and blocking, studio lighting procedures, and introduction to gaffing and electrics.

Prerequisite: TFI 2090

Directors' Scene Workshop

TFI 2310 and 2320 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

In this introduction to directing narrative film, students produce scenes from their own original and previously produced scripts. They chose materials and cast, direct, and edit four to five short narrative films each term.

Writing for Film I

TFI 2810 / 2 credits / Spring

The techniques of writing for the screen in both the narrative and documentary forms. Emphasis on the construction of dramatic material without the use of spoken dialogue leads to a better understanding of the power and importance of visual imagery as a prime component in storytelling, and to a heightened awareness of the camera's role in the writing process.

Cross-Cultural Video Production

TFI 3010 Refer to NME 3010 in New Media Courses for description.

Cinematography III

TFI 3090 / 2 credits / Fall

Individual projects in advanced cinematography.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Cinematography IV

TFI 3110 / 3 credits / Spring

Advanced techniques in cinematography and lighting, with group and individual projects.

Prerequisite: TFI 3090

Film Directors' Workshop

TFI 3200 and 3210 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every year

An advanced two-semester course designed to explore the technique, practice, and theory of motion picture directing. Exercises in mise-en-scène, screenwriting, and fiction filmmaking. Students must write, cast, and direct a complete narrative short film for presentation at the end of the spring term.

Screenwriting I

TFI 3320 / 2 credits / Spring

A practical course in the writing of screenplays. A preliminary screenplay for the senior thesis film must be completed by the end of the semester.

Documentary Workshop I and II

TFI 3460 and 3470 / 4 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

An intermediate-level course in the practice of documentary filmmaking. A series of exercises in 16mm and video documentary production are complemented by screenings, class discussions, group projects, and demonstrations. Students research, design, and complete a documentary film.

Experimental Workshop

TFI 3610 and 3620 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Students conceptualize and produce experimental media projects using techniques and concepts of avant-garde filmmaking, video art, and performance art. Nontraditional and personal forms are emphasized in a course that pairs production with screenings, group critique, and discussion. Several short-form production assignments prepare students for a significant final production due at the end of the semester. Off-campus excursions are also required. Both TFI 3610 (fall) and 3620 (spring) are required for film students planning an experimental thesis project for junior review. Offered as NME 3611 and 3621 for new media majors with advanced standing.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Advanced Editing: Sound on Film

TFI 3650 / 3 credits / Fall

Committed to using sound tracks as fully as the image track, this course implements theory by teaching choice and placement of microphones, dialogue track prep, music editing, use of sound FX and tone, and prepping for a professional sound mix. Students visit with a professional sound editor and attend foley, dubbing, and mix studio demonstrations.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Advanced Picture Editing

TFI 3655 / 3 credits / Spring

Strategies for the structuring and pacing of films, taught through the editing of specific film projects.

The Business of Film

TFI 3725 / 2 credits / Spring

Prepares students for entry into the film industry. Covers basic techniques used to raise money for, produce, and distribute films.

Writing for Film II

TFI 3810 / 2 credits / Fall

Construction and writing of screenplays, with exercises in characterization, plotting, etc. Story treatments for both fiction and documentary films are stressed.

Film Industry Internship and Seminar

TFI 3970 / 3 credits / Spring

Students' leadership and production skills are developed through the production, promotion, and administrative support of film events hosted on and off campus. In addition to the hours required for the internship, students attend monthly seminars exploring innovative solutions to common challenges facing today's film programmers and producers. Limited to students in the School of Film and Media Studies. To register for this course, students must obtain an Internship Program Learning Contract from the Career Development Center.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorSenior Production: Filmmaking

TFI 4180 and 4190 / 8 credits (per semester) / Every year

An intensive, two-semester workshop course in which students prepare and produce their thesis film. Production can proceed only after faculty approval of the screenplay, casting, and production schedules.

Advanced Screenwriting

TFI 4310 / 2 credits / Fall

Completion of senior thesis screenplay.

Advanced Projects in Documentary

TFI 4460 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students work under faculty supervision in the field on student-generated documentary productions.

Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing; at least four TFI production courses or equivalent, as determined by the film program coordinator and/or instructor; and permission of instructor

Film Courses Open to Students in All Disciplines

This course, offered by the film BFA program in the School of Film and Media Studies, is open to students in all disciplines. Additional courses may be added each semester.

SOA 1770 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An in-depth introduction to the making of independent feature films, from inception through release. This course provides a look at the creative, business, and techniques of filmmaking and how they interact to shape the final product. A basic knowledge of film history and/or arts management is recommended. Also offered as TFI 1770.

The Media, Society, and the Arts BA Program

In the media, society, and the arts program, students learn how to combine cultural theory, critical cultural production, and do-it-yourself (DIY) aesthetics to explore the roles that media technologies and the arts play in everyday life. Creative practices are approached historically and ethnographically, and considered within their rich cultural, geographic, and political economic contexts. This includes students' own low-cost, open-ended, and tactical DIY productions, such as mashup advertisements, sound installations, and performance art—practices of experimentation, protest, and speculation that engage contemporary social concerns.

The Media, Society, and the Arts Program: Courses

Note: Students who have taken MSA 1530/Introduction to Media, Society, and the Arts (discontinued in Fall 2012) will have satisfied a prerequisite of MSA 1050.

Introduction to Media Studies

MSA 1050 / 3 credits / Every year

An introduction to theories of the media, visual, and performing arts. Using semiotics as a point of departure, students explore the language and iconography of visual communication. The course focuses on works of art, advertising, television, and the Web as social contexts of cultural production and analyses the role that ordinary people play in the production of media. Also offered as NME 1050.

Language, Culture, and Society

MSA 2175 Refer to ANT 2175 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Italian-American Literature and Popular Culture

MSA 2195 Refer to LIT 2195 in Literature Courses: 1000–2999 (School of Humanities) for description.

Media Institutions and Forms

MSA 2200 / 3 credits / Fall

A historical overview of media institutions and forms, focusing on key theories and trends in the study and production of media technologies and arts. Also offered as NME 2200.

Prerequisite: MSA 1050

Computers and Culture

MSA 2235 / 3 credits / Fall

Examines the connections between computers and culture, with a critical look at how computers may be changing and shaping culture, and how culture affects people's use and understanding of computers. The course focuses in particular on the ways in which gender, race, and class affect people's experiences with and understanding of computers. Both work and leisure uses of computers are considered. Offered as NME 2235 for new media majors.

Prerequisite: MSA 1050 or SOC 1500 or permission of instructor

Art and Technology

MSA 2250 Refer to NME 2250 in New Media Courses for description.

Performing Arts in Cross-Cultural Perspective

MSA 2320 Refer to ANT 2320 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Drugs, Bodies, Design

MSA 2340 Refer to ANT 2340 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Museum Anthropology

MSA 2470 Refer to ANT 2470 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Introduction to Ethnomusicology

MSA 2610 Refer to ANT 2610 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Locative Media: Place and Mobility

MSA 2700 / 3 credits / Alternate years

Histories of media technologies are explored as histories of location and movement. The first half of the course provides a historical overview of media technologies and industries. The second half focuses on contemporary mobile media—especially handheld computational devices, cloud computing, and social media—and the ways in which they are shaping cultural beliefs and practices. Also offered as NME 2700.

Prerequisite: MSA 1050, ANT 1500, or permission of instructor

Cross-Cultural Video Production

MSA 3010 Refer to NME 3010 in New Media Courses for description.

Riot Grrls and Radical Women

MSA 3120 / 4 credits / Alternate years

This interdisciplinary course underscores the linkage between feminist theoretical paradigms and genres of feminist art. Feminist theory is considered, from Betty Friedan to bell hooks, as well as diverse artists and art forms, including Judy Chicago, Karen Finley, the Riot Grrl movement, and feminist zines. Sexuality, reproductive rights, women's work, pornography, race, violence, and activism are key themes that direct the analysis. Also offered as GND 3120.

Prerequisite: MSA 1050

Outsider Art

MSA 3150 / 4 credits / Every year

Examines the social construction of outsider art as an aesthetic category, focusing on such genres as folk art, prison art, primitive art, asylum art, and street art. Students explore how the creation and reception of art, along with the perceived inherent cultural value of aesthetic objects, intersect the categories of gender, ethnicity, and social class.

Queer Media Convergence

MSA 3160 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Media convergence refers to large-scale changes in the ownership and production of media content, as well as the role that audiences and consumers have in its development. This course examines media convergence from the perspectives of queer theory and history, and asks how queer identities, sensibilities, styles, and practices both shape and are shaped by media convergence. Also offered as NME 3160 and GND 3160.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Media Representations and Identity

MSA 3175 Refer to ANT 3175 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Global Media, Local Cultures

MSA 3185 Refer to ANT 3185 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Media Ethnographies

MSA 3200 / 4 credits / Fall

Ethnography, one of the key methodological innovations of anthropology, is used in this course to examine life in a media-saturated world. Focusing on an emergent ethnographic literature that examines the relationships between mass media, popular culture, and social and technological networking, the course situates ordinary and everyday interactions with media within broader theoretical, historical, and cultural contexts.

Prerequisite: MSA 1050 and MSA 2200; or MSA 1050 and an elective in media, society, and the arts

Los Angeles/Mumbai: Cinematic City Cross-Culturally

MSA 3275 Refer to ANT 3275 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Genres of Affect

MSA 3330 Refer to CIN 3330 in Cinema Studies Courses for description.

The Body: Medium and Message

MSA 3350 / 4 credits / Every year

An examination of the body as medium and media within larger social and cultural landscapes. The body is located in relationship to systems of power within the context of modernity/postmodernity, mass media, and art worlds. Topics include exercise and bodybuilding, beauty and consumption, 20th-century disease, body art, extreme body modification, plastic surgery, and subversive body play.

Prerequisite: MSA 1050 and permission of instructor

Avant-Garde Cultures and Everyday Life

MSA 3380 Refer to ANT 3380 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Critical Perspectives on Language and Culture

MSA 3390 Refer to ANT 3390 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Critical Perspectives on Media, Society, and the Arts

MSA 3400 / 4 credits / Spring

An intensive examination of critical and theoretical work on media, society, and the arts. Classic and contemporary theories (e.g., Marxism, structuralism, organizational and cultural production, various cultural studies approaches) and topics (e.g., hegemony, cultural capital, high vs. low culture, elite and commercialized culture) are explored.

Prerequisite: MSA 1050 and 2200

Visual/Social Analysis: A Practicum

MSA 3410 / 4 credits / Spring

A hands-on introduction to the use of visual methods to study social phenomena. Each student designs a project within the medium of his or her choice: photography, video, or film. Selected problems of method and ethics are examined, and cross-cultural examples are provided. No previous working background in photography or other visual media is required.

Prerequisite: MSA 1050 and 2200; or MSA 1050 and an elective in media, society, and the arts

Anthropology of Music and Sound

MSA 3415 Refer to ANT 3415 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Sensing and Knowing in Anthropology, Psychology, and the Arts

MSA 3540 Refer to ANT 3540 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Internship in Media, Society, and the Arts

MSA 3980 / 4 credits / Every semester

A supervised work experience in an art- and/or media-related environment, including television studios, film production companies, art galleries, book and magazine publishing companies, and public relations firms.

Informal EconomiesMSA 4100 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students look at forms of production and exchange in various contexts throughout the world that are alternatives to dominant, formal economies. These include trash picking and trash art-making, piracy and counterfeiting, independent farming, and alternative banking. Students consider the notion of value in a variety of ways and trace how production, exchange, circulation, and consumption elaborate new forms of social life. Also offered as ANT 4100.

Prerequisite: MSA 1050 or ANT 1500, and permission of instructorMaterial Culture*MSA 4160 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Students examine the material dimension of cultural life and explore how beliefs, sensibilities, and ways of relating to people and the environment get distilled in cultural matter. Matters include rocks, body matter, waste, water, houses, consumer commodities, and currency. Other questions explored are: How does matter become meaningful and acquire value? How do matters of the natural world become "cultural"? Also offered as ANT 4160.

Prerequisite: MSA 1050 or ANT 1500, and permission of instructorSpecial Topics in Media, Society, and the Arts*MSA 4750 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The topics, which vary, are selected from among the special interests of faculty.

Prerequisite: MSA 1050 and permission of instructorSenior Project in Media, Society, and the Arts*MSA 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

The senior project, which is developed in consultation with advisors, can take a variety of forms, from an exploration of social phenomena or a creative effort, using a range of media (e.g., photography, video, film, performance), to a research project based on library and/or empirical research. In the second semester of their junior year, students are encouraged to consult with a member of the board of study to determine appropriate topics and research strategies. Must be taken for two semesters (8 credits total).

The New Media BA Program

The new media program at Purchase College offers an interdisciplinary bachelor's degree program at the intersection of art, technology, and society. Students study the effects of digital media from multiple perspectives and develop their own voice through hands-on production in courses drawn from the visual and performing arts, computer science, the social sciences, and other liberal arts disciplines. Portfolio development is a high priority, with each student beginning his or her portfolio in the second year.

Students majoring in new media are offered a structured, well-rounded foundation covering a range of methodologies and content areas, with analysis and production often present in the same course. Collaboration is particularly encouraged, as are experimental and creative approaches to media production and distribution. This emphasis on practice and theory enables students to become technologically proficient media professionals.

Advanced Standing and the Senior Project

After applying for and receiving advanced standing, new media majors pursue a program of upper-level study designed by the student.

This provides students with the opportunity to pursue individual interests while at the same time developing a focus in new media. As part of this program of study, all students are expected to complete an 8-credit senior project, which is supervised by a faculty member of the New Media Board of Study. Various types of senior projects are acceptable, and collaboration among students is encouraged.

Internships: The Bridge to a Career

Our students are strongly encouraged to pursue internships, which provide an important bridge to a career in the field. Many students complete multiple internships both on and off campus. In recent years, on-campus internships have included Purchase TV (PTV), Purchase Student Radio (WPSR), The Brick (an online, student-run newspaper), and Campus Technology Services. Off-campus internships have included Eyebeam, MTV, Focus Features, Comedy Central, Viacom, SONY, and Disney.

The skills of our graduates are well matched to a rapidly changing economy. They work as artists, multimedia designers, mobile game developers, Web developers, human-computer interaction specialists, documentary filmmakers, and video editors, among many other careers.

The New Media BA Program: Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all new media majors must complete the following requirements (66–69 credits). The internship is optional, but recommended:

Freshman and Sophomore Years

Advanced Standing | Applying for Advanced Standing

Synthesis \(Junior and Senior\)

Freshman and Sophomore Years (Foundation)

Students must earn a grade of C+ or higher in each of these courses. In any given semester, students should not enroll in more than three foundation courses and must not take more than two studio or lab courses.

1. NME 1010/Photography I: 3 credits
or NME 1160/Design Principles: 4 credits
2. NME 1050/Introduction to Media Studies: 3 credits
3. NME 1060/Introduction to Sound: 2 credits
4. NME 1170/Digital Media Studio: 4 credits
5. NME 1420/Programming Games or
NME 1520/Computer Science I or
NME 1450/Programming for Visual Artists: 4 credits
6. NME 2100/New Media Advanced Standing: 0 credits
7. One 2000-level technoculture course (3–4 credits), chosen from the following or approved by the student's faculty advisor:
 - NME 2200/Media Institutions and Forms
 - NME 2235/Computers and Culture
 - NME 2250/Art and Technology
 - NME 2550/Media, Memory, and Desire
 - NME 2700/Locative Media: Place and Mobility
8. NME 2420/Video Art I: 4 credits
9. NME 2730/Creating Web Documents: 4 credits

2. Advanced Standing in New Media

Refer to Applying for Advanced Standing for detailed information. After being accepted for advanced study, requirements include:

- one upper-level history/theory course: 4 credits
- one anthropology/sociology course: 3–4 credits
- elective courses chosen for their relevance and applicability to the student's course of study in new media: 16 credits
- and the synthesis courses

Students must earn a grade of C+ or higher in each of these courses, excluding the senior project. When a course number has two or more prefixes (e.g., VIS and NME 3000), new media majors should register under the NME prefix.

Examples of History/Theory Courses:

ARH 3405/Design History and Theory: 1750–Today: 4 credits
ARH/NME 3531/New Media and Contemporary Art: 4 credits
NME/VIS 3040/Internet as Public Art: 4 credits
SOA 4600/MTH 4120/History of Recorded Music I: 2 credits
SOA 4610/MTH 4130/History of Recorded Music II: 2 credits
VDE 3300/NME 3301/History of Graphic Design Survey: 4 credits
VIS/NME 3000/Art in the Age of Electronic Media: 3 credits

Examples of Anthropology/Sociology Courses:

The following list includes courses offered by the media, society, and the arts (MSA) program.

ANT/MSA/NME 2320/Performing Arts in Cross-Cultural Perspective: 3 credits
MSA/NME 2700/Locative Media: Place and Mobility: 3 credits
MSA/NME/GND 3160/Queer Media Convergence: 4 credits
ANT/MSA 3185/Global Media, Local Cultures: 4 credits
SOA/SOC 3237/The Arts for Social Change: 3 credits
ANT 3345/Theatre and Performance in Africa: 4 credits

ANT 3410/Anthropology of Art and Aesthetics: 4 credits
 MSA 3400/Critical Perspectives on Media, Society, and the Arts: 4 credits
 MSA 4700/Special Topics in Media, Society, and the Arts: 4 credits

Examples of Elective Courses

Courses in the following lists are subject to change, and new courses may be added. Students should consult with their faculty advisor when choosing electives. When a course number has two prefixes (e.g., MAT and NME 3560), new media majors should register under the NME prefix.

New Media

NME/MSA/TFI 3010 and CIN 3011/Cross-Cultural Video Production

3. Synthesis

Students must earn a grade of C+ or higher in the following courses, excluding the senior project (16 credits, plus optional internship):

1. NME 3880/Junior Seminar in New Media: 4 credits
2. NME 3980/Internship in New Media (optional): variable credits
3. NME 4880/Senior Seminar I in New Media: 2 credits
4. NME 4890/Senior Seminar II in New Media: 2 credits
5. NME 4990/Senior Project in New Media: 8 credits

Please note: Because new media is a constantly developing field, these academic requirements are subject to change.

Applying for Advanced Standing in New Media

New media majors apply for advanced standing in their fourth semester, while concurrently completing the courses required in the first two years of study. A student may be in the process of fulfilling a maximum of two foundation courses concurrent with advanced standing. Because of the interdisciplinary nature of the new media program, it is important that students be strongly focused and self-directed. Therefore, the transition to advanced standing is taken very seriously by the New Media Board of Study.

In order to have a clear picture of each student's preparedness, the board of study requests that each student submit materials for its review. This advanced-standing presentation package must be submitted two weeks before the beginning of registration for the following semester. To formalize this process, students must register for "NME 2100/New Media Advanced Standing" in the semester in which they are going to submit their presentation package.

To apply for advanced standing, each student must:

1. Earn grades averaging B- (2.7 GPA) in the courses required during the first two years of study, with no grade lower than a C+.
2. Assemble a presentation package consisting of:
 - a. a portfolio of work, which shall be presented on the student's Web page
 - b. a written discussion of the student's development to date (this 2–4-page document shall include a discussion of courses completed or in progress, projects undertaken, and recent life experiences that have led to the current proposal)
 - c. a proposed academic program that the student intends to follow until graduation (this 3–4-page proposal shall include a list of all courses that the student plans to take in his or her remaining semesters, the general area of the intended senior project, and an indication of what projects and internships the student will develop to prepare for a successful senior year)

Please note: The New Media Board of Study reviews the presentation package and determines whether the student receives advanced standing. Advanced standing is a prerequisite for many of the upper-level courses that constitute the major. Students who are not approved for advanced standing will need to complete their BA in a different major.

The New Media Program: Courses

Additional courses may be crosslisted under NME for new media majors each semester. Students may find these by searching the schedule of classes on my.purchase.edu. Please refer to academic requirements for the full list of interdisciplinary courses, drawn from the natural and social sciences, art history, cinema studies, film, music, and visual arts.

Photography I

NME 1010 Refer to VPH 1010 in Photography Courses (School of Art+Design) for description.

Introduction to Media Studies

NME 1050 Refer to MSA 1050 in Media, Society, and the Arts Courses for description.

Introduction to Sound

NME 1060 / 2 credits / Every semester

A hands-on, introductory audio class in which students learn how to use sound in practical and creative ways, in three phases of production: acquisition, manipulation, and reproduction. Students also learn some of the history of artists and makers who use sound as their medium, as well of some of the technical and theoretical aspects of how sound is created and perceived.

Introduction to Digital Photography

NME 1100 Refer to SOA 1100 in Visual Arts Courses Open to Students in All Disciplines (School of Art+Design) for description.

Design Principles

NME 1160 / 4 credits / Every semester

A hands-on introduction to the language of design and design principles with emphasis on composition, color, and type. Software for vector image creation is taught alongside understanding the full design process, from visual research to beta testing. Print output is introduced, although the focus is on screen-based media.

Digital Media Studio

NME 1170 / 4 credits / Every semester

The foundation production course for new media majors and anyone interested in using the computer as a creative tool. Students learn basic digital imaging terminology and are introduced to the field of digital art and its historical contexts. Production assignments include creating bitmap and vector images, animations, and sound. General topics like printing, scanning, and image capturing are also covered. Limited to new media majors.

Programming Games

NME 1420 Refer to MAT 1420 in Mathematics/Computer Science Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Programming for Visual Artists

NME 1450 / 4 credits / Every semester

Using a visual environment that provides immediate feedback, students are taught the basic principles of programming and, by extension, math. Lectures focus on key aspects of programming and how working artists use code creatively in their practice. In this course, math is never the end but rather the means to problem-solve during the creative process. Offered as VIS 1450 for visual arts majors.

Computer Science I

NME 1520 Refer to MAT 1520 in Mathematics/Computer Science Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

New Media Advanced Standing

NME 2100 / 0 credits / Every semester

Students take this course in the semester that they apply for advanced standing. Grading is on a pass/no credit basis.

Storytelling with Images

NME 2150 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An intensive, multimedia exploration of the relationship between images and storytelling, encouraging students to construct stories across visual media, from drawing to photography and videography. Also offered as CIN 2150.

Media Institutions and Forms

NME 2200 Refer to MSA 2200 in Media, Society, and the Arts Courses for description.

Computers and Culture

NME 2235 Refer to MSA 2235 in Media, Society, and the Arts Courses for description.

NME 2250 / 3 credits / Every semester

Examines the interplay between new art forms and technologies from early modernism through today. Focusing on how the two fields have developed in relation to each other, the course addresses two questions: what is the relationship between technology, technique, and art, and how has it changed over time? This is both an art survey course and a study of related philosophical questions. Also offered as MSA 2250.

Prerequisite: NME 1050

Performing Arts in Cross-Cultural Perspective

NME 2320 Refer to ANT 2320 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural and Social Science) for description.

Video Art I

NME 2420 / 4 credits / Every semester

An introduction to video as a creative visual, auditory, and spatial medium. Students learn the fundamentals of video production with the goal of making original work in the genres of single-channel tape, performance, and installation. At the same time, students are introduced to key works in the history of time-based arts in a weekly thematic program of viewing, listening, reading, and critique.

NME 2550 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An exploration of the ways in which various media technologies promote investment and disinvestment in history, community, and tradition. This course pursues the argument that technology does not derive from, but creates the fundamental structures of human experience, affecting people socially, politically, psychologically, and neurologically. Primary authors include Plato, Kant, Marx, Freud, Heidegger, Derrida, Stiegler, and Malabou. Also offered as PHI 2550.

Prerequisite: NME 1050

Locative Media: Place and Mobility

NME 2700 Refer to MSA 2700 in Media, Society, and the Arts Courses for description.

Creating Web Documents

NME 2730 Refer to MAT 2730 in Mathematics/Computer Science Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Art in the Age of Electronic Media

NME 3000 Refer to VIS 3000 in the General Visual Arts Courses (School of Art+Design) for description.

Cross-Cultural Video Production

NME 3010 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students collaborate with students in other cultures, using the Internet to produce videos on subjects of mutual interest. Because the focus is on developing a cross-cultural dialogue, basic video production experience is expected. Before moving to video, the two groups collaboratively write fiction. During the semester, they meet in video conferences with their peers abroad to discuss their productions. Previous semesters have included collaborations with students at universities in Belarus, Turkey, Mexico, Germany, and Lithuania. Also offered as CIN 3011, MSA 3010, and TFI 3010.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Internet as Public Art

NME 3040 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A growing dialogue surrounding Internet art echoes the rhetoric of community-oriented art practices and public art movements of the past.

Topics include an introduction to the history of public art; current Internet art practice and theory; how networks can serve physical situations or communities, rather than being a purely screen-based phenomenon; policies that are shaping the functionality of the Internet; and new artistic possibilities that arise as ubiquitous computing integrates with public space. Offered as VIS 3040 for visual arts majors.

Information Aesthetics

NME 3050 / 4 credits / Fall

A hands-on examination of what it means to live in an information age. Students learn to make sense—and sometimes, new meaning—of data through creative visualizations. The course considers audience together with the politics of information and the persuasion of the visual.

Prerequisite: NME 1170 or 2730 or equivalent

Interactive Design

NME 3090 Refer to VDE 3090 in Design Courses (School of Art+Design) for description.

Prerequisite: NME 2730

Gameplay and Performance

NME 3120 Refer to THP 3120 in Theatre and Performance Courses (Conservatory of Theatre Arts) for description.

Material Distribution: Billboards, Wheatpaste, and Pamphlets

NME 3150 / 4 credits / Fall

Examines how contemporary artists and activists are using print media to communicate ideas in public spaces. The course also more generally considers how printed matter has been used to expand popular consciousness since the invention of the printing press. Students produce their own print interventions for public spaces and incorporate digital media to sustain interaction.

Prerequisite: NME 2100; open to students in other disciplines with permission of instructor

Queer Media Convergence

NME 3160 Refer to MSA 3160 in Media, Society, and the Arts Courses for description.

Motion Graphics for Designers

NME 3190 Refer to VDE 3190 in Design Courses (School of Art+Design) for description.

Prerequisite: NME 3430

Film, Media, and War Machines

NME 3200 Refer to CIN 3200 in Cinema Studies Courses for description.

Tactical Practical

NME 3210 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The first rule of guerrilla warfare is to know the terrain. Today's terrain is one of symbols, media spectacles, and technology that artists are uniquely equipped to navigate. In this course, students learn to combine sociological research, communications strategy, technological methods, and artistic tactics to plan effective social interventions. Students should bring their passion, thoughtfulness, compassion, and planning skills.

Prerequisite: NME 2100

Forms of the Moving Image

NME 3220 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Students explore the various ways that artists distribute and present video and the moving image. Examining issues of audience, the physical experience, and the social aspects of media distribution, this course focuses on the life of video after it is rendered. Topics include video installation, the moving image online, live video performance, and video remixes and re-edits.

Prerequisite: NME 2100

Real-Time Media Processing

NME 3230 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Using Pure Data, an open-source, graphical programming environment, students experiment with real-time media processing while exploring conceptual concerns and implications through historical and theoretical readings. Projects may include algorithmic or interactive music performances, interactive screen-based visuals, or interactive physical devices.

Prerequisite: NME 2100 or permission of instructor

Social Design: Global Cities, New Ecologies, and Sustainability

NME 3260 / 3 credits / Spring

An examination of ethical and social issues in design, and the impact of globalization and information technologies on the material basis of urban life and ecology. Students engage in theoretical discussions and study important artistic and design examples. Student research and production are in the form of digital books, visualizations, and websites. Offered as VDE 3260 for visual arts majors.

Prerequisite: NME 2100 or VDE 2600

Digital Dimensions

NME 3300 Refer to VSC 3310 in Sculpture Courses (School of Art+Design) for description.

History of Graphic Design Survey

NME 3301 Refer to VDE 3300 in Design Courses (School of Art+Design) for description.

Digital Printmaking

NME 3350 / 4 credits / Fall

An introduction to the technical aspects of fine art digital printing, using a large-format color printer. Topics include color balance and calibration, soft proofing, and archival preservation. Students expand their two-dimensional image-making skills while developing their artistic vision through the creation of a cohesive body of print-based work.

Prerequisite: NME/VPH 1010 and NME 1100

Video Art II

NME 3420 Refer to VSC 3420 in Sculpture Courses (School of Art+Design) for description.

Video Graphics

NME 3430 / 4 credits / Fall

An exploration of the ways that video artists, animators, and interactive designers can transform live-action video, often making reality seem malleable. Students learn about keying, matting, compositing, and other post-production techniques, and are introduced to the basics of animation. The primary software tool is Adobe After Effects; Flash and Motion may also be explored.

Prerequisite: NME 2420 or equivalent

Video Performance

NME 3435 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Students expand their video production skills while increasing their knowledge of the history and theory of video and performance art. In solo and collaborative assignments, students create projects that grow out of class discussions. Topics include relationships between live, remote, virtual, public, and private performance; action and document; sets and sculptural objects; autobiography and use of the body; and politics of the camera. Contemporary video performance is situated in the context of the history of photographic media as well as contemporary new-media tools and practices. Also offered as VIS 3435.

Prerequisite: NME 2420

Creating User Interfaces

NME 3440 Refer to MAT 3440 in Mathematics/Computer Science Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Intermediate Video

NME 3470 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

This intermediate-level course expands students' understanding of the video medium, its use, and its social, artistic, and cultural contexts. An advanced exploration of personal vision and practical application is also emphasized.

Prerequisite: NME 2420 or equivalent, and permission of instructor

Creating Databases for Web Applications

NME 3530 Refer to MAT 3530 in Mathematics/Computer Science Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

New Media and Contemporary Art

NME 3531 Refer to ARH 3531 in Art History Undergraduate Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Social Software

NME 3540 Refer to MAT 3540 in Mathematics/Computer Science Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Community-Centered Media

NME 3545 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Student groups are paired with local organizations with which they work throughout the semester. After site visits, interviews, and research, students identify a specific problem or need that they can address through media art production. Students learn about the inner workings and critical impact of participating organizations while helping to envision and implement change through creative thinking and technical know-how. Also offered as VIS 3545.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Introduction to Physical Computing: Getting Outside the Box

NME 3560 / 4 credits / Fall

Students break down the physical barrier of the personal computer and bring computing into the "real" world. The main tool used for this purpose is Arduino, an open-source microcontroller popular with artists and makers. The class discusses the implications of wiring and programming personal electronics and examines artists who have used physical computing to create art. Also offered as MAT 3560.

Prerequisite: NME/MAT 1420 or 1520

Experimental Workshop (Part One and Two)

NME 3611 and 3621 Refer to TFI 3610 and 3620 in Film Courses for description.

Sound/Interactive Media I and II

NME 3630 and 3640 Refer to VSC 3630 and 3640 in Sculpture Courses (School of Art+Design) for description.

Networking and Security

NME 3650 Refer to MAT 3650 in Mathematics/Computer Science Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Robotics

NME 3670 Refer to MAT 3670 in Mathematics/Computer Science Courses (School of Natural & Social Sciences) for description.

Interactive Installation: Hacking the Everyday

NME 3720 / 4 credits / Spring

Considers how artists have traditionally managed interactive spaces and how new technologies expand and shift the meaning of interactivity in contemporary art. "Circuit bending," an approach to electronics that repurposes older machines and toys, is also introduced. Students create their own interactive artworks; emphasis is on nontraditional uses of materials. Arduino microcontrollers and the Processing open-source platform are demonstrated in class and available to students.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Mobile Media

NME 3765 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

A hands-on exploration of how mobile technology enables new forms of media creation and consumption, with a focus on social and participatory aspects. The mobile Web, geocoding, QR codes, augmented reality, mobile apps, and more are covered. Students use

HTML 5 and Javascript for development. Also offered as MAT 3765.

Prerequisite: NME or MAT 2730, or permission of instructor

Experimental Web Practice

NME 3770 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The Internet is examined as a tool for artistic expression and action. Students consider what is unique about the Internet; exploit its potential as a means for communication, distribution, simulation, and interaction; and experiment with Web production. A wide range of Internet art projects are studied to stimulate ideas and give students an understanding of what is happening in the "Net art" world. Students are expected to challenge standard notions of how the Web functions. Offered as VIS 3770 for visual arts majors.

Prerequisite: NME 2730 or equivalent, and permission of instructor

Games for Change

NME 3780 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A hands-on examination of how digital games can go beyond pure entertainment and be used as a means for educating people about important social and global issues. Students work on Web-based Flash games, social networking games, or mobile games that are conceptualized, designed, and developed to effect change. Also offered as MAT 3780.

Prerequisite: One programming course (e.g., NME/MAT 1420 or 1520)

NME 3880 / 4 credits / Every semester

Students develop a definition of new media through a range of learning experiences. These include a survey of work in the field, with guest artists and class trips to galleries, media production houses, and events; students' critical writing and interactive discussions about what they are experiencing; and teacher-structured and student-initiated collaborative projects in which students test different creative roles, using various media.

Prerequisite: Advanced standing (NME 2100)

Internship in New Media

NME 3980 / Variable credits / Every semester

Internships are an important bridge to a career in the field. The faculty assists students in arranging these opportunities to work on or off campus in their specific area of interest.

Advanced Web Design: Special Projects

NME 4170 Refer to VDE 4170 in Design Courses (School of Art+Design) for description.

Senior Seminar I in New Media

NME 4880 / 2 credits / Fall

Students meet weekly to discuss some of the seminal texts in new media and to make presentations on their senior project proposals. By the end of the semester, each student has a Web site describing his or her project and a working timeline.

Senior Seminar II in New Media

NME 4890 / 2 credits / Spring

Students meet weekly to develop their senior projects further, design the new media exhibition, and practice writing proposals to external organizations and preparing their résumés.

Senior Project in New Media

NME 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Students work with individual members of the faculty to develop their senior projects. These projects, which are interdisciplinary in nature, can involve a collaboration between two or more seniors in the New Media Program. Each student must include a written senior thesis as part of the senior project. Two semesters required (8 credits total).

School of Humanities

Conceptualizing, interpreting, and imagining the worlds of human experience in words, in images, and through historical time are the central activities of students and scholars in the humanities. These activities define the core of our intellectual and moral selves.

The programs of the School of Humanities are designed to help students develop the critical skills and substantive knowledge needed to participate fully and effectively in today's complex world.

Overview of Programs

The School of Humanities offers majors in art history, creative writing, history, journalism, language and culture, literature, and philosophy, each leading to the Bachelor of Arts (BA) degree. A Master of Arts (MA) degree program is also offered in 20th-century art history. Within the language and culture major, a full program is offered in French and Spanish, with opportunities to study Chinese, German, Hausa, Hebrew, and Italian. Minors are also offered in most of the humanities disciplines.

Faculty members in the humanities also collaborate across the disciplines in such areas as Asian studies, gender studies, and Latin American studies (Interdisciplinary Studies); theatre and performance (in the Conservatory of Theatre Arts); and cinema studies (in the School of Film and Media Studies).

Humanities students may choose to major in a particular discipline, emphasizing mastery of the field of knowledge and its methodology, or they may treat the field as a focus for an integrated liberal arts education that combines studies across disciplines. For example, a student could decide to major in philosophy with substantial work in the natural sciences or to major in history with substantial work in literature.

The School of Humanities also coordinates the College Writing program and participates in the college's interdisciplinary study abroad programs.

Purchase Writers Center

The Purchase Writers Center, coordinated by the School of Humanities, is a focus for the college's many activities involving writers and writing. Each year, the Writers Center hosts a group of fellows, local writers who have offices and access to the resources of the library and the college. Fellows conduct workshops at the college and in the community, lead writing groups, and, along with other Purchase writers, give readings.

The Purchase Writers Center is supported by an advisory board composed of distinguished writers: Kate Buford, Benjamin Cheever, Laura Shaine Cunningham, Thulani Davis, Al Filreis, Aminatta Forna, Jeremy Gerard, Sheila Kohler, Donald Margulies, Caryl Phillips, Marie Ponsot, Esmeralda Santiago, and David Shields.

For additional information and updates on the Purchase Writers Center, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/Humanities/WritersCenter/default.aspx.

Faculty

Members of the School of Humanities faculty are distinguished scholars and dedicated teachers. They have published numerous books and articles in their fields of interest and expertise, and many are active on the editorial boards of professional journals. They are also affiliated with professional societies in all of the disciplines, as well as with museums and art galleries.

Among the many honors accorded to the faculty are the following fellowships: National Endowment for the Humanities, Woodrow Wilson, Fulbright, Guggenheim, Rockefeller, Ford Foundation, American Council of Learned Societies, Newberry, and Shakespeare Library. Widely recognized awards include: the George Jean Nathan Award for Drama Criticism, the Anisfield Wolf Prize for the best book on race, the Gilbert Chinard Literary Prize, the MLA Mina Shaughnessy Award, the Wallace Stegner Fellowship at Stanford University, and the SUNY Chancellor's Awards for Excellence in Teaching, in Scholarship and Creative Activities, and in Faculty Service.

Facilities

The School of Humanities occupies its own facility, the Durst Family Humanities Building, designed by Robert Venturi. Among the many resources available to students are the Humanities Theatre, a 340-seat theatre used for a wide range of activities and events; a multimedia computer lab and several "smart" classrooms; three classrooms dedicated to the study of art history; a journalism production facility; and specialized seminar areas for art history and creative writing.

Please note that the Humanities Building is closed through June 2014 for renovations and upgrades. For information on temporary office relocations, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/Humanities/OfficeRelocations.aspx.

The Art History BA Program

The art history BA program serves students who see the arts as central to the intellectual challenges that lie at the heart of college life. The study of art history introduces students to a wide range of visual culture. The program offers study of the various forms of art and architecture: painting, sculpture, graphics, decorative arts, photography, and design. These media are approached through the contexts of social, cultural, and political history, theoretical methods, anthropology, and religious traditions. A large selection of courses covers all periods of history and many of the world's cultures.

Study on Campus, in New York City, and Abroad

The program is designed to introduce not only subjects but approaches: visual and stylistic analysis, criticism, iconography, historiography, and methodology. Because art history requires the study of original works of art, many courses are supplemented by field trips to museums and art galleries in New York City, just 20 miles south of the Purchase campus. The on-campus Neuberger Museum of Art is also a major resource. Internships and the college's study abroad programs provide many opportunities for undergraduates to get involved in the art world outside the classroom.

The Junior Year

During the junior year, students select a broad field of study that includes the architecture, sculpture, and painting of several periods (e.g., medieval, Renaissance, early modern, or modern). Students are urged to take at least two courses outside art history related to their area of study (e.g., courses in 19th- and 20th-century literature, history, and/or philosophy, if the focus is on the modern period). The Junior Seminar in Art History examines selected approaches to the study of art history by analyzing various interpretations of the work of a single artist.

The Senior Project

The program culminates in a two-semester senior project, in which each student uses the methods of art history in an in-depth project that may take a variety of forms: a research thesis, an exhibition at the Neuberger Museum of Art, a critical study, or a project based on original works of art within the New York area.

After Graduation

Many alumni choose to pursue their interest in art history through employment at museums and galleries. Other alumni have chosen to work in film production and publishing and as art handlers and transporters. Some have earned advanced degrees in art history, art therapy, and art education.

The Art History BA Program: Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all art history undergraduate majors must complete 13 courses and an 8-credit senior project, as follows:

1. ARH 1010/History of Art Survey I
2. ARH 1020/History of Art Survey II
3. Six specialized art history courses, which must include:
 - ARH 3880/Junior Seminar in Art History
 - One course in the history of art prior to 1800
4. Two studio courses in the visual arts
5. Three courses in related disciplines and/or a foreign language
6. ARH 4990/Senior Project in Art History

Minor in Art History

The minor in art history is designed for undergraduate students in all disciplines at Purchase College who are interested in art history and visual culture. Students interested in pursuing this minor should submit a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under “Forms”) to the School of Humanities main office. Upon admission to the minor, the student is assigned a minor advisor from the art history faculty.

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Art History

Five courses in art history, as follows:

- a. ARH 1010/History of Art Survey I
- b. ARH 1020/History of Art Survey II
- c. Three specialized art history courses (2000 level or above)

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/humanities/ArtHistory/Minor.aspx.

The Art History Program: Undergraduate CoursesHistory of Art Survey I (Ancient through Medieval)

ARH 1010 / 3 credits / Fall

The art and architecture of Egypt, Greece, Rome, and medieval Europe, presented in terms of their visual and cultural significance.

History of Art Survey II (Renaissance through 21st Century)

ARH 1020 / 4 credits / Spring

A survey of the history of Western art, including the works of Masaccio, Van Eyck, Donatello, Bosch, Michelangelo, and Leonardo da Vinci; followed by the rise of national styles in the 17th and 18th centuries in France and England. Nineteenth-century neoclassicism, romanticism, realism, impressionism, and postimpressionism, as well as modernism and developments in 20th-century art, are also covered.

Touchstones of Modern Art

ARH 1060 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Introduces major movements, artists, and works of the modern period, and also covers basic skills for looking at and describing works of art. Designed for students for limited or no background in art history. Limited to freshmen.

The Work of Images: The Function of Art in Western Culture

ARH 1070 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Major works of Western art are introduced, and their interactive and performative functions are assessed in specific social, political, and religious contexts. Students explore how art helped shape the very concept of "Western civilization" over time. Requiring no previous study of art history, this course introduces skills for analyzing art and for critical reading and writing. Limited to freshmen; cannot be used as an art history elective.

Globalism in the Visual Arts

ARH 1065 / 4 credits / Alternate years

In this exploration of artists' work and exhibitions, contemporary global power structures and the traditional hegemony of the West are critiqued. The course commences with the 2002 Whitney Biennial, a show dedicated to this theme. Artistic interventions regarding sustainability, new colonialism, terrorism, the geopolitics of gender, and digital technology are analyzed. Special attention is given to artists from non-G8 countries.

Introduction to Modern Art

ARH 2050 / 4 credits / Fall

The work of Courbet, Manet, and the circle of the Impressionists sets the stage for the revolutionary modern movements of the 20th century (e.g., Cubism, Expressionism, Dada, Surrealism). The course concludes with those artists who came to prominence in America at the time of World War II.

Art Since 1945

ARH 2060 / 4 credits / Spring

Introduces the diversity of practices that have dominated the history of art since World War II. Movements include Abstract Expressionism, postwar European painting, happenings, Fluxus, Pop art, minimalism, conceptual art, performance art, and postmodernism. While European and North American art are emphasized, Asian and Latin American art are also addressed, particularly in the context of increasing globalization.

Prerequisite: ARH 1020 or 2050

Introduction to the Structure and Function of Museums

ARH 2140 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Explores a range of topics, including the history of art museums, current theories and methodologies of display, and museum administration. In addition to class discussion, students meet with museum personnel from the Neuberger Museum of Art to learn the basics of museum operations, including curatorial work, exhibition design, registration, education and public programming, marketing, public relations, and finance.

Medieval Art and Architecture

ARH 2155 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of painting, sculpture, and architecture during the European Middle Ages, from the end of the Roman Empire through the Gothic era (c. 300–1400). French and Italian art are emphasized, but works from every part of Christian Europe, from England and Spain to the Byzantine Empire, are included.

Picturing America: Art and American Identity to 1913

ARH 2160 / 4 credits / Alternate years

What is American about American art, and how have questions of race and ethnic and cultural identity shaped our visual culture? Offering an interpretive overview of American history through the lens of American culture, this course traces the formation of American identity from the eve of the European arrival in North America to shortly before the beginning of World War I.

Early Italian Renaissance Art

ARH 2230 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of painting, sculpture, and architecture produced in Italy from the late 13th century to the late 15th century, including Giotto, Masaccio, Donatello, Brunelleschi, Piero della Francesca, and Botticelli.

Art and Architecture in Italy: Hellenic to Baroque

ARH 2231 / 4 credits / Summer (offered in Italy)

A survey of the visual arts in Italy from c. 600 B.C. to the 18th century, with six field trips and three days in Rome. Emphasis is placed on the monuments of Magna Graecia (Velia and Paestum) and the Roman era (Pompeii and Herculaneum). The medieval art of Amalfi, Ravello, and Salerno and the monuments of Naples and Rome are also considered.

Italian High Renaissance and Mannerism

ARH 2240 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of painting, sculpture, and architecture in Italy during the 16th century. The course begins with an in-depth study of the works of Leonardo da Vinci, Michelangelo, Raphael, Bramante, Giorgione, and Titian, and then traces the evolution of the anticlassical style known as mannerism.

Baroque Art and Architecture

ARH 2250 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Surveys art and architecture from the 1580s to 1700 throughout Europe. Special attention is given to the social, political, and religious conditions that helped to shape the art of the early modern period.

Byzantine Art and Architecture

ARH 2255 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The Byzantine Empire, at its height, reached from Italy to the Middle East and lasted for more than 1,000 years. Byzantine engineers advanced Roman dome architecture in such buildings as the Hagia Sophia. Particular attention is paid to the Empire's Mediterranean context between the kingdoms of the West and the Islamic caliphates.

Greek Art and Architecture

ARH 2265 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Developments in Greek sculpture, vase painting, and architecture are traced from the destruction of the Mycenaean palaces (c. 1200 B.C.E.) to the rise of the Roman Empire (1st and 2nd centuries B.C.E.). Topics include the impact of Near Eastern civilizations on early Greek culture, the "classical" style's florescence in 5th-century Athens, and the creation of the Hellenistic world by Alexander the Great.

Roman Art and Architecture

ARH 2267 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A survey of Roman culture and history through material remains. Sculpture, painting, architecture, and the "minor" arts are examined with respect to aesthetic considerations, stylistic developments, and social significance. Topics include the influence of Greek visual culture on Rome, the "Romanization" of the Empire's far-flung provinces, and the Roman foundations of Christian art and architecture.

West African Art

ARH 2300 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A survey presenting key artistic works from the cultures of West Africa and the Congo region. Students learn about the artistic, social, and political aspects important to these works and the artists that make them. Primary themes include accumulative and multimedia aesthetics, sustainable materials, music and performance, gender, divination, royalty, spirituality, nomadism, collective production, and contemporary art.

West African Dance: History, Theory, and Practice

ARH 2305 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this consideration of West African dance of the Mali-Guinea nexus, students investigate conditions of contemporary West African dance artists, their collaborative processes, and the archiving and preservation of their work, and engage in dance activities in West African idioms. Afro-Atlantic formats are also considered. Designed for students in all disciplines, including dance.

Making Art in Early Modern Europe

ARH 2340 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Several major areas that shaped the production of artworks from 1575 to 1700 are examined, including training, studio practice, technical innovation, markets and patrons, and criticism and exhibition.

Museum Anthropology

ARH 2470 Refer to ANT 2470 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.

Italian Art in the 16th Century: Reformations, Explorations, Deviations

ARH 2650 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines Italian art and architecture of the High Renaissance, Mannerist, and Baroque periods, considering such issues as the status of the artist, the "crisis of the image" during religious reformations, and the place of art in an expanding early-modern understanding of the world. Emphasis is on the development of students' skills, including formal analysis and critical reading and writing.

Introduction to East Asian Art

ARH 2795 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Surveys the arts of China and Japan, as well as the cultural, philosophical, political, and religious traditions that they represent. Material is covered chronologically and thematically.

Art of Spain and the New World

ARH 2805 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A survey of the art, architecture, and culture of Spain and the new world from antiquity to the modern era. Artists discussed include Berruguete, El Greco, Velázquez, Goya, Sorolla, and Lorca.

Early Medieval Art and Architecture

ARH 2860 / 4 credits / Fall

Explores the development of architecture, sculpture, and painting from the fall of Rome to c. 1140. Not appropriate as a first art history course.

Women Artists and Feminist Criticism

ARH 2885 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An introduction to women artists from the Renaissance era through the Enlightenment, including Anguissola, Gentileschi, Vigée-Lebrun, and Kauffmann. Topics include access to professions, constructions of sexuality and gender, and attitudes toward the body in representation. Also offered as GND 2885.

The Avant-Gardes

ARH 3010 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Since the 1800s, the avant-gardes have tried to resist the delimited role of fine art in Western culture. In this course, students examine the strategies that avant-garde artists have used to reconnect their art practice with the more contentious areas of social and political life.

Prerequisite: One art history course at the 2000 level or above

Dada and the Readymade

ARH 3135 / 4 credits / Alternate years

This seminar focuses on the inception of the "readymade" and the abandonment of traditional forms of painting in the work of Marcel Duchamp, as well as the later development of readymade practices in the context of New York and Paris Dada. The history of the readymade as an artistic strategy is traced.

Collections Research/Neuberger MuseumARH 3145 / 3 credits / Fall

Based on objects in the Neuberger Museum of Art. Students undertake independent research projects on works in the museum's collection, investigating issues of documentation and interpretation. Limited to art history majors.

Prerequisite: Permission of coordinatorAmerican Art to 1913*ARH 3160 / 4 credits / Spring

Surveys American painting, sculpture, decorative arts, and architecture until the opening of the Armory Show in 1913. The course explores the distinctiveness of the American art tradition.

Prerequisite: One art history or history course (preferably ARH 1020), or permission of instructorAfrican American Art*ARH 3170 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A study of African American painting, sculpture, architecture, prints, drawings, photography, film, and vernacular and popular art. The course begins with the Afro-Atlantic era and covers images made by Southern artists in the 19th and early 20th centuries, as well as artists associated with the "New Negro" movement, the Harlem Renaissance, the civil rights movement, and postmodernism.

Contemporary African ArtARH 3177 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A study of artists and exhibitions from and about Africa, spanning a wide variety of traditional and new media. Important exhibitions like The Short Century: Independence and Liberation Movements in Africa, 1945–1994 (2001) and Looking Both Ways: Art of the Contemporary African Diaspora (2004) are analyzed. Themes include framing "Africa," African identities, memory and place, and popular culture.

History of PhotographyARH 3190 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introduction to a wide range of photographic practices, from the medium's conception in the 19th century to the ubiquitous online photo-sharing of today. Lectures have a special focus on the major artistic developments of photography. Topics include the significance of vernacular practices and their historical contexts in different parts of the world.

20th-Century PhotographyARH 3193 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A seminar examining the history of photography within both the historical and the neo-avant-gardes. Special attention is given to photographic activities of the Weimar Republic, the Soviet avant-garde, surrealism, and American pictorialism, modernism, and FSA documentary work, as well as the postwar formations of the New York School, conceptual art, and photographic postmodernism.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorPhotography: The First Century*ARH 3215 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines the photographic medium from its earliest forms through the 1920s and 1930s. Topics include technical innovations, manipulations and interventions, function and reception, the relationship to the fine arts, and debates about photography's claims of realism.

Albrecht Dürer and the German RenaissanceARH 3225 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A study of the German painter, printmaker, and draftsman Albrecht Dürer. The artist's interests in science, politics, religious conflicts, sexuality, and the non-Western world are emphasized.

Prerequisite: One art history or history course, or permission of instructorNorthern Renaissance Art*ARH 3230 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines the history of painting and sculpture in Northern Europe from the 14th century to c. 1570. Flemish, Dutch, French, German, and Czech works are considered, with emphasis on such artists as the Limbourg Brothers, Van Eyck, Bosch, Dürer, and Bruegel.

Prerequisite: One art history or history course, or permission of instructorArt and Architecture in Southern Italy: Medieval to Baroque*ARH 3236 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly, summer, in Italy)

A survey of painting, sculpture, and architecture in Rome, southern Italy, and Sicily from 500 to 1700 A.D. This course looks at the rise of Christian medieval art, the flowering of the Renaissance, and the development of the dynamic Baroque style.

Italian FuturismARH 3238 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly, summer, in Italy)

Founded in Italy in 1909, Futurism declared a love of speed, aggression, and technology, and rejected the clichés of nature, love, and antiquity. This course addresses the ways in which Futurists attacked the conventions of art, includes a more general discussion of Futurist art in Italy in relation to its past, and investigates the influence of Futurism in France, Britain, and Russia.

Dutch ArtARH 3240 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Investigates the themes, diverse genres, and major figures in 17th-century Dutch painting. Current problems of interpretation are examined, including the idea that there may have been a specifically northern form of visual thinking.

Introduction to Pre-Columbian Art and CivilizationsARH 3255 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Explores the scope and complexity of pre-Columbian art and civilizations, which flourished in Mesoamerica and the Andes. While these societies were responsible for outstanding achievements in mathematics, astronomy, and agriculture, their most enduring contribution is manifested in their art and architecture. Includes required visits to the Metropolitan Museum of Art and the American Museum of Natural History.

Venetian Art and Architecture

ARH 3260 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of the visual arts in Venice and its hinterland from the early Middle Ages to the end of the Venetian Republic in 1797. In addition to in-depth treatment of such artists as Bellini, Carpaccio, Giorgione, Titian, and Tiepolo, the social context of the arts and the unique urban development of Venice are studied in detail.

Prerequisite: One art history or history course, or permission of instructor

Aegean Art and Architecture

ARH 3261 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A survey of major sites, monuments, and objects of the Greek Bronze Age (c. 3200–1100 B.C.E.). Topics include: the emergence of the first complex civilizations in Europe; the development of regional artistic styles and iconography; interactions with Egypt and the Near East; and the historical reality of later Greek myths.

Art in the Age of Exploration

ARH 3270 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A study of the representation of Asians, Africans, and Americans (and their native lands) in European and American art from the end of the Middle Ages to the French Revolution. Some consideration is also given to the impact of non-Western arts on the European tradition.

Prerequisite: One Western art history or history course, or permission of instructor

Light and Truth: Film, Photography, and Reality

ARH 3275 Refer to PHI 3275 in Philosophy Courses for description.

Design and Culture

ARH 3285 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Design is both a noun and a verb. This course deals with the idea of design as a cultural phenomenon and a creative practice.

Contemporary design and its making are situated within a broad methodological framework, drawing from existing and emerging theories in anthropology, art history, film studies, criticism, the history of technology, and architecture.

Latin American Art in the Age of Globalization

ARH 3335 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Focuses on contemporary Latin American artists working in and out of Latin America: Gabriel Orozco, Guillermo Gomez Peña, Adriana Varejao, Teresa Margolles, Carlos Garaicoa, Betsabeé Romero, Javier Tellez, Nadín Ospina, Tania Bruguera, and Nicolás de Jesús. Students analyze the way these artists address such questions as urban violence, social inequality, pollution, emigration, and national identity. Also offered as LST 3335.

Origins of Modernity

ARH 3345 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Explores elements of modernity in art, architecture, and visual culture, with particular emphasis on new methodologies. Topics include the public/private sphere issues, high and low culture, notions of self and identity, and sexual difference and gender.

Modern Architecture

ARH 3400 / 4 credits / Spring

Explores the interplay between technological innovations and stylistic trends in European and American architecture (1800–1980s).

Special emphasis is placed on the contributions of such major architects as Louis Sullivan, Frank Lloyd Wright, Le Corbusier, and Ludwig Mies van der Rohe.

Prerequisite: One art history or history course, or permission of instructor

Design History and Theory: 1750–Today

ARH 3405 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines the history of design as it parallels the history of technology and industrialization. Covering a variety of design disciplines, including architecture and urban planning, graphic design, fashion, and industrial design, this course focuses less on aesthetics than on the cultural programs that have shaped buildings, objects, and communication systems for more than two centuries.

Art History, Psychology, and Psychoanalysis

ARH 3500 / 4 credits / Spring

Focuses on the importance of the psychological dimension in art. Topics include gesture, emotional expression, and creativity; the character and conduct of artists; and Freudian and post-Freudian interpretation of art and artists.

Prerequisite: One course in art history, history, or psychology

The Fictional Visual Arts

ARH 3507 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines a selection of poetry, short stories, novels, and films from different historical periods that foreground the visual arts through various means, including the character of the artist, the practices of art, the nature of creativity, and the critical reception of art.

19th-Century Art

ARH 3510 / 4 credits / Fall

European art from the French Revolution to 1900, with movements in France, Germany, and England receiving particular attention. Major artists studied include David, Gericault, Delacroix, Ingres, Frederich, Constable, Turner, the Pre-Raphaelites, Daumier, Manet, Degas, Monet, and Gauguin.

Prerequisite: One art history course or permission of instructor

Art and/as Performance

ARH 3526 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of visual artists who have used performance as an integral component of their practice, with emphasis on post-1950 object-oriented work (rather than theatre or dance). Both primary texts and critical interpretations are studied.

Prerequisite: ARH 2050 or 2060, or permission of instructor

ARH 3531 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of contemporary art outside of the traditional media of painting, sculpture, and architecture. Looking at painting-based performances of the 1950s, feminist body art, guerrilla television, and current political interventions based in digital media, students identify the strategies artists used to create new forms, and assess their success in modifying our understanding of the world. Also offered as NME 3531.

Prerequisite: One art history course

ARH 3560 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines photography as a medium used by European colonizers and its subsequent use by Africans for self-definition and liberation. Topics include early studio photography, photographs in cultural outlets like the Nigerian edition of Drum magazine, photography during the apartheid era, and contemporary work. The political and stylistic aspects of portrait, documentary, ethnographic, pop, and abstract images are considered.

Creativity, Genius, and the Renaissance Artist and Architect

ARH 3570 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A critical examination of the concepts of creativity and the artist genius in the era of Brunelleschi, Michelangelo, and Gentileschi. Artist biographies are compared with art historical evidence, including painting, sculpture, architecture and other media, to explore the historical contexts of Renaissance art creation. Topics include self-portraiture, women artists, workshop practices, and the artist's and architect's differing connections to fabrication.

Abstract Expressionism

ARH 3600 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Focuses on the leading American avant-garde painters who emerged in the 1940s, including Willem de Kooning, Philip Guston, Franz Kline, Barnett Newman, Jackson Pollock, Mark Rothko, and Clyfford Still. The course relates their art to cultural, intellectual, social, and political developments of the period, with special attention to recent revisionist approaches to Abstract Expressionism.

ARH 3605 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A variety of intersections between extreme mental conditions and the production of works of art during the modern period are investigated. Topics include connections between creativity and mental instability, artists with a history of mental disorder, and theories about stylistic or formal affinities between madness and art.

Prerequisite: One art history course

Abstraction in Modern Art

ARH 3610 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An intensive investigation of the stages involved in the pursuit of abstraction and the nonrepresentational in modern art, with special attention given to the careers of Kandinsky and Mondrian.

Prerequisite: One art history or history course, or permission of instructor

English Art 1500–1850

ARH 3620 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An introduction to the work of English artists, beginning with Nicholas Hilliard and painters at the court of Elizabeth I and concluding with the projects of the Pre-Raphaelite Brotherhood. Special attention is given to the relationship of artists and architects to theatrical contexts and literary emotions.

French Art From LaTour to David

ARH 3630 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Focuses on the work of French artists from the early modern era to the French Revolution, with special attention to the Gallic obsession with realism, alongside the more abstract aspects of representation.

20th-Century Sculpture

ARH 3650 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Conceptions of what sculpture can be were radically transformed over the course of the 20th century. This course presents a survey of 20th-century sculpture, with emphasis on innovative materials and techniques, the changing relationship between viewer and object, and new modes of exhibition. The work of Duchamp, Bourgeois, Calder, Judd, Hesse, and Smithson, among others, is discussed.

Utopian Architecture

ARH 3660 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Emerging from a longstanding literary tradition, examples of utopian architecture give insight into the ideals and fears of the cultures that produced them. This course explores both utopian and dystopian architectural visions, beginning with the Enlightenment works of Ledoux and Boullée and ending with the paper projects of such 1960s groups as Archigram and Superstudio.

ARH 3670 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

If the postwar period famously represented the ascendancy of American art, what art forms emerged simultaneously in traditional European centers? This course examines seemingly antithetical practices in France, Italy, Germany, and elsewhere: Art Informel, nouveau réalisme (new realism), Arte Povera, neoexpressionist painting, body art, conceptualism, Young British Art, etc. How has the changing European political landscape affected art and its institutions?

Artists on ArtARH 3710 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An examination of critical and theoretical writing by artists about art. The course considers texts from various eras, but focuses primarily on 20th-century and contemporary material. Artists' writings are analyzed in the context of art criticism as a whole, and students also have the opportunity try their hand at criticism.

Prerequisite: ARH 2060 or equivalentPop Art and Mass Culture*ARH 3755 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this historical approach to Pop art, the evolving relationship between mass culture and the visual arts is surveyed, from the development of "modern life" painting in France in the late 19th century to the development of Pop in Britain and the U.S. in the mid-20th century. The legacy of Pop is examined in politically oriented practices of the 1970s and in post-Pop tendencies in contemporary art.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorIslamic Spain and Sicily in the Middle Ages*ARH 3770 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The Islamic conquests of Spain and Sicily brought Muslim culture to European shores for the first time. These conquests resulted in a dynamic artistic exchange among Muslim, Christian, and Jewish medieval traditions in the region. Critical issues for consideration include the impact of trade and diplomacy on this exchange and the lasting influence of Islamic art on the West.

Father of the Arts: Renaissance DrawingARH 3775 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Explores the role of drawing in Renaissance art. Developments in paper-making technology and graphic media allowed artists to create and use drawings in different ways, until drawings came to be seen as finished artworks in their own right, products of the artist's unique hand. Emphasis is on the development of students' skills, including formal analysis and critical reading and writing.

Art and MoralityARH 3786 Refer to PHI 3785 in Philosophy Courses for description.Mexican Art From the Revolution to the NAFTA Era*ARH 3815 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A broad look at modern and contemporary Mexican art, using an interdisciplinary and comparative approach. Special emphasis is on the Mexican Revolution (1910–1920) and its aftermath throughout the 20th century. Students analyze links between the visual arts (including mural painting, prints, and photography) and the literature, the popular scene and the mainstream, the street art and the gallery art. Also offered as LST 3815.

Junior Seminar in Art HistoryARH 3880 / 4 credits / Fall

Provides art history majors with an opportunity to examine the nature of the discipline by analyzing and comparing the writings of several art historians. The seminar concentrates on the work of a single artist in light of various art historical approaches. This writing-intensive course requires a variety of short essays and concludes with a research paper and class presentation. Limited to art history majors.

Feminist Approaches to Art and TheoryARH 3885 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An overview of the intersection between art history and feminist art practice, theory, and history. Although the artists covered are primarily women, their production is discussed within a larger artistic and cultural context when appropriate. While the theory may be challenging for college sophomores, tangible examples (i.e., the examination of works or essay/exhibitions) can lend clarity to abstract thought. Also offered as GND 3885.

Writing Art CriticismARH 4000 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Students focus on developing competence in both critical style and content. Focusing on visual art, the course explores different kinds of critical voices, from belle-lettristic to theoretical. Readings and discussions analyze examples by leading critics. Writing assignments aim for students to develop an engaging argument, and the importance of revision, clear thinking, and descriptive ability is stressed.

Prerequisite: One course in either modern or contemporary art history, or a writing course beyond LWR 1110Contemporary Art and the Sublime*ARH 4015 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the resurgence, or persistence, in recent art of the sublime: an experience of overwhelming grandeur. Why have contemporary artists (Matthew Barney, Edward Burtynsky, Tacita Dean, Olafur Eliasson, Andreas Gursky, Bill Viola, and others) turned to an 18th-century aesthetic theory in order to address the pressing issues of our time: climate change, the expansion of technology, and economic globalization?

Exhibitions SeminarARH 4030 / 4 credits / Alternate years

In this seminar, students and the instructor co-curate an exhibition for the Neuberger Museum of Art. The class works on all aspects of the exhibition with the instructor and museum staff. Students learn about the various functions of departments, including curatorial, education, exhibition design, development, and public relations, putting exhibition theory into practice. Exhibition topics vary.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorObscenity and Censorship in Contemporary Art*ARH 4040 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Considers the validity of obscene imagery—eroticism, violence, scatology, racism, and hate speech—in recent artistic practice. Students investigate the struggle to define the terms "art" and "obscenity" and the efforts to censor such art. What are the artistic, critical, and political effects of engaging with obscenity? What are the motivations and effects of attempting to censor it?

Prerequisite: ARH 2060

The African Presence in Western ArtARH 4100 / 4 credits / Alternate years

This seminar explores the representation of Africans in Western painting and sculpture from the Greco-Roman era through the 19th century. The depiction of Africans as saints, sovereigns, and slaves is considered, along with the visual consequences of modern racism and antiracism.

Prerequisite: Two courses in art history and/or historyAesthetics and Politics*ARH 4105 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The relationship between artistic practice and the social realm is addressed, with emphasis on the development of the avant-garde in the 19th and 20th centuries, the role of artists in contemporary political discourse, and the theoretical discourse that constitutes the larger debate on these issues.

Prerequisite: One art history courseThe Invisible Seventies*ARH 4120 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The 1970s are often thought about in frivolous terms, as the decade of disco and bell-bottoms. In art, this period is often overshadowed by the radical avant-gardes of the 1960s and new developments in art during the 1980s. This seminar reconsiders the art and culture of the '70s in the context of social and political currents of the period.

Prerequisite: ARH 2050 or 2060Minimalisms*ARH 4125 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Drawing on both contemporary artists' and critics' writings and recent historical accounts, students consider minimalist art of the 1960s as a well-defined movement comprising a specific group of artists, versus "minimalism" as a diffuse tendency appearing in sculpture, painting, film, music, and dance. The relationship of minimalism to subsequent practices—postminimalism, process and land art, and conceptualism—is also explored.

Prerequisite: One course in 20th-century artContemporary African-American Art: East Coast-West Coast*ARH 4130 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

African-American artistic trends since 1968 are examined by using the binary of East Coast-West Coast as appropriated from hip-hop culture, particularly in Los Angeles, Oakland, and New York. Both the limits of hip-hop aesthetics in the visual arts and the limits of thinking about "black aesthetics" as a stable or quantifiable style are tested.

Prerequisite: One art history courseCraft Revivals*ARH 4150 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines the relationship between the traditional crafts and the upheavals of modernity. Beginning with the Arts and Crafts movement in the 19th century and continuing to the present day, students explore how craft is framed as protest against industrialization, as utopian model of labor and exchange, and as aesthetic transformation.

Paranoid ModernismARH 4160 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the relationship between madness and modernism, focusing on the psychological extremes associated with paranoia and overinterpretation as they impinged upon the avant-garde art movements of the 20th century.

Design CriticismARH 4170 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An investigation of design, from automotive bodies to print advertising and Internet design, as a subject open to the traditional and nontraditional methods used in critical thinking and writing. Approaches toward analyzing and thinking about design include semiotic, gender, and postcolonial studies, as well as formal and psychoanalytic analysis.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorIntroduction to Museum Studies*ARH 4200 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Topics range from the history of art museums to current theories and methodologies of display and museum administration. In addition to class discussion, students meet with staff members at the Neuberger Museum of Art and other institutions to learn the basics of museum operations, including curatorial work, exhibition design, registration, educational and public programming, marketing and public relations, and finance. On- and off-campus museum visits required.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorTheories of Painting*ARH 4225 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Painting has long been accompanied by theories describing its abilities to attract, deceive, and even harm. This course looks at key theories and debates in the history of the medium (e.g., Rubenistes vs. Poussinistes, painting's role among pluralistic practices) to better understand how both making and seeing a painting are colored by a history of ideas.

Prerequisite: ARH 1020 or 2040The Russian Avant-Garde*ARH 4250 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Despite a growing interest in the work of the Russian avant-garde, there is still relatively little known about the artists of the late Russian Empire and the early Soviet Union. This course addresses the broad scope and multidisciplinary practice of Russian modernism, from the shocking primitivism of The Rite of Spring to the cold pragmatism of constructivism.

Studies in Italian Renaissance ArtARH 4275 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The study of a particular theme (e.g., politics, gender, warfare) in the art of Renaissance Italy (1300–1600). Students work individually on some aspect of this theme, making class presentations and completing a research paper.

Prerequisite: Two art history courses or permission of instructorTheorizing Design*ARH 4300 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Why design? Why consume? What is desire? Are you what you make? Are you what you consume? How does design communicate? Design is a complex activity that touches on fields as diverse as psychoanalysis and anthropology. This course provides a theoretical understanding of design practice, production, and use (consumption). Topics include graphic and digital design, furniture, architecture, and industrial design.

American Art and Architecture in the Age of the MachineARH 4340 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Focuses on objects and movements influenced by industrialization and mechanization in the U.S. between 1900 and 1940. Topics include the rise of the skyscraper in American architecture and its effect on painters and printmakers, the advent of the automobile and the assembly line's replacement of the factory worker, and Dada's expression of the havoc wreaked during World War I by new machine-age technology.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorSeminar: Rauschenberg*ARH 4445 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The work of Robert Rauschenberg is examined in the context of postwar neo-avant-garde activities in the U.S. and in relation to the work of contemporaries like Jasper Johns and John Cage. Students also review recent theoretical debates about the meaning and significance of the artist's work. Some background in the study of modern or contemporary art is useful.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorField Trips to New York Museums and Galleries*ARH 4460 / 3 credits / Spring

A practical course in art criticism, which meets regularly in New York. Contemporary works of art form the basis for lectures, discussions, and written essays. Limited to art history majors.

Pre-Columbian Aesthetics in Modern Latin American ArtARH 4590 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Since the late 1800s, pre-Columbian art and history have inspired Latin American artists. This course investigates that phenomenon through an in-depth study of the work of individual artists, including Diego Rivera and Frida Kahlo, as well as more contemporary figures. Students are also introduced to pre-Columbian art and architecture. Also offered as LST 4590.

Prerequisite: One course in art history or on some aspect of Hispanic cultureVan Gogh in Context*ARH 4620 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Although Vincent van Gogh is one of the world's best-known and most beloved artists, his work is often reduced to simplistic notions of madness and genius. This course expands students' understanding of the artist by exploring his connection to the contemporary contexts of mechanical reproduction, national identity, and urban culture.

Prerequisite: ARH 1020 or 2050, and one upper-level art history courseExoticism in Modern Art*ARH 4710 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Explores reciprocal influences of Western and non-Western art in the modern period. Topics include diverse artistic movements like "Orientalism," "Japonisme," and "Primitivism." The class also examines the impact of non-Western art on specific artists, including Delacroix, Manet, Whistler, Picasso, and Pollock.

Pop ArtARH 4750 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Pop art, initially regarded with suspicion and considered frivolous, has proved to be a significant and influential movement. Today, it is perceived as an art form that expresses serious social and political concerns. This course focuses on the emergence of Pop art in England, the influence of American Pop art on European artists, and the way in which Pop art energizes conceptual art today. Artists covered include Andy Warhol, Roy Lichtenstein, Claes Oldenburg, Gerhard Richter, Jeff Koons, and Damien Hirst.

African Art and FilmARH 4770 / 4 credits / Alternate years

African art and visual culture are considered in the context of African film. African youth, who make up most of the continent's population, have had a marked effect on many sociopolitical phenomena. The films screened address African youth culture and such issues as the new independence (1960s), post-apartheid South Africa, youth rebels, religious fundamentalism, HIV, hip-hop and digital culture, and global emigration.

Performance Art in the West African DiasporaARH 4775 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An analysis of the roots and reinvigorations of West African performance art featuring the artist's body, with emphasis on manifestations in Europe, the United States, the Caribbean, Central and South America, and especially Afro-Brazil. Topics include griot styles; contemporary African fashions and pop culture; and musical call and response as adapted for dance, sculpture, painting, film, fashion, and photography.

Food and Feasting in the Visual ArtsARH 4820 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The visual record of the production and consumption of food and drink are examined in this seminar. Topics include food in the still life, the representation of gluttony, and the prominent position of sacred feasts and food miracles in religious art. The primary focus is on Western art, but examples from other traditions are considered.

Prerequisite: An art history course

Senior Project in Art History

ARH 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Students use the methodology of art history in an extended project (e.g., a research thesis, an exhibition at the Neuberger Museum of Art, a critical study, or a project based on monuments found within the New York area). Two semesters required (8 credits total).

The Art History MA Program

The Noel S. and Richard B. Frackman MA program in modern and contemporary art, criticism, and theory offers a unique and interdisciplinary program for students who wish to study modern and contemporary art in the context of a critical and visual studies approach.

The program provides an intensive study of contemporary critical and theoretical issues surrounding 20th- and 21st-century artistic practices. During weekly first-year colloquia, students are also introduced to the work of some of the most prominent critics, artists, and historians in the field today. Many courses are supplemented by field trips to museums and art galleries in New York City, just 20 miles south of the Purchase campus. The college's Neuberger Museum of Art is also a major resource.

This MA program is generously supported by a grant from Noel S. and Richard B. Frackman.

The MA/MFA Option

For students who qualify for acceptance in both programs, the MA program in art history may be taken in conjunction with the MFA program in visual arts, offered by the School of Art+Design at Purchase College. Prospective graduate students must apply separately for admission to each program.

This three-year course of study requires 96 credits: 40 credits for the MA and 64 credits for the MFA, with the 8 credits of ARH 5325 and 5326 applied to both. The thesis is required and the language requirement is waived. For more detailed information, please refer to the MA/MFA option in the School of Art+Design section of this catalog.

Art History Faculty (Board of Study)

Please refer to the BA Program for a list of the art history faculty.

The Art History Program: Graduate Courses

Please note that art history graduate courses are limited to art history MA students (and MFA students in the School of Art+Design who have been accepted in both programs). With the exception of permission of instructor, where noted, there are no course prerequisites.

Required Courses

Proseminar: Method and Theory in Art HistoryARH 5101 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The major theoretical orientations and methodologies associated with art historical study are discussed and critiqued. Methods reviewed range from connoisseurship to the iconographic and social-historical. Theories surveyed include formalist, Marxist, literary, feminist, psychoanalytic, and new-historicist concerns that dominated 20th-century interpretative practice. Required for MA students.

Master's Colloquium I: History and Theory of Modern ArtARH 5325 / 4 credits / Fall

A seminar that considers topics and theoretical models that inform students' understanding of modern and contemporary art. Within this framework, critics, art historians, and artists are invited to give lectures and lead seminars on their particular research interests. Required for MA students.

Master's Colloquium II: Critical Issues in Contemporary ArtARH 5326 / 4 credits / Spring

A directed investigation of a specific set of issues in contemporary art and culture. The focus, which changes from year to year, introduces students to critical and theoretical models central to contemporary cultural analysis. Invited artists, art historians, and critics participate through individual lectures, seminars, or directed collaborations with students. Required for MA students.

Master's ThesisARH 5990 / 4 credits / Every semester

Supervision of research and writing of the master's thesis. To be taken twice in consecutive semesters (8 credits total).

ElectivesWriting Art Criticism*ARH 5000 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Students focus on developing competence in both critical style and content. Focusing on visual art, the course explores different kinds of critical voices, from belle-lettristic to theoretical. Readings and discussions analyze examples by leading critics. Writing assignments aim for students to develop an engaging argument, and the importance of revision, clear thinking, and descriptive ability is stressed.

The Avant-GardesARH 5010 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Since the 1800s, the avant-gardes have tried to resist the delimited role of fine art in Western culture. In this course, students examine the strategies that avant-garde artists have used to reconnect their art practice with the more contentious areas of social and political life.

Contemporary Art and the SublimeARH 5015 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the resurgence, or persistence, in recent art of the sublime: an experience of overwhelming grandeur. Why have contemporary artists (Matthew Barney, Edward Burtynsky, Tacita Dean, Olafur Eliasson, Andreas Gursky, Bill Viola, and others) turned to an 18th-century aesthetic theory in order to address the pressing issues of our time: climate change, the expansion of technology, and economic globalization?

Exhibitions SeminarARH 5030 / 4 credits / Alternate years

In this seminar, students and the instructor co-curate an exhibition for the Neuberger Museum of Art. The class works on all aspects of the exhibition with the instructor and museum staff. Students learn about the various functions of departments, including curatorial, education, exhibition design, development, and public relations, putting exhibition theory into practice. Exhibition topics vary.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorObscenity and Censorship in Contemporary Art*ARH 5040 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Considers the validity of obscene imagery—eroticism, violence, scatology, racism, and hate speech—in recent artistic practice. Students investigate the struggle to define the terms “art” and “obscenity” and the efforts to censor such art. What are the artistic, critical, and political effects of engaging with obscenity? What are the motivations and effects of attempting to censor it?

Aesthetics and PoliticsARH 5105 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The relationship between artistic practice and the social realm is addressed, with emphasis on the development of the avant-garde in the 19th and 20th centuries, the role of artists in contemporary political discourse, and the theoretical discourse that constitutes the larger debate on these issues.

The Invisible SeventiesARH 5120 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The 1970s are often thought about in frivolous terms, as the decade of disco and bell-bottoms. In art, this period is often overshadowed by the radical avant-gardes of the 1960s and new developments in art during the 1980s. This seminar reconsiders the art and culture of the '70s in the context of social and political currents of the period.

MinimalismsARH 5125 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Drawing on both contemporary artists' and critics' writings and recent historical accounts, students consider minimalist art of the 1960s as a well-defined movement comprising a specific group of artists, versus “minimalism” as a diffuse tendency appearing in sculpture, painting, film, music, and dance. The relationship of minimalism to subsequent practices—postminimalism, process and land art, and conceptualism—is also explored.

Contemporary African-American Art: East Coast-West CoastARH 5130 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

African-American artistic trends since 1968 are examined by using the binary of East Coast-West Coast as appropriated from hip-hop culture, particularly in Los Angeles, Oakland, and New York. Both the limits of hip-hop aesthetics in the visual arts and the limits of thinking about "black aesthetics" as a stable or quantifiable style are tested.

Dada and the ReadymadeARH 5135 / 4 credits / Alternate years

This seminar focuses on the inception of the "readymade" and the abandonment of traditional forms of painting in the work of Marcel Duchamp, as well as the later development of readymade practices in the context of New York and Paris Dada. The history of the readymade as an artistic strategy is traced.

Collections Research/Neuberger MuseumARH 5145 / 3 credits / Fall

A graduate-level independent study based on objects in the Neuberger Museum of Art. Students undertake independent research projects on works in the museum's collection, investigating issues of documentation, provenance, condition, and interpretation.

Craft RevivalsARH 5150 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines the relationship between the traditional crafts and the upheavals of modernity. Beginning with the Arts and Crafts movement in the 19th century and continuing to the present day, students explore how craft is framed as protest against industrialization, as utopian model of labor and exchange, and as aesthetic transformation.

Paranoid ModernismARH 5160 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the relationship between madness and modernism, focusing on the psychological extremes associated with paranoia and overinterpretation as they impinged upon the avant-garde art movements of the 20th century.

American Art to 1913ARH 5161 / 4 credits / Spring

Surveys American painting, sculpture, decorative arts, and architecture until the opening of the Armory Show in 1913. The course explores the distinctiveness of the American art tradition.

Design CriticismARH 5170 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An investigation of design, from automotive bodies to print advertising and Internet design, as a subject open to the traditional and nontraditional methods used in critical thinking and writing. Approaches toward analyzing and thinking about design include semiotic, gender, and postcolonial studies, as well as formal and psychoanalytic analysis.

African-American ArtARH 5171 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A study of African-American painting, sculpture, architecture, prints, drawings, photography, film, and vernacular and popular art. The course begins with the Afro-Atlantic era and covers images made by Southern artists in the 19th and early 20th centuries, as well as artists associated with the "New Negro" movement, the Harlem Renaissance, the civil rights movement, and postmodernism.

Contemporary African ArtARH 5177 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A study of artists and exhibitions from and about Africa, spanning a wide variety of traditional and new media. Important exhibitions like The Short Century: Independence and Liberation Movements in Africa, 1945–1994 (2001) and Looking Both Ways: Art of the Contemporary African Diaspora (2004) are analyzed. Themes include framing "Africa," African identities, memory and place, and popular culture.

History of PhotographyARH 5190 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introduction to a wide range of photographic practices, from the medium's conception in the 19th century to the ubiquitous online photo-sharing of today. Lectures have a special focus on the major artistic developments of photography. Topics include the significance of vernacular practices and their historical contexts in different parts of the world.

20th-Century PhotographyARH 5193 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A seminar examining the history of photography within both the historical and the neo-avant-gardes. Special attention is given to photographic activities of the Weimar Republic, the Soviet avant-garde, surrealism, and American pictorialism, modernism, and FSA documentary work, as well as the postwar formations of the New York School, conceptual art, and photographic postmodernism.

Introduction to Museum StudiesARH 5200 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Topics range from the history of art museums to current theories and methodologies of display and museum administration. In addition to class discussion, students meet with staff members at the Neuberger Museum of Art and other institutions to learn the basics of museum operations, including curatorial work, exhibition design, registration, educational and public programming, marketing and public relations, and finance. On- and off-campus museum visits required.

Photography: The First CenturyARH 5215 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines the photographic medium from its earliest forms through the 1920s and 1930s. Topics include technical innovations, manipulations and interventions, function and reception, the relationship to the fine arts, and debates about photography's claims of realism.

Theories of PaintingARH 5225 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Painting has long been accompanied by theories describing its abilities to attract, deceive, and even harm. This course looks at key theories and debates in the history of the medium (e.g., Rubenistes vs. Poussinistes, painting's role among pluralistic practices) to better understand how both making and seeing a painting are colored by a history of ideas.

The Russian Avant-GardeARH 5250 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Despite a growing interest in the work of the Russian avant-garde, there is still relatively little known about the artists of the late Russian Empire and the early Soviet Union. This course addresses the broad scope and multidisciplinary practice of Russian modernism, from the shocking primitivism of The Rite of Spring to the cold pragmatism of constructivism.

Design and CultureARH 5285 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Design is both a noun and a verb. This course deals with the idea of design as a cultural phenomenon and a creative practice. Contemporary design and its making are situated within a broad methodological framework, drawing from existing and emerging theories in anthropology, art history, film studies, criticism, the history of technology, and architecture.

Theorizing DesignARH 5300 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Why design? Why consume? What is desire? Are you what you make? Are you what you consume? How does design communicate? Design is a complex activity that touches on fields as diverse as psychoanalysis and anthropology. This course provides a theoretical understanding of design practice, production, and use (consumption). Topics include graphic and digital design, furniture, architecture, and industrial design.

Latin American Art in the Age of GlobalizationARH 5335 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Focuses on contemporary Latin American artists working in and out of Latin America: Gabriel Orozco, Guillermo Gomez Peña, Adriana Varejao, Teresa Margolles, Carlos Garaicoa, Betsabeé Romero, Javier Tellez, Nadín Ospina, Tania Bruguera, and Nicolás de Jesús. Students analyze the way these artists address such questions as urban violence, social inequality, pollution, emigration, and national identity.

American Art and Architecture in the Age of the MachineARH 5340 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Focuses on objects and movements influenced by industrialization and mechanization in the U.S. between 1900 and 1940. Topics include the rise of the skyscraper in American architecture and its effect on painters and printmakers, the advent of the automobile and the assembly line's replacement of the factory worker, and Dada's expression of the havoc wreaked during World War I by new machine-age technology.

Origins of ModernityARH 5345 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Explores elements of modernity in art, architecture, and visual culture, with particular emphasis on new methodologies. Topics include public/private sphere issues, high and low culture, notions of self and identity, sexual difference and gender.

Modern ArchitectureARH 5400 / 4 credits / Spring

Explores the interplay between technological innovations and stylistic trends in European and American architecture (1800–1980s). Special emphasis is placed on the contributions of such major architects as Louis Sullivan, Frank Lloyd Wright, Le Corbusier, and Ludwig Mies van der Rohe.

Design History and Theory: 1750–TodayARH 5405 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines the history of design as it parallels the history of technology and industrialization. Covering a variety of design disciplines, including architecture and urban planning, graphic design, fashion, and industrial design, this course focuses less on aesthetics than on the cultural programs that have shaped buildings, objects, and communication systems for more than two centuries.

Seminar: RauschenbergARH 5445 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The work of Robert Rauschenberg is examined in the context of postwar neo-avant-garde activities in the U.S. and in relation to the work of contemporaries like Jasper Johns and John Cage. Students also review recent theoretical debates about the meaning and significance of the artist's work.

The Fictional Visual ArtsARH 5507 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines a selection of poetry, short stories, novels, and films from different historical periods that foreground the visual arts through various means, including the character of the artist, the practices of art, the nature of creativity, and the critical reception of art.

19th-Century ArtARH 5510 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

European art from the French Revolution to 1900, with movements in France, Germany, and England receiving particular attention. Major artists studied include David, Gericault, Delacroix, Ingres, Frederich, Constable, Turner, the Pre-Raphaelites, Daumier, Manet, Degas, Monet, and Gauguin.

Art and/as PerformanceARH 5526 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines the development of performance and body-oriented work as a major mainstream in contemporary art practice, beginning with the work of Fluxus and happenings and continuing to the present.

ARH 5530 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of contemporary art outside of the traditional media of painting, sculpture, and architecture. Looking at painting-based performances of the 1950s, feminist body art, guerrilla television, and current political interventions based in digital media, students identify the strategies artists used to create new forms, and assess their success in modifying our understanding of the world.

African Photography

ARH 5560 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines photography as a medium used by European colonizers and its subsequent use by Africans for self-definition and liberation. Topics include early studio photography, photographs in cultural outlets like the Nigerian edition of Drum magazine, photography during the apartheid era, and contemporary work. The political and stylistic aspects of portrait, documentary, ethnographic, pop, and abstract images are considered.

Creativity, Genius, and the Renaissance Artist and Architect

ARH 5570 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A critical examination of the concepts of creativity and the artist genius in the era of Brunelleschi, Michelangelo, and Gentileschi. Artist biographies are compared with art historical evidence, including painting, sculpture, architecture and other media, to explore the historical contexts of Renaissance art creation. Topics include self-portraiture, women artists, workshop practices, and the artist's and architect's differing connections to fabrication.

Pre-Columbian Aesthetics in Modern Latin American Art

ARH 5590 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Since the late 1800s, pre-Columbian art and history have inspired Latin American artists. This course investigates that phenomenon through an in-depth study of the work of individual artists, including Diego Rivera and Frida Kahlo, as well as more contemporary figures. Students are also introduced to pre-Columbian art and architecture.

Abstract Expressionism

ARH 5600 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Focuses on the leading American avant-garde painters who emerged in the 1940s, including Willem de Kooning, Philip Guston, Franz Kline, Barnett Newman, Jackson Pollock, Mark Rothko, and Clyfford Still. The course relates their art to cultural, intellectual, social, and political developments of the period, with special attention to recent revisionist approaches to Abstract Expressionism.

ARH 5604 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A variety of intersections between extreme mental conditions and the production of works of art during the modern period are investigated. Topics include connections between creativity and mental instability, artists with a history of mental disorder, and theories about stylistic or formal affinities between madness and art.

ARH 5610 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A graduate-level investigation of the stages involved in the pursuit of abstraction and the nonrepresentational in modern art, with special attention given to Kandinsky and Mondrian.

Van Gogh in Context

ARH 5620 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Although Vincent van Gogh is one of the world's best-known and most beloved artists, his work is often reduced to simplistic notions of madness and genius. This course expands students' understanding of the artist by exploring his connection to the contemporary contexts of mechanical reproduction, national identity, and urban culture.

ARH 5650 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Conceptions of what sculpture can be were radically transformed over the course of the 20th century. This course presents a survey of 20th-century sculpture, with emphasis on innovative materials and techniques, the changing relationship between viewer and object, and new modes of exhibition. The work of Duchamp, Bourgeois, Calder, Judd, Hesse, and Smithson, among others, is discussed.

ARH 5660 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Emerging from a longstanding literary tradition, examples of utopian architecture give insight into the ideals and fears of the cultures that produced them. This course explores both utopian and dystopian architectural visions, beginning with the Enlightenment works of Ledoux and Boullée and ending with the paper projects of such 1960s groups as Archigram and Superstudio.

ARH 5670 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

If the postwar period famously represented the ascendancy of American art, what art forms emerged simultaneously in traditional European centers? This course examines seemingly antithetical practices in France, Italy, Germany, and elsewhere: Art Informel, nouveau réalisme (new realism), Arte Povera, neoexpressionist painting, body art, conceptualism, Young British Art, etc. How has the changing European political landscape affected art and its institutions?

Exoticism in Modern Art

ARH 5700 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Explores reciprocal influences of Western and non-Western art in the modern period. Topics include such diverse artistic movements as "Orientalism," "Japonisme," and "Primitivism." The class also examines the impact of non-Western art on specific artists, including Delacroix, Manet, Whistler, Picasso, and Pollock.

Artists on ArtARH 5711 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An examination of critical and theoretical writing by artists about art. The course considers texts from various eras, but focuses primarily on 20th-century and contemporary material. Artists' writings are analyzed in the context of art criticism as a whole, and students also have the opportunity try their hand at criticism.

Pop ArtARH 5750 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Pop art, initially regarded with suspicion and considered frivolous, has proved to be a significant and influential movement. Today, it is perceived as an art form that expresses serious social and political concerns. This course focuses on the emergence of Pop art in England, the influence of American Pop art on European artists, and the way in which Pop art energizes conceptual art today. Artists covered include Andy Warhol, Roy Lichtenstein, Claes Oldenburg, Gerhard Richter, Jeff Koons, and Damien Hirst.

Pop Art and Mass CultureARH 5755 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this historical approach to Pop art, the evolving relationship between mass culture and the visual arts is surveyed, from the development of "modern life" painting in France in the late 19th century to the development of Pop in Britain and the U.S. in the mid-20th century. The legacy of Pop is examined in politically oriented practices of the 1970s and in post-Pop tendencies in contemporary art.

African Art and FilmARH 5770 / 4 credits / Alternate years

African art and visual culture are considered in the context of African film. African youth, who make up most of the continent's population, have had a marked effect on many sociopolitical phenomena. The films screened address African youth culture and such issues as the new independence (1960s), post-apartheid South Africa, youth rebels, religious fundamentalism, HIV, hip-hop and digital culture, and global emigration.

Performance Art in the West African DiasporaARH 5775 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An analysis of the roots and reinvigorations of West African performance art featuring the artist's body, with emphasis on manifestations in Europe, the United States, the Caribbean, Central and South America, and especially Afro-Brazil. Topics include griot styles; contemporary African fashions and pop culture; and musical call and response as adapted for dance, sculpture, painting, film, fashion, and photography.

Mexican Art From the Revolution to the NAFTA EraARH 5815 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A broad look at modern and contemporary Mexican art, using an interdisciplinary and comparative approach. Special emphasis is on the Mexican Revolution (1910–1920) and its aftermath throughout the 20th century. Students analyze links between the visual arts (including mural painting, prints, and photography) and the literature, the popular scene and the mainstream, the street art and the gallery art.

Feminist Approaches to Art and TheoryARH 5885 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An overview of the intersection between art history and feminist art practice, theory, and history. Although the artists covered are primarily women, their production is discussed within a larger artistic and cultural context when appropriate.

The Creative Writing BA Program

The Lilly Lieb Port creative writing program is a highly selective and structured BA program that shares features of the college's arts programs. The purpose of this program is to offer motivated, talented, and committed students a dynamic context and community in which to explore all aspects of creative writing.

As an integral part of the program, readings are held each semester by students, faculty, alumni who have published their writing, and professional writers. Editors and other members of the publishing world are also invited to speak and share their expertise with students.

Study Abroad Opportunities

Creative writing majors are encouraged to apply to the college's summer program in France, where they will participate in an intensive writing workshop, drawing on explorations of the surroundings for material.

Sequence of Study

All creative writing majors follow a sequence of courses, whether their chosen genre is poetry or fiction:

1. To encourage an awareness of and sensitivity to the various aspects of the craft of creative writing, students are required to take the introductory course, CWR 1050/Foundations in Poetry and Fiction, in their first year of study.
2. In the second year, poetry students move on to CWR 2400/Poetry Writing I, then to CWR 3400/Poetry Writing II, while fiction writing students take CWR 2500/Fiction Writing I, followed by either CWR 3200/The Art of the Novella or CWR 3500/Fiction Writing II.
3. After completing this course sequence, students have the opportunity to study for one semester with a writer-in-residence. In addition, advanced tutorials are available on a regular basis, emphasizing continuous, close work on revision and editing skills. In the most advanced classes, students begin to explore the fiction and poetry market. A component of advanced study may also include experience in editorial and copyediting techniques as preparation for work in the publishing industries.

4. Students take CWR 4000/Special Topics in Creative Writing in the spring of their senior year, in tandem with the second semester of CWR 4990/Senior Project in Creative Writing.

The Creative Writing Program: Courses

Introduction to Creative Writing

CWR 1010 / 3 credits / Spring

This introductory course in creative writing allows students to explore various genres. Poetry, the short story, and memoir are among the forms discussed. Students should be prepared to write, revise, and share portions of their work with other members of the class, and to read a selection of works by contemporary authors.

Foundations in Fiction and Poetry

CWR 1050 / 4 credits / Fall

Students are instructed in the basic aspects of craft and prepared for further study in the creative writing concentration of their choice.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Creative Nonfiction

CWR 2300 / 4 credits / Spring

In this introduction to creative nonfiction, students explore a variety of forms within the genre, including personal narrative, memoir, reportage, and the lyric essay. Students also write and workshop their own original essays.

Prerequisite: CWR 1050 and permission of instructor

Poetry Writing I

CWR 2400 / 4 credits / Fall

Students begin to study and practice poetic strategies, producing a poem per week in response to assigned exercises. Students also develop skills in critiquing by commenting on each others' work and by reading and discussing the work of established poets.

Prerequisite: CWR 1000 or permission of instructor

Fiction Writing I

CWR 2500 / 4 credits / Fall

While continuing to explore narrative strategies, students write and submit several short stories during the semester. Students also learn the fundamentals of critiquing as they discuss their work and that of published writers.

Prerequisite: CWR 1100

Travel Writing

CWR 3100 / 4 credits / Fall

Drawing on students' personal experiences of travel as well as readings in fiction and nonfiction, this course explores the ways in which travel informs writing. Class time is divided between discussions of the students' own work and published selections that represent various aspects of travel, from the "voyage" itself to "being there" and "remembering" place, character, and events.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Writing and Reading the Region

CWR 3105 / 4 credits / Summer (offered in France)

Using the French location and selected readings related to the region, students explore the contexts and their responses through writing. Students meet at various locations, from castles and ruins to a local café, and receive writing assignments that draw on place and setting. Each week, students select one of their on-the-spot works to revise and develop into a short piece of fiction for submission. Emphasis is on capturing the nuances of one's surroundings and experiences of these surroundings, and on how to use setting as a main "character" in writing.

Alternate Worlds

CWR 3125 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

This writing workshop draws on a variety of texts, media, and film as students explore fictional portrayals of other worlds. In their writing assignments, students focus on elements that contribute to effective narratives—setting, character, situation, etcetera—in order to create alternate realities.

Prerequisite: CWR 1050 and 2500

The Art of the Novella

CWR 3200 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

What makes the novella work? What power does the form offer that the short story and longer novel do not? Is there a subject matter best suited to such brevity? Students examine these questions through close reading of works by new and established writers (e.g., James, Conrad, Moore), and begin to structure and write their own novella.

Prerequisite: CWR 2500 or equivalent

Editing and Production Workshop

CWR 3205 / 4 credits / Spring

From the editorial stage to design, production, and marketing, this course gives students hands-on experience working with the Creative Writing Program's literary magazine, "Italics Mine."

Constructing Truths: The Personal EssayCWR 3210 / 4 credits / Fall

Students are guided through the classical questions of form and style, the building materials of the personal essay, through reading and writing assignments. Students examine the elements that convince the reader of the truth of their tales and explore how to confront their own experiences creatively. Readings are various, but with a focus on the 20th-century essay in English.

The ScreenplayCWR 3325 Refer to CIN 3325 in Cinema Studies Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.Prerequisite: CWR 3400 or CWR 3500, and permission of instructorPoetry Writing II*CWR 3400 / 4 credits / Spring

This course assumes that students have a good command of basic poetic craft. Writing assignments put increased emphasis on students' own work, though there are still exercises to guide the workshop, as well as study and discussion of poetry by established writers.

Prerequisite: CWR 2400 or permission of instructorThe Importance of Tone in Constructing a Poem*CWR 3430 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

How does a poet's attitude or stance towards her or his subject create tone or voice in a poem? In this workshop, students read and analyze a range of poetry to understand the linguistic and syntactic underpinnings of tone, including its relationship to line break and simile. Poets include Louise Gluck, Marie Howe, Billy Collins, Tony Hoagland, Jane Kenyon, Brenda Hillman, Eamon Grennan, W.H. Auden, Elizabeth Bishop, and T.S. Eliot.

Prerequisite: CWR 2400 and permission of instructorFiction Writing II*CWR 3500 / 4 credits / Spring

This course assumes a working knowledge of the craft. Students write and discuss short stories or chapters from a novel in progress, and continue to refine their critiquing skills through discussion of their own work as well as published stories. Revision of submitted work is an important component of this course.

Prerequisite: CWR 2500Writing Women:*Women Fiction Writers of the 20th and 21st Centuries*CWR 3653 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Focuses on short fiction and novels written by women in the 20th and 21st centuries. Through readings, discussions, lectures, and both analytical and creative writing, students consider the female experience as portrayed in the fiction of women writers and the role of women writers in shaping the genre over the course of the last century. Limited to creative writing majors. Offered as LIT 3653 for literature majors.

Special Topics in Creative WritingCWR 4000 / 3 credits / Spring

A series of mini-workshops, guest speakers, and activities focused on current trends in the field and on broader topics germane to students in their senior year.

Prerequisite: CWR 3400 or 3500, and permission of instructorCorequisite: CWR 4990Note: This course will first be offered in Spring 2015, replacing CWR 4890Advanced Seminar in Fiction Writing*CWR 4510 / 4 credits / Fall

Taught by a well-published writer-in-residence. Students work intensively on revising and editing their own work and each other's fiction, as well as on critiquing published stories and novels. The course also familiarizes students with the professional writer's market and the submission process, in order to encourage each student to prepare at least one story for possible publication.

Prerequisite: CWR 3200 or 3500Advanced Seminar in Poetry Writing*CWR 4511 / 4 credits / Spring

Advanced students with practiced skills in poetry writing and criticism work to produce poems of publishable stature. Students should be able to assume full responsibility for their creative process in this course.

Prerequisite: CWR 3400Senior Colloquium in Creative Writing*CWR 4890 / 2 credits / Every semester

As a required supplement to individual work on senior projects, students meet together weekly with members of the Creative Writing Board of Study to discuss each other's work.

Corequisite: CWR 4990Prerequisite: CWR 4510 or 4511Note: This course will be replaced by CWR 4000 in Spring 2015Senior Project in Creative Writing*CWR 4990 / 4 credits per semester / Every semester

The senior project in creative writing is the final step in the program, to be undertaken after all other requirements have been completed. Sponsored by an instructor in the program, the final product is either a work of fiction or a collection of poems. Each student meets weekly with her or his sponsor. Students register for the senior project for two semesters (8 credits total).

Corequisite: CWR 4000 (as of Spring 2015); currently CWR 4890 (to be discontinued Spring 2015)Prerequisite: CWR 4510 or 4511

The History BA Program

The goal of the history major at Purchase College is to provide students with the intellectual foundation of a liberal arts education that is suitable for a wide variety of professions, including law, education, government, business, journalism, and public relations. The history curriculum seeks to foster the development of a historical perspective on the forces and processes that have shaped and continue to shape our communities, our country, and the world at large.

In keeping with the cultural resources of our area and the special profile of Purchase, the history program has generally, though not exclusively, emphasized the social, intellectual, and cultural dimensions of the historical discipline.

- Students may define their area of interest within the major in terms of nine broadly conceived areas.
- When appropriate, students may also pursue topics of special interest through tutorials and directed independent studies, which may be arranged with individual instructors.
- Coursework in the history program includes intensive writing and an emphasis on primary source material, which can range from government documents to diaries, novels, and films.

The History BA Program: Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all history majors must complete seven history courses, plus a junior seminar and an 8-credit senior project (37–40 credits total):

- The broad survey courses at the 2000 level serve as the foundation for more specialized work at the 3000 level.
- All history majors are required to take the Junior History Seminar in either the fall or spring semester of their junior year. This course is open exclusively to history majors.
- All history majors will be assigned a senior project advisor by the end of their junior year, and are required to register with this advisor for 4 credits of senior project in the fall of their senior year, and 4 more credits in the spring of their senior year.

Areas of Interest

- History majors normally take four or five elective courses that are clustered within an area of special interest to the student. At least three of these courses must be at the upper (3000–4000) level.
- History majors must also take at least two or three elective history courses outside their area of interest. At least one of these must be at the upper (3000–4000) level.
- The student's area of interest within the major should be developed in consultation with a faculty advisor at the beginning of the junior year, and must be approved by the board of study. Normally, a student will select from among the following nine areas:

1. American history
2. Ancient and medieval history
3. Asian studies
4. Early modern history
5. European history
6. Jewish history
7. Latin American history
8. Modern history
9. Women's history

Summary of Academic Requirements

A total of seven history courses, plus the junior seminar and the 8-credit senior project:

1. HIS —/Seven history courses as follows (25–28 credits):
 - a. Four or five history courses in an area of interest (including three at the 3000–4000 level)
 - b. Two or three history courses outside the area of interest (including one at the 3000–4000 level)
2. HIS 3880/Junior History Seminar (fall or spring semester, junior year): 4 credits
3. HIS 4990/Senior Project in History: 8 credits

Minor in History

The minor in history is designed for students who wish to supplement coursework in another major with an array of history courses. It is particularly suited for students who have an interest in one period or a specific area (for example, early modern or modern history; European, American, or Asian history).

Students interested in the minor should consult with the coordinator of the History Board of Study and complete an Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under “Forms”). They will then be assigned an appropriate advisor to help plan their minor program.

Academic Requirements for the Minor in History

At least five courses, three of which must be at the 3000 level or above.

Local History Internships

Students at Purchase College can earn 2 to 4 credits learning about history at a local historical society, museum, archive, or town hall.

The Local History Internship affords students the opportunity of one or two semesters' work experience at one of the 60 agencies that participate in this unique, hands-on program. These historical societies, archives, municipal collections, and library local history collections are located in Westchester, Rockland, and Putnam counties and in the Bronx. The internship is a core course of the Institute for Westchester and Local History.

The supervised internships involve working with documentary material, including papers, photographs, and maps. Project descriptions have included:

- assisting in accessioning (bringing new materials into collections)
- organizing and describing historical material, papers, maps, photographs, and microfilm
- participating in research; helping to set up exhibitions
- assisting with restoration, preservation, writing, and educational projects
- oral history projects

Prerequisite: HIS 3721/Local History Workshop

Internship Approval and Placement

Interested students should consult with the director of the local history program, who approves participation and places interns based on both the student's and the agencies' needs:

Lisa Keller, Professor of History

Classic Hollywood, Early America

HIS 3345 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students explore the underlying historical narratives of films from 1930 to 1960 that address topics from early America. These narratives are compared to the ways Hollywood recast historical lessons to suit modern circumstances and to promote "American values" challenged by economic depression and the rise of fascism and communism. Special emphasis is on the works of Ford and Capra. Also offered as CIN 3345.

Global Modernity: Empire and Its Aftermaths

HIS 3365 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An exploration of the legacies of imperialism through the dual perspectives of history and literature. Readings include literary and historical texts, films, and essays that illuminate the key terms: global, empire, and modern. Also offered as LIT 3366.

"Aren't I a Woman?": The Construction of Womanhood in the U.S.

HIS 3375 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Traces competing images of American womanhood from the colonial era to the present, paying particular attention to groups outside of the mainstream: the poor, slaves, people of color, immigrants, and women's rights activists (including radical feminists and lesbians). The course revolves around questions like: What constitutes womanhood? Who is excluded? What are the implications of their exclusion? Also offered as GND 3375.

Paris, Vienna, Berlin

HIS 3380 / 4 credits / Alternate years

European cultural and intellectual history are examined by focusing on three "storm centers of modern culture": Paris in the 1860s and 1870s, fin de siècle Vienna, and Berlin in the 1920s. Topics include representations of bourgeois society in art and literature; psychoanalysis; and the auditory and visual revolution in mass culture produced by film, radio, photography, and recorded sound.

Victorian England

HIS 3390 / 4 credits / Alternate years

HIS 3513 Refer to CIN 3513 in Cinema Studies Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.

The Blue and the Gray: U.S. Civil War

HIS 3535 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The Civil War was arguably the most controversial and traumatic event in American history. This course considers how and why the war developed, its long-term results, and why it is such an important part of America's cultural heritage. Through an examination of novels, films, diaries, and letters written by Civil War participants, students analyze the impact of this war and our continuing fascination with it.

The New Nation: America, 1788–1850

HIS 3565 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines crucial factors that shaped the U.S. from the ratification of the Constitution to the Compromise of 1850, a period that witnessed the spread of democracy, the development of capitalism, and the expansion and consolidation of slavery in the South. Special emphasis is placed on race and class, technological developments, and the period's influential movements and personalities.

History of Popular Culture in the United States

HIS 3575 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines the development of popular culture and the major cultural industries in the U.S. from the early 19th century to the present. Students are also introduced to theoretical approaches to popular culture and learn how to apply these tools to selected texts from various periods and media.

Slaves and Enslavement in the Americas

HIS 3625 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines processes of enslavement and emancipation in the Americas, with particular attention to Brazil and the Caribbean. Emphasis is on the everyday aspects of life in slave societies, the cultural history of the African diaspora, and slavery as a "political" question, broadly defined. Students also explore the implications of slavery for subsequent labor systems and race relations in the Atlantic world. Also offered as LST 3625.

Race, Ethnicity, and Identity in the U.S.

HIS 3635 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines conflicts and controversies over the issue of American identity from the early 19th century to the present, emphasizing the links between Americanism and “whiteness.” Students explore how immigrants and people of color contested their exclusion from the symbolic national community, and how these groups have been incorporated into a larger national community during the last century.

The American Frontiers

HIS 3645 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The history of the American West is surveyed from its beginnings to the present. The focus is interdisciplinary: art, the popular novel, film, and historical documents are examined as a way of understanding the role of the West in the American mind. Writing is an integral part of the course.

Intellectuals in an Age of Crisis

HIS 3655 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines the responses of European intellectuals to the Russian Revolution, Great Depression, spread of fascism, two world wars, and genocide. Themes include: the ideological conflict between communism, fascism, and democracy; race and empire; attempts to rethink socialist and capitalist economics; and reappraisals of human nature and modern progress in the light of the savageries unleashed in these decades.

America in Recent Times

HIS 3670 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of American society, culture, and politics from World War II to the present. Topics include the Cold War, Vietnam, and the rise of a global order dominated by America; economic development and its social and cultural consequences; movements of the 1960s and their legacy in American politics; and the triumph of conservatism and emergence of a “postliberal” era.

Sex and Gender in Latin America

HIS 3685 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines the new historiography on gender and sexuality in Latin America. It is organized around the themes of changing gender roles and shifting constructions of masculinity, femininity, and honor, with particular attention to issues of sexuality, sexual preferences, constraints, and transgressions. Also offered as GND 3685.

History of Gender and Sexuality in the United States

HIS 3695 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Explores changes in the construction of femininity, masculinity, the family, and sexual norms in the U.S. from the Colonial era to the present. The focus is on how these changes were shaped by—and in turn influenced—industrialization, urbanization, and the rise of consumer culture. Also offered as GND 3695.

Slavery and Social Status in the Atlantic World

HIS 3705 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of the interplay of class, race, gender, and status in the Atlantic world from 1500 to 1860. Students are introduced to the ideas, beliefs, and formal philosophies that defined who were “haves” and “have nots” and explore the ways in which these notions were questioned and eventually challenged.

Local History Workshop

HIS 3721 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Combines classroom learning with practical experience. Lectures, discussions, and reading in urban, regional, and local history alternate with library and on-site archival education. Students spend half the semester on campus and half the semester at the Westchester County Archives.

History of Feminist Movements

HIS 3727 / 4 credits / Alternate years

This reading-intensive seminar traces the history of feminist movements in the U.S. and Europe from the 18th century to the present and also examines postcolonial global feminisms. Students are expected to master the basic historical narrative of Western feminist movements and to wrestle with the questions of race, class, and region that postcolonial feminist movements have raised. Also offered as GND 3727.

Prerequisite: One course in gender studies or history

Wives, Widows, Workers

HIS 3730 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Explores the place of women in Western society, from ancient Greece to the 17th century. The roles covered range from the prescribed (wife and mother) to the actual (intellectual and worker). Lectures are supplemented by discussion of primary sources. Also offered as GND 3730.

Wives, Workers, Warriors

HIS 3740 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Explores the place of women in European society, from the Enlightenment through the 20th century. Topics include the emergence of a women’s movement, the effects of industrialization on women, and the impact of both democratic and totalitarian regimes on women. The Jewish Studies Program and Minor

The Jewish studies program offers a full array of courses in Jewish history, plus courses in Jewish and Israeli literature, biblical history and historiography, Holocaust studies, Jewish arts, and Hebrew language. Course materials extend from antiquity to the contemporary. The approach is interdisciplinary and involves the faculties of history, literature, and language and culture in the School of Humanities. Students in any discipline may minor in Jewish studies, and history majors may choose Jewish history as their area of study.

This program was originally made possible, in part, by a Challenge Grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Minor in Jewish Studies

The minor in Jewish studies is designed to provide students with a general introduction to the history and culture of the Jewish people through a combination of courses in Jewish history, Jewish literature, and Hebrew. Students interested in the minor should submit a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under "Forms") to the School of Humanities main office. The student is assigned a minor advisor after consultation with the faculty coordinator of the Jewish studies program.

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Jewish Studies

Five courses, selected from Jewish history, Jewish literature in translation, Jewish philosophy, or Hebrew language, in consultation with the faculty coordinator of the Jewish studies program.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/humanities/JewishStudies/.

The Land of Israel: Ancient to Modern

JST 3245 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An exploration of the peoples, religions, cultures, places, and monuments of the land of Israel. Home to three major world religions, the land has been embraced, fought over, and conquered repeatedly throughout history. Why? Students explore the reasons for Israel's prominence and discover how its position and importance in the worldview is constantly being reinvented. Also offered as HIS 3245.

Biblical History 1200–200 B.C.

JST 3255 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The historicity of the Hebrew Bible is explored, from the protohistory of the Israelites as related through the Pentateuch and early prophetic works, through the period of the Monarchies, to the 6th-century B.C. exile, the birth of early Judaism, and the books of prophets and writings. Issues relating to historiography and biblical criticism are essential elements in this course. Also offered as HIS 3255.

Travelers to the Holy Land

JST 3295 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Explores the phenomenon of Westerners traveling to Palestine as explorers and pilgrims. Students concentrate on the journeys and their perils, the cultural and religious clashes they embodied, and the motivations of the individual travelers, including religion, politics, and personal gain. The course begins with travelers of the Middle Ages and quickly moves toward the 19th century. Also offered as HIS 3295.

Encounter and Conflict: History of Jewish-Christian Relations

JST 3325 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The historical relationship of Judaism and Christianity and the encounter of the Jewish and Christian communities from ancient to contemporary times are examined. Topics include the split between the two religions in late antiquity, medieval disputations, and the challenges of the modern period. Students also examine the varying ways in which texts can be interpreted. Also offered as HIS 3325.

Modern Jewish Philosophy

JST 3330 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Can there be such a thing as a Jewish philosophy or a philosophy of Judaism? How have Jewish traditions participated in philosophical questioning? What is the relationship of religion or theology to philosophy (revelation vs. reason)? This course emphasizes 20th-century considerations of these questions, with readings of Buber, Rosenzweig, Heschel, Fackenheim, Kaplan, Soloveitchik, and Levinas, among others. Also offered as PHI 3330.

The Archaeology of Ancient Israel

JST 3335 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Covers the archaeology of the land of Israel from the Neolithic Period to the end of the Iron Age, marked by the destruction of the first Jewish temple. This long period witnessed major events in the history of ancient Israel. This course uses archaeological and other forms of evidence, focusing on how that evidence is analyzed and treated. Also offered as HIS 3335.

Politics and ArchaeologyJST 3337 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Explores the relationship between politics and archaeology. Topics include who owns antiquities; fakes, forgeries, and the manipulating of history; presentations of archaeology to the public; buying, selling, and auctioning of antiquities; and archaeology in wartime. The geographic range of topics includes Egypt, Iraq, Israel, Syria, and other countries in region, as well as Greece and Rome. Also offered as HIS 3337.

Music and Cultural Expression in the Middle EastJST 3405 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the interrelations of musical practice and sociocultural processes in the Middle East. Through the study of Middle Eastern pop, indigenous, religious, and classical art music, students explore music and religion, contemporary politics, and gender formations as well as composition and improvisation techniques. Also offered as MUS 3405.

Archaeological Issues in the Southern LevantJST 3455 / 4 credits / Summer (offered in Israel)

The remains of architecture, ceramics, and other material culture are explored in this survey of the archaeology of the Southern Levant (ancient Canaan, Israel, Judah, Transjordan). The timeframe spans prehistory through the Ottoman Period, concentrating on the Bronze and Iron Ages. Students also examine the growth of the discipline of archaeology and the subspecialties needed to interpret and analyze artifacts and stratigraphy. Also offered as HIS 3455 and ANT 3455.

Methods and Techniques in Field ArchaeologyJST 3456 / 4 credits / Summer (offered in Israel)

In this field school for archaeology in Israel, students participate in all aspects of excavation. Students learn techniques of field archaeology, including skills necessary for proper excavation: stratigraphic analysis, field recording, lab registering and processing archaeological materials, use of the grid system, surveying, archaeological drawing, basic ceramic analysis, and basic methods for processing and preserving artifacts. Also offered as HIS 3456 and ANT 3456.

Archaeological Field Survey and StudyJST 3457 / 3 credits / Alternate years (Summer, in Israel)

Students participate in an archaeological ground survey and are introduced to methods of processing and analyzing ceramics and artifacts. This intensive two-week course, which is primarily a field practicum combined with lectures, is part of Archaeology in Israel, a summer study-abroad program. Also offered as HIS 3457 and ANT 3457.

Theatrical Representations of the HolocaustJST 3709 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Critics agree that the world of the concentration camps and ghettos is impossible to duplicate on stage. Despite serious aesthetic and practical constraints, playwrights in Europe, Israel, and America have, for the last five decades, created a diverse group of plays dealing with this unprecedented 20th-century event. Works examined in class include documentary dramas, realistic reenactments, absurdist plays, a comedy, and a standup routine. Also offered as LIT 3709 and THP 3709.

Literature of the HolocaustJST 3725 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Despite the imperative to accept shocked silence as the most appropriate response to the Nazi genocide, the Holocaust experience has inspired a powerful and eloquent body of literary expression, especially in fiction and poetry. This course considers some of the significant authors and texts that constitute the literature (e.g., Appelfeld, Schwarz-Bart, Wiesel, Singer, Borowski, and Wallant). Also offered as LIT 3725.

Prerequisite: LWR 1110 or permission of instructorThe Arab-Israeli Conflict*JST 3780 Refer to HIS 3780 in History Courses for description.

The Journalism BA Program

The journalism major at Purchase College is designed to provide students with the intellectual bases and skills to gather, assess, and disseminate information and ideas. This equips students for careers in journalism and a wide variety of other fields, including law, government, business, and public relations. The program fits naturally in the School of Humanities, as journalism at its best exemplifies the open and honest inquiry that marks the liberal arts and sciences.

Students are offered a central set of skills courses in journalism, electives in specialized areas in a variety of media, and courses that explore the broader context of journalistic practice. Students also take advantage of the broad offerings of Purchase College, and are encouraged to have internships. The studies culminate in a senior project, an extended work that allows students to showcase the full range of their talents.

The journalism program is sponsored by the Jacob Burns Foundation.

The Journalism Program: Courses

Introduction to Media

JOU 1500 / 3 credits / Every year

Designed to familiarize students with different kinds of media, explain the roles they play in society, and provide a firsthand experience in seeing how they operate. Students witness the workings of radio stations, television stations, newspaper plants, and magazine productions. Field trips are required for all students.

History of Journalism

JOU 2150 / 3 credits / Spring

Covers the history of journalism with an emphasis on American journalism after 1900. Students examine the objectives of journalism, styles of writing and coverage, and the shape and impact of the industry in various periods. Recent developments are studied with an eye toward how they fit into historical contexts. Also offered as HIS 2150.

Journalism I

JOU 2515 / 4 credits / Every semester

This survey course covers basic skills, which include news reporting and writing. Students are also introduced to the history, traditions, practices, laws, and ethics of journalism in the U.S.

Journalism II

JOU 2915 / 4 credits / Every semester

This course builds on skills developed in JOU 2515 and includes basic feature reporting, copyediting, and layout. In addition to covering campus events, students may also cover specialized beats like local government, the New York arts scene, and environmental issues. Students who complete JOU 2515 and 2915 may be eligible for one or two semester-long internships at local publications.

Prerequisite: JOU 2515

Reporting the Region

JOU 3020 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly, summer, in France)

Students explore the region to produce journalistic reports that include writing and photography. Assignments include stories on challenges facing a French family, implications of a French political issue, a social issue, and a travel piece. The goal is for students to write as a foreign correspondent, conveying the community's views, struggles, sights, and sensations to an audience back home.

Through the Lens: Photo in France

JOU 3025 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly, summer, in France)

Students are introduced to documentary techniques as they explore the region through their digital cameras. Topics include environmental portraiture, landscape, and feature photography, among others. France's rich contributions to documentary photography and the "decisive moment" are discussed. Students shoot and produce a photo story on the community, culture, and environment of the region. Open to beginning and advanced photography students.

Race, Gender, and the Media

JOU 3040 / 4 credits / Every year

Examines the relationship between the media and social constructions of race, gender, and class, both in the U.S. and within a global context. Topics include biases and assumptions in print and visual media; representations of masculinity and femininity; and the media's role in creating and reinforcing ideas, symbols, and ideologies within cultures. Text analysis includes newspapers, magazine articles, cartoons, television, movies, and advertising.

Freedom and the Media

JOU 3080 / 4 credits / Every year

The idea and practice of free speech and press are examined in relation to media, including print, broadcast, and online expression. Ethical issues surrounding modern media are also explored through source readings and lectures.

The Art of the Interview

JOU 3090 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students build on skills acquired in previous journalism classes as they explore in depth the various interviewing techniques for print, broadcast, and online media. Students critique each other's work and critically dissect published articles and broadcast interviews. They report and write their own in-depth profiles with an eye toward publication in professional or student publications or broadcast outlets.

Prerequisite: JOU 2515 and 2915

Photojournalism

JOU 3100 / 4 credits / Every year

A basic course in the use of photography for journalistic purposes. Topics include how to shoot news events, feature photo shoots, cropping, and the use of computer technology.

First-Person ReportingJOU 3120 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Students build on the skills acquired in JOU 2515 and 2915 as they discuss, critique, write, revise, and edit first-person reporting. This is a writing-intensive course; students work on developing a point of view and voice and craft material that resonates with the reader. They are also expected to be active peer-editors of their classmates' work.

Prerequisite: JOU 2515 and 2915Introduction to Broadcast Journalism*JOU 3150 / 4 credits / Every semester

Designed to familiarize students with the basics of broadcast journalism, including writing for broadcast and techniques of broadcasting. Students have access to a campus television station, where they are introduced to the techniques and methods of broadcasting.

Feature WritingJOU 3200 / 4 credits / Every year

An advanced course focusing on longer and more complex reporting and writing techniques for newspapers, magazines, and other types of publications.

Prerequisite: JOU 2515 and 2915The Art of Sportswriting*JOU 3220 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

In this overview of national sports journalism, the craft is explored through extensive reading of eminent sports writers and the history of the art, as well as intensive writing. Special emphasis is placed on thorough reporting, the craft of interviewing, writing on deadline, and producing prose written in a distinctive voice.

Prerequisite: JOU 2515 and 2915The Beat of Music Journalism*JOU 3230 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

Explores the craft of journalistic writing about various musical genres, including rock, hip-hop, punk, heavy metal, classical, R&B, and jazz. Readings include notable works of music journalism in print and on the Web. Students write articles on the genres of particular interest to them. This course is suitable for both specialized (journalism and music) and general audiences.

Multiple Platform WritingJOU 3250 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

News, regardless of how it is distributed, is migrating to the Web. Building on the lessons of JOU 2515 and 2915, this course introduces techniques of writing for radio and television news and using audio and video to tell stories. It also explores the new language and iconography of Web-based content.

Prerequisite: JOU 2515 and 2915Environmental Journalism*JOU 3260 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this introduction to the issues associated with reporting on the environment, students gain an understanding of the science behind local and global environmental issues and the journalistic approaches necessary to illuminate those issues. The course grapples with the difficulties inherent in translating scientific information for mass audiences. Also offered as ENV 3260.

Prerequisite: Junior standing and either ENV 1500 or JOU 2515 and 2915Advanced Broadcast News*JOU 3310 / 4 credits / Every semester

Expands the foundation skills learned in JOU 3150. Topics include advanced broadcast writing, filming, and editing. Students produce a news/feature television program at a working television station. Also offered as CIN 3310.

Prerequisite: JOU 3150 and permission of instructorThe Literature of Journalism*JOU 3374 / 4 credits / Spring

Students look at the evolution of long-form journalism since the 1960s, its triumphs and shortcomings, and its future in the digital age. Works include Capote's In Cold Blood, the magazine writing of Gay Talese and Elizabeth Gilbert, and the documentary Hoop Dreams. Students also examine journalistic fiction, from Norman Mailer to the films of Sidney Lumet and comedy of Jon Stewart. Also offered as LIT 3374.

Multimedia ToolsJOU 3500 / 3 credits / Spring

An introduction to issues and developments in multimedia journalism. Students critique and create stories for publication online, learning how to assemble story packages that combine media elements, including text, video, audio, and images. Includes some exploration of the use of social media and other techniques to promote stories.

News EditingJOU 3600 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Covers the art of editing, from breaking news to features in special styles. Students work intensively on improving writing, expanding knowledge of word crafting, and producing tight prose. The relationship between reporters, editors, and decisions about news judgment is examined. An essential course for writing-based careers.

Prerequisite: JOU 2915Reviewing the Contemporary Novel*JOU 3635 Refer to LIT 3635 in Literature Courses: 3000–3999 for description.

The Language and Culture BA Program and Minors

Knowledge of foreign languages and an awareness of other cultures are of critical importance in today's world, in which international communication is instantaneous and events taking place at great geographical distances have immediate global repercussions.

The language and culture program offers students the opportunity to acquire fluency in at least one language and to gain familiarity with the society (or societies) in which that language is used. Keeping in step with the increasingly complex interactions among countries, the program also allows students to explore a diversity of cultures through the wide choice of courses that fulfill requirements for the major.

The language and culture major offers a full program in French and Spanish, with opportunities to study Chinese, German, Hebrew, and Italian. A course in Hausa are also available through the anthropology program.

Modern languages are taught through an approach that immediately involves students in oral interactions in the target language, while developing their linguistic and cultural awareness. Beginning French and Spanish courses also include interactive language labs. As students acquire fluency, they are introduced to varied aspects of the language's cultural context. These include courses in civilization, translation, literature, and history.

Study Abroad Opportunities

Students are strongly encouraged to participate in the college's study abroad programs. These interdisciplinary programs include courses that fulfill requirements for the major in language and culture and/or core curriculum requirements.

Minors in the Language and Culture Program

Students majoring in any discipline may pursue a minor offered by the language and culture program (Chinese, French, Italian, and Spanish). Students interested in pursuing any of these minors should submit a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under "Forms") to the School of Humanities main office.

The Language and Culture BA Program: Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all students majoring in language and culture must:

1. demonstrate proficiency in one foreign language (French or Spanish) by completing with a grade of B or higher:
 - an advanced language course and/or
 - a course in advanced composition and conversation in the selected foreign language.
2. complete the Translation Workshop in the selected language with a grade of B or higher.
3. complete a minimum of eight courses related to the study of foreign culture. Two of these eight courses must be related to the cultural area of the major language. In addition to any courses offered within the language and culture program, students may select relevant courses in literature, history, art history, philosophy, political science, and/or anthropology with the approval of a member of the Language and Culture Board of Study.

Students may replace four of the eight courses described above with courses in a second language. To exercise this option, students must complete at least two semesters of the second language at the advanced level or above. Beginning languages may not be counted toward the completion of this option.

4. complete a two-semester senior project (8 credits). The project must have as its focus some manifestation of the major language or culture that the student has selected. It may take a variety of forms, concentrating on aspects of the major language, on a cultural theme, or on a particular period or event. It will generally involve research, though it may incorporate the student's personal experience (e.g., work or study abroad). All majors must submit a short proposal of their senior topic for approval by the Language and Culture Board of Study by Oct. 15 (or March 15) of their senior year.

The Literature BA Program

Students majoring in literature at Purchase College learn to read texts closely and critically and to understand literature in relation to the social and historical conditions in which it is written and read.

Program Highlights

- The principal focus of the major is British and American literature; the program places these national literatures in an international frame. Thus, students may count toward the major courses in French, Spanish, and other literatures, in translation or in the original language.
- In addition to courses in traditional literatures, students may take courses in contemporary literature, popular culture, and film.
- Feminist inquiry, the critical study of race, and other theoretical or interdisciplinary approaches are central to the literature curriculum.
- In learning to read, write, and think about literature and the world it reflects, inhabits, and creates, students gain valuable preparation for advanced academic study and for the professional world.

Program Goals

Over their course of study, students majoring in literature gain the following:

1. Practice in close reading: the ability to make observations about textual details, including the formal structures and rhetorical features of a particular passage, to describe these details accurately, and to relate them to larger structures in a text as a whole.

2. Familiarity with major texts and the processes of canon formation: familiarity with the major works, major authors, and major genres that have traditionally been objects of literary study, and an understanding of the social and historical forces that influence literary canon formation.
3. An understanding of literature in its contexts: the ability to recognize and study how literary works are embedded in their cultural, historical, and/or generic contexts.
4. Familiarity with period styles: an understanding of the concept of the literary period and the ability to identify changes over time in literary themes, conventions, and practices.
5. An understanding of the discipline of literature: the ability to participate in one or more of the conversations that define the discipline and its interdisciplinary extensions, including theory and cultural studies.
6. Research skills: the ability to conduct research, using online and print resources, and to evaluate sources and make use of them in written and oral work.
7. Writing and reporting skills: the ability to produce coherent texts and oral reports that present relevant material in an engaging and informative manner.

Minor in Literature

The minor in literature is designed to provide students with an opportunity to study literature in a comparative context. Students interested in the minor should submit a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under “Forms”) to the coordinator of the Literature Board of Study.

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Literature

Five courses in English and comparative literature, as follows:

- a. Two 2000-level courses or one 1000-level and one 2000-level course
- b. Three upper-level (3000- or 4000-level) courses
- c. Of the five courses, two must be chosen from two different literature sequences.
- d. Of the five courses, one must be comparative.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/humanities/Literature/Minor.aspx.

The Literature Program: Lower-Level Courses (LIT 1000–2999)

The Common Era Begins

LIT 1090 / 4 credits / Spring

A study of the eastern Mediterranean during New Testament times—the conflict of Jewish and Roman cultures that mark the beginning of the Common Era. While the primary focus is on literary texts, visual arts as well as historical documents and accounts are also included.

College Writing

LWR 1110 Refer to Expository and College Writing Courses for description.

The West and Its Others

LIT 1140 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Explores some of the history, institutions, economy, society, and culture of Britain as a dominant European cultural power and also as an imperial power influencing its colonial possessions. Race and gender are examined, as are the shifting hierarchies between and within cultures. Included are Aphra Behn, E.M. Foster, Rokeya Sakhawat Hossain, Rudyard Kipling, John Stewart Mill, William Shakespeare, and Mary Shelley.

Border Crossings

LIT 1150 / 4 credits / Spring

Social borders are examined through literature that explores immigration, assimilation, and the experience of those who exist "between" cultures. A major focus is on the "hybridizing" of cultures and the way that literature expresses the blending of cultures through language and narrative structure.

Reading Our Past From the Present

LIT 1170 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A selection of literary and philosophical texts from the Western cultural tradition during the past 2,000 years, with special emphasis on the lenses through which later ages select, read, and construct the past from the present. Texts include works by St. Augustine, Shakespeare, Freud, Marx, Joyce, Brecht, and a selection of contemporary works of film and stage. Where available, texts from the Western tradition being staged on campus are used.

Modernism: The 20th Century

LIT 1190 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence III

The beginning of the 20th century witnessed an extraordinary ferment and experimental attitude in the arts. This course examines the rise of abstraction and experimentalism in literature, painting, music, and dance in Europe and America from 1899 to the 1950s. The course also considers the artistic breakthroughs of Stravinsky, Schoenberg, Graham, Cézanne, Picasso, Mallarmé, Eliot, Pound, and de Kooning, among others.

Introduction to Literature

LIT 1520 / 4 credits / Every semester

An introduction to the principles and practice of close reading and literary criticism. Readings include a variety of literary modes, including fiction, poetry, and drama.

Introduction to the Novel

LIT 1540 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

The rise of the novel and its continued relevance today. In addition to close readings of novels from a variety of time periods and countries, students read about the conditions that gave rise to the novel as a genre and various theoretical interpretations of the form and its functions.

Introduction to Lyric Poetry

LIT 1550 / 4 credits / Every year

An examination of a wide array of poems from classical antiquity to the 21st century. In this course, students consider the multiple ways that poetry works to create meaning and emotion and investigate techniques of close analysis. Particularly recommended for students interested in the study of literature, creative writing, and language.

Introduction to Modern Literature

LIT 1600 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

An introduction to the idea of modernity and its expression and practice in verse, drama, and fiction.

America

LIT 1650 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The object of study is that ongoing experiment, "America." The approach is through literature and other arts, history, national mythology, American nature, the particular version of the experiment called "the United States," other Americas north and south, and more. The intention is to be suggestive rather than comprehensive.

Writing Memoir

LIT 2052 Refer to LWR 2052 in Expository and College Writing Courses for description.

American History Through Literature

LIT 2055 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Literature inhabits, reflects, creates, and ironically examines the "history" that is its context. This course observes the central narrative of American history, American institutions and anti-institutions, and the American international situation through the peculiar lens of American poetry, fiction, cinema, and other literary arts.

The Ancient Epic

LIT 2080 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence I

A reading of texts embodying the oldest myths of Western culture: the Iliad, Odyssey, Aeneid, and Metamorphosis. Works are considered both in their historical context and from the perspective of recent thought.

Introduction to African American Literature

LIT 2100 / 3 credits / Alternate years / Sequence III

A survey course with emphasis on the major 20th-century works by black American writers (Countee Cullen, Jean Toomer, Langston Hughes, Zora Neale Hurston, Paule Marshall, James Baldwin, Toni Morrison). The major periods of black literature (folk materials, post-slavery, Harlem Renaissance, realism and naturalism, assimilation, and the Black Arts Movement) are discussed.

Princes, Priests, and Peasants

LIT 2121 / Sequence I

Refer to HIS 2120 in History Courses for description.

Italian-American Literature and Popular Culture

LIT 2195 / 4 credits / Sequence III

Special topic (offered irregularly)

Using the lens of the politics of whiteness, this course juxtaposes popular stereotypes with more complex views. Authors include Mario Puzo, Tina DeRosa, John Fante, and Kym Ragusa, among others. The investigation of popular culture encompasses early film classics, the iconic Godfather, and experimental films; music from the crooners to rap and hip-hop; and performance art. Attendance at two or three off-campus events is required. Also offered as MSA 2195.

Shakespeare Then and Now

LIT 2205 / Sequence I

Refer to THP 2205 in Theatre and Performance Courses (Conservatory of Theatre Arts) for description.

Introduction to Contemporary Global Literature

LIT 2305 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines how literature is shaped by intersections of the local and the global in examples drawn from five regions: North America, Latin America and the Caribbean, Asia, Africa, and the Middle East.

U.S. Short Story

LIT 2361 / 3 credits / Alternate years

Short stories by important U.S. writers of fiction, from the beginnings of the literary tradition in the earlier 19th century (Poe, Hawthorne, Melville) to current authors. As the sequence of stories unfolds, the development of American issues unfolds as well.

Classics of European Fiction

LIT 2375 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Short works of French, Russian, and German fiction, beginning with 18th-century quarrels between classicism and romanticism and ending with multicultural influences on the creation of 20th-century "classics."

Literature of the South Asian Diaspora

LIT 2387 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Students read about South Asians dislocated from their homeland, focusing on issues of cultural displacement, alienation, assimilation, and construction as they follow narratives of South Asians who attempt to preserve the traces of their ethnic, cultural, and religious identities. Authors include Jhumpa Lahiri, Bharati Mukherjee, V.S. Naipaul, and Amitav Ghosh, among others.

Colloquium I: Studies in Literature

LIT 2450 / 4 credits / Every semester

An introduction to literary study for current and prospective literature majors. Readings are divided among three areas: primary texts, secondary texts that offer contexts for the primary texts, and works that define the study of literature. Each course section addresses its own topic.

Prerequisite: For qualified first-year students, permission of the Literature Board of Study coordinator

Note: The course is generally taken in the sophomore year; transfer students wishing to major in literature must complete LIT 2450 during their first semester at Purchase.

The Bible

LIT 2530 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence I

Readings illustrate the range of issues, styles, and contexts in the Bible, including Genesis and Exodus, Deuteronomistic Histories, prophets major and minor, Job and Ecclesiastes, the Gospels, and Apocalypse. This is not a course in religion, but in a literary and cultural tradition deeply concerned with human action in relation to divinity.

Survey of U.S. Literature I

LIT 2560 / 4 credits / Every year / Sequence II

Spans the literature of the European invasion of North America, from the 16th century through the first decades of a national publishing industry of "American" letters following the Revolutionary War. Students consider the connections between writing and colonialism, nation building, and the resistance of these powerful narratives in, for example, the few written words of the indigenous populations and the enslaved.

Survey of U.S. Literature II

LIT 2570 / 4 credits / Every year / Sequence II

An examination of literature written in the U.S. between the 1830s and the beginning of the 20th century. Careful attention is paid to the context of western expansion, slavery and its legacy, industrialization, immigration, and other historical developments. While much of the course is devoted to the "American Renaissance," students also consider several contemporaneous literary traditions and their interrelationships.

American Drama: From O'Neill to Albee

LIT 2600 / Sequence III

Refer to THP 2600 in Theatre and Performance Courses (Conservatory of Theatre Arts) for description.

Literature and the City

LIT 2675 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence III

An examination of the relationship between urban life and literary creation. How have writers dealt with the changes brought on by urbanization in different places? In what ways has the city changed how writers write and people read? These and other questions are explored through the study of modern writers and cities in the Americas and Europe. Also offered as FRE 2675.

Modernism and the Metropolis

LIT 2825 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence III

The relationship between the developments of urban modernity and aesthetic modernism is charted through the first half of the 20th century in three major metropolitan centers: Paris, London, and New York. The focus is on British and American modernist poetry and novels.

Happiness: Philosophy, Film, Literature

LIT 2835 Refer to PHI 2835 in Philosophy Courses for description.

Birds: Literature, Ornithology

LIT 2850 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A study of the cultural, literary, and natural history of birds. Students read poems and essays, study ornithology texts and field guides, and occasionally go into the field to look at birds. Owning a pair of binoculars would be helpful. Also offered as ENV 2850.

Israeli Literature

LIT 2855 / Sequence III

Refer to JST 2855 in Jewish Studies Courses for description.

The Golden Land: American Jewish Literature and Film

LIT 2872 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence III

Beginning as a response to the immigrant experience, writing by American Jews emerged as a central literary presence and the inspiration for important films. This course traces the evolution from early writers such as Abraham Cahan and Anzia Yezierska, through major figures such as Saul Bellow, Bernard Malamud, Philip Roth, and I.B. Singer, to their contemporaries and heirs, including Stanley Elkin, Joseph Heller, Cynthia Ozick, and Grace Paley. Also offered as JST 2873.

Theatre Histories I

LIT 2885 / Sequence I

Refer to THP 2885 in Theatre and Performance Courses (Conservatory of Theatre Arts) for description.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/humanities/Literature/Courses1000-2000.aspx.

The Literature Program: Upper-Level Courses (LIT 3000–3999)

Dostoevsky and Tolstoy

LIT 3003 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence II

Engages the question “Dostoevsky or Tolstoy?” through readings of some major works, emphasizing The Brothers Karamazov and Anna Karenina as examples of “dialogic” vs. “monologic” narratives.

Lesbian and Gay Poetry

LIT 3004 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A writing-intensive course in which students study the poetry of queer-identified writers through the lenses of sexuality, culture, identity, history, and poetic technique. Also offered as GND 3004.

Women and Film

LIT 3025 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Considers the intersections of sexual difference and cinema. Topics include theories of enunciation and sexual difference, female authorship and the idea of “women’s cinema,” gender and genre, woman as spectacle, the female spectator, and feminist film theory. Representations of sexual difference in films by selected male directors are studied as a means of examining the institution(s) of cinematic expression. The bulk of the course is devoted to studying women directors as they attempt to work within and against that institution. Also offered as CIN 3025 and GND 3025.

Literatures of the Mediterranean

LIT 3035 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

From ancient Greece and Rome, medieval Spain, and colonial North Africa to contemporary Latin Europe and the Middle East, the rich cultures of the Mediterranean have fascinated writers. A comparative survey of the literatures of the Mediterranean basin from Homer, Herodotus, St. Augustine, and Virgil to Flaubert, Maupassant, Vittorini, Goytisolo, and Camus.

Literature of the Arab-Israeli Conflict

LIT 3037 Refer to JST 3037 in Jewish Studies Courses for description.

French Caribbean Literature

LIT 3067 Refer to FRE 3067 in French Courses for description.

Literature of the American West

LIT 3085 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

No American geographical fact is more significant than “the West”—less a place than an idea, an imaginative provocation. Many American writers have been provoked to represent the West, and students read from among their work, including such writers as Raymond Chandler, Sandra Cisneros, Jack London, Nathanael West, Walter Van Tilburg Clark, Willa Cather, and many poets.

Wright, Ellison, BaldwinLIT 3090 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence III

Explores the "Wright School" as it is depicted in Richard Wright's Native Son (1940) and as it is reflected/contested in Ralph Ellison's Invisible Man (1952) and James Baldwin's Go Tell It on the Mountain (1953) and Notes of a Native Son (1955). Students also explore, in individual or group projects, subsequent writings of the 1960s by these writers.

Immigration and Ethnicity in U.S. LiteratureLIT 3093 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence III

We are "a nation of immigrants," wrote John F. Kennedy. Beginning in the 1880s and continuing to the present, this course explores issues surrounding immigration, ethnicity, and nationality through the lens of immigrant writing. Students look at shifts and continuities over time and among diverse ethnic groups and explore how America creates ethnicity and immigrants create America.

Cervantes and European Narrative: The Rise of the NovelLIT 3100 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Centers on close readings of Don Quixote and selected exemplary novels. Using Cervantes as a model text, the class attempts to define the "novel" as an evolving genre in European narrative.

Comparative 19th-Century NovelLIT 3121 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence II

A study of four major novels, their respective national obsessions, and contrasting historical contexts (British: Dickens' Great Expectations; American: Hawthorne's Scarlet Letter; French: Balzac's Eugenie Grandet; Russian: Dostoevsky's The Possessed). Texts are read in conjunction with historical background material.

Early Modern English PoetryLIT 3127 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall) / Sequence I

An exploration of representative poems in English and associated poetical theories from the late medieval and early modern period (c. 1450–1660), including erotic and religious lyrics, epic and narrative poems, and the emergence of women poets. Poets studied include Wyatt, Spenser, Philip, Robert and Mary Sidney, Southwell, Greville, Raleigh, Shakespeare, Donne, Wroth, Herbert, and Crashaw.

Medieval English LiteratureLIT 3140 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence I

Examines the literature of England written in French, English, and Latin from the Norman Conquest of 1066 (when England was taken over by a Francophone elite) to the 15th century. Epic, romance, history, and the literature of spiritual devotion are read in their literary relations and social contexts. All readings are in translation.

Medieval and Renaissance English DramaLIT 3141 / Sequence I

Refer to THP 3140 in Theatre and Performance Courses (Conservatory of Theatre Arts) for description.

ChaucerLIT 3150 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence I

A study of Chaucer's The Canterbury Tales for students who want an introduction to medieval studies and for those who wish to extend their knowledge of the Middle Ages.

Renaissance in EnglandLIT 3155 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence I

The principal nondramatic genres—lyric poetry, prose fiction, political theory, social commentary, religious devotion—of Elizabethan and Jacobean England, read in their social and cultural contexts.

Literature of the High Middle AgesLIT 3160 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence I

Literature from the songs of the troubadours and the rise of romance to the work of Dante is examined in connection with movements in European intellectual life and social history. Readings are in translation.

British Culture and Society in the 20th CenturyLIT 3180 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence III

A team-taught course in British society and cultural development from World War I to the present, examined from the different perspectives of literature and history. Topics include war and social change, construction of class and gender, evolution of the state, intellectuals and politics, popular culture since 1945, feminism, and immigration and race. Readings in history and the works of such authors as Virginia Woolf are complemented by the viewing of films. Also offered as HIS 3180.

The Vietnam War in U.S. Literature and FilmLIT 3195 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence III

Examines how literature and film shape people's understanding of a war that is fading from living memory. Readings and screenings include memoirs, novels, short stories, documentaries, and Hollywood films about the U.S. war in Vietnam. Also offered as CIN 3195.

Spanish and Latin American CinemaLIT 3211 Refer to SPA 3211 in Spanish Courses for description.South Asian Literature*LIT 3215 / 4 credits / Every year / Sequence III

Examines the emergence of national identity as represented in South Asian literature in the aftermath of colonialism. The class explores contemporary literary texts along with selected archival documents. Topics include nationalist literature, colonial discourse, and postcolonial fiction. Writers include Rukun Advani, Anita Desai, Mahasweta Devi, Amitav Ghosh, Arundhati Roy, and Salman Rushdie. Taught in English.

The Renaissance in EuropeLIT 3220 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence I

Considers the literature of the Italian Renaissance in connection with such movements as humanism and Neoplatonism. Readings include works by Petrarch, Boccaccio, Machiavelli, Castiglione, and Ariosto in translation, but work in the original language is encouraged when possible.

Literature of Decolonization in South AsiaLIT 3226 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence III

Explores the process of decolonization in the context of the emergence of India and Pakistan in South Asia and traces the origin of fundamentalism in this region. Students examine the impact that fundamentalism has on religious, regional, and class identity through the works of both literary and nonliterary writers (e.g., Gandhi, Nehru, Jinnah, Nandy, Adiga, Sidhwa, Desai).

MiltonLIT 3250 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence I

One of the greatest English writers and the central poetic influence in the language, Milton is read in the context of the classical literary, political, and religious traditions that he inherited, disputed, and transcended. Special focus is on the relationship of "prophesy" and mythmaking to the radical and dissenting imagination.

KafkaLIT 3265 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence III

Focuses on one of modernism's most innovative fiction writers, Franz Kafka of Prague (1884–1924). Students explore the relationship of Jewish to European-Christian culture in Kafka's work, the literary sources and historical contexts of his allegories, and the influential concept of the "Kafkaesque." The goal is to become familiar with the multiple interpretations generated from works like The Trial, The Castle, and Amerika.

The Age of ReasonLIT 3271 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence II

Examines the idea of reason in British literature from Dryden to Wollstonecraft. Readings include traditional genres and forms of writing that escape traditional literary taxonomies.

SatireLIT 3275 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the genre of satire as it develops from classical Rome (Petronius) and the Renaissance to its modern versions. Satires by Swift, Pope, Vonnegut, David Foster Wallace, and Gary Shteyngart target the follies and vices of political, religious, and artistic institutions and the hypocrisy, absurdity, and comedy of individuals.

Modern Poetry in the U.S. and Latin AmericaLIT 3310 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence III

The coming of age of poetry in the Americas through the work of the great modernists: Wallace Stevens, Vicente Huidobro, Ezra Pound, Cesar Vallejo, T.S. Eliot, Octavio Paz, William Carlos Williams, and Pablo Neruda. Taught in English. Latin American poets may be read in translation or in Spanish. Also offered as SPA 3310.

The 19th-Century British NovelLIT 3320 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence II

The novels of Austen, Dickens, the Brontës, Eliot, and Hardy in the political, intellectual, social, and cultural context of Britain and its empire in the 19th century.

Romanticism ILIT 3330 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence II

Examines the emergence of the Romantic imagination, the concept of the subject or self, and the plural nature of Romantic discourse in Wollstonecraft, Austen, and Wordsworth, among others. Topics explored include the writers' diverse concepts of creativity and originality, sense of their place in society, notions of political identity, and relation to British literary traditions.

Romanticism IILIT 3340 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence II

Traces the evolution of Romanticism in the aftermath of the radical promise of the first generation of Romantic poets, through the prose writers who self-consciously documented their literary and cultural heritage, to the full flowering of such writers as Byron, Percy Shelley, Mary Shelley, Keats, and Emily Brontë.

Americans on the MoveLIT 3345 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

By studying migration in early 20th-century U.S. literature, this course examines the causes, costs, and consequences of relocation for immigrants to the U.S., expatriates to Europe, African-Americans to the North, workers to cities, and others out West. Major consideration is given to how real and imagined mobility across national, regional, class, ethnic, gender, and racial borders interrogates these boundaries.

Romanticism and EmpireLIT 3355 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence II

An advanced course examining the construction of India and other "Oriental" spaces in the British imagination during the first phase of imperialism in India (1757–1857). This period coincides with the Romantic movement in England; therefore, British Romanticism and also nonliterary writing in Britain during this period are considered in the context of Empire. Topics include otherness, difference, exoticism, transculturation, assimilation, and hybridity.

Global Modernity: Empire and its AftermathsLIT 3366 Refer to HIS 3365 in History Courses for description.

Victorian PoetryLIT 3369 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence II

Victorian poetry against the backdrop of a rapidly changing world during a period that marked the high point of England's global power. Writers include Tennyson, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, Robert Browning, Arnold, and Hopkins.

The Literature of JournalismLIT 3374 Refer to JOU 3374 in Journalism Courses for description.Literature of the Harlem Renaissance*LIT 3380 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence III

Examines racial pride, racial origins, and urban blacks through an exploration of essays, poems, short stories, and novels by writers of the period (1915–1930). Authors include Langston Hughes, Arna Bontemps, Countee Cullen, Nella Larsen, Jean Toomer, and Zora Neale Hurston. Emphasis is on students' written analysis of in-class and outside readings.

Global MetafictionsLIT 3415 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence III

Metafictions "radically call attention to their status as fictions." They are hardly new, despite their association with "postmodernity"—Cervantes' Don Quixote is an example of early metafiction. This course focuses on contemporary texts in the global context: The Wind-up Bird Chronicle, Murakami; The Hakawati, Alameddine; My Name is Red, Pamuk; Underworld, Delillo. Considerable experience with literature is helpful.

Modern PoetryLIT 3420 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence III

This sweeping view of modern poetry in English begins with the founders of poetic modernity in the mid-to-late 19th century (Whitman, Hopkins), includes the great modernists (Yeats, Stevens, Pound, Eliot, and many others), and moves up to the edge of the contemporary (Roethke, Bishop).

Modern and Postcolonial FranceLIT 3424 / Sequence IIIRefer to HIS 3424 in History Courses for description.Teaching Good Prose*LIT 3455 Refer to LWR 3455 in Expository and College Writing Courses for description.Contemporary British Drama*THP 3460 / Sequence IIIRefer to Theatre and Performance Courses (Conservatory of Theatre Arts) for description.James Joyce*LIT 3490 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence III

An examination of the style, production, and reception of Ulysses, one of the founding texts of modernist fiction. Students analyze the distinctive style of each chapter and examine the relationship of the book to political and cultural issues of the period and to other literary texts by Joyce and continental writers. Readings also include historical, cultural, and critical materials.

Goethe to KunderaLIT 3491 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Traces the rebellious "Faust" myth in literature from Goethe, through Turgenev's Fathers and Sons and the devils of Dostoevsky, Mann, and Gide, to Kundera's Book of Laughter and Forgetting and the film Mephisto.

Black American DramaLIT 3495 / Sequence IIIRefer to THP 3495 in Theatre and Performance Courses (Conservatory of Theatre Arts) for description.The Black Arts Movement*LIT 3505 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the Black Arts Movement of the late 1960s and 1970s, a multifaceted group of African-American artists, writers, and musicians committed to creating politically charged, socially relevant art. The relationship of art and politics is addressed by looking at such figures as Amiri Baraka (LeRoi Jones), Malcolm X, Larry Neal, Faith Ringgold, John Coltrane, Sonia Sanchez, and the Last Poets, among others.

The Civil War and the American ImaginationLIT 3530 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The Civil War, its antecedents in slavery, its aftermath in Reconstruction, its enduring resonance in our culture. Against a background of historical analysis, the course examines both nonfiction works—fugitive slave narrative (Douglass and Jacobs), diary (Mary Chesnut), and propaganda film (Birth of a Nation)—and works of fiction by Stowe, Melville, Faulkner, and Morrison.

"Race" and the White Literary Imagination in the U.S.LIT 3531 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines perceptions of racial difference in literature by whites in the U.S., focusing primarily on the 19th century. The class reads recent historical and theoretical scholarship on categories of "whiteness," "blackness," and (Native American) "Indianness" and conducts research on 19th-century documents concerning slavery, Indian removal, and "scientific" inquiries into racial difference. Readings include Brown, Cooper, Poe, Stowe, Melville, Child, Twain, Dixon, and Faulkner.

Race and Representation: U.S. Literature and FilmLIT 3533 Refer to CIN 3533 in Cinema Studies Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.Emerson*LIT 3540 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence II

Detailed readings of the major essays, poetry, and journals of Ralph Waldo Emerson, the paradoxical central figure of American culture. The course addresses his powerful influence in literature, political ideology, rhetoric, religion, and popular arts.

Reinventing the American Renaissance

LIT 3541 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence II

In the 1940s, Emerson, Melville, Hawthorne, Thoreau, and Whitman were dubbed the undisputed fathers of American literature. The course explores how these authors became the nation's cultural touchstones. Students also look at authors who were contemporaries of Emerson and company, asking: Why were they neglected for so long? What do they offer? How does the reader's experience of the more "traditional" texts change when they are read next to the once-neglected texts?

Modern British Literature

LIT 3555 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence III

An exploration of how British writers have responded to the social, historical, and intellectual ferment of the 20th century. Authors studied may include as T.S. Eliot, W.B. Yeats, Virginia Woolf, Rebecca West, W.H. Auden, Samuel Beckett, V.S. Naipaul, and Muriel Spark.

Virginia Woolf

LIT 3575 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence III

An examination of the novels, short stories, and essays of Virginia Woolf.

Realism and Naturalism in U.S. Literature

LIT 3581 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence II

Realism and Naturalism constitute a literary movement, a worldview, and a methodology that have flourished since the Civil War. Primary attention is given to fiction from Twain to Mailer, but one representative poet and one dramatist are also included.

Childhood in U.S. Literature

LIT 3585 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Explores constructions and representations of childhood and adolescence in post-Civil War U.S. culture and fiction, focusing particularly on ideological linkages between nation and family and how these connections shape the experiences and writings of authors and educators across cultures. Readings may include works by Alger, Louisa May Alcott, Twain, Dewey, Adams, Riis, Yeziarska, Fauset, Cisneros, and Rita Mae Brown.

Children's Literature

LIT 3586 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Explores historical and theoretical constructions of childhood and literature written specifically for children. Issues considered include child development, family, sexuality, gender construction, nationalism, multiculturalism, fantasy, realism, and illustration. Readings include philosophical, psychological, and pedagogical theories of childhood, as well as books written for children. Particularly recommended for students interested in careers in education.

Modern Spanish Literature

SPA 3610 Refer to Spanish Courses for description.

Shakespeare and Film

LIT 3619 Refer to THP 3620 in Theatre and Performance Courses (Conservatory of Theatre Arts) for description.

U.S. Poetry

LIT 3620 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The development of U.S. poetry. The course examines its major figures (Dickinson and Whitman from the 19th century; Stevens, Frost, and Williams from the 20th century) and surveys the "minor" poets. Provides an overview of contemporary poetry, as well as much practice in the close reading of poetic texts.

The Modern Latin American Novel

SPA 3630 / Sequence III

Refer to Spanish Courses for description.

Melville

LIT 3630 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence II

The major novels of Melville, as well as some of his poetry and several important shorter works of his fiction.

Reviewing the Contemporary Novel

LIT 3635 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introduction to the contemporary novel and the art and practice of book reviewing. Students read exemplary novels (e.g., Cloud Atlas and Netherland); they read exemplary book critics (e.g., Zadie Smith and James Wood); and they write their own exemplary reviews of contemporary fiction. Writing assignments range from blog posts to newspaper-style reviews and magazine-style essays. Also offered as JOU 3635.

Writing Women:

Women Fiction Writers of the 20th and 21st Centuries

LIT 3653 / Sequence III

Refer to CWR 3653 in Creative Writing Courses for description.

American Women Writers

LIT 3665 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines several texts written by American women, including works by Radstreet, Wheatley, Rowson, Stowe, Dickinson, Jewett, Cather, Wharton, Hurston, Bishop, and Naylor. The question of whether there is a traceable female tradition during the past 350 years is addressed. Readings include feminist literary criticism and theory. Also offered as GND 3665.

American AutobiographyLIT 3670 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this memoir-saturated time, it is important to recall that a person's self-told story is one of the original and essential American literary genres. Students read autobiographical narratives from Puritan times to the present, from Ben Franklin to Annie Dillard, as writers struggle to control the construction of that most American of characters, "I."

Short NarrativeLIT 3676 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An examination of short fiction as it emerged from the oral tradition of storytelling. Biblical tales and parables, Greek romance, saints' lives, and the great story collections of medieval and early modern Europe are considered from a comparative perspective.

Surrealism and Its LegacyLIT 3680 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence III

Surrealist literature, films, and art in France, Spain, and Latin America. Artists include Aragon, Breton, Buñuel, Césaire, Char, Dali, Eluard, and Lorca. Works are read in translation and lectures given in English; students with French and/or Spanish are encouraged to read in the original language. Also offered as FRE 3681 and CIN 3680.

Modern Novel of Latin America (in English)LIT 3685 / Sequence III

Refer to SPA 3685 in Spanish Courses for description.

American Theatre in Our TimeLIT 3690 / Sequence III

Refer to THP 3690 in Theatre and Performance Courses (Conservatory of Theatre Arts) for description.

Contemporary U.S. LiteratureLIT 3695 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence III

Novels, poems, and plays produced in the U.S. from World War II to the present. Focus is on the development of a postmodern aspect, and attention is concentrated on the flourishing literature of minority groups. Writers include Jack Kerouac, Thomas Pynchon, Louise Erdrich, Toni Morrison, Don DeLillo, Adrienne Rich, and Tony Kushner.

Contemporary Literatures in English:Multicultural Britain and Postcolonial Global Culture*LIT 3696 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence III

Focuses on literature that responds to the characteristics of the contemporary English-speaking world: the breakup of British colonial empires that produced new literatures in Asia, Africa, and the Caribbean, and postwar exile and migration that gave rise to vibrant minority voices within Britain itself. Readings include such authors as Michelle Cliff, Salman Rushdie, and Caryl Phillips. Attention is also given to contemporary filmmakers like Hanif Kureishi and Mike Leigh.

The Latin American Short StorySPA 3700 Refer to Spanish Courses for description.Cervantes*LIT 3705 / Sequence I / Taught in English

The notion of the "new" in poetry and art is examined. Students read a range of poetry written in the late 19th century through the 1940s in France, Germany, Spain, Latin America, and the U.S., and explore ways in which expressive novelty is linked to particular cultural and social situations. Along with the poems and some visual art, some contemporary texts that advance theories of the "avant-garde" are considered.

The Personal EssayLIT 3785 Refer to LWR 3785 in Expository and College Writing Courses for description.

Modern British Novel

LIT 3816 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence III

The British novel—in Britain and beyond—in the “long 20th century” from 1880 to the present. Such authors as Woolf, Forster, Naipaul, and Rushdie, among others, are examined.

British Poetry I: Beginnings to the 1650s

LIT 3825 / 3 credits / Alternate years / Sequence I

An examination of the development of the British poetic canon in its literary and historical context. The development of lyric poetry is discussed in the context of changing reading practices and uses of literacy, and the multiple relations between literary artist and the social world.

Note: LIT 3825 and 3827 comprise a two-course sequence: LIT 3825 is the first, LIT 3827 is the second. Students may take either or both courses in any order. (LIT 3825 is not a prerequisite for LIT 3827.)

The Modern Novel

LIT 3839 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence III

Considers works of fiction that represent “modernity” as social, ethical, and/or individual crisis. The course explores overlapping modernist prose styles from romanticism to surrealism and concludes with a “postmodern” novel.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/humanities/Literature/Courses3000-3099.aspx.

The Literature Program: Upper-Level Courses (LIT 4000–4999)

Dante and Medieval Culture

LIT 4180 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence I

A close reading of the Divine Comedy in the dual context of late medieval Italy and contemporary theoretical inquiry.

Williams and Faulkner

LIT 4190 / 4 credits / Alternate years / Sequence III

William Carlos Williams and William Faulkner were both deeply engaged with the historical myths of their time and place, and both were central influences in the evolution of American modernism. Readings concentrate on major novels by Faulkner and poetry by Williams.

Marcel Proust

LIT 4200 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence III

An exploration of Marcel Proust's Remembrance of Things Past, a fresco of late 19th and early 20th-century Parisian society and culture. The course focuses on how Proust's characterizations point to the triumph of the bourgeoisie and situates Proust's modernity in his images, sentences, and meditations on memory and human behavior. Also offered as FRE 4201.

Nature in U.S. Literature

LIT 4350 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Traces the history of Anglo-American nature poetry and prose, from the invention of “Nature” to the recently proclaimed death of “Nature,” as well as the recently developed field of literary ecocriticism.

Colloquium II: Advanced Studies in Literature

LIT 4450 / 4 credits / Every semester

A culminating course that draws together the work of the major and prepares students for and complements the senior project. Each course section addresses its own topic; in every section, readings include primary texts, secondary texts that illuminate the primary texts, and works that define the discipline of literature or its interdisciplinary extensions, including theory and cultural studies.

Whitman and Dickinson

LIT 4685 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence II

These two poets, Walt Whitman and Emily Dickinson, dominate not only the American 19th century, but the entire history of poetry at length and in depth. Students also consider some of their marginal work (Whitman's prose and Dickinson's letters, for example).

Contemporary U.S. Poetry

LIT 4690 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly) / Sequence III

Here are poets who epitomize trends, possibilities, or radical departures—poets like Anne Sexton, Robert Lowell, John Ashbery, Elizabeth Bishop, John Berryman, and James Merrill, among others—interesting not only in their context within the tradition, but for their manifold intrinsic excellences as well.

Senior Project Seminar

LIT 4885 / 2 credits / Fall

In this seminar, students are guided through the steps required to complete a senior project. Students refine their topic, create a list of secondary sources, write an annotated bibliography, and workshop their first chapter. Required for literature majors in conjunction with the first semester of their senior project.

Prerequisite: LIT 2450Corequisite: LIT 4990Senior Project in Literature

LIT 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Required for literature majors in their senior year. Two semesters (8 credits total).

The Philosophy BA Program

The philosophy faculty at Purchase College represents the variety of styles and fields of inquiry that characterize philosophy today. The core of the philosophy program is the history of thought from ancient Greece to the modern world. The program is designed to meet the interests of students in several categories:

- Those who seek the most comprehensive and rigorous preparation for careers that demand articulate intellectual flexibility and discipline (e.g., law, medicine, government, business, education, and journalism)
- Those who wish to pursue a professional career in philosophy and who plan to do postgraduate work in the field
- Those who want, regardless of career objective, a liberal arts education and need a discipline to make sense of the welter of elective possibilities
- Those who need an intellectually comprehensive complement to intensive work in another major

Because of the art-related nature of many programs at Purchase College, the philosophy program also offers courses for arts students and others who wish to investigate the foundation of the arts. Coursework in philosophy frequently includes small seminars and intensive writing. Students may pursue topics of special interest through tutorials and directed independent studies.

Minors in the Philosophy Program

Two minors are offered by the Philosophy Program:

1. Philosophy
2. Philosophy and the Arts

Students interested in pursuing a minor offered by the philosophy program should submit a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under "Forms") to the coordinator of the Philosophy Board of Study. Upon admission to the minor, the student will be assigned a minor advisor from the philosophy faculty.

Minor in Philosophy

This minor is designed for students with a general interest in philosophy.

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Philosophy

Five courses, to include:

- a. PHI 1515/History of Philosophy I
- b. One other course in the history of philosophy (e.g., PHI 2110, 3211, or 3212)
- c. Three elective courses in philosophy (including two at the 3000 or 4000 level), to be chosen in consultation with the minor advisor

Minor in Philosophy and the Arts

This minor is designed for students with a particular interest in philosophy and the arts.

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Philosophy and the Arts

Six courses, to include:

- a. Three arts-related philosophy courses, chosen from the list below
- b. Two additional courses in philosophy*
- c. One complementary course in studio art or art history*

*These courses are to be chosen in consultation with the minor advisor.

The Philosophy Program: Courses

Good and Evil

PHI 1135 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Readings from important philosophers who have written in the area of ethics, from Plato and Aristotle in ancient Greece to Sartre and Rawls in the 20th century. This course also serves as a general introduction to philosophy: What does it mean to live a well-lived human life? What is the basis for ethics? Is it objective or subjective? Why should we obey moral rules?

Religion, Science, and Modernity

PHI 1160 / 4 credits / Spring

Examines the complex and evolving relationship between modern science and religion from the 16th century to the present. Topics include the influence of the Reformation on emerging secular culture; the modern philosophical debate over the existence of God; "disenchantment" as a defining feature of modern experience; and Darwinian evolutionary theory, humanism, and conflicts between secularism and fundamentalism in the 21st century.

History of Philosophy I: Philosophy and the Polis

PHI 1515 / 4 credits / Fall

The emergence of Western philosophy in ancient Greece during the age of Aeschylus, Sophocles, Plato, and Aristotle.

Introduction to Philosophy: Ideas of Good and Evil

PHI 1530 / 4 credits / Every year

A survey of our most important ethical notions and of the philosophers who were most important in shaping them.

Introduction to Philosophy: Ideas of Human Nature

PHI 1540 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An introduction to philosophy through an examination of influential views of what it is to be human. Topics include the relations among people, machines, and animals; the role of culture in shaping people; and the question of whether there is a distinctively human good.

Introduction to Philosophy: Knowledge and Imagination

PHI 1570 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An introduction to philosophy through a set of related problems in metaphysics, the theory of knowledge, and aesthetics. Topics include knowledge, skepticism, romanticism, and the role of imagination in ethical reflection, in art, and in everyday experience.

Tragedy and Philosophy

PHI 1720 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introduction to Western culture through the study of tragic drama, Plato's dramatic dialogues, and philosophical reflections on tragedy. The focus is on the possibilities and limitations of human action. Topics include the relations of individual to city, mortal to divine, and male to female; and the roles of knowledge and desire in human conduct. Homer, Aeschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, Plato, Shakespeare, Nietzsche, and Toni Morrison are included.

Africana Philosophy

PHI 2005 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An exploration of Africana philosophy and its intersection with Latino and Afro-Caribbean philosophies. This course proceeds from the premise that philosophy, grounded in specific lived experiences, helps society recognize the significance of cultural pluralism and empirical justice in the building of a world community. On this basis, discussions and assignments explore the possibilities of Africana philosophical theories and praxis in relation to such fundamental themes as justice, equality, freedom, resistance, and self-respect.

Existentialism

PHI 2060 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of major 19th- and 20th-century European philosophical and literary texts by Kierkegaard, Nietzsche, Sartre, de Beauvoir, and Fanon. Topics include "the death of God," alienation, freedom and commitment, ethics and politics when "everything is permitted," and the interaction of self and other(s) in the definition of individual and social identities.

History of Philosophy II: Descartes to Kant

PHI 2110 / 4 credits / Spring

Close readings of four or five major philosophers from the modern period (e.g., Hobbes, Descartes, Locke, Spinoza, Leibniz, Berkeley, Hume, Kant). Issues and supplementary readings may vary each semester.

Methods of Reasoning

PHI 2120 / 4 credits / Every year

Systematic analyses of ordinary arguments, followed by a study of formal languages that are used to represent arguments symbolically.

Classical Buddhist Philosophy

PHI 2430 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Topics include philosophic conceptions of experience, nature, self, and truth in classical Buddhist schools of India, Tibet, China, and Japan.

Gender and Power

PHI 2500 / 4 credits / Every year

What is gender? What is power? What tools do we have for understanding and addressing gender injustice? This course employs philosophical, feminist, and queer theory to address these and related questions. Also offered as GND 2500.

Media, Memory, and Desire

PHI 2550 / Refer to NME 2550 in New Media Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.

Note: There is no prerequisite for PHI 2550

Philosophy and the Arts: Modernism and Postmodernism

PHI 2710 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An examination of recent views of the relations among art, philosophy, politics, and cultural history. Questions include: What are the reasons for the contemporary preoccupation with the interrelations between the arts and cultural history as a whole? Can we sustain the view that art history unfolds according to its own laws? Is postmodernism a theory of autonomous development in art and culture?

Philosophy of Art: From Plato to Postmodernism

PHI 2780 / 4 credits / Every year

An introduction to major traditional and contemporary issues in the philosophy of art. Topics include the problem of defining "art"; the nature of representation; the problem of whether taste has an objective basis; and the relation of art to moral, cognitive, and social values.

Philosophy of Law

PHI 2790 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A study of the role of law in society, focusing on its relationship to community moralities, individual freedom, and political conflict.

Philosophy of Religion

PHI 2800 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of the nature of religious experience. Topics include arguments for the existence of God, faith, and reason; the "problem of evil"; and the relationship between religion and ethics.

Philosophy of the Environment

PHI 2820 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of philosophical ideas that underpin debates about the relationships between humans, their values, and the nonhuman species that comprise the natural environment. Specific inquiries include: What does it mean, metaphysically, to say that humans are "part of nature"? Do humans have duties towards nonhuman species? Do any nonhuman species have rights? When do ecological philosophies become politically controversial? Readings include a variety of contemporary and traditional philosophers. Also offered as ENV 2820.

Happiness: Philosophy, Film, Literature

PHI 2835 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An interdisciplinary examination of the subject of happiness, using a variety of ancient and modern literary and philosophical works as well as films. Students analyze the texts and films for their specific content but also for a deepened sense of the possible relationships between visual and discursive representations of narratives. Also offered as CIN 2835 and LIT 2835.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Pragmatism and the Quest for Certainty

PHI 3050 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An introduction to leading figures and themes of 20th-century philosophical pragmatism. Topics include pragmatic critiques of traditional (e.g., Cartesian and Kantian) epistemology; the practical sources of philosophy, science, and art; and the requirements of metaphysical naturalism.

Fantasy, Film, and Reality

PHI 3120 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Drawing on philosophy, film theory, and psychoanalysis, this course explores the epistemological, ontological, and ethical issues in mapping the relations of fantasy, film, and reality. Also offered as CIN 3120.

Tibetan Buddhist Philosophy

PHI 3150 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly, summer, in India)

An examination of the rich philosophies of Tibetan Buddhism, drawing on Nagarjuna and the Indian background, developing the tantric tradition through its philosophic assumptions and arguments.

Action/Reflection in Indo-Tibetan Traditions

PHI 3151 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly, summer, in India)

The relationship between contemplative practices and active ethical engagement in the Vedic tradition and the Buddhist traditions are examined. Contemplation and service are incorporated into the textual studies undertaken in the lectures and discussions. Also offered as SOC 3151.

The Cinematic Bestiary

PHI 3170 Refer to CIN 3170 in Cinema Studies Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.

Philosophy in the Middle Ages

PHI 3209 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A study of how thinkers face the difficult task of relating philosophy and religion in the Middle Ages, and a look at the way this period helped to form the modern world. Studies include Augustine, Avicenna, Averroes, Aquinas, Scotus, and Ockham.

The Construction of Nature

PHI 3210 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An examination of major 17th- and 18th-century texts that explore the project of knowing the world as a mathematical construct. The course addresses the character and limits of human knowledge, the world we seek to know, and ourselves as knowers. The focus is on the crisis in self-understanding provoked by the promise of mathematical physics, the challenge of skepticism, and the elusiveness of "the real." Readings include Descartes, Newton, Locke, Leibniz, Hume, and Kant.

Enlightenment and Revolution

PHI 3211 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A critical study of the Enlightenment approach to ethics and politics in the natural rights and social contract theories. Topics include tensions between the individual and the state, liberty and equality, and reason and passion in the theory and practice of the great democratic revolutions of the 17th and 18th centuries. Readings include Hobbes, Locke, Rousseau, Kant, Burke, and the Federalists.

From Hegel to Nietzsche

PHI 3212 / 4 credits / Spring

A study of thinkers who challenged accepted notions of reason and selfhood and, in doing so, helped shape the intellectual life of our present century. Hegel, Marx, Kierkegaard, and Nietzsche are some of the thinkers studied.

Ideas of Modernity

PHI 3225 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Begins by looking at how late medieval notions about relations among God, humans, and world established a space in which modernity could develop. Students then look at Hegel's reading of history, regarding what characterizes the modern situation as such. This is followed by a study of Heidegger's critique of modernity and its ways of thinking.

PHI 3275 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Do photographic images have privileged access to truth? This course explores the complicated relationship between truth and visual (particularly filmic) images. It begins with Plato on the "fakery" that is painting, turns to 17th-century "faithfulness" and "sincerity" in still-life painting and scientific drawing, and looks in depth at 20th-century writings about the nature of photography and realism in representation. Also offered as ARH 3275 and CIN 3275.

Chinese Philosophy: From Confucius through the Neo-Confucian Synthesis of the Sung Dynasty

PHI 3290 / 4 credits / Fall

An inquiry into the conceptions of order and power from Confucius to the Sung Dynasty (12th century). Balance, hierarchy, relation, social organization, human nature, beauty, value, and truth are considered in Confucius, Mencius, Hsun Tse, Lao Tse, Chuang Tse, Han Fei Tse, Hui Neng, and Chu Hsi.

Modern Jewish Philosophy

PHI 3330 Refer to JST 3330 in Jewish Studies Courses for description.

Justice, Power, and Community

PHI 3370 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A critical examination of contemporary liberal theory in the face of challenges from both left and right, including communitarianism, feminism, and poststructuralism.

Language, Thought, and Reality

PHI 3385 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An investigation of recent philosophers who have made us rethink the relations among mind, language, and the world, and of the nature of selfhood. Philosophers may include Wittgenstein, Quine, Davidson, Heidegger, Rorty, Putnam, and McDowell.

Foucault, Habermas, Derrida

PHI 3470 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A study of three recent thinkers who have had a powerful influence on contemporary intellectual life, and on our assessment of the Enlightenment legacy of the modern world.

Theory and Drama

PHI 3510 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An examination of classical and modern attempts to see and explain what drama is. The course also considers how some dramas can illuminate the nature of theory. Themes include dramatic situations and structures of ethical life; plot vs. character in dramatic action; drama's narratological closure and the problem of historical reference; and the question, "What is modern drama?" Readings include classical to modern theorists (Aristotle to Szondi) and dramatists (Aeschylus to Brecht).

Queer Cinema

PHI 3540 Refer to CIN 3540 in Cinema Studies Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.

From Phenomenology to Deconstruction

PHI 3595 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An exploration of central issues in 20th-century European philosophy. The focus is on the challenges to traditional humanism posed by the successes of modern science and technology; the fragmentation of social and political life; and the decentering of the subject in psychoanalysis, linguistics, and literary modernism. Texts include works by Husserl, Heidegger, Arendt, Levinas, and Derrida.

Philosophy and Literature

PHI 3650 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A study of how philosophical themes have been developed in recent fiction and an examination of the relationship between philosophy and literary criticism.

Philosophy and Film

PHI 3716 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A critical examination of influential attempts to understand the nature of the cinematic medium. Questions raised include: Is film a fine art? Must a movie "represent reality" if it is to succeed as a movie? Are there certain insights into human experience that are better expressed through film than through other media? Readings include Siegfried Kracauer, André Bazin, and Stanley Cavell. Also offered as CIN 3716.

Theories of Sexuality

PHI 3725 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An investigation of classical, modern, and contemporary theories of desire and sexuality, with an emphasis on the relationship between familial and other social institutions and on the formation of individual identities. Readings include works by Plato, Aristotle, Hegel, Kierkegaard, Freud, Foucault, and contemporary feminist and queer theorists. Also offered as GND 3725.

Philosophy of Mind

PHI 3730 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An investigation of philosophical accounts of the nature of mind, including issues like: What does it mean to have a mind? How are mind and body related? Could animals or machines have minds? How are accounts of the mind important for our understanding of freedom, immortality, human nature, and religion?

Free Will and Evolved Minds

PHI 3755 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An investigation of what current evolutionary psychology and cognitive science suggest about a philosophical idea that has long been sacred for modern humanistic culture: that human beings can act freely, without constraint by social or biological forces. Are "free will" and "determinism" fundamentally contradictory ideas, or is a compromise position possible? Includes readings from selected philosophers, cognitive psychologists, and others.

Art and Morality

PHI 3785 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

What, if any, moral and political obligations does art have? Should public policy promote some kinds of art and discourage others? This course addresses these and related questions via works from across the arts and philosophical texts. Also offered as ARH 3786.

Rationality and Relativism

PHI 3830 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An examination of debates among 20th-century philosophers and anthropologists over whether morality, knowledge, or rationality itself are in any sense "relative" to culture, to history, or to both. Both "relativistic" and "anti-relativistic" positions are critically examined, along with their relevance to current interdisciplinary topics like multiculturalism and colonialism.

Junior Seminar in PhilosophyPHI 3899 / 4 credits / Spring

A forum for second-semester juniors with two distinct aims: (1) to facilitate the formulation of (a) a senior thesis prospectus, (b) an outline, (c) a bibliography, and (d) a schedule for the composition, during the senior year, of a satisfying 40-page senior thesis; and (2) to introduce the mainstreams of contemporary thought and interpretation in philosophy. Senior thesis topics need not deal with the topic of the junior seminar.

Plato SeminarPHI 4100 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An intensive study of the major texts, emphasizing their role in defining the work of Western philosophy, with special attention to the interaction of drama with argumentation in the dialogue form.

Prerequisite: PHI 1515 or permission of instructorHeidegger/Arendt Seminar*PHI 4120 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

This seminar stages an encounter between the two thinkers: Martin Heidegger, one of the most powerful and controversial philosophers of the 20th century, and Hannah Arendt, arguably its greatest political thinker. Among the central questions studied: individual authenticity vs. being in the world with others; resoluteness and political death vs. the promise of birth; and the relation between philosophic reflection and political action.

James and Dewey SeminarPHI 4130 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An intensive study of the main ideas and texts of William James and John Dewey, two seminal figures of American pragmatist philosophy. Readings and discussions focus on such topics as the centrality of the idea of experience to philosophical analysis; the relations between thought and action; the epistemological status of metaphysical and religious belief; and the reconstructive role of intelligence in art, science, and social life.

Prerequisite: At least one course in philosophyNietzsche Seminar*PHI 4150 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Writing in the latter half of the 19th century, Friedrich Nietzsche has exercised extraordinary influence on subsequent philosophy. He is a powerful thinker and an intriguing writer. This seminar involves an intensive examination of the full range of his work.

Kant SeminarPHI 4200 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Kant is the thinker who has, more than any other, shaped the discussion of intellectual issues over the past two centuries. The semester is devoted to a close study of Kant's critical philosophy of scientific knowledge, human morality, and judgment in art and the life sciences.

Prerequisite: PHI 1515 and 2110, or permission of instructorHegel Seminar*PHI 4310 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A seminar devoted to close readings from several of Hegel's texts (e.g., Phenomenology of Spirit, Elements of the Philosophy of Right, Science of Logic, Philosophy of History).

Prerequisite: PHI 1515 and 2110, or permission of instructorEthics Ancient and Modern*PHI 4325 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An examination of the strengths and weaknesses of ancient and modern ethical systems, insofar as they provide a model of living a human life well. Analysis and evaluation of arguments are emphasized.

Prerequisite: One course in philosophy or permission of instructorSenior Colloquium in Philosophy*PHI 4860 / 1 credit / Spring

Continues the writing workshop format of PHI 4890 (required in the fall semester), and focuses on the development of oral presentation skills. Students present aspects of their ongoing work to each other, culminating in a public presentation to philosophy majors and faculty at the annual Assessment Day in the late spring. Required of philosophy majors in the second semester of their senior projects.

Prerequisite: PHI 4890Corequisite: PHI 4990 (second semester)Senior Seminar in Philosophy: Senior Thesis Workshop*PHI 4890 / 2 credits / Fall

For first-semester seniors who are developing their senior theses. Designed to give students the invaluable experience of presenting ongoing work to a critical and supportive public of peers.

Senior Project in PhilosophyPHI 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

The senior project is normally an extended (c. 40-page) essay on a distinctive topic, developed during a student's junior seminar in consultation with a prospective senior thesis supervisor. Two semesters required (8 credits total).

The Expository and College Writing Program

Reading and writing are essential and inseparable features of all academic disciplines. The undergraduate core curriculum program requires students to demonstrate that they can:

1. produce coherent texts within common college-level written forms;
2. revise and improve these texts;
3. research topics, develop arguments, and organize supporting details;
4. analyze and develop multiple perspectives, including historical, cultural, and discursive;
5. demonstrate proficiency in oral discourse;
6. evaluate their own and others' written and oral presentations.

To achieve these goals, all Purchase students are required to complete LWR 1110/College Writing or its equivalent. Entering students may only be exempted from College Writing by achieving an AP score of 4 or higher. For additional information, refer to the College Writing AP policy for freshmen.

College Writing is taught in small sections in a seminar/discussion format that requires students to achieve proficiency in speaking and listening as well as writing and reading.

Expository Writing Courses

1. LWR 2052/Writing Memoir
2. LWR 2110/Advanced Critical Writing Workshop
3. LWR 3455/Teaching Good Prose
4. LWR 3730/Adapting Literature for Performance
5. LWR 3785/The Personal Essay

Writing courses (including College Writing) are also available through the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education.

Expository Writing Faculty (Board of Study)

The Expository Writing Board of Study oversees the college writing program and the development of writing-designated courses across the college. Its jurisdiction does not include the creative writing or playwriting and screenwriting programs.

The Expository and College Writing Program: Courses

College Writing Lab

LWR 1105 / 1 credit / Fall

A writing lab designed specifically for Educational Opportunity Program (EOP) students enrolled in LWR 1110. Students receive supplemental instruction in critical thinking and writing, writing mechanics, organization, and style. They also learn techniques for effective workshopping and provide regular feedback on each other's work.

Corequisite: LWR 1110

LWR 1110 / 4 credits / Every semester (primarily Fall)

An intensive course taught in multiple sections, by the end of which students are able to do the following:

1. Produce coherent texts within common college-level written forms.
2. Apply critical-thinking skills to evaluate their own and others' assignments.
3. Take a position of their own and develop an argument, using supporting details.
4. Synthesize materials from various kinds of texts.
5. Demonstrate the ability to revise and improve their papers.
6. Use course concepts to develop in-depth readings of texts and critically literate written papers.
7. Research a topic in detail and write a coherent, well-organized paper that develops an argument in dialogue with source texts.
8. Demonstrate proficiency in oral discourse.
9. Evaluate an oral presentation.
10. Perform the basic operation of computer use.

Writing Memoir

LWR 2052 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Students examine self-representation by published memoirists, writing responses to and interpretations of the memoirs. Issues considered include impulse, message, structure, and engagement. Throughout the term, students also write and learn to revise personal memoir pieces, which are workshopped regularly in class. Also offered as LIT 2052.

Advanced Critical Writing WorkshopLWR 2110 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

What makes a person an insider or an outsider? Beginning with personal experience and writing, students explore the ways in which race, ethnicity, gender, sexuality, and social class affect individual, communal, national, and transnational identity and belonging in American culture. In connecting multiple levels of experience, students engage in critical reading, research, analysis, writing, and revision, building on their strong skills in preparation for upper-level work.

Teaching Good ProseLWR 3455 / 4 credits / Fall

Helping others to read and write better improves one's own reading and writing dramatically. In this course, advanced students improve their own writing and gain tutoring experience by serving as peer tutors in first-year courses. Each student is attached to a College Writing section and serves as a peer mentor/tutor, attending classes and working closely with the instructor (approx. 2 to 4 hours weekly). Also offered as LIT 3455.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorAdapting Literature for Performance*LWR 3730 Refer to THP 3725 in Theatre and Performance Courses (Conservatory of Theatre Arts) for description.The Personal Essay*LWR 3785 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In the personal essay, writers adopt distinct points of view, moving beyond the emotional to analytical and reasoned positions. Topics can include personal reflections, thoughts on daily life, art analysis, and political arguments. Students read and analyze contemporary essays and "workshop" each other's writing. Requirements include attending instructor-supervised events (films, performances, guest speakers) outside of class for some writing assignments. Also offered as LIT 3785.

School of Natural and Social Sciences

Degree programs in the School of Natural and Social Sciences provide students with a solid grounding in a discipline and an appreciation for the complex relationships that exist among systems of inquiry (economic, mathematical, biochemical, ecological, political, psychological, cultural, and social). Each program is designed to prepare students for career opportunities and for graduate and professional studies. The courses also provide a contemporary focus as part of a well-rounded liberal arts education for students who may not be seeking careers in any of the sciences.

Students are taught to think independently, communicate effectively, conduct serious research, and use community resources. Our faculty members encourage learning by including students in both laboratory and field research. This hands-on philosophy culminates in the senior year, when each student completes a year-long research project under the close supervision of a faculty mentor.

Natural Sciences

Within the natural sciences, six majors are offered: biology, biochemistry, chemistry, environmental studies, mathematics/computer science, and psychology. Premedical studies are most conveniently undertaken as a biology, biochemistry, or chemistry major, but other options are possible. Optional concentrations are also available, ranging from evolutionary and behavioral biology, bioresearch technology, and marine biology/ecology to cognitive neuroscience.

Social Sciences

Within the social sciences, four majors are offered: anthropology, economics, political science, and sociology, with concentrations in such areas as world cultures; anthropology and the arts; Islam and the Middle East; human rights; globalization, communities, and social change; and social and health advocacy. Through their coursework, students are introduced to both traditional and innovative research techniques and also receive extensive experience with computer applications. Research skills are developed to facilitate work in advanced classes and to help prepare students for the ongoing technological revolution.

Interdisciplinary Collaboration

Faculty members in the natural and social sciences also collaborate across the disciplines in such areas as Asian studies, gender studies, and Latin American studies (Interdisciplinary Studies), and in new media and media, society, and the arts (in the School of Film and Media Studies).

AdministrationRonnie Halperin, PhD, Chair, School of Natural and Social Sciences

School of Natural and Social Sciences: Facilities

The Natural Sciences Building is well equipped for undergraduate research. The BioLab Suite, a molecular and cellular biology research lab, was newly renovated in 2012–13 with funds from a National Science Foundation grant. Students learning molecular biology use instrumentation for molecular and subcellular fractionation, electrophoresis, and high-performance liquid chromatography. Cell and tissue culture facilities and a radioisotope lab with a liquid scintillation counter are also available. In addition to phase and fluorescence light microscopes, there is a well-equipped microscopy suite with both scanning and transmission electron microscopes. Physiology instruments include oscilloscopes and multichannel physiographs. Genetics labs are equipped for recombinant DNA research and for research and instruction with classical genetic organisms and microorganisms. Facilities for study of the chemical sciences include the following spectrometers: ultraviolet/visible, diffraction infrared, Fourier transform infrared (FTIR), atomic absorption, luminescence, and nuclear magnetic resonance. In addition to numerous standard items of equipment, instruments are available for gas chromatography/mass spectrometry, high-performance liquid chromatography, and high-pressure synthesis. Electrophysiological data (including both behavioral and physiological) can be recorded using the 40-channel EEG system.

Lab facilities include spaces designed for observational studies and experimental research in psychology, particularly studies of human cognition and perception. The on-campus Purchase College Children's Center offers supervised teaching experience and research opportunities for students interested in the development of young children. The campus and its environs—nearby preserves and wildlife sanctuaries, numerous lakes and streams, and the Hudson River and Long Island Sound—also provide a variety of sites for terrestrial, aquatic, estuarine, and field study.

Computing Facilities

Computing facilities in the School of Natural and Social Sciences include two computer classrooms, satellite labs for different disciplines, a research lab, and several servers used to support courses, research projects, and general faculty use. The main natural sciences lab—the Planetarium—has 20 computers for student use, with general and specialized software used in psychology, chemistry, biology, environmental studies, mathematics, and computer science. In addition, the biology lab has 12 computers available for shared use during class. The new-media lab, which contains 24 computers, is used by both students majoring in new media and students enrolled in computer science courses. Both the Planetarium and new-media labs are managed by Campus Technology Services. There are also several small areas equipped with computers and specialized software (e.g., for geographic information systems and computational chemistry).

Computers are connected within the Natural Sciences Building and externally to the Internet. These facilities are used to support a range of projects, including electron microscopy image processing; computational chemistry; research that uses aircraft data to study the jet stream; and the development of peer-to-peer games and activities for children with special needs and their families.

In the Social Sciences Building, there is an instructional computer lab with a connected projector and interactive whiteboard, which is also managed by Campus Technology Services.

For additional information and updates during 2013–2015, please visit the natural sciences program sites at www.purchase.edu/sciences and the Campus Technology Services computer labs site, www.purchase.edu/Departments/cts/ctscomputerlabs.aspx.

The Anthropology BA Program

Anthropology is the study of human differences and commonalities in a world of global and transnational connections. Cultural anthropologists study a wide range of contemporary concerns, from identity and community formation to popular culture and political economy. They engage in long-term ethnographic research in rural, urban, and suburban environments around the world and apply critical cultural analysis to their field experiences.

Anthropology at Purchase College takes the study of culture to be an inherently interdisciplinary practice, drawing not only on other social sciences, but also the natural sciences, the humanities, and the arts. Courses in the anthropology program provide the core of a broad liberal arts education for students majoring in anthropology. These courses also introduce students from a range of other disciplines to the vital connections between anthropology and their own fields of study. Our graduates go on to careers in social work, development, and activism for nonprofit and nongovernmental organizations, curatorial and archival work at museums and historical societies, consumer research and creative communications for marketing and advertising firms, end-user practices for product design firms, and teaching at colleges and universities.

The Anthropology BA Program: Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all anthropology majors must complete the following requirements (35–39 credits):

1. The following courses must be completed with a grade of C or higher:
 - ANT 1500/Introduction to Social and Cultural Anthropology: 3 credits
 - ANT 3150/Classics in Anthropological Literature: 4 credits
 - ANT 3560/Fieldwork: Qualitative Methods: 4 credits

- ANT 4070/Current Anthropological Literature: 4 credits
 - Four anthropology electives in the student's chosen concentration: 12–16 credits
2. ANT 4990/Senior Project in Anthropology (must be taken for two semesters): 8 credits

Anthropology majors are encouraged to undertake an internship, study-abroad opportunity, or community-action independent study. Students may petition to take credit-bearing internships with anthropology faculty sponsors in place of one upper-level elective for the major.

Concentration 1: General Anthropology

The four anthropology electives must include at least one course in the each of the other three concentrations

Note: New and reinstated courses may be added to the following concentrations. Students should consult their advisor to determine whether a new or reinstated course counts toward a specific concentration.

Concentration 2: World Cultures

ANT 1010/Nigerian/Hausa Language and Culture
 ANT 2055/Urban Life in Africa
 ANT 2235/Islam in the American Imagination
 ANT 2330/New Immigrants in the United States
 ANT 2410/Environment and Sustainable Development in South Asia
 ANT 3190/Urban Anthropology
 ANT 3455/Archaeological Issues in the Southern Levant
 ANT 4100/Informal Economies
 ANT 4160/Material Culture
 ANT 4860/Special Topic: Geographic Area*
 *semester topic: Culture and Media in Italy

Concentration 3: Anthropology and the Arts

ANT 2250/Film and Anthropology
 ANT 2320/Performing Arts in Cross-Cultural Perspective
 ANT 2470/Museum Anthropology
 ANT 2550/Magic, Witchcraft, and Religion
 ANT 2610/Introduction to Ethnomusicology
 ANT 3070/Myth and Ritual
 ANT 3185/Global Media, Local Cultures
 ANT 3275/Los Angeles/Mumbai: Cinematic City Cross-Culturally
 ANT 3345/Theatre and Performance in Africa
 ANT 3380/Avant-Garde Cultures and Everyday Life
 ANT 3410/Anthropology of Art and Aesthetics
 ANT 3415/Anthropology of Music and Sound
 ANT 3540/Sensing and Knowing in Anthropology, Psychology, and the Arts
 ANT 3600/Contemporary Japan: Aesthetics, Politics, Modernity
 ANT 3610/Gender and Popular Culture in South Asia

Concentration 4: Kinship, Identities, and Power

ANT 2175/Language, Culture, and Society
 ANT 2340/Drugs, Bodies, Design
 ANT 2755/Global Sexualities
 ANT 3390/Critical Perspectives on Language and Culture

Minor in Anthropology

The minor in anthropology is designed to provide students with a basic understanding of the discipline and to introduce them to some of the major subfields. Students interested in the minor should consult with a member of the anthropology faculty, then submit a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under "Forms"). A student is assigned to the faculty advisor who best meets the student's academic interest in the minor.

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Anthropology

Five courses, to include:

- a. ANT 1500/Introduction to Social and Cultural Anthropology
- b. Plus four elective courses in anthropology, chosen with the assistance of the anthropology faculty

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/socsci/anthropology/Minor.aspx.

The Anthropology Program: Courses

Nigerian/Hausa Language and Culture

ANT 1010 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

Hausa is one of the most important African languages, spoken by more than 50 million people in Nigeria and numerous other countries. This course offers intensive first-year instruction in the Hausa language while introducing students to the customs, beliefs, and concerns of Nigerian Hausa speakers as expressed through various media. Also offered as HAU 1010.

Introduction to Social and Cultural Anthropology

ANT 1500 / 3 credits / Fall

The major fields of interest and contributions of social and cultural anthropologists. Accounts of life in different societies are read to illustrate how institutions vary in different cultural settings and to explore what it means to be a member of a culture different from one's own.

Urban Life in Africa

ANT 2055 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Introduces students to the everyday lives of people in African cities. Topics include urbanization in Africa from ancient times to the present; migration to and from African cities; wealth and poverty; work and leisure; gender and sexuality; and responses to African city life as expressed in art, religion, and politics.

Language, Culture, and Society

ANT 2175 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Explores the different roles that language plays in the lives of people, communities, and nations. Topics include language and thought, language and power, poetics and verbal art, bilingualism, African-American English ("Ebonics"), pidgin and creole languages, Native American language revitalization, "politically correct"; language, and the rise of English as a global language. Also offered as MSA 2175.

The Origins of Society

ANT 2210 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The processes and events of social change, with emphasis on three basic transitions in human history: the emergence of village society; the origins of food production; and the growth of social and economic stratification, urbanism, and the state. Theoretical approaches to social change are studied.

Sociology of Gender

ANT 2211 Refer to SOC 2210 in Sociology Courses for description.

Islam in the American Imagination

ANT 2235 / 3 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

An introduction to the representations of Muslims in the U.S. and abroad during the 20th and the 21st centuries. Topics include the place of Islam in the American imagination; the relationships among race, gender, religion, and citizenship in the U.S.; public and popular discourse on Muslim immigrants; U.S. foreign policy and the Muslim world.

Film and Anthropology

ANT 2250 / 3 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

How useful a tool is film for the study of peoples who come from cultures entirely different from one's own? Appropriate readings accompany the visual material, in addition to ethnographic accounts of the societies viewed in class and discussions of the problems encountered in filming non-Western peoples.

ANT 2320 / 3 credits / Alternate years

An introductory survey of music, theatre, and dance in Western and non-Western cultures, including the relationships between music and religion, dance and weddings, theatre and curing. The course also explores the performing arts as aesthetic phenomena in their own right. Live performances by non-Western performers and optional field trips are planned. Also offered as MSA 2320 and NME 2320.

New Immigrants in the United States

ANT 2330 / 3 credits / Alternate years

Drawing on anthropological studies, students examine how refugees, immigrants, guest workers, and undocumented workers have shaped U.S. society through their interaction with the U.S. government, with communities already in the U.S., with each other, and with communities and ideologies originating beyond the borders of the U.S. The focus is on the contemporary Muslim, Asian, and Latino immigrant experience. Also offered as LST 2330.

Prerequisite: ANT 1500 or permission of instructor

ANT 2340 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Using texts and films, students analyze how street drugs and legitimated pharmaceuticals become entangled with the economic and aesthetic practices of marginal and mainstream social worlds. Topics include rural Midwestern methamphetamine production as a cottage industry; the ways that steroids and methamphetamine refashion the HIV+ body and identity; and the designs of "performance enhancers"; like Adderall that make machines out of bodies. Also offered as MSA 2340.

Anthropology of South Asia

ANT 2400 / 3 credits / Alternate years

Using ethnographic case studies, this course introduces students to a broad range of anthropological research on South Asia. Topics include colonial forms of knowledge and early descriptive accounts of the region; the caste system; constructions of transgender, feminine, and masculine identities and communities; postcolonial and diasporic identities and communities; and globalization and ethno-religious conflict in India and Pakistan.

Environment and Sustainable Development in South AsiaANT 2410 / 3 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

An introduction to environmental issues and sustainable development in South Asia. Topics include relationships among geography, natural environment, and cultural life and traditions; "Mother Earth"; and human ecology in India; sacred cow complex; ecofeminism and the Chipko Movement; ecotourism in the Himalayas; environmental security, impact assessments, and large-scale industrial projects; and international development agencies and sustainable development projects in India, Pakistan, Bangladesh, and Nepal. Also offered as ENV 2410.

Prerequisite: ANT 1500 or an introductory-level course in environmental studiesMuseum Anthropology*ANT 2470 / 3 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

An introduction to the poetics of representation, display, and performance in museums. Students critically analyze museums as spaces of encounter and culture contact; consider the political economy of museums and their links to the education, tourism, and entertainment industries; and participate in and report on curatorial projects at the Neuberger Museum of Art. Also offered as MSA 2470 and ARH 2470.

Prerequisite: ANT 1500 or MSA 1050Urban Sociology*ANT 2500 Refer to SOC 2500 in Sociology Courses for description.Magic, Witchcraft, and Religion*ANT 2550 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Magic, witchcraft, and religion from an anthropological perspective, including theories about the origins and functions of religious beliefs and practices in different cultures. Readings include theoretical writings and ethnographic studies.

Introduction to EthnomusicologyANT 2610 / 3 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

A survey of theoretical orientations and methodologies for the study of musical production, performance, and consumption in particular cultural contexts and within global flows of materials, ideas, cultural forms, and people. Focuses on music as a communication medium and collective poetic process. Students attend and critically engage musical performances and/or engage directly in musical production and performances. Also offered as MSA 2610 and MUS 2610.

Prerequisite: ANT 1500 or MSA 1050Global Sexualities*ANT 2755 / 3 credits / Alternate years

Explores and compares the diverse ways in which sexuality and gender are practiced, experienced, and regulated in different communities around the world. Particular attention is paid to how sexual identities and practices have influenced, and been influenced by, global political, economic, and cultural movements, including colonialism, capitalism, feminism, queer activism, and the spread of world religions. Also offered as GND 2755.

Myth and RitualANT 3070 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

The social anthropology of myths and rituals in both simple and complex societies. Some attention is given to the approaches of Durkheim, Lévi-Strauss, Edmund Leach, Victor Turner, and Clifford Geertz, who have made contributions within the theoretical schools of structuralism and symbolic anthropology.

Classics in Anthropological LiteratureANT 3150 / 4 credits / Spring

Theoretical concepts and their use in analyzing empirical data. Students read and critically analyze the work of some of the major thinkers in anthropology, including Benedict, Mead, Malinowski, Radcliffe-Brown, Geertz, Turner, and Lévi-Strauss. Recommended for majors only.

Media Representations and IdentityANT 3175 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Many ideas that people develop about others and self come from the media; think for a moment about one's source of information on Native Americans or one's own ethnic group. This class takes a cross-cultural look at the role of media in shaping identity. Different sources of representation, including museums, film, literature, and performance media, are examined. Also offered as MSA 3175.

Prerequisite: MSA 1050Global Media, Local Cultures*ANT 3185 / 4 credits / Spring

Explores how media technologies and genres are produced, used, and interpreted in different cultural contexts around the world. Emphasis is placed on the effect of different media on people's social identities and communities, including families, nations, and religions. Anthropological theories of media and performance are applied to ethnographic research projects in and around the Purchase College community. Also offered as MSA 3185.

Prerequisite: ANT 1500 or MSA 1050 or permission of instructorUrban Anthropology*ANT 3190 / 4 credits / Fall

The experiences and problems of city dwellers in the Third World and migrants from Third World countries to Western cities, including New York. Topics include urbanization and family life, adaptation of migrants, ethnicity and class, the culture of poverty, and methods of urban anthropologists.

Prerequisite: ANT 1500 or 2055Los Angeles/Mumbai: Cinematic City Cross-Culturally*ANT 3275 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

Examines the relationship between the city and cinema through case studies of Los Angeles and Mumbai, global cities that are home to two of the largest film industries in the world. Students explore the interconnections between the city and cinematic representations of Los Angeles and Mumbai, and the relationship between cinema and urban life, cultural forms and traditions. Also offered as MSA 3275.

Prerequisite: ANT 1500 or MSA 1050 or permission of instructor

Theatre and Performance in Africa

ANT 3345 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Explores how African performing artists and audiences have responded to the cultural, political, and economic circumstances of the times and places in which they live. Performance media include music, song, dance, and the spoken word, with a special focus on western and southern Africa. Students draw on anthropological theories to produce, perform, and critique their own versions of African theatrical texts.

Prerequisite: ANT 1500 or MSA 1050 or permission of instructor

ANT 3380 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the avant-garde from historical and cultural perspectives, as both a lens and object of social critique. How the avant-garde engages with everyday life through various forms of artistic and technological mediation is also explored. Covers such topics as shock and aesthetics, collage, manifestos, found objects, and commodification, and examines various types of experimental music and performance. Also offered as MSA 3380.

Prerequisite: ANT 1500 or MSA 1050, and permission of instructor

Critical Perspectives on Language and Culture

ANT 3390 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Students perform close readings and engage in in-depth discussions of theoretical texts, illustrative ethnographic works, and audio/video recordings on the relationships between language and culture. Questions explored include: What assumptions about culture are implicit in any given method of analyzing language practices? What lies beyond the reach of language? Topics covered include affect, gesture, semiotics, and symbolic violence. Also offered as MSA 3390.

Prerequisite: ANT 1500

Culture and Values

ANT 3405 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Examines how culture is represented and sustained. Through this examination, the meaning given to some sociocultural systems is identified, including the role of race, ethnicity, gender, sexuality, and class. Students also study how values are transformed by contestation and resistance. Also offered as GND 3405.

Prerequisite: ANT 1500

Anthropology of Art and Aesthetics

ANT 3410 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An exploration of the arts of a variety of cultures, both Western and non-Western. Topics include the relationship of art to other social institutions; the role of the artist in society; the ways that people make aesthetic judgments; and the evolutionary significance of art.

ANT 3415 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An anthropological and ethnomusicological approach to sound, listening, and modernity, with emphasis on recent scholarship concerning aural/audio cultures. Topics include avant-garde sound poetry, noise and war, soundscapes and urban noise, silence and deafness, listening practices and mobility in urban space (Walkman, iPod), background music (Muzak), and sound art and installations. Also offered as MSA 3415.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Peoples of the Southwest

ANT 3450 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An overview of the prehistory and history of the region sets the stage for a comprehensive analysis of three distinct cultures (Native American, Hispanic, and Anglo) and their interrelationships, using annual ceremonies and rituals as a focus for analysis.

Archaeological Issues in the Southern Levant

ANT 3455 Refer to JST 3455 in Jewish Studies Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Methods and Techniques in Field Archaeology

ANT 3456 Refer to JST 3456 in Jewish Studies Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Archaeological Field Survey and Study

ANT 3457 Refer to JST 3457 in Jewish Studies Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Performing Arts and Social Analysis

ANT 3510 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A practicum course, comparable to MSA 3410. Students design and execute projects reflecting their own interests by combining the tools of social science inquiry with the problems of a particular performing arts field. Analysis of general topics in this area directs the formulation and completion of individual projects.

Sensing and Knowing in Anthropology, Psychology, and the Arts

ANT 3540 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

What theories of embodiment, mind, and matter must be adopted to adequately grasp experiences of time, space, color, emotion, and attention? How can people conceptualize forms of experience without purging them of poetic resonance? Students explore this interdisciplinary field in connection with the arts. Includes readings in cognitive science, anthropology, and poetry, plus collaborative art projects, sensory experiments, and excursions. Also offered as PSY 3540 and MSA 3540.

Prerequisite: ANT 1500 and PSY 1530

Fieldwork: Qualitative MethodsANT 3560 / 4 credits / Fall

The methodological, political, and ethical issues of participant observation. Students read and discuss classical examples of participant-observation research. Each student conducts a participant-observation field research study and presents a preliminary version of the results to the seminar before submitting the written report.

Contemporary Japan: Aesthetics, Politics, ModernityANT 3600 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

Drawing on scholarly texts, novels, films, and music, this course critically examines the aesthetics and politics of modernity in Japan. Topics include fascism and aesthetics in interwar Japan; folk art and Japanese imperialism; criminality and the everyday in postwar Japan; public spectacles (Tokyo Olympics, Osaka Expo); postwar avant-garde movements; consumer culture and department stores.

Prerequisite: ANT 1500Gender and Popular Culture in South Asia*ANT 3610 / 4 credits / Fall

Drawing on anthropology, sociology, history, and cultural studies, students examine the relationship between constructions of gender identities and popular culture in two major South Asian nations, India and Pakistan. "South Asian popular culture" is broadly and inclusively conceptualized to incorporate lived and textual cultures, the mass and new media, different ways of life, and discursive modes of representation. Also offered as GND 3610.

Human EcologyANT 3801 Refer to ENV 3800 in Environmental Studies Courses for description.Current Anthropological Literature*ANT 4070 / 4 credits / Fall

For senior anthropology majors and students with a substantial background in anthropology. The first half of the course focuses on recent theoretical texts in cultural anthropology. Students are expected to present short oral reports on these texts and to lead class discussion. The second half of the course features presentations by the students on their senior project research.

Informal EconomiesANT 4100 Refer to MSA 4100 in Media, Society, and the Arts Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.Material Culture*ANT 4160 Refer to MSA 4160 in Media, Society, and the Arts Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.Special Topic: Geographic Area*ANT 4860 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Special anthropological topics by geographic area.

Topic: Culture and Media in Italy

Focuses on cultural forms drawn from literature, film, music, and the visual arts across two centuries of Italian history to the present. Students examine, in Italy and elsewhere, various representations and performances of gender, race and ethnicity, region, and diaspora that produce "Italians."

Senior Project in AnthropologyANT 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Students are required to submit a senior project in order to complete the major in anthropology. Students work with individual faculty members to develop a project design that focuses on some substantive problem in anthropology. The project may be based on fieldwork or library research. Must be taken for two semesters (8 credits total).

The Biochemistry BA Program

The interplay between biology, chemistry, and even mathematics has rapidly changed the field of biomedical research over the past 25 years. Students entering this field need to have an in-depth interdisciplinary background that includes advanced courses and research experience in both chemistry and biology. The curriculum in the biochemistry major provides a solid foundation for students who plan to continue their study in biochemistry, biomedical sciences, or pharmaceutical science. Rapid advances in the biomedical field in recent years have created a great demand for a work force that is well trained in the interdisciplinary area of biochemistry. Students completing the biochemistry major are also well prepared for employment in the biotechnology, pharmaceutical, and other biomedical areas. The biochemistry major also prepares students for medicine, dentistry, and other allied health professions.

The Biochemistry BA Program: Academic Requirements

To declare biochemistry as a major, students are required to have passed General Chemistry I and II (or the equivalent courses for transfer students) with grades of C or higher. Other courses required for the biochemistry major, including support courses but excluding the senior project, must be completed with a grade of C- or higher.

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all biochemistry majors must complete the following requirements (83.5–85.5 credits):

Biology Courses (17.5–19.5 credits)

1. BIO 1550/General Biology I: 4 credits
2. BIO 1551/General Biology I Lab: 1.5 credits
3. BIO 3530/Cell Biology: 4 credits
4. BIO 4620/Molecular Biology: 4 credits
5. One advanced elective in biology: 4–6 credits

Chemistry Courses (37 credits)

1. CHE 1550/General Chemistry I: 4 credits
2. CHE 1551/General Chemistry I Lab: 1 credit
3. CHE 1560/General Chemistry II: 4 credits
4. CHE 1561/General Chemistry II Lab: 1 credit
5. CHE 3150/Chemical Instrumentation and Analytical Methods: 5 credits
6. CHE 3310/Organic Chemistry I: 4 credits
7. CHE 3311/Organic Chemistry I Lab: 1 credit
8. CHE 3320/Organic Chemistry II: 4 credits
9. CHE 3321/Organic Chemistry II Lab: 1 credit
10. CHE 3510/Physical Chemistry I: 4 credits
11. CHE 3510.01/Physical Chemistry I Lab: 2 credits
12. CHE 4610/Biochemistry: 4 credits
13. CHE 4611/Biochemistry Lab: 2 credits

Support Courses (18 credits)

1. MAT 1500/Calculus I: 4 credits
2. MAT 1510/Calculus II: 4 credits
3. PHY 1510/Introductory Physics I: 4 credits
4. PHY 1511/Introductory Physics I Lab: 1 credit
5. PHY 1520/Introductory Physics II: 4 credits
6. PHY 1521/Introductory Physics II Lab: 1 credit

Biochemistry Courses (12 credits)

The Biochemistry Program: Courses

Required and elective courses in biology and chemistry:

For courses with a BIO prefix, refer to Biology Courses.

For courses with a CHE prefix, refer to Chemistry Courses.

Independent Study and Tutorial

BCM 1900 and 3900 (Tutorial)

BCM 2900 and 4900 (Independent Study)

1–3 credits / Every semester

Students with special interests may study independently under the sponsorship of a faculty member in the board of study. Independent study in general subjects is permitted if the board of study offers no formal course covering the material. Independent study may not be substituted for any specific requirement.

Biochemistry Junior Seminar

BCM 3880 / 2 credits / Spring

Students complete a senior research proposal, which is submitted to the biochemistry faculty for review and approval. Students also attend research seminars presented by faculty and guest speakers. Required for juniors majoring in biochemistry.

Prerequisite: Junior standing

Biochemistry Internship

BCM 3980 / 1–3 credits / Every semester

Opportunities to work as apprentices in research labs at other institutions (industrial or academic) can be arranged in an area of scientific or career interest.

Bioorganic Mechanisms

BCM 4600 Refer to CHE 4600 in Chemistry Courses for description.

Biochemistry Senior Seminar I and II

BCM 4880 and 4890 / 1 credit (per semester) / I: Fall; II: Spring

Faculty, visiting scientists, and seniors in biochemistry present results of current research projects. Students are graded on the basis of oral presentations of senior project results made to the faculty and their peers.

Corequisite: BCM 4990

Biochemistry Learning Assistant

BCM 4899 / 1–2 credits / Every semester

Students who have received a grade of B+ or higher in the relevant course are eligible for BCM 4899. Assignments may include tutoring students or assisting faculty in labs. This assistantship is recommended for students anticipating graduate school. Four credits in BCM 4899 may be applied toward the minimum required for graduation.

Biochemistry Senior Project

BCM 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Two-semester independent study (8 credits total) leading to a baccalaureate thesis. The student defines and conducts an independent lab project. The work is conducted in the lab of a biochemistry faculty member.

Prerequisite: BCM 3880

Corequisite: BCM 4880 (Fall) and 4890 (Spring)

The Biology BA and BS Programs

Biology is an area of explosive scientific, intellectual, and technological advances. Attention is focusing on the origin and evolution of living organisms (even their possible existence on other planets), the molecular mechanics of heredity, the processes of disease and immunity, the ecological balance among life forms, the effect of synthetic chemicals on molecular functions of the cell, the biological basis of behavior, and the extraordinary technologies for the creation of useful new characteristics in microorganisms, plants, and animals. The biology program at Purchase College embodies the excitement of the dramatic advances in this rapidly expanding field. Students actively participate in the life sciences, studying and pursuing research with faculty who are active in their fields.

The biology program at Purchase College may be pursued from a variety of perspectives, and our majors are well prepared for graduate school, medical school, teaching, and careers with high-tech industries. Biology majors should be aware that of all the natural sciences, biology is least able to stand alone as a discipline; mathematics, physics, and especially chemistry are important for a meaningful appreciation of life processes. In consultation with a faculty advisor, the student will expand upon this base by choosing advanced subjects related to particular objectives. Advanced courses are offered in seven concentrations.

Freshmen should have a member of the biology faculty as their academic advisor or should consult members of the biology faculty about program planning and careers in the biological sciences.

Most advanced science courses have prerequisites of more elementary courses. Some sequences of courses require two or more years. For this reason, it is important for biology majors and premedical students to begin General Biology in the freshman year and General Chemistry no later than the sophomore year. Because biology majors should get an early start with their major requirements and basic science support courses, it is essential that the core curriculum requirements be distributed over the entire four-year period.

Biology courses are also challenging, rewarding, and immediately relevant studies for students in other disciplines. Students who major in other subjects and have a strong secondary interest in biology may consider a biology minor.

The Biology BA Program: Academic Requirements

There are two categories of requirements for all biology majors: biology courses and basic science support courses. General Biology I and II, Cell Biology, and the five upper-level electives in the “biology courses” category must be passed with a grade of C- or higher. Students must attain at least a 2.0 (C) GPA in courses used to satisfy the requirements for the major, including the “biology courses” category (excluding the senior project) and the “basic science support courses” category. Students majoring in biology may choose a concentration, but one is not required.

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all BA majors in biology must complete the following courses:

Biology Courses

1. BIO 1550/General Biology I
2. BIO 1551/General Biology I Lab
3. BIO 1560/General Biology II
4. BIO 1561/General Biology II Lab
5. BIO 1880/Biology Freshman Seminar
6. BIO 2890/Biology Program Seminar
7. BIO 3530/Cell Biology (successful completion of BIO 3530 is a prerequisite for all upper-level biology electives, except BIO 3850)
8. Five upper-level biology electives, as follows; these must include at least one at the 4000 level and at least four lab studies, taken either in conjunction with lecture courses or as separately registered lab courses:
 - a. One of the following courses in biological mechanisms:
 - BIO 3160/Genetics
 - BIO 3170/Developmental Biology
 - BIO 3250/Animal Physiology
 - BIO 4620/Molecular Biology
 - b. One of the following courses in biodiversity and ecology:
 - BIO 3360/Microbiology
 - BIO 3430/Vertebrate Zoology
 - BIO 3440/Invertebrate Zoology
 - ENV 3120/General Ecology
 - c. Three additional upper-level biology electives
9. BIO 3890/Biology Junior Seminar
10. BIO 4990/Senior Project
If a student elects to conduct a senior project in an area other than the life sciences, two additional biology courses are required.

Basic Science Support Courses

1. CHE 1550/General Chemistry I
2. CHE 1551/General Chemistry I Lab
3. CHE 1560/General Chemistry II
4. CHE 1561/General Chemistry II Lab
5. CHE 3310/Organic Chemistry I
6. CHE 3311/Organic Chemistry I Lab
7. CHE 3320/Organic Chemistry II
8. CHE 3321/Organic Chemistry II Lab
9. One of the following courses:
 - MAT 1500/Calculus I
 - MAT 1520/Computer Science I
 - MAT 1600/Introductory Statistics
 - MAT 3680/Informatics in Biology and Medicine
 - PSY 2320/Behavioral Statistics

Additional notes for biology majors:

1. Many students will want to study additional
 1. mathematics. Graduate schools generally require Calculus I; professional schools may require either Calculus I or Statistics.
 2. A year of physics is highly recommended (PHY 1510–1511/Introductory Physics I with lab and PHY 1520–1521/Introductory Physics II with lab). Professional and graduate schools generally require physics.
 3. Some professional and graduate schools may not accept high school AP courses as substitutes for college introductory science courses (e.g., General Biology, General Chemistry, Introductory Physics).

The Biology BS Program: Academic Requirements

There are two categories of requirements for all biology majors: biology courses and basic science support courses. General Biology I and II and the eight upper-level electives in the “biology courses” category must be passed with a grade of C- or higher. Students must attain at least a 2.0 (C) GPA in courses used to satisfy the requirements for the major, including the “biology courses” category (excluding the senior project) and the “basic science support courses” category. Students majoring in biology may choose a concentration, but one is not required.

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all BS majors in biology must complete the following courses:

Biology Courses:

1. BIO 1550/General Biology I
2. BIO 1551/General Biology I Lab
3. BIO 1560/General Biology II
4. BIO 1561/General Biology II Lab
5. BIO 1880/Biology Freshman Seminar

 - BIO 3170/Developmental Biology
 - BIO 3250/Animal Physiology
 - BIO 4620/Molecular Biology
 - c. One of the following courses in biodiversity and ecology:
 - BIO 3360/Microbiology
 - BIO 3430/Vertebrate Zoology
 - BIO 3440/Invertebrate Zoology
 - ENV 3120/General Ecology
 - d. Four additional upper-level biology electives
9. BIO 3890/Biology Junior Seminar
10. BIO 4990/Senior Project (must be an original research project)

Basic Science Support Courses:

1. Two of the following courses:
 - MAT 1500/Calculus I
 - MAT 1510/Calculus II
 - MAT 1520/Computer Science I
 - MAT 1600/Introductory Statistics
 - MAT 3680/Informatics in Biology and Medicine
 - PSY 2320/Behavioral Statistics
2. CHE 1550/General Chemistry I
3. CHE 1551/General Chemistry I Lab
4. CHE 1560/General Chemistry II
5. CHE 1561/General Chemistry II Lab
6. CHE 3310/Organic Chemistry I
7. CHE 3311/Organic Chemistry I Lab
8. CHE 3320/Organic Chemistry II
9. CHE 3321/Organic Chemistry II Lab

Additional notes for biology majors:

1. Many students will want to study additional mathematics. Graduate schools generally require Calculus I; professional schools may require either Calculus I or Statistics.

The Biology BA and BS Programs: Concentrations

Concentrations allow students to focus their coursework in any of several areas of study. They are available to students pursuing either a BA or a BS in biology, but are not required for either degree. Courses required for the concentration are completed in the course of, or in addition to, satisfying the requirements for the BA or BS in biology. Concentrations require a senior project in the general subject area of the concentration, as well as specific coursework.

BS students may be waived from the requirement of a second math course.

Marine Biology and Ecology:

1. One of the following courses:
BIO 3360/Microbiology
BIO 3430/Vertebrate Zoology
BIO 3440/Invertebrate Zoology
2. ENV 4460/Marine Ecology
3. One field course at a marine laboratory (e.g., Shoals Marine Laboratory)
4. Senior project in the general subject area of marine biology

Genetics:

1. BIO 3160/Genetics
2. BIO 4620/Molecular Biology
3. Two courses from the following list:
BIO 3170/Developmental Biology
BIO 3360/Microbiology
BIO 4720/Evolution
BIO 4760/Behavior Genetics
CHE 4610/Biochemistry
4. Senior project in the general subject area of genetics

Microscopy and Imaging:

1. BIO 3360/Microbiology
2. BIO 3530/Cell Biology
3. BIO 4650/Transmission Electron Microscopy and Cell Ultrastructure
4. BIO 4770/Scanning Electron Microscopy and Digital Imaging
5. Senior project involving microscopy and imaging techniques

Biochemistry:

1. CHE 4610/Biochemistry
2. BIO 4620/Molecular Biology
3. Two courses from the following list:
BIO 3360/Microbiology
BIO 3530/Cell Biology
CHE 3150/Chemical Instrumentation and Analytical Methods
4. Senior project in the general subject area of biochemistry

Minor in Biology

The purpose of the biology minor is to encourage students who are majoring in other disciplines to follow their interest in biology by completing a coherent program of study. Interested students must submit a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under "Forms") to the coordinator of the Biology Board of Study. Upon admission to the biology minor, a student is assigned a minor advisor who will assist in designing an appropriate program.

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Biology

A total of 20 credits in biology, including two of the following courses:

1. BIO 1510/Human Anatomy and Physiology I:
Anatomy and Physiology
2. BIO 1520/Human Anatomy and Physiology II:
Physiology and Nutrition
3. BIO 1550/General Biology I
4. BIO 1560/General Biology II
5. A biology-related section of FRS 1200/Science in the Modern World

Additional courses needed to complete 20 credits are to be selected in consultation with the biology minor advisor:

- Courses may be chosen from any available biology courses for which the prerequisites are met.
- At least two courses must be at the 2000 level or above. Advanced courses for students not taking the General Biology sequence include the following (with permission of instructor):
BIO 2470/The Marine Biology of the Mediterranean
BIO 3160/Genetics
BIO 3250/Animal Physiology
BIO 3430/Vertebrate Zoology
BIO 3440/Invertebrate Zoology
BIO 4720/Evolution
BIO 4770/Scanning Electron Microscopy and Digital Imaging
ENV 3805/Conservation Biology
ENV 3820/Animal Behavior
ENV 4460/Marine Ecology
PSY 3660/Physiological Psychology

Chemistry Minor for Biology Majors

Many biology majors at Purchase qualify for a minor in chemistry. Biology majors who complete Biochemistry for the BS have already taken enough chemistry and need only submit the Application for a Program of Minor Study. Other biology students must take only one course beyond Organic Chemistry (e.g., CHE 3150, 3510, or 4610).

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/las/sciences/Biology/BiologyMinor.aspx.

The Biology Program: Courses

Human Anatomy and Physiology I: Anatomy and Physiology

BIO 1510 / 4 credits / Fall

Introduction to the organ systems of the human body, including the neuromuscular, skeletal, cardiovascular, respiratory, renal, and digestive systems. The physiological mechanisms of adaptation to exercise are also considered.

Human Anatomy and Physiology II: Physiology and Nutrition

BIO 1520 / 4 credits / Spring

Introduction to the human body, emphasizing general physiological processes. The body is studied from the viewpoint of homeostasis, concentrating on the relationship of food to the functioning living organism in health and disease. Topics of current interest, controversies, and myths are highlighted. BIO 1510 is not a prerequisite for BIO 1520.

General Biology I

BIO 1550 / 4 credits / Fall

Introduction to contemporary biology, covering cell structure and function, genetics, development, and molecular biology. This course is for science majors and premedical students; students with limited high school science and mathematics can satisfy college distribution requirements with BIO 1510, or 1520.

Corequisite for premedical students, biology majors, biochemistry majors, and environmental studies majors: BIO 1551

General Biology I Lab

BIO 1551 / 1.5 credits / Fall

Lab exercises on cell organization, cell division, genetics, enzyme kinetics, photosynthesis, and development, and the use of light microscopes, spectrophotometer, and chromatography. Required for premedical students, biology majors, biochemistry majors, and environmental studies majors.

Corequisite: BIO 1550

General Biology II

BIO 1560 / 4 credits / Spring

Second semester of an introduction to contemporary biology covering plant and animal morphology and physiology, ecology, behavior, and evolution. This course is for science majors and premedical students; students with limited high school science and mathematics can satisfy college distribution requirements with BIO 1510 or 1520. BIO 1550 is not a prerequisite.

Corequisite for premedical students, biology majors, and environmental studies majors: BIO 1561

General Biology II Lab

BIO 1561 / 1.5 credits / Spring

Vertebrate anatomy and physiology, and examination of selected plant and animal phyla through lab exercises, experiments, and field trips. Required for premedical students, biology majors, and environmental studies majors.

Corequisite: BIO 1560

Biology Freshman Seminar

BIO 1880 / 1 credit / Fall

This supplement to BIO 1550 introduces biology majors and undeclared potential majors to the Biology Program and faculty and assists students in planning and succeeding in their course of study. Required for all freshman biology majors enrolled in BIO 1550.

Corequisite: BIO 1550

The Marine Biology of the Mediterranean

BIO 2470 / 4 credits / Summer (offered in Italy)

An introduction to the oceanography and marine biology/ecology of the Mediterranean Sea. Topics include the history of and means by which scientists study the marine environment and its inhabitants; the diversity of life in the Mediterranean; various marine communities and their interconnections; and anthropogenic impacts on the marine communities. Lab and field exercises provide a hands-on introduction to the plants and animals of the Mediterranean.

Coral Reef Biology and Ecology

BIO 2850 and 3850 / 4 credits (per course) / Winter (offered in Honduras)

An introduction to biology and ecology of coral reefs, using snorkeling or scuba diving. Extensive field work, observations of living organisms, projects, lectures, and labs. Topics include reef coral biology and identification; field sampling; reef monitoring; threats to reefs; reef inhabitants (invertebrates, fish, sea turtles, algae); dolphins and whales; mangroves and sea grasses; local culture, history, and environment; substance and process of science.

Note: This course involves scuba diving and snorkeling. It will be possible to learn to scuba dive during the program or to complete the open-water dives for a scuba course taken before the program. Scuba divers must be certified by a nationally recognized organization. All students must be physically capable and healthy enough for field work, snorkeling, and boat work; able to swim and willing to snorkel or scuba dive in the ocean and from boats; and have a physician's certification of adequate health and physical fitness to participate in course activities.

Prerequisite for BIO 2850: None; limited to sophomores, juniors, and seniors in disciplines other than the natural sciences

Prerequisite for BIO 3850: BIO 1550 and 1560; limited to sophomores, juniors, and seniors majoring in a natural science discipline

Biology Program Seminar

BIO 2890 / 2 credits / Fall

Introduces biology majors and potential majors to the field of study, to the faculty, to the opportunities available to students and graduates, and to necessary computer and writing skills. Programs are presented by biology faculty members and include readings of relevant scientific papers, associated writing assignments, labs, and field trips. Required for all biology majors and potential majors immediately following BIO 1550 and 1560, and for all transfer students.

Prerequisite: At least one semester of BIO 1550 or 1560

BIO 3160 / 4 credits / Fall

Basic but intensive survey of the mechanisms of heredity, covering gametogenesis, mutagenesis, chromosome mapping, transmission genetics, and an introduction to population genetics. The lab is optional.

Prerequisite: BIO 3530

Genetics Lab

BIO 3161 / 1.5 credits / Fall

Lab and statistical exercises employing Drosophila, human, and plant material, selected to complement the lecture course.

Corequisite: BIO 3160

Developmental Biology

BIO 3170 / 4 credits / Spring

Lecture course examining patterns and processes of animal development from fertilization to organogenesis in vertebrates and invertebrates. Emphasis is placed on the genetic control of development and on molecular and cellular mechanisms of differentiation and morphogenesis. A term paper on a current research area is required. The lab is optional.

Prerequisite: BIO 3530 and CHE 1550 and 1560

Developmental Biology Lab

BIO 3171 / 1.5 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Lab studies on the embryology of the sea urchin, frog, chick, and pig, as well as slime mold development, gametogenesis, regeneration, insect development, and gene expression.

Prerequisite or corequisite: BIO 3170

Animal Physiology

BIO 3250 / 4 credits / Fall

Lecture course examining the major organ systems of the vertebrates. Topics include neurophysiology and sensory biology, muscle contraction, cardiovascular physiology, respiratory physiology, osmoregulation, and digestion. Physiological adaptations of vertebrates to extreme environments (e.g., high altitude and aquatic hypoxia) are also discussed.

Prerequisite: BIO 1550, 1560, and 3530, and CHE 1550 and 1560

Animal Physiology Lab

BIO 3251 / 1.5 credits / Fall

Lab course on vertebrate (animal and human) physiology. Topics include neurophysiology and sensory biology, muscle contraction, cardiovascular physiology (anatomy, blood pressure, EKG), respiratory physiology, exercise physiology, fluid balance, and osmoregulation.

Prerequisite or corequisite: BIO 3250

Field Biology of Local Landscapes

BIO 3280 Refer to ENV 3280 in Environmental Studies Courses for description. Biology majors may count BIO 3280 toward the lab studies requirement, but not as an upper-level biology elective.

Microbiology

BIO 3360 / 5.5 credits / Spring

Lecture and lab course examining the anatomy and life processes of microorganisms with emphasis on bacteria and viruses. Topics include macromolecular aspects of growth, expression of genetic information, ecological adaptations, and infection and immunity. Lab exercises require time in addition to the scheduled period.

Prerequisite: BIO 3530 and CHE 1550 and 1560

Vertebrate Zoology

BIO 3430 / 5.5 credits / Spring

Lecture and lab course examining the evolution of the major groups of vertebrates and emphasizing the interrelationship of vertebrate form, function, and environment in extinct and extant groups. Topics include locomotion, respiration, circulation, osmoregulation, and sensory physiology. The required lab covers anatomy, morphology, behavior, and evolution of vertebrates and includes studies at the American Museum of Natural History, the Bronx Zoo, the Norwalk Maritime Center, and Greenwich Audubon.

Prerequisite: BIO 3530

Invertebrate Zoology

BIO 3440 / 5.5 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly, Fall)

A survey of the biology of freshwater, marine, and terrestrial invertebrates. Considers structure, function, development, evolution, ecology, and phylogenetic relationships. The required lab includes examination of representative species and some field trips to study living invertebrates in natural environments.

Prerequisite: BIO 3530

Cell Biology

BIO 3530 / 4 credits / Fall

Cellular organization and function, and molecular genetics, with emphasis on eukaryotic cells. Topics include cellular genomes; replication and maintenance of genomic DNA; RNA and protein synthesis, processing, and regulation; macromolecular structure and processes of organelles; vesicular transport; cytoskeleton; the cell surface; cell signaling; and cell cycle. Students prepare a paper based on current literature in the field. Required for all biology majors immediately following BIO 1550 and 1560.

Prerequisite: BIO 1550 and 1560

Prerequisite or corequisite: BIO 2890 and CHE 1550

Coral Reef Biology and Ecology

BIO 3850 Refer to BIO 2850 for description.

Biology Junior Seminar

BIO 3890 / 3 credits / Spring

A series of seminars and exercises on basic skills for research, literature review, scientific writing, and communication. Each biology faculty member presents a seminar on his or her own research, illustrating possibilities for senior projects. Students choose a senior project topic and sponsor and prepare a formal research proposal. Required for all junior biology majors before beginning the senior project; generally taken after completion of BIO 3530 and two advanced electives.

Prerequisite: BIO 2890

Independent Study and Tutorial

BIO 3900 and 4900 / 1–3 credits / Every semester

Students with special interests may study independently under the sponsorship of a qualified faculty member. Independent study in general subjects is permitted if the board of study offers no formal course covering the material. Independent study in advanced or highly focused studies may be undertaken after a student has completed two 3000- or 4000-level courses in biology with a grade of B or higher. Independent study may not be substituted for a course in the “biology course” category. A student may register for BIO 4900 only after completing BIO 3890.

Biology Internship

BIO 3980 / 1–3 credits / Every semester

Opportunities to work in research laboratories, both at Purchase and other institutions, can be arranged for a student in an area of scientific or career interest. This course may not be substituted for a course in the “biology courses” category; when appropriate, it may be used to satisfy a lab study requirement.

Prerequisite: Two 3000- or 4000-level biology courses

Immunology

BIO 4560 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Lecture course examining both the humoral and cellular immune systems. Topics include antibodies; cellular immunity; immunogenetics; inflammation and resistance to bacterial and viral infection; immunoprophylaxis, immunodiagnostics, and immunological diseases, including hypersensitivity (allergy); autoimmunity; and immunodeficiency. Students prepare a paper based on current literature in the field.

Prerequisite: BIO 3530

Recommended but not required (one of the following): BIO 3160, BIO 3360, BIO 4620, CHE 4610

Molecular Biology

BIO 4620 / 4 credits / Spring

Structure, function, and regulation of genes at the molecular level. Topics include transcription; RNA processing; involvement of RNA in protein synthesis; DNA replication, mutation, and repair; gene cloning; DNA sequencing; PCR amplification; and applications of recombinant DNA technology (including gene therapy). Students prepare a paper on a topic in the current literature and present a seminar to the class.

Prerequisite: BIO 3530

Corequisite: CHE 1550

Transmission Electron Microscopy and Cell Ultrastructure

BIO 4650 / 6 credits / Fall

Lecture and lab course covering the techniques of transmission electron microscopy and the principles of cell ultrastructure. Lectures consider the structural organization of the cell and its organelles. Labs include practical instruction in the basic techniques required for the preparation and examination of biological materials. A written exam, project, and report are required.

Prerequisite: BIO 3530 and permission of instructor

Evolution

BIO 4720 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly, Fall)

A survey of historic, observational, and experimental evidence for past and present processes of biological evolution. Familiarity with the principles of genetics is assumed. Each student presents one seminar on an appropriate topic or organism and submits a fully documented term paper.

Prerequisite: BIO 3530

Recommended prior or concurrent studies: BIO 3160

Behavior Genetics

BIO 4760 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The study of genetic determinants of animal behavior. Each student presents at least one seminar and submits a term paper. Topics include the inheritance of monogenic and polygenic traits; disruptive and stabilizing selection for behavioral traits; ethological and psychological isolation; and assortative mating as it pertains to a variety of animals, including humans.

Prerequisite: BIO 3160 or permission of instructor

Scanning Electron Microscopy and Digital Imaging

BIO 4770 / 5.5 credits / Spring

Preparation and examination of biological and other materials for scanning electron microscopy. Lectures consider theoretical aspects of microscopy and imaging. Labs includes the techniques of tissue preparation; operation of the microscope; and digital image collection, image processing, and image analysis. Interpretation of micrographs is emphasized, and a project and report are required. A lab section is required, and students pay for some lab supplies.

Biology Learning AssistantBIO 4899 / 1–2 credits / Every semester

Students who have received a grade of B+ or higher in the relevant course are eligible for BIO 4899. Assignments may include tutoring students or assisting faculty in labs. This assistantship may not be substituted for a course in the “biology courses” category, but it is recommended for students anticipating graduate school. Four credits in BIO 4899 may be applied toward the minimum required for graduation.

Independent Study and TutorialBIO 4900 Refer to BIO 3900 for description.Senior Project*BIO 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Two-semester independent study (8 credits total) leading to a senior thesis. The project and thesis may take one of several forms.

Students may join in the faculty sponsor’s research, pursuing an identifiable problem in that context; choose a topic for critical review in the life science literature; or choose a topic in the history and philosophy of science. Students with a special interest not represented by a faculty member may find research project supervisors at other institutions, subject to approval of and sponsorship by a Purchase faculty member.

Prerequisite: 90 credits, BIO 3890, and three other advanced biology courses

Additional Courses

The following can also be used to satisfy biology course requirements:

CHE 4610/Biochemistry

CHE 4611/Biochemistry Lab*

*May be used by biology majors to fulfill an upper-level lab study

ENV 3070/Economic Botany

ENV 3120/General Ecology

ENV 3805/Conservation Biology

ENV 3820/Animal Behavior

ENV 4460/Marine Ecology

PSY 3660/Physiological Psychology

Biology Courses Available at Shoals Marine Laboratory

Purchase students may take a variety of marine-oriented courses at Shoals Marine Laboratory (www.sml.cornell.edu) during the summer and transfer credit to their Purchase transcripts. Substitutions of Shoals courses for biology program requirements are determined on an individual basis and should be approved in advance by the academic advisor. The introductory course at Shoals is Field Marine Science, a comprehensive, monthlong introduction to the marine environment with an emphasis on field work. A variety of more specialized courses is also available; details are available on the Shoals website.

The Chemistry BA Program

Chemistry occupies a key position in the modern sciences, influencing nearly every aspect of human enterprise, from agriculture, industry, and medicine to theoretical research on the origin and structure of the universe. It forms not only a basis for understanding non-living material systems—its traditional domain—but biological systems and many psychological processes as well. Ultimately, most phenomena in biology, medicine, geology, and environmental sciences can be stated in terms of the chemical and physical behavior of atoms and molecules. A major in chemistry not only serves students who intend to pursue a career in chemistry; it is also provides a sound foundation for related careers in such fields as medicine and environmental science, teaching, law, business, art conservation, and journalism.

About the Curriculum

The chemistry curriculum at Purchase is designed to introduce students to all of the principal areas of modern chemistry, including organic, inorganic, physical, biological, analytical, and environmental chemistry. A career in chemistry or a closely allied field demands that the individual evolve toward a self-teaching style of scholarly independence. The chemistry curriculum at Purchase provides a foundation from which this long-range educational goal can be achieved.

Freshmen are encouraged to consult members of the chemistry faculty, in addition to their freshman advisors, concerning questions about chemistry at Purchase, program planning, and careers in chemistry and related fields.

The Chemistry BA Program: Academic Requirements and Concentrations

To declare chemistry as a major, students are required to have passed General Chemistry I and II (or the equivalent courses for transfer students) with grades of C or higher. Other courses required for the chemistry major, including support courses but excluding the senior project, must be completed with a grade of C- or higher.

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all chemistry majors must complete the following requirements:

Chemistry Courses (47 credits)

A minimum cumulative 2.0 (C) GPA is required in all chemistry courses, excluding the senior project:

1. CHE 1550/General Chemistry I: 4 credits
2. CHE 1551/General Chemistry I Lab: 1 credit
3. CHE 1560/General Chemistry II: 4 credits
4. CHE 1561/General Chemistry II Lab: 1 credit
5. CHE 3150/Chemical Instrumentation and Analytical Methods: 5 credits
6. CHE 3310/Organic Chemistry I: 4 credits
7. CHE 3311/Organic Chemistry I Lab: 1 credit
8. CHE 3320/Organic Chemistry II: 4 credits
9. CHE 3321/Organic Chemistry II Lab: 1 credit
10. CHE 3510/Physical Chemistry I: 4 credits
11. CHE 3510.01/Physical Chemistry I Lab: 2 credits
12. A minimum of 4 credits of advanced chemistry electives, chosen from the following list:
 - CHE 3520/Physical Chemistry II: 4 credits
 - CHE 3740/Medicinal Chemistry: 3 credits
 - CHE 3900/Independent Study: 1–3 credits
 - CHE 4600/Bioorganic Mechanisms: 4 credits
 - CHE 4610/Biochemistry: 4 credits
 - CHE 4611/Biochemistry Lab: 2 credits
 - CHE 4800/Special Topics in Chemistry: 3 credits
 - CHE 4900/Independent Study: 1–3 credits
13. CHE 3890/Chemistry Junior Seminar: 2 credits
14. CHE 4880/Chemistry Senior Seminar I: 1 credit
15. CHE 4890/Chemistry Senior Seminar II: 1 credit
16. CHE 4990/Senior Project (two semesters): 8 credits

Support Courses (18 credits)

1. MAT 1500/Calculus I: 4 credits
2. MAT 1510/Calculus II: 4 credits
3. PHY 1510/Introductory Physics I: 4 credits
4. PHY 1511/Introductory Physics I Lab: 1 credit
5. PHY 1520/Introductory Physics II: 4 credits
6. PHY 1521/Introductory Physics II Lab: 1 credit

Biochemistry Concentration

Chemistry majors who choose this concentration conduct their senior project in the general subject area of biochemistry. The following courses are to be taken in addition to those required for the major:

1. BIO 1550/General Biology I
2. BIO 1551/General Biology I Lab
3. BIO 1560/General Biology II
4. BIO 1561/General Biology I Lab
5. CHE 4610/Biochemistry
6. CHE 4611/Biochemistry Lab
7. And one course from the following list:
 - BIO 3360/Microbiology
 - BIO 3530/Cell Biology
 - BIO 4620/Molecular Biology

Chemistry Education

The chemistry program has a variety of chemistry and related courses tailored to prepare students who are interested in pursuing careers as high school chemistry teachers. Upon completion, the courses allow students to proceed for a “one year” master’s degree in education at one of the SUNY/CUNY campuses and subsequent certification.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/las/sciences/Chemistry/MajorsAndConcentrations.aspx.

Minor in Chemistry

Students who are interested in the minor in chemistry must submit a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under “Forms”) to the coordinator of the Chemistry Board of Study.

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Chemistry

Five courses, as follows:

1. CHE 1550/General Chemistry I
2. CHE 1551/General Chemistry I Lab
3. CHE 1560/General Chemistry II
4. CHE 1561/General Chemistry II Lab
5. And three courses to be chosen from the following list:
CHE 3150/Chemical Instrumentation and Analytical Methods
CHE 3310 and 3311/Organic Chemistry I and Lab
CHE 3320 and 3321/Organic Chemistry II and Lab
CHE 3510/Physical Chemistry I
CHE 3520/Physical Chemistry II
CHE 4610/Biochemistry
CHE 3740/Medicinal Chemistry
CHE 4800/Special Topics in Chemistry

Many biology majors at Purchase automatically qualify for the minor in chemistry. For additional information, refer to Chemistry Minor for Biology Majors.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/las/sciences/Chemistry/Minor.aspx.

The Chemistry Program: Courses

General Chemistry I

CHE 1550 / 4 credits / Fall

The principles and applications of chemistry. Topics include the development of an atomic/molecular model, stoichiometry, interaction of light with matter, and the physical behavior of solids, liquids, and gases. The lab is required.

Prerequisite or corequisite: MAT 1150 or equivalent

Corequisite: CHE 1551

General Chemistry I Lab

CHE 1551 / 1 credit / Fall

This required lab emphasizes basic techniques in synthetic and analytical chemistry.

Corequisite: CHE 1550

General Chemistry II

CHE 1560 / 4 credits / Spring

A continuation of CHE 1550. Topics include chemical kinetics and equilibrium, electrochemistry, thermodynamics, acids and bases, and the chemistry of representative elements. The lab is required.

Prerequisite: CHE 1550

Corequisite: CHE 1561

General Chemistry II Lab

CHE 1561 / 1 credit / Fall

This required lab emphasizes basic techniques in synthetic and analytical chemistry.

Corequisite: CHE 1560

Chemistry for the Consumer

CHE 1600 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Designed to introduce non-science majors and the general public to chemistry and the impact of chemical technology on the quality of human life. Topics may include food chemistry, dyes and fibers, home products, alcoholic beverages, acid rain, air pollution, medicines, and beauty aids. Open to all students.

Chemistry and the Arts

CHE 1700 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A lecture/demonstration course, designed for nonscience majors, that surveys the usefulness of chemistry in the practice of art, art conservation, and art forensics. Topics include color and light, patinas, etching techniques, detection of forgeries, photography, and the preparation and safe handling of artists' materials. Hands-on experiences are included. Open to all students.

Chemical Instrumentation and Analytical Methods

CHE 3150 / 5 credits / Spring

The lecture covers general analytical chemistry, including gravimetric and volumetric analysis, solution chemistry, and an introduction to the theory and use of modern analytical instruments. The required lab acquaints students with general wet chemistry techniques and with instrumental methods of qualitative and quantitative analysis.

Prerequisite: CHE 1560

Organic Chemistry I

CHE 3310 / 4 credits / Fall

An introduction to the chemistry of carbon compounds. The structural theory is used to develop an understanding of the physical properties and chemical reactivity of organic compounds. Compounds are grouped according to structure, using a functional group approach. Reactions are organized according to similarities in mechanism, with an emphasis on electron flow. Infrared and NMR spectroscopy are also introduced.

Prerequisite: CHE 1560

Prerequisite or corequisite: CHE 3311

Organic Chemistry I Lab

CHE 3311 / 1 credit / Fall

Lab experience in organic chemistry, with an emphasis on microscale techniques.

Prerequisite or corequisite: CHE 3310

Organic Chemistry II

CHE 3320 / 4 credits / Spring

A continuation of CHE 3310. The course continues the functional group treatment of organic compounds and their reactions. Aromaticity, mass spectrometry, and retrosynthetic strategies are also covered.

Prerequisite: CHE 3310 (with a grade of C- or higher)

Corequisite: CHE 3321

Organic Chemistry II Lab

CHE 3321 / 1 credit / Spring

Continued study of the spectroscopic methods for structure determination of unknown compounds. Synthetic methods for the preparation of interesting compounds are emphasized.

Corequisite: CHE 3320

Organic Chemistry Bridge to Biochemistry

CHE 3350 / 2 credits / Spring

Provides a bridge from CHE 3310 and 3311 to CHE 4610. Students become acquainted with the functional groups not presented in CHE 3310 and 3311. Emphasis is on the role of these functional groups in biological systems. Coverage of reaction mechanisms is minimal, except as they pertain to biological systems.

Prerequisite: CHE 3310 and 3311

Physical Chemistry I

CHE 3510 / 4 credits / Spring

A lecture course introducing the principles of chemical thermodynamics and chemical dynamics. Applications in chemical equilibria, phase equilibria, properties of solutions, chemical kinetics, and transport properties are included.

Prerequisite: CHE 3320, PHY 1520, MAT 1510

Physical Chemistry I Lab

CHE 3510.01 / 2 credits / Spring

Lab experience in the areas of chemical thermodynamics, phase and chemical equilibria, and reaction kinetics.

Prerequisite or corequisite: CHE 3510

Medicinal Chemistry

CHE 3740 / 3 credits / Spring

An introduction to how drugs are designed and the molecular mechanisms by which drugs act in the body. Covers the basic principles and techniques of medicinal chemistry, including drug administration and metabolism, as well as specific topic areas within medicinal chemistry (e.g., opium analgesics and adrenergic receptor antagonists).

Prerequisite: CHE 3320

Chemistry Junior Seminar

CHE 3890 / 2 credits / Spring

Students complete a senior research proposal, which is submitted to the chemistry faculty for review and approval. Students also attend research seminars presented by faculty and guest speakers. Required for juniors majoring in chemistry.

Independent Study and Tutorial

CHE 3900 and CHE 4900 / 1–3 credits / Every semester

Students with special interests may study independently under the sponsorship of a faculty member in the board of study. Independent study in general subjects is permitted if the board of study offers no formal course covering the material. Independent study may not be substituted for any specific requirement.

Chemistry Internship

CHE 3980 / 1–3 credits / Every semester

Opportunities to work as apprentices in research labs at other institutions (industrial or academic) can be arranged in an area of scientific or career interest.

Bioorganic Mechanisms

CHE 4600 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The mechanisms by which enzymes catalyze reactions in biological systems are examined. Examples may include how a synthase catalyzes a Claisen condensation or a dehydratase catalyzes an elimination reaction in the biosynthesis of fatty acids. Stereochemical, kinetic, and thermodynamic aspects of enzymes are also covered. Also offered as BCM 4600.

Prerequisite: CHE 3320 and 4610

CHE 4610 / 4 credits / Fall

An introduction to the structure, function, and metabolism of the four classes of biomolecules: proteins, carbohydrates, lipids, and nucleic acids. Topics include molecular biology; the structure, regulation, and kinetics of enzymes; and the structure and function of vitamins.

Prerequisite: CHE 3320

Biochemistry Lab

CHE 4611 / 2 credits / Fall

Practical hands-on experimental techniques for isolation and analysis of the four classes of biomolecules: proteins, carbohydrates, lipids, and nucleic acids. Required for biochemistry majors.

Prerequisite: CHE 4610

Special Topics in Chemistry

CHE 4800 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Advanced-level special topics in chemistry are examined. Topics are determined by staff and student interest.

Prerequisite: CHE 3510 or permission of instructor

Chemistry Senior Seminar I and II

CHE 4880 and 4890 / 1 credit (per semester) / I: Fall; II: Spring

Faculty, visiting scientists, and seniors in chemistry present results of current research projects. Students are graded on the basis of oral presentations of senior project results made to the faculty and their peers.

Independent Study and Tutorial

CHE 4900 Refer to CHE 3900 for description.

Chemistry Senior Project

CHE 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Two-semester independent study (8 credits total) leading to a baccalaureate thesis. The student defines and conducts an independent lab project. The work is conducted in the lab of a chemistry faculty member.

Prerequisite: 90 credits, CHE 3895

The Economics BA Program

The economics major at Purchase College is designed to give students:

1. a rigorous understanding of economic theory and its historical development
2. the ability to apply theory to important real-world problems
3. the analytical skills needed to succeed in a highly competitive economy

The economics faculty has an unusual breadth of teaching, research, and policy perspectives rarely found in liberal arts colleges. This provides students with an exposure to contemporary Austrian, behavioral/experimental, Keynesian, and neoclassical theoretical approaches, and to a wide range of policy issues concerning the role of government, economics and the arts, cities and culture, and international issues (e.g., U.S. trade policy and development in the Third World). These may be studied in regular courses and in tutorials and independent studies. In every case, the faculty is dedicated to developing each student's ability to think critically, write clearly, and conduct research.

Students majoring in economics are also encouraged to pursue internships and study abroad programs during their four years at Purchase.

Many of our alumni pursue graduate training in economics, public policy, business or law; others want a broad-based liberal arts education in economics, but do not pursue advanced work after graduation. Alumni of the economics program have gone on to successful careers in a variety of fields, including finance, journalism, the arts, education, government, law, and entrepreneurship.

The Economics BA Program: Academic Requirements

Math Fluency for Economics Majors

Math fluency is a prerequisite for ECO 1500, 1510, 3010, and 3260.

Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all economics majors must complete the following requirements (48–52 credits):

1. Two introductory-level theory courses (8 credits); a grade of C or higher is required in each:
ECO 1500/Macroeconomic Theory I
ECO 1510/Microeconomics I
2. Two intermediate-level theory courses (8 credits):
ECO 3010/Macroeconomic Theory II
ECO 3260/Microeconomics II
3. One statistics course: PSY 2320/Behavioral Statistics (4 credits)
4. ECO 3070/Econometrics or
ECO 3360/History of Economic Thought (4 credits)
5. Four electives in economics* (12–16 credits)
*Refer to the list below for examples.
6. ECO 4880/Economics Senior Seminar I: 2 credits
7. ECO 4890/Economics Senior Seminar II: 2 credits
8. ECO 4990/Senior Project in Economics (must be taken for two semesters): 8 credits

Economics Electives

The following are examples of elective courses in economics. New courses may be added to this list every year.

ECO 2085/Arts and Entertainment in Economics
ECO 2223/Economies of Latin America
ECO 2280/Environmental Economics
ECO 2300/Business Economics
ECO 2350/Labor Economics
ECO 2550/Law and Economics
ECO 3100/Cities, Culture, and Economy
ECO 3190/Money and Banking
ECO 3195/Financial Economics
ECO 3200/The Global Economy
ECO 3330/Cultural Economics
ECO 3400/Business, Government, and Society
ECO 3600/Behavioral Economics

Additional notes for economics majors:

1. In addition to the grade requirement in the two introductory courses, economics majors must maintain an average GPA of 2.0 (C) or higher in required courses, but not necessarily in any one course.
2. These requirements should, where possible, be taken in the years appropriate to their numbers: 1000-level in the freshman year, 2000-level in the sophomore year, etc. In addition to the required courses, there are many exciting opportunities for economics-related internships in the business, government, and nonprofit sectors.
3. It is highly recommended that the senior thesis be written in a subject area in which a student already has some knowledge through prior coursework.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/socsci/economics/AcademicRequirements.aspx.

Minor in Economics

A minor in economics is awarded to any student who completes at least five economics courses. This great flexibility permits students to design their own program around any series of economics courses of interest to them.

Students interested in the minor should submit a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under “Forms”).

Members of the economics faculty assist students in designing their individualized minor. It is recommended that students begin their minor with one or more of the two introductory-level courses: ECO 1500 and ECO 1510.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/socsci/economics/Minor.aspx.

The Economics Program: Courses

Math Fluency Prerequisites: Please note that math fluency is a prerequisite in some economics courses. In such cases, all students must satisfy this requirement before enrolling in the course.

Macroeconomic Theory I

ECO 1500 / 4 credits / Every semester

An introductory course on modern theory of the causes of unemployment, inflation, economic growth, and a strong or weak dollar. The course treats the economy as a system and examines the ways in which its behavior can be influenced by policy (e.g., the monetary policy of the Federal Reserve Board, fiscal policies of Congress and the Administration).

Prerequisite: Math fluency

Microeconomics I: The Principles of Human Action

ECO 1510 / 4 credits / Every semester

A practical introduction to the logic of human action with applications to daily life. This course traces the implication of choice in the face of scarcity and imperfect knowledge. Topics include the nature and value of cost, the spontaneous emergence of social order, demand-supply analysis, theory of markets, and public policy.

Prerequisite: Math fluency

Arts and Entertainment in Economics

ECO 2085 / 4 credits / Spring

A survey course that reviews economic and financial aspects of the film, music, performing arts, sports, radio, and broadcasting industries. Also offered as AMG 2085.

Economies of Latin America

ECO 2223 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An overview of economic conditions in Latin America and the Caribbean, with a focus on competing strategies for national and regional development. Topics include the consequences of the region's deepening immersion in the global economy; its investment, trade, and labor-market ties to the U.S. economy; and the roots of its principal socioeconomic conflicts.

Globalization: Film and Lecture Series

ECO 2225 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Does globalization, the dynamic force of the current global economy, promote or impede global development? Using films, lectures, and selective readings, this course examines the arguments for and against globalization. Topics may include the role of U.S. foreign policy in underdeveloped countries; the impact of the International Monetary Fund, World Bank, and global corporations; gender and development; the politics of global food production; the historical impact of colonialism and imperialism; cultural imperialism; and the nature of the current American empire.

Negotiation and Bargaining

ECO 2250 / 4 credits / Fall

Relying on both experimental bargaining (economics) and negotiation (psychology and management) literatures, this course identifies several mechanisms that lead to different outcomes in negotiation processes and provides a broad overview of past research. Students choose a particular area of interest and develop a more in-depth review of previous research in that area.

Prerequisite: One course in statistics

Environmental Economics

ECO 2280 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Economics can help define, address, and solve many environmental problems. This course provides students with a set of conceptual tools that are useful in addressing environmental issues like pollution and pollution abatement, the conservation of natural resources, environmental regulation, and the political economy of environmentalism. Also offered as ENV 2280.

Prerequisite: ECO 1510

Recommended: A prior course in economics

Business Economics

ECO 2300 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

This course provides the basic analytical tools that are helpful in guiding business and managerial decision-making in various kinds of markets. Topics include production and cost theory, competitive and monopolistic pricing, and how to interpret econometric and statistical data.

Prerequisite: ECO 1510

The Great Transformation: Money, Business, and Markets

ECO 2320 / 4 credits / Every year

A study of the social and economic history of the great transformation of European civilization from the preindustrial world to the era of industrialization and the shifts in the ideas, ideologies, and social and economic policies that accompanied it.

Labor Economics

ECO 2350 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines different theories of the labor market (neoclassical, institutional, feminist, and political economy) and the history of the labor movement in the U.S., including changes in labor law. Other topics include recent changes in the structure of labor markets, patterns of unionization, the role of gender, immigration, and the impact of changes in business organization on the labor movement.

Law and Economics

ECO 2550 / 4 credits / Every year

Students apply the basic concepts of economics to examine the formation, structure, processes, and consequences of law and legal institutions. The interactions between the legal process and the market process are studied with respect to policy. Topics include intellectual property, environment protection, bankruptcy, tort law, regulation, and property rights.

Prerequisite: ECO 1500 or 1510

EconometricsECO 3070 / 4 credits / Spring

An introduction to econometric theory and methods. Particular emphasis is placed on multiple regression techniques widely used in economic research. These include hypothesis testing, choice of functional form, distributed lags, instrumental variable estimation techniques, dummy variables, and two-stage least squares. Problems associated with autocorrelation, heteroscedasticity, and multicollinearity are also discussed.

Prerequisite: An introductory statistics courseGame Theory*ECO 3080 / 4 credits / Spring

An overview of game theory concepts with emphasis on how successful outcomes of decisions in economics and other disciplines are influenced by the behavior of others. Examples include the "prisoner's dilemma" and a Nash equilibrium. Students develop analytical tools that allow them to formally analyze outcomes in strategic situations.

Prerequisite: ECO 1510Macroeconomic Theory II*ECO 3010 / 4 credits / Fall

A continuation of ECO 1500. Treating the entire economy as a system, contemporary economic theories are introduced to explain: what causes economic growth and a strong or weak dollar; how spending decisions interact with national money and bond markets to affect interest, inflation, and unemployment rates; and how economic performance in one country can affect other countries.

Prerequisite: ECO 1500, LWR 1110, and math fluencyCities, Culture, and Economy*ECO 3100 / 4 credits / Fall

Is there a common set of social institutions or environments that gives rise to both successful urban economies and flourishing arts and culture? Proposing that such a set exists, this course attempts to identify it; traces its implications for cultural and economic development; and explores the interrelations of capitalism, cities, and culture. While areas of culture and society are addressed, the analytical framework is that of economics and political economy.

Prerequisite: ECO 1510Money and Banking*ECO 3190 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Details the history and functions of banks and financial institutions. Topics include the evolution of banking, the importance of banking in a community, the functions of banking (credit, deposit, and payment), the Federal Reserve System, and current issues and trends in the industry.

Prerequisite: ECO 1500Financial Economics*ECO 3195 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Topics include the economic role of financial markets and the major financial institutions operating in these markets, principles of security pricing and portfolio management, security exchanges and investment banking, the capital asset pricing model, securitization, option pricing, and derivatives.

Prerequisite: ECO 1510The Global Economy*ECO 3200 / 4 credits / Fall

A policy-oriented examination of current events in international economic relations. Topics include global economic interdependence; the politics and economics of U.S. trade policy; regional trading blocs; European monetary union; reform in transitional economies; U.S.-Japan and U.S.-E.U. economic relations; roles of the International Monetary Fund, World Bank, and World Trade Organization; and debt burdens of developing countries. A background in economics is not required.

Microeconomics II: Tools for Problem SolvingECO 3260 / 4 credits / Fall

Further elaboration and discussion of topics in microeconomics, including applications of decision-making under asymmetric information, market power, common law, politics, and the impact of time and uncertainty on choice.

Prerequisite: ECO 1510 or permission of instructor, and math fluencyCultural Economics*ECO 3330 / 4 credits / Fall

Examines the economics of the cultural sector, including differences between U.S. and European policies of government support. Other topics include intellectual property rights, including copyright; emerging trends in art and online; artists' labor markets (e.g., are artists poor? why do superstars exist?); the economics of religion; and the economics of language.

Prerequisite: An introductory course in economics or permission of instructorExperimental Economics*ECO 3340 / 4 credits / Fall

An introduction to experimental methods in economics. Students test some of the standard economic theories learned in previous courses and confirm them (or not) based on evidence derived from experiments.

Prerequisite: ECO 1510 and PSY 2320History of Economic Thought*ECO 3360 / 4 credits / Spring

Examines the evolution of economic thought from the late 19th century to the present. Topics include the rise of neoclassical theory, the Keynesian critique of orthodoxy, and the later revisions by Keynesians and post-Keynesians. Students may also examine recent contributions in the Marxian tradition.

Prerequisite: An introductory course in economics or permission of instructor

Business, Government, and Society

ECO 3400 / 4 credits / Fall

An examination and critique of the U.S. government's objectives and policies concerning business and other social institutions, from the perspective of their influence on individual incentives. Topics vary, but typically include public policies on poverty, urban planning, business, regulation, and antitrust.

Prerequisite: ECO 1510

Behavioral Economics

ECO 3600 / 4 credits / Fall

An introduction to behavioral economics that examines how the economic decisions of economic agents are influenced by cognitive, emotional, and social forces, and how these decisions influence resource allocation and well-being in ways that are often at variance from the analysis of standard economics. Topics include hyperbolic discounting, choice architecture, hedonic pricing, and public policy.

Prerequisite: ECO 1510

Independent Study and Tutorial

ECO 3900 and 4900 / 1–4 credits / Every semester

Faculty are available for independent study and tutorials on a selected basis in areas not covered by coursework. This may also involve teaching and research assistantships.

Economics Internship

ECO 3980 / variable credits / Every semester

This internship provides students with the opportunity to gain real-world experience in the business or nonprofit organization of their choice.

ECO 4800–4807 Refer to LIU Courses for information.

Economics Senior Seminar I and II

ECO 4880 and 4890 / 2 credits (per semester) / I: Fall; II: Spring

This required, two-semester seminar assists seniors in undertaking the research and writing of their senior thesis. It focuses on the fundamentals of producing a good senior thesis, selected current issues in economic theory and policy that may be relevant to the research topics chosen by students, research tools available to those conducting economic research, and improvement of writing skills.

Corequisite: ECO 4990

Independent Study and Tutorial

ECO 4900 Refer to ECO 3900 for description.

Senior Project in Economics

ECO 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Students are required to submit a senior project in order to complete the major in economics. Students work with individual faculty members to develop a project design that focuses on some substantive or methodological problem in economics. Must be taken for two semesters (8 credits total).

Corequisite: ECO 4880 (Fall) and 4890 (Spring)

The following courses are offered by the Long Island University's Hudson Graduate Center at Westchester (www.liu.edu/cwis/west/) through an articulation agreement with Purchase College. Enrollment is limited to students majoring in economics and permission of instructor is required. For descriptions of these courses, please visit or contact LIU's Hudson Graduate Center at Purchase.

ECO 4800/Financial Accounting
 ECO 4801/Corporate Financial Management
 ECO 4802/Principles of Management and Leadership
 ECO 4803/Marketing Management
 ECO 4804/Money, Banking, and Capital Markets
 ECO 4805/Managerial Communications
 ECO 4806/Business Statistics

The Environmental Studies BA Program

Making a Difference: The Natural World and Human Society

Environmental scientists understand the scope and severity of the problems facing human society. We also now recognize the importance of considering people's beliefs and preferences in the search for solutions to preserve the natural systems on which all life relies.

The environmental studies BA program at Purchase College reflects this new, interdisciplinary focus on the interactions among the sociopolitical, economic, and ecological systems where the natural world and human society overlap. This new approach offers challenges and opportunities for those motivated to help improve the health of our environment and the quality of human existence.

The program culminates in the senior project—a research project undertaken in collaboration with a faculty member. Senior research projects vary widely in topic and method, but all incorporate a common theme: environmental impacts cannot be addressed without consideration of human society.

The Environmental Studies BA Program: Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, environmental studies majors must complete the following requirements (77 credits). In addition to the foundation and synthesis courses, students must choose a concentration in either ecology or policy. Students are encouraged to complete the requirements for a minor in a cognate field, selected in consultation with the student's academic advisor. Electives count toward the general degree requirement of 120 total credits. Electives at the 3000- and 4000-level count toward the general degree requirement of 45 upper-level credits.

Required Foundation and Synthesis Courses

The required core of the environmental studies curriculum consists of the following foundation and synthesis courses. Grades earned in these courses must average at least 2.0 (C):

- ENV 1500/Introduction to Environmental Science
- BIO 1550/General Biology I
- BIO 1551/General Biology I Lab
- BIO 1560/General Biology II
- BIO 1561/General Biology II Lab
- PSY 2320/Behavioral Statistics

 PED 1105/Scuba or
 PED 1120/Rock Climbing
- ENV 3880/Environmental Studies Junior Seminar
- ENV 3980/Internship in Environmental Studies (at least 2 credits)
- ENV 4990/Senior Project (two semesters)

Ecology Concentration

- CHE 1550/General Chemistry I
- CHE 1551/General Chemistry I Lab
- CHE 1560/General Chemistry II
- CHE 1561/General Chemistry II Lab
- Electives (12 credits):

Students must complete at least 12 credits in elective courses, chosen from the following. Please note that some of these courses have prerequisites and/or corequisites. New and reinstated courses may be added to the following list; students interested in taking elective courses not listed below should check with their faculty advisor before registering.

Minor in Environmental Studies

Students who are interested in the environmental studies minor should submit a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, “under Forms”) to the coordinator of the Environmental Studies Board of Study.

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Environmental Studies

A minimum of 20 credits, as follows:

1. ENV 1500/Introduction to Environmental Science
2. ENV 2720/Geology or
ENV 3120/General Ecology
3. ENV 3030/Environmental Policy or
ENV 3300/Environmental Regulations
4. At least two additional environmental studies courses, at least one of which must be upper level

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/las/sciences/EnvStudies/Minor.aspx.

The Environmental Studies Program: Courses

Introduction to Environmental ScienceENV 1500 / 4 credits / Fall

A survey of the physical, biological, and cultural dimensions of current and past environmental problems. The nature of scientific inquiry and principles that apply to the study of the environment are covered, with emphasis on developing facility in interpreting environmental data. Includes one mandatory Saturday field exercise.

Computer Applications in the SciencesENV 2030 / 3 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Introduces techniques for advanced use of software commonly employed in the analysis and presentation of lab and field data. Microsoft Office (Excel, Word, PowerPoint), image analysis (ImageTool, Gap Light Analyzer), and high-end presentation software (SigmaPlot) are covered.

Prerequisite: Sophomore standing or permission of instructorIntroduction to Renewable Energy*ENV 2040 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Renewable energy sources—including solar-thermal, photovoltaic, wind, wave, hydrogen, biomass, and geothermal energies—are discussed. The course outlines current practices as well as limitations—engineering, economic, social, and ecological—of extracting useable energy. Topics include practical solutions on both the large scale and the scale of the individual homeowner.

Environmental JusticeENV 2080 Refer to POL 2080 in Political Science Courses for description.Culture, Consumption, and the City*ENV 2165 Refer to SOC 2165 in Sociology Courses for description.Environmental Sociology*ENV 2255 Refer to SOC 2255 in Sociology Courses for description.Art and the Environment*ENV 2260 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A participatory course that explores how the environmental art movement in North America has evolved from depicting the environment as subject to incorporating it as a medium and targeting it as intended audience. Students learn about major artists, their key works, and their influence on the ecosystems that inspired them. Material is drawn from the disciplines of art history, ecological restoration, and environmental policy.

Environmental EconomicsENV 2280 Refer to ECO 2280 in Economics Courses for description.Physical Geography*ENV 2300 / 4 credits / Spring

Location and local landscape influence natural resource availability, biome type, and agricultural potential. This course explores the earth's physical processes to understand the important links between geography and ecosystems. Students examine relationships between landforms, climatic variations, erosion processes, vegetation patterns, and hydrology. While this course focuses on the United States, broader linkages are made to regions around the world.

Environment and Sustainable Development in South AsiaENV 2410 Refer to ANT 2410 in Anthropology Courses for description.Geology*ENV 2720 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

The lecture covers interactions among the lithosphere, atmosphere, biosphere, and hydrosphere. Topics include the formation and subsequent alteration of earth materials, geologic hazards, global change, glaciation, and plate tectonics. Lab work includes identification of rocks and minerals, interpretation of topographic and geologic maps, structural geology, and landform analysis.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 or its equivalent, or permission of instructorPhilosophy of the Environment*ENV 2820 Refer to PHI 2820 in Philosophy Courses (School of Humanities) for description.Birds: Literature, Ornithology*ENV 2850 Refer to LIT 2850 in Literature Courses: 1000–2999 (School of Humanities) for description.Environmental Policy*ENV 3030 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

The environment has become increasingly significant in national and international politics. This course examines the key concepts, players, and issues in environmental policy. Students evaluate the contributions by scientific, political, economic, and social systems to the generation of environmental policy. Environmental topics include population growth, natural resource use, global climate change and energy, endangered species protection, and pollution. Also offered as POL 3030.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 or POL 1570, and junior standing or permission of instructorEnvironmental Impact Assessment*ENV 3045 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

A practical guide to the quantitative assessment of potential impacts to the environment from a proposed development project. Topics include basic federal and New York State SEQRA (State Environmental Quality Review Act) requirements; use and interpretation of maps; and assessments related to physical, biological, and socioeconomic components. Students work as teams (using the map room, library, and computer resources) to prepare a sample Environmental Impact Statement related to ongoing development near the campus.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 or BIO 1560, and junior standing or permission of instructor

Economic BotanyENV 3070 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

An introduction to botany with an emphasis on interactions between people and plants. Topics include plant structure and function, evolution of major plant lineages, modern plant systematics, plant-animal interactions, the history of agriculture and plant domestication, ethnobotany, and a survey of economically important plant families.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 and BIO 1560, or permission of instructorCorequisite: ENV 3071Economic Botany Lab*ENV 3071 / 1 credit / Alternate years (Spring)

Lab work includes field trips.

Corequisite: ENV 3070General Ecology*ENV 3120 / 5 credits / Fall

A rigorous examination of classical and emerging concepts of ecology. Topics include life histories, population growth, competition, sexual selection, symbiosis, predation, disturbance and succession, energy flow and material cycling, biogeography, and conservation ecology. Lab work includes field trips.

Prerequisite: Math fluency, ENV 1500, and BIO 1560, or permission of instructorGeographic Information Systems (GIS)*ENV 3150 / 4 credits / Fall

An introduction to one of the most widely used computer tools in environmental science. Used for storage, display, and analysis of spatially related data, this digitized mapping system is of primary importance in fields like land use planning, wildlife management, conservation biology, pollution monitoring, and geological resources. Students learn the ArcView system and become experienced in its use with a variety of data.

Prerequisite: Junior standing and a working knowledge of Windows, or permission of instructor*Recommended:* ENV 1500GIS Certification Lab*ENV 3153 / 1 credit / Spring

Provides reinforcement and additional development of key technical skills acquired during ENV 3150. Students engage in a series of self-paced, online, instructor-supported learning modules that assess their proficiency in applying Geographic Information System (GIS) technology. Upon completion, students receive third-party certification of their abilities from ESRI, the world's leading manufacturer of GIS software.

Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing, and ENV 3150 or permission of instructorAdvanced Spatial Analysis with Geographic Information Systems (GIS)*ENV 3155 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Advanced spatial analysis includes practical methods used in environmental, social, and technical disciplines to define spatial patterns, detect temporal changes, and make predictions. The course includes practical case studies from environmental data assessment, hydrologic modeling, environmental monitoring, and groundwater risk assessment. Topics include GIS data gathering and compilation, principles of spatial analysis and geoprocessing, 3-D modeling, and preparation of maps and GIS reports.

Prerequisite: ENV 3150 or practical knowledge of the ArcView GIS software, and junior standingRestoration Ecology*ENV 3220 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

An introduction to the new synthetic discipline of restoration ecology, which attempts to mitigate human impacts on the environment. Topics include the effects of different disturbances on natural and human-modified ecosystems and the methods used to restore ecosystem function in degraded areas. Examples are drawn from diverse terrestrial and marine systems.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 or BIO 1560 or permission of instructorPsychology of Sustainability*ENV 3230 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The role of psychology in building a sustainable future is examined by studying the attitudes, behaviors, and ethics associated with critical environmental problems. Readings and class discussions apply psychological theories and empirical work to such topics as perception of environmental risk, environmental justice and conflict resolution, and psychological benefits of sustainability.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 or PSY 1530Environmental Education*ENV 3240 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Prepares students to become communicators and teachers of environmental values, concepts, and issues. Topics include environmental and educational philosophies, basic components of environmental literacy, teaching methods, cognitive development, effective practices for the classroom and nature center, informal education practices, reviews of local environmental education programs, and the daily activities of professionals in a variety of environmental education careers.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 and at least sophomore standing, or permission of instructorEcology of Urban Environments*ENV 3250 / 4 credits / Every year

Traces the evolution of the modern city, with emphasis on ecological issues including human population growth, urban wildlife ecology, energy, and material flows. These principles are used to consider the future of the city. The three focal cities are New York, Baltimore, and Phoenix.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 and junior standing, or permission of instructorEnvironmental Journalism*ENV 3260 Refer to JOU 3260 in Journalism Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Field Biology of Local LandscapesENV 3280 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

Learn to identify local flora and fauna, use taxonomic keys, record field observations, interpret local landscapes, and conduct biological surveys. Off-campus field trips develop competency in these professionally valuable skills and provide opportunities to learn about a variety of ecosystems. The biota studied includes vertebrates, flowering plants, ferns, and butterflies. Some bird classes begin at 7:00 a.m. Also offered as BIO 3280.

Prerequisite: BIO 1560 and junior standingEnvironmental Regulations*ENV 3300 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

Acquaints students and environmental professionals with basic domestic and international environmental regulations and policies used by enforcement/regulatory agencies and donor/lender institutions. Specific federal acts include NEPA, Clean Air, Clean Water, RCRA, Superfund/CERCLA, TSCA, and FIFRA.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 and junior standing, or permission of instructorTropical Ecosystems*ENV 3420 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Winter, in Costa Rica)

A field-based course in Costa Rica, surveying the diversity of tropical ecosystems and the challenges of balancing development and conservation. Students visit rainforest, dry forest, cloud forest, marsh, paramo, and agroecosystems, including coffee and banana plantations. The history and current state of conservation in the country are addressed in discussions with Costa Rican park guards, farmers, and foresters. Limited to sophomores, juniors, and seniors with a GPA above 2.5. Must be in good enough physical condition to hike 1–2 hours with a backpack. Also offered as LST 3420.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 or BIO 1560 or permission of instructorWatershed Science*ENV 3640 / 5 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

The lecture establishes relationships between changes in terrestrial landscapes and changes in the chemical, physical, and biological characteristics of associated freshwater systems. Lab work provides technical proficiency in standard methods for assessing the sources and impacts of pollution in freshwater environments. Throughout the semester, land-use decisions are discussed within the context of public policy.

Prerequisite: Junior standing and either ENV 1500, ENV 3720, or CHE 1560Natural Resources*ENV 3700 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Principles associated with the development and management of natural resources, including fossil fuels. Topics include sustainability, environmental and social implications of exploiting the natural environment, and renewable resources.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 or permission of instructorAquatic Pollution*ENV 3720 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Examines the sources and impacts of pollution in freshwater and marine environments, including eutrophication, pathogens, pesticides, heat, heavy metals, oil, acid rain, and plastics. The effects are examined through the lens of ecology.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 or BIO 1560 and junior standing, or permission of instructorHuman Ecology*ENV 3800 / 3 credits / Spring

An interdisciplinary review of the reciprocal relationships between culture and environment in both traditional and complex societies. Past human-induced environmental degradation provides lessons applicable to current problems. Topics include the Green Revolution; cultural change and population trends; traditional vs. industrial food production; and the impact of global change, concepts of sustainability, and the commons. Also offered as ANT 3801.

Prerequisite: Junior standing or permission of instructorConservation Biology*ENV 3805 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

The decline in biodiversity is a serious (and perhaps irreversible) threat to the biosphere. This course covers concepts and questions in a new synthetic discipline, which focuses on biodiversity protection. Beginning with the origin, patterns, and maintenance of biodiversity, the class explores the values of biodiversity, the nature of the threats to biodiversity, the demography and genetics of small populations, strategies to protect biodiversity, and ethical and legal bases of conservation efforts.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 and BIO 1560 and junior standing, plus at least one upper-level BIO or ENV electiveAnimal Behavior*ENV 3820 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

An evolutionary approach that addresses questions about the development, physiological basis, functional value, and evolutionary history of behaviors. Topics include foraging and antipredator behaviors, reproductive strategies of males and females, communication, habitat relationships, and sociobiology.

Prerequisite: BIO 1560 or permission of the instructorCorequisite: ENV 3821Animal Behavior Lab*ENV 3821 / 1 credit / Alternate years (Spring)

Labs, films, and field trips illustrate concepts and research methods. One weekend field trip required.

Corequisite: ENV 3820Environmental Studies Junior Seminar*ENV 3880 / 3 credits / Spring

Prepares students for conducting research in environmental studies. Presentation of faculty research, analysis of research papers and proposals, and guest lecturers accompany student development of a senior project research proposal. Required for all environmental studies majors.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 and junior standing

ENV 3900 and ENV 4900 / 1–3 credits / Every semester

Students with special interests may study independently under the sponsorship of a qualified faculty member. Independent study in general subjects is permitted if the board of study offers no formal course covering the material. Independent study may not be substituted for any course specifically required. It may be substituted for one lab study or for one 4000-level course required by the board of study.

Internship in Environmental Studies

ENV 3980 / 2–4 credits / Every semester

Students are introduced to techniques and strategies for applying theory to real-world problems. The internship also helps students make informed career decisions and provides contacts for potential postbaccalaureate employment.

Prerequisite: Junior standing

Marine Ecology

ENV 4460 / 5 credits / Alternate years

This advanced course surveys the organizing ecological principles that structure all marine communities. The lecture and lab synthesize information from all levels of organization (organism, population, and community). Through texts and primary literature, students examine the biotic and abiotic factors controlling the abundance and distribution of marine organisms. Lab work is coupled with field experimentation and observation.

Prerequisite: ENV 1500 and BIO 1560 and junior standing, or permission of instructor

Tutorial

ENV 4900 Refer to ENV 3900–4900.

Senior Project

ENV 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Two-semester independent study (8 credits total) leading to a senior thesis. The project and thesis may take one of several forms.

Students may join in the faculty sponsor's research, pursuing an identifiable problem; or choose a topic for critical review in the literature.

Students with a special interest not represented by a faculty member may find research project supervisors in another board of study or at another institution, subject to approval of and sponsorship by a Purchase faculty member.

Prerequisite: 90 credits and ENV 3880

The Mathematics/Computer Science BA Program

The mathematics/computer science program offers a BA program that combines mathematics with computer science, as well as an undergraduate minor. It is designed to introduce students to the principal areas of mathematics and computer science, with an emphasis on applications. Requirements for the major include some choices (for example, discrete mathematics for students aiming toward careers in computing vs. differential equations for students aiming toward careers in mathematics). However, all students acquire a strong foundation in the traditional areas of both disciplines. This serves to distinguish Purchase graduates from others with narrower backgrounds. Classes typically are small, and computer classes include closed labs (scheduled time to work in a computer lab with faculty present to provide guidance).

The Senior Project

The capstone experience is the senior project, a yearlong required research project undertaken by each senior in conjunction with a faculty mentor. Many of these projects are prepared for formal presentation at the annual Natural & Social Sciences Student Symposium.

Topics from recent years include:

- "Extreme Math": An Introduction to Optimization Theory
- Use of the Processing Language on Mobile Devices
- M.C. Escher: Mathematician and Illusionist (Use of Google SketchUp)
- High Performance Computing with Linux and Beowulf Class Clusters
- Degree Sequences of Multigraphs
- Computer Animation: Larry Spotter
- Programming Android Applications
- Lessons Learned: Remedies for Today's Financial Institutions
- Two Problems in Graph Theory
- Ancient Egyptian Mathematics: Its Birth and Influence on Today's Society

In addition, students can gain important experiences as teaching assistants for courses, research assistants on projects, technical assistants in the campus technology services department, and by completing off-campus internships. Student work has appeared in the Annals of Discrete Math, Graph Theory Notes of NY, and Journal of Computing at Small Colleges.

A Dynamic, Innovative Curriculum

The program undergoes continual review and change. Recent additions include:

- an introductory programming course focusing on games
- a revised discrete mathematics course with such topics as encryption algorithms

- a course on server-side programming, including hands-on lab work using open-source software
- an advanced topics course in mathematics featuring abstract algebra and point-set topology
- an advanced topics course in computing featuring social media, visualizations, and complexity
- courses on robotics and mobile media

The program provides a wide variety of courses that satisfy the core curriculum and SUNY general education requirement in mathematics, as well as required and elective courses for students majoring in natural science disciplines and in new media.

About Our Alumni

Recent graduates have earned or are pursuing advanced degrees at such institutions as Columbia University, Binghamton University, the City University of New York Graduate Center, New York University, Pace University, the University of Chicago, the University of New Hampshire, and the University of Pennsylvania. Alumni are also engaged in careers in a variety of fields, including education, software development, and finance.

The Mathematics/Computer Science BA Program: Academic Requirements

Students majoring in mathematics/computer science usually begin with a three-semester calculus sequence: Calculus I, II, and III. Students seeking placement beyond Calculus I should consult with a member of the faculty. Placement is determined by interviews and transcripts. Precalculus is offered for those lacking the necessary background for Calculus I.

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, students majoring in mathematics/computer science must complete each of the following requirements; a grade of C- or higher is required in these courses, excluding the senior project:

1. MAT 1500, 1510, and 3150/Calculus I, II, and III
2. MAT 1520 and 1540/Computer Science I and II
3. MAT 3170/Linear Algebra
4. One of the following courses:
 MAT 3120/Discrete Mathematics
 MAT 3160/Differential Equations
5. Four upper-level electives (16 credits) in mathematics/computer science. One of the four electives may be fulfilled by a tutorial or independent study.
6. Two science courses
7. MAT 4880 and 4890/Mathematics Senior Seminar I and II
8. MAT 4990/Senior Project (two semesters)

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/las/sciences/Math/Requirements.aspx.

Minor in Mathematics/Computer Science

This minor is designed to introduce students to the methods, content, and applications of modern mathematics and computer science. Students interested in the minor should submit a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under “Forms”) to the coordinator of the Mathematics/Computer Science Board of Study.

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Mathematics/Computer Science

Five courses, as follows:

- a. MAT 1500/Calculus I
- b. MAT 1520/Computer Science I
- c. MAT 1510/Calculus II or MAT 1540/Computer Science II
- d. Two mathematics/computer science electives (3000-level or above)

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/las/sciences/Math/Minor.aspx.

The Mathematics/Computer Science Program: Courses

Math Fluency Prerequisites: Please note that math fluency is a prerequisite in some mathematics/computer science courses. In such cases, all students must satisfy this requirement before enrolling in the course.

Communicating Quantitative Information

MAT 1020 / 4 credits / Every semester

Students learn basic concepts in quantitative reasoning (numbers, probabilities, basic statistics) and the creation, use, and evaluation of quantitative information (databases, searches, spreadsheets, interactive graphics). This course prepares students for civic engagement by using current events (past and current news stories) as the focal point of study. Students are required to post to online discussion forums, complete short writing assignments, and make presentations on topics involving quantitative reasoning.

Mathematics for Contemporary Life

MAT 1060 / 4 credits / Every semester

Students learn basic concepts in quantitative reasoning (number systems, data manipulation, basic statistics), with emphasis on problem solving using computational methods. This course uses a textbook and focuses on applications related to consumer issues to develop computational and problem-solving skills. Students learn to transform data into information and apply quantitative methods to evaluate information and solve real-world problems.

Precalculus

MAT 1150 / 4 credits / Every semester

Prepares students with limited backgrounds in high school mathematics for calculus. Topics include absolute values and inequalities, the properties of functions, graphs, logarithms, fractional exponents, and trigonometry.

Programming Games

MAT 1420 / 4 credits / Every semester

An introduction to traditional and modern concepts in programming. Traditional concepts covered include variables, expressions, data representation, logic, arrays, functions, and pseudo-random numbers. The modern concepts include graphical constructs and event-driven programming. This course uses familiar games as projects, because implementing games requires an understanding of important programming concepts and attention to the human-computer interface. Also offered as NME 1420.

Calculus I

MAT 1500 / 4 credits / Every semester

The basic concepts of the differential and integral calculus. Focus is on the applicability of these topics to an array of problems. The first course in a three-semester series.

Prerequisite: MAT 1150 or equivalent

Calculus II

MAT 1510 / 4 credits / Spring

A continuation of MAT 1500. Topics include differentiation and integration of logarithmic, exponential, and inverse trigonometric functions; techniques of integration; arc length; infinite series; and improper integrals. Applications include work, growth, and decay problems and volumes of solids of revolution.

Prerequisite: MAT 1500

MAT 1520 / 4 credits / Every semester

An introduction to problem solving, using computers. Emphasis is on programming, including the study of syntax, semantics, logical structures, graphics, and object-oriented programming. General topics of algorithm development, formulating problems, finding methods for computer solutions, differences among computer languages, and trends in the industry are also discussed. Experience is acquired through hands-on labs and several programming assignments. Also offered as NME 1520.

Computer Science II

MAT 1540 / 4 credits / Spring

A continuation of MAT 1520. While programming is the main focus, other concepts central to the field are introduced, including data representation, algorithms, recursion, Boolean logic, and some data structures. Some of the social, legal, and ethical issues related to computers are also investigated. Students have hands-on experience with multiple programming languages, including Processing, Python, and Java.

Prerequisite: MAT 1520 or equivalent

Introductory Statistics

MAT 1600 / 4 credits / Every semester

Statistics are used everywhere in the modern world. This course covers descriptive statistics, entailing measures of central tendency and dispersion, linear regression, and Pearson correlation; and inferential statistics, including normal distributions and hypothesis testing. Currently taught primarily online, with weekly exchanges of work between student and teacher using email and Moodle, with approximately three classroom sessions. Includes team projects; students must meet with their teams, and the classroom sessions are used for team presentations.

Prerequisite: High school algebra skills

Computer ArchitectureMAT 2700 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introduction to basic concepts in computer hardware, with a focus on personal computers. Topics include historical trends, Boolean logic and computer arithmetic, organization (CPU, cache, memory, bus, peripherals), instruction set design, interrupts and exceptions, and performance metrics. Students become familiar with the critical components of all computers, including embedded devices, and build a computer from standard parts.

Prerequisite: MAT 1520 or equivalentCreating Web Documents*MAT 2730 / 4 credits / Every semester

Interactive online media like the World Wide Web have revolutionized the way people communicate. Students who are familiar with computers and the Internet are introduced to tools and techniques for creating interactive documents. Topics include HTML authoring, Cascading Style Sheets, scripting languages, interaction techniques, data retrieval, and incorporating sound, video, and images in documents. Also offered as NME 2730.

Geometry and ArtMAT 2800 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The role of geometry in drawing, sculpture, and architecture is extensive. Topics include Euclidean plane and solid geometry, symmetry, tilings of the plane, projective geometry, and the golden ratio. The geometric basis of perspective is pursued in a historical setting.

Discrete MathematicsMAT 3120 / 4 credits / Alternate years

This course in combinatorics includes elementary probability, linear programming, difference equations, graph theory, and enumeration techniques.

Prerequisite: MAT 1150Calculus III*MAT 3150 / 4 credits / Fall

A continuation of MAT 1500 and 1510. Topics include polar coordinates, vectors in two and three dimensions, parametric equations, quadric surfaces, partial derivatives, multiple integrals, directional derivatives, gradients and their applications, and line integrals.

Prerequisite: MAT 1510Differential Equations*MAT 3160 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Many phenomena in scientific situations are characterized by differential equations. Topics include the mathematical formulation of problems and solution techniques, linear equations and systems, series methods, and nonlinear first- and second-order equations.

Prerequisite: MAT 3150Linear Algebra*MAT 3170 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Topics include linear equations, row reduction, matrix algebra, determinants, vectors in three dimensions, abstract vector spaces, dimension, linear transformations, eigenvalues, diagonalization, and applications to other sciences.

Prerequisite: MAT 1510Advanced Calculus*MAT 3210 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Topics include transformations and mappings; Jacobians; curves and surfaces; vectors and vector fields; gradient, divergence, curl, line, and surface integrals; Green's theorem; divergence theorem; Stoke's theorem; Lagrange multipliers; uniform convergence of series; and point-set topology.

Prerequisite: MAT 3150Probability and Statistics*MAT 3410 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Probability in discrete and continuous sample spaces, combinatorics, distributions, random variables, Poisson processes, and Markov chains, with applications to the natural and social sciences. Also includes mathematical bases of common statistical tests with applications, sampling, hypothesis testing, and distributions used in statistics.

Prerequisite: MAT 3150Creating User Interfaces*MAT 3440 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Introduces concepts and skills used in analyzing and designing interfaces for computer applications. As students study techniques and "rules of thumb," they discover that the design and implementation of each interface is a unique challenge, which requires creativity and consideration of technical, aesthetic, and psychological factors. Includes the use of XML, XSL, XHTML-MP, VoiceXML, and usability studies. Also offered as NME 3440.

Prerequisite: MAT/NME 2730 and MAT/NME 3525, or permission of instructorIntroduction to Unix and Modern Operating Systems*MAT 3450 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Unix and Windows 2000 represent a more sophisticated environment than the first generation of graphics-based operating systems. This introduction includes material from the perspective of the user, programmer, and designer. Emphasis is on the tools used for management and administration and the tradeoffs that affect operating system performance. Some coursework in the computer lab provides hands-on experience.

Recommended: A previous programming course (MAT 1520) or equivalentCreating Databases for Web Applications*MAT 3530 / 4 credits / Every year

Introduces concepts and tools used to build and operate applications that involve information stored in databases. Students analyze and plan databases using entity-relationship modeling and build database applications using both commercial and open-source tools. Includes discussion of database reliability, integrity, and robustness, and the evolving interplay of proprietary vs. open-source software. Also offered as NME 3530.

Prerequisite: MAT/NME 2730 and a programming course, or permission of instructor

MAT 3540 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Social software is explored both from technical and critical perspectives. Hands-on work in conceptualizing, designing, and developing social software projects is informed by examining the evolution of social software and its impact on society. Projects may range in complexity from simple Web sites to data-driven Web applications to real-time applications. Also offered as NME 3540.

Prerequisite: MAT/NME 2730 or permission of instructor

Numerical Analysis

MAT 3550 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The theory and implementation of numerical algorithms. Topics include interpolation, approximation, numerical solution of nonlinear equations, numerical integration, numerical linear algebra, and error analysis.

Prerequisite: MAT 3150 and programming experience, or permission of instructor

Introduction to Physical Computing: Getting Outside the Box

MAT 3560 Refer to NME 3560 in New Media Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.

History of Mathematics Seminar

MAT 3610 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students study topics in classical mathematics, beginning with the development of arithmetic, algebra, and geometry in Egypt, Babylon, and Greece from approximately 2000 B.C. to 300 A.D. The course continues with a brief look at Islamic mathematics, emphasizing the value of Hindu-Arabic numerals and efficient algorithms for basic arithmetical operations. The subsequent explosion of European mathematics, culminating with the calculus and its effects on technology, is also covered. The goal is to understand the mathematics as well as the social and historical impact of these developments. Limited to mathematics/computer science majors.

Prerequisite: MAT 1500 and 1510, and permission of instructor

Networking and Security

MAT 3650 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Covers the key conceptual and practical aspects of networking and security, which are increasingly important in the era of the Internet, Windows, and Unix. TCP/IP communications protocols are explored at multiple levels of the protocol stack. Performance and reliability issues are also studied, using campus Intranet and Internet connections as well as protocol analyzer and network management tools. Security topics include encryption, authentication, and the likely change from clear-text to Kerberos-type tools. Also offered as NME 3650.

Prerequisite: MAT/NME 1520 or equivalent

Advanced Security

MAT 3660 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Builds on the concepts of MAT 3650. Building and maintaining networks, servers, and individual workstations to prevent malicious interference are growing concerns. Topics include viruses, worms, spam, spyware, denial-of-service attacks, open-source vs. proprietary systems, and legal and international efforts.

Prerequisite: MAT 3650 or equivalent

Robotics

MAT 3670 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An introduction to concepts and technologies for applications in the physical world in which (a) motors, actuators, and sensors are critical devices and (b) real-world variability has significance not present in the virtual world of data manipulation. Topics include industrial robotics, spying, and ethical issues. During and outside of class, students build autonomous vehicles in teams. Robot sumo or interactive art installation are possibilities. Also offered as NME 3670.

Prerequisite: MAT/NME 1420 or 1520, or equivalent

Informatics in Biology and Medicine

MAT 3680 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

An overview of the field of biomedical informatics, combining perspectives from biology, medicine, and computer science. Topics include principles of acquisition and storage of biomedical data, principles of database management, the role of the Web in the medical and biological sciences, bioinformatics resources on the Web, elements of statistics and data mining issues, decision making and decision trees, and legal and ethical issues.

Prerequisite: An approved course that satisfies the core curriculum requirement in mathematics, or permission of instructor

Data Structures

MAT 3710 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Basic data structures, including stacks, queues, lists, and trees, are examined, and common operations on them are presented in the form of algorithms. Lectures and assignments are done in Java. Submissions in C++ are acceptable.

Prerequisite: MAT 1520 and 1540 or equivalent

Building XML Applications with Java

MAT 3745 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

XML is revolutionizing the way that data are shared and applications are deployed over the Web. This course introduces students who have experience with object-oriented programming in Java to tools and techniques used to create and manage XML documents and to the theory and practice of analyzing, designing, developing, testing, and deploying XML-based applications, using Java technologies.

Prerequisite: MAT 1540 or permission of instructor

Mobile Media

MAT 3765 Refer to NME 3765 in New Media Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.

Games for Change

MAT 3780 Refer to NME 3780 in New Media Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.

Independent Study and Tutorial

MAT 3900 and MAT 4900 / 1–3 credits / Every semester

Students with special interests may study independently under the sponsorship of a qualified faculty member. Independent studies in general subjects are permitted if the board of study offers no formal course covering the material. Independent study may not be substituted for any course specifically required, except with permission of the board of study.

Abstract Algebra

MAT 4180 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Groups, subgroups, cyclic groups, permutation groups, isomorphisms, external and internal direct products, fundamental theorem of finite abelian groups, cosets and Lagrange's theorem, normal subgroups, factor groups, group homomorphisms, rings, integral domains, ideals, unique factorization domains, and fields.

Prerequisite: MAT 3170 or permission of instructor

Topics in Advanced Mathematics

MAT 4225 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Topics are selected from (a) group theory: groups, subgroups, symmetric group, dihedral group, cyclic groups, Zn, cosets, homomorphism and isomorphism, and applications; (b) point-set topology: open and closed sets, limit points, Cauchy sequences, and Bolzano-Weierstrass theorem; and (c) analysis: axiom of continuity, least upper bounds, nested intervals, uniform continuity, Heine-Borel theorem, theory of integration, series, and uniform convergence.

Prerequisite: MAT 3150

Topics in Advanced Computing

MAT 4230 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Topics are selected from computability, complexity, artificial intelligence, machine learning, programming languages, data mining, informatics in biology and medicine, cryptography, and other application areas. This course does include topics in theoretical computer science, which has a strong mathematical component, as well as attention to current practical problems. Includes oral presentations by students on approved topics of their choosing.

Prerequisite: MAT 1540 or permission of instructor

Graph Theory with Applications

MAT 4410 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Topics include graphs, subgraphs, cographs, paths, cycles, connectivity, eulerian and hamiltonian graphs, adjacency matrices, trees, planarity, chromatic numbers, eccentricities, extremal graph theory, product graphs, and digraphs. Includes applications and a research project.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Computability

MAT 4520 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introduction to concepts and methods of theoretical computer science: what it means for something to be computable (finite state automata, formal languages, Turing machines) and how to measure resources used to solve problems (Big Oh notation, P, NP). This course brings together the two parts of the major in mathematics/computer science and provides historical background as well as insight into current issues.

Prerequisite: MAT 1540

Mathematics Senior Seminar I

MAT 4880 / 1 credit / Fall

Explores advanced topics in selected areas of mathematics. Includes required oral presentation by students. Required for seniors majoring in mathematics/computer science.

Mathematics Senior Seminar II

MAT 4890 / 1 credit / Spring

Explores advanced topics in selected areas of mathematics. Oral presentation by students required. Required for seniors majoring in mathematics/computer science.

Independent Study and Tutorial

MAT 4900 Refer to MAT 3900 for description.

Senior Project

MAT 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Two-semester independent study (8 credits total) leading to a baccalaureate thesis. The project and thesis may take one of several forms. Research may be carried out in a faculty member's area of interest and expertise. Library work may be done on a topic in mathematics or computer science, or on the history or philosophy of mathematics. A computer project may be written. Internships at companies that use a student's mathematical abilities or computer knowledge are also possible.

Physics Courses

Although a major in physics is not offered, the introductory physics courses required for biology and chemistry majors are offered, and some advanced physics courses are given as tutorials.

Introductory Physics I

PHY 1510 / 4 credits / Fall

Lecture course for students of both biological and physical science, as well as students of the humanities or social sciences with a background in high school physics or chemistry. Topics include kinematics, Newtonian dynamics, work and conservation of energy, mass-energy relationships, the laws of thermodynamics, and the kinetic properties of matter.

Prerequisite: MAT 1150

Corequisite for premedical students: PHY 1511

Introductory Physics I Lab

PHY 1511 / 1 credit / Fall

Demonstrations and participatory experiments are used to increase the student's working physical knowledge of the natural world.

Prerequisite or corequisite: PHY 1510

Introductory Physics II

PHY 1520 / 4 credits / Spring

A continuation of PHY 1510. Topics include electric and magnetic fields, electromagnetic waves, optics, and some ideas from modern physics.

Prerequisite: PHY 1510

Corequisite for premedical students: PHY 1521

Introductory Physics II Lab

PHY 1521 / 1 credit / Spring

Demonstrations and participatory experiments are used to make students familiar with gravitational and electromagnetic forces in nature and foundations of optics.

Prerequisite or corequisite: PHY 1520

The Physics of Sound and Light

PHY 1530 / 4 credits / Spring

The phenomena of light and sound, widely appreciated as primary media for artistic expression, have also played an important role in spurring scientific investigation of the world of nature. This course explores light and sound through their foundations in the theories of vibration and wave motion. With sound, the application to the production of musical tones is emphasized. The study of light ranges from the early investigations of Galileo, Newton, and Huygens to the work of Einstein in relativity and quantum theory. A paper is required, and some class sessions take place in the lab. A background in physics is not required.

The Political Science BA Program

Political science is known as the study of laws and governments, yet it includes much more. Why did the U.S. invade Iraq? Why do many U.S. citizens feel animosity toward immigrants? What are the advantages and disadvantages of globalization for developing countries? In what manner are human rights abused around the globe, and what can be done about it? What are the causes and consequences of political violence and state terrorism? What are the political aspirations of citizens in Muslim-populated countries? These are a few of the many interesting questions that a political science student explores at Purchase College.

The political science program offers students the opportunity to engage in a variety of courses in American, comparative, and international politics. Students also study age-old political questions concerning equality, rights, and justice and learn how to conduct political science research.

The political science program closely collaborates with other interdisciplinary programs at Purchase College, including Latin American studies, environmental studies, and gender studies. Because politics are intertwined with economic and social issues, many students choose to double-major in economics, sociology, history, or journalism. Members of the political science faculty have broad and diverse backgrounds, have won numerous awards, and have published more than 50 books and articles.

The major in political science is particularly designed for students who:

- are interested in exploring different social and political issues by taking a range of American and internationally-based courses, or
- want to have a focused study of human rights or Islam and the Middle East.

Students graduating with a degree in political science often enter public service, working for government agencies, nonprofit or nongovernmental organizations (NGOs), or elected officials. Many political science alumni enroll in law school or graduate programs that focus on international affairs, while others may enter the fields of teaching or journalism.

The Political Science BA Program: Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all political science majors must complete a minimum of nine courses with a grade of C or higher and an 8-credit senior project (40–45 credits total) as follows:

1. POL 1570/Introduction to U.S. Politics (3 credits; freshman year)
2. POL 2170/Political Theory I or
POL 2180/Political Theory II (4 credits; sophomore year)
3. POL 3500/Research in Political Science (4 credits; junior year)
4. An economics course (4 credits)
5. Two courses in U.S. politics and law, 2000-level or above (6–8 credits)
6. Three courses in comparative politics and international relations, 2000-level or above (9–12 credits)
7. POL 4885 and 4890/Political Science Senior Seminar I and II (2 credits)
8. POL 4990/Senior Project (must be taken for two semesters; 8 credits)

Note: In addition, students are expected to take courses appropriate to their specific interests in political science in order to fulfill degree requirements for upper-level coursework.

Optional Concentrations

New and reinstated courses may be added to the lists in the following concentrations. Students should consult their advisor to determine whether a new or reinstated course counts toward a specific concentration.

Concentration 1: Islam and the Middle East (42–47 credits)

Political science majors who declare a concentration in Islam and the Middle East must fulfill requirements 1 through 8 listed above. In meeting requirement 6, students in this concentration select four courses from the following list:

POL 2105/Citizens Living Under Islamic Laws
POL 2115/Islam: Culture and Politics
POL 2350/Free Speech, Heresy, and Gender in Islamic Societies
POL 3240/Gender Politics and Islam
POL 3430/Politics of South Asia
POL 3740/The Middle East

Concentration 2: Human Rights (42–47 credits)

Political science majors who declare a concentration in human rights must fulfill requirements 1 through 8 listed above. In meeting requirements 5 and 6, students in this concentration select four courses from the following list:

POL 2080/Environmental Justice
POL 3235/Globalization, Development, and Poverty
POL 3245/Gender and Health: International Issues
POL 3307/Politics and Memoir
POL 3315/Constitutions and Rights: U.S. and China
POL 3361/Cuba, Latin America, and the U.S.
POL 3390/Democratization: Latin America
POL 3570/Human Rights
POL 3573/Human Rights and Literature

Minor in Political Science

The minor in political science is designed to provide a broad knowledge of institutions, processes, and theories of politics in the U.S. and international context. Students interested in this minor should arrange a conference with the coordinator of the political science program, then submit a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under “Forms”).

Prerequisite: A minimum 2.0 (C) GPA

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Political Science

Five courses, to include:

- a. POL 1570/Introduction to U.S. Politics

- b. Plus four political science electives in the following two areas (two courses in each area):
1. United States politics and law
 2. Comparative politics and international relations

Related Minors:Environmental StudiesGender StudiesLatin American Studies

The Political Science Program: Courses

The West Meets the Non-WestPOL 1120 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of historical events, social movements, and intellectual ideas that have shaped modernity from 1500 to the present. The focus is on the evolution of ideas that have influenced both Western and non-Western civilizations.

Introduction to U.S. PoliticsPOL 1570 / 3 credits / Fall

An introduction to the institutional and ideological components of the American political system, with an emphasis on the broad spectrum of values and sources of power that, when taken together, support and challenge the foundations of American pluralism. Films, field trips, and guest lectures complement the standard classwork.

Governments and Politics WorldwidePOL 2010 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

An introduction to current political systems. The course examines political structures and processes (e.g., parliaments, political parties, elections, legislation, and formation of governments in different political systems) and analyzes the ideological foundations of these systems (e.g., liberalism, socialism). Discussions include social, economic, and political priorities set in each system; their strengths and weaknesses; and the impact of structural constraints.

Introduction to International RelationsPOL 2020 / 4 credits / Fall

Examines contemporary international relations from both theoretical and empirical perspectives. Topics include East-West conflicts and the Cold War; the balance of power; colonialism, the Vietnam War, and the North-South issues; and the emerging new world order.

Women and PoliticsPOL 2040 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Theoretical, historical, and empirical analyses of the relationship between women's private roles and socialization, and their integration into politics. Topics include changes in the laws affecting women, the impact of feminism on the quality of political discourse and political action, and the vexing problem of the "gender gap." Also offered as GND 2040.

West African Politics and LiteraturePOL 2070 / 4 credits / Fall

Using African novels and social science literature, both the insights of the artist and the analytic models of the social scientist are employed in the discussion of African politics and political systems. Topics include the impact of Western colonialism and imperialism on traditional African societies, the evolution of new African cultures, the widening gulf between elites and masses, and the role of the African storyteller in articulating African issues.

Environmental JusticePOL 2080 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An introduction to the impact of environmental laws and policies on the fair treatment of people of different races and incomes in the U.S. Global climate change, nuclear energy, and public responsibility for the environment constitute the center of a political and legal analysis of the relationship of citizens and government to the environment. Also offered as ENV 2080.

Citizens Living Under Islamic LawsPOL 2105 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Focusing on South Asia and the Middle East, this course examines how postcolonial Islamic states currently use "Islamic laws" to negotiate power and control with their citizens. Examples include Hudood, Zina, and blasphemy laws, which result in fatwas (religious decrees) that sometimes lead to extrajudicial killings. Also offered as GND 2105.

Islam: Culture and PoliticsPOL 2115 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

Islam, a popular world religion, is not well known or understood in the U.S. In the public mind, it is typically associated with violence, jihad, and terrorism. This course introduces the origin and main principles of Islam and analyzes its development as a civilization and a political ideology. Topics include secularism, women's rights, social justice, and democratization in relation to the philosophical and political divisions within Islam.

Race and PoliticsPOL 2130 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Decades after the civil rights movement of the 1960s, the United States remains a nation beset by racial inequalities, divisions, and tensions. This course examines some of the major issues in U.S. race relations today and their political expression. Also offered as SOC 2130.

Political Theory I: Plato to MachiavelliPOL 2170 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

The first half of a two-course survey of Western political thought. The course concentrates on the classical and medieval contributors to political discourse like Plato, Aristotle, Augustine, and Aquinas, and concludes with early modern thinkers like Machiavelli and Calvin.

Political Theory II: Hobbes to the PresentPOL 2180 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

The second half of a two-course survey of Western political thought. Themes characteristic of the last 500 years of political theory include liberalism, feminism, nationalism, and revolution. Theorists typically read are Hobbes, Locke, Rousseau, Mill, Marx, and a 20th-century theorist.

Politics and the MediaPOL 2210 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An examination of the media's impact on political life in the U.S. and its role in shaping public opinion. Both electronic and print media are surveyed and analyzed in terms of their impact on power, legal rights, and ethical obligations. Attention is also given to the media's influence on political parties and how it shapes political attitudes and influences elections.

The Dominican Republic:Between Latin America and the United States*POL 2230 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

The Dominican Republic was repeatedly invaded by Haiti in the 19th century, occupied by the U.S. in the 1910s and 1920s, and ruled by a brutal dictator for a generation. Today it is building the institutions of a democratic society. This course is divided into three parts: (1) Dominican history, from colonization to the 1980s; (2) contemporary issues like relations with Haiti, human rights, and economic development; and (3) Dominican migration and the U.S. Also offered as LST 2230.

Beyond Voting: Democracies, Elections, and ParticipationPOL 2340 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An in-depth survey of how redistricting, campaign finance laws, term limits, and other processes and laws have an impact on elections and affect democracy in the U.S.

Free Speech, Heresy, and Gender in Islamic SocietiesPOL 2350 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

In Islamic societies, heresy charges against women and men are leveled for different reasons, including Islamists' opposition to democracy, modernity, and women's education and their employment. Instances of heresy leveled by Muslims against Muslims are studied. Also offered as GND 2350.

Courts, Judges, and PoliticsPOL 2600 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The judicial process and the function of the courts in a modern democratic system. Using Supreme Court cases, documents, and readings from academic journals, the course examines how judges, lawyers, and litigants act and react to create both law and public policy.

America on FilmPOL 2610 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines American social and political history during the last half of the 20th century and the early 21st century as represented in films. Such topics as dissent, censorship, war and peace, and the role of government as creator and arbiter of culture serve as the conceptual center of the discussion. Also offered as SOC 2610.

Environmental PolicyPOL 3030 Refer to ENV 3030 in Environmental Studies Courses for description.Contemporary Revolutions*POL 3040 / 4 credits / Spring

Drawing on several historical cases and theoretical works, the course examines in detail the underlying causes of revolution, revolutionary strategies, and the aftermath of revolutions in the Third World.

Sex, Politics, and HealthPOL 3045 / 4 credits / Spring

Though people think of health as having biological roots, health and illness actually have social and political origins. This course examines women's health policy, the women's health movement, and the differences between the health care needs of men and women. Topics like access to the health care system, poverty, Medicaid/Medicare, managed care, breast cancer, women and violence, HIV/AIDS, and medical research are investigated. Also offered as GND 3045.

American Constitutional LawPOL 3050 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Introduces the historical and political debates that resulted in the adoption of the U.S. Constitution. Case law and collateral readings relevant to the construction of the U.S. constitutional government are used to explore theories of jurisprudence, structures of courts, aspects of litigation, the nature and scope of judicial review and constitutional adjudication, and the role of the judiciary in the maintenance of national power.

Recommended prior course: POL 1570U.S. Foreign Policy Since 1945*POL 3070 / 4 credits / Spring

A study of American foreign policy since the end of World War II. U.S. involvement in Vietnam serves as a case study for studying the Cold War, the war in Iraq, and the issue of terrorism, and analyzing how foreign policy has been formulated. Topics include the powers of the president vis-à-vis Congress in the formulation of foreign policy and the role of public opinion.

Race, Gender, and the LawPOL 3090 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The legal dimensions of race and sex discrimination are examined. Fourteenth Amendment decisions of the Supreme Court and related federal antidiscrimination law are the focus of study. Also offered as GND 3090.

Recommended prior course: POL 2040 or 3050

Immigration: Policies, Problems, and PoliticsPOL 3130 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

The United States prides itself on being a nation of immigrants, but has never made it easy for the newly arrived. This course examines the policies, problems, and politics affecting immigration to the U.S. today. Topics include causes of immigration, immigration law and the undocumented, and patterns of assimilation. Much of the focus is on issues affecting Westchester County: housing, employment, day laborers, education, and access to social services. Also offered as LST 3130.

Civil Liberties and Civil RightsPOL 3160 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An introduction to the constitutional doctrines of rights and liberties as they have been articulated through First Amendment decisions of the Supreme Court. Relevant political analyses of the impact of court decisions and federal legislation on individual rights are included.

Presidential PoliticsPOL 3230 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of the institution of the American presidency, its relationship to the other branches of government, and the significance of particular presidents' "stamp" on the office and U.S. policy. Topics include the impact of the media on the presidency, executive privilege, psychological explanations of presidential character, and the changing role of the president's spouse.

Gender Politics and IslamPOL 3240 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Changes in the status of women in Islamic societies are examined, with an emphasis on the diversity of both Muslim communities and the interpretation of sacred texts. Topics include the dominance of the male voice in interpretation; the "gendered" approach to Islam in Western societies; the economic and political impact of colonialism, the Cold War, globalization, and the Muslim elite; and the struggle by feminists and other women's rights groups. Also offered as GND 3240.

Gender and Health: International IssuesPOL 3245 / 4 credits / Fall

Examines health concerns on an international scale and analyzes how gender is interwoven with these concerns. The roles of international agencies are explored, with emphasis on their support (or lack thereof) of the health needs of various populations. The role of the U.S. in the implementation of programs through funding issues, restrictions on the use of funds (the "global gag rule"), and other strategies is also analyzed. Also offered as GND 3245.

Political Protest and IdeologiesPOL 3290 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

A survey of major political upheavals and belief systems that have shaped and shaken the modern world. In addition to the origins, social foundations, and variants of liberalism, socialism, communism, anarchism, fascism, and feminism, discussions include examples of anti-imperialist, antiracist, and nationalist movements and ideologies from Third World countries and ethnic minorities in the West.

Development and Politics of Latin AmericaPOL 3300 / 4 credits / Spring

An overview of major political structures, problems, and ideologies, concentrating particularly on South America. The first half of the semester discusses problems of land tenure, industrialization, and urbanization. The second half examines contemporary politics in detail, using one South American country as a case study. Also offered as LST 3300.

Politics and MemoirPOL 3307 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A study of memoirs by male and female authors, politicians, activists, and ordinary citizens describing childhood, communities, social changes, and revolutions. Works are drawn from South Africa, South America, Asia, Cuba, and the U.S. The rubric is the non-West's interaction with the West, a north-south divide.

Constitutions and Rights: U.S. and ChinaPOL 3315 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Focuses on the origins of rights in the U.S., with emphasis on judicial review and the judicial construction and interpretation of individual and human rights. Constitutional theories and practices used in U.S. constitutional courts and scholarship are examined. A comparative approach to constitutions and the development of transnational theories of human rights are then considered in the context of current changes in Chinese legal and political institutions and discourse.

Recommended prior course: POL 1570

United States/Latin American RelationsPOL 3340 / 4 credits / Spring

It is difficult to understand the culture and politics of Latin America, in particular the Caribbean basin, without examining the role of the U.S. While the U.S. has generally seen its role in Latin America as that of a protector, many Latin Americans have perceived the U.S. as a heavy-handed superpower. The first half of the course provides a historical overview of U.S. interests and interventions, and how these have shaped Latin American societies. The second half examines contemporary problems and issues. Also offered as LST 3340.

Cuba, Latin America, and the U.S.POL 3361 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

The course revolves around the international political and economic dynamics that have existed historically between the U.S. and Cuba.

Although the course emphasizes the post-1959 era (the Castro years), readings introduce students to the imperial relationship that evolved in the early 20th century. Topics include foreign policy, war, human rights, the U.S. embargo, and the politics of Fidel Castro. Also offered as LST 3361.

Democratization: Latin America

POL 3390 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

During the 1980s, Latin America struggled with dictatorial rule and civil war. Today, most countries in the region have elected governments. Taught as a seminar with student-led discussions, this course examines the idea of democracy; how democracy emerged in Europe and the U.S.; and the process, successes, and limitations of two decades of democratization in Latin America. Also offered as LST 3390.

Prerequisite: One course on Latin America (in political science, history, sociology, or anthropology)

Health Care Crisis

POL 3400 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Why does health care cost so much? Why are so many people without health insurance? Why do so many racial/ethnic disparities in health exist in the U.S.? These and other questions are examined as the current crisis in the U.S. health care system is investigated and proposals for reform are evaluated.

Politics of South Asia

POL 3430 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines the politics of Pakistan, India, Bangladesh, Kashmir, and Afghanistan. The British occupation from 1857 to 1947 is studied, together with the partition of Pakistan and India. Issues of religion, caste, gender, and militarization are an additional focus. Nuclear states, Pakistan, and India are also part of class discussions.

Polarized Politics: Congress

POL 3465 / 4 credits / Alternate years

While providing a comprehensive understanding of Congress, this course specifically examines the oversight and investigative role of Congress, the influence of political parties, and how elections and partisanship influence decision-making. Questions addressed include: How do the rules and norms that govern the House and the Senate differ? How has redistricting created a more polarized climate?

Prerequisite: POL 1570

Research in Political Science

POL 3500 / 4 credits / Every semester

Introduces scientific approaches to conducting research in political science. Topics and hands-on activities include formulating research questions, theses, and hypotheses; conducting library research and preparing literature reviews; identifying relevant methods and research designs; collecting and analyzing data; and reporting research findings.

Prerequisite: POL 1570 and any four additional courses required for the political science major, completed with a grade of C or higher

Society and Public Policy

POL 3565 Refer to SOC 3565 in Sociology Courses for description.

Human Rights

POL 3570 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Although human rights have become a significant theme in international relations, ethnic slaughter and political repression continue to afflict the world. This course examines relevant theoretical issues and practical problems, including: How are human rights viewed from different cultural, political, and religious perspectives? In a multicultural world, can common ground be found to address human rights? What is the relationship between sovereignty and the pursuit of human rights? Also offered as LST 3570.

Human Rights and Literature

POL 3573 / 4 credits / Spring

An exploration of various perspectives on human rights. Students examine some modern nation states in relation to geographies of identity and human rights. Global literature is read in colonial and postcolonial contexts that describe state control through the infringement of citizenship and rights of speech, thus violating basic human rights.

The Literature of Political Violence

POL 3580 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Discussions surrounding political readings that reflect ideological violence, the terror of state power, and the response to state power by individuals and groups. Historical and contemporary events are discussed (e.g., the Spanish Inquisition, the Nazis, military dictatorships, World War I, colonialism and imperialism in Africa, genocide in Rwanda, life and death in North Korea, presidential abuse of power in the U.S.).

Immigration Debated: A Seminar

POL 3665 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A detailed examination of theories, issues, and policy debates about immigration, taught in a seminar format with student-led discussions. In the first part, students examine general immigration issues, including history, impact on the economy, and traditional hostility toward immigrants. The main body of the course focuses on current immigration policy and reform, and the last part is built around student papers. Also offered as SOC 3665.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Politics and Religion in America

POL 3670 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Religion in America has been at the heart of politics from the Puritans to the Christian Coalition. This course addresses the historic role of religious thinking as a significant part of American political traditions (e.g., natural rights, civil liberties, liberal individualism). Students also investigate the contemporary emergence of religion-based political interests as formidable players in the construction of the nation's political agenda.

The Middle EastPOL 3740 / 4 credits / Fall

An analysis of the politics of Israel and Palestine. The struggle between Israel and Palestine and the involvement of Jordan, Syria, Egypt, Lebanon, and Saudi Arabia are covered, as well as the role of the U.S. Issues and potential solutions are discussed.

Money, Power, and DemocracyPOL 3780 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

The meaning of democracy is examined with a reference to theoretical and actual models of democratic states. The course investigates who controls the sources and instruments of power in a democratic state and how public policies are made. The limits and problems of contemporary liberal democracies are studied and compared to historical and contemporary alternatives. The problems of democratization in developing countries are also examined.

Independent Study and TutorialPOL 3900 / variable credits / Every semester

Faculty members are available for independent study and tutorials on a selected basis in areas not covered by regular coursework.

Internship in Political SciencePOL 3980 / variable credits / Every semester

Students identify relevant agencies, community groups, etc. that provide an opportunity to gain practical experience. Students work with an appropriate faculty member as the academic sponsor and the Career Development Center in the structuring of the internship agreement.

Political Science Senior Seminar I and IIPOL 4885 and 4890 / 1 credit (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

In this scholarly community of political science majors in their senior year, ideas and methodologies relevant to specific senior-project topics are probed. Two semesters are required (POL 4885 and 4890). Limited to political science majors.

Prerequisite (for POL 4890): POL 4885Corequisite: POL 4990Senior Project in Political Science*POL 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Students are required to submit a senior project in order to complete the major in political science. Students work with individual members of the faculty to develop a project design that focuses on some substantive or methodological problem of political science. Must be taken for two semesters (8 credits total).

Prerequisite: POL 3500, completed with a grade of C or higherCorequisite: POL 4885 (fall) and 4890 (spring)

The Premedical Studies Program

The premedical studies program at Purchase College provides each student with the basic courses needed to prepare for professional schools in medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine, and other allied health careers. The program's focus is on the preparation for success in the appropriate entrance examinations, and the application to and acceptance by the professional school. Although premedical students need not major in the sciences, many do and have found such programs as biology and chemistry to be a successful route.

Postbaccalaureate Premedical Studies

In addition to its undergraduate program, the School of Natural and Social Sciences welcomes students who already hold a bachelor's degree in another discipline and who wish to complete their science preparation for medical or other professional schools. The postbaccalaureate premedical studies program offers these students the academic coursework needed to prepare for professional exams and applications, internship or research opportunities, and advising through the Premedical Advisory Committee.

Basic Science Courses

All premedical studies students must complete Introductory Statistics and one year each of General Biology with labs, General Chemistry with labs, Organic Chemistry with labs, and Introductory Physics with labs. Some schools or professions may require additional courses, such as Biochemistry, Calculus, or Microbiology. Students are encouraged to survey the requirements of schools where they plan to apply to ensure that all requirements and most (if not all) recommended courses are included in their academic plan. In some cases, students interested in allied health careers may substitute certain other prerequisite courses at the discretion of the Premedical Advisory Committee.

Advanced Science Courses

In consultation with a premedical advisor, students select a minimum of two advanced courses based on their interests and/or deficiencies. Many medical schools either recommend or require certain advanced science courses. It is also beneficial to demonstrate the student's ability to successfully undertake more rigorous courses in the sciences, and the extra studies may improve the student's chances for success once enrolled in the professional school. In some cases, credit for prior academic work may be given for one or both of these courses at the discretion of the Premedical Advisory Committee.

Clinical or Research Experiences

Commitment to a medical career should be founded upon experiences that demonstrate knowledge of the actual realities of the medical professions, and should be based upon personal experiences. This requirement may be fulfilled by a variety of off-campus internship or volunteer clinical experiences, as well as previous or current employment. Internship opportunities may be explored through discussions with a faculty advisor or a counselor in the Career Development Center.

GPA Requirements

Students must maintain a 3.0 GPA in all related coursework at Purchase College. Postbaccalaureate premedical students who do not meet this average upon starting coursework at Purchase may begin under provisional terms but must maintain a 3.2 GPA after their first semester at Purchase.

Professional Entrance Examinations

Most professional schools accept applications during a six-month period, beginning in June and extending through the fall of each year, with entrance anticipated for September of the following calendar year. Students are encouraged to apply early, as statistics indicate greater success for early applicants, qualifications being equal. Because the results of August and September professional examinations are usually not available early enough for the fall admission decisions, students are encouraged to complete the science requirements before the end of the spring semester and take the Medical College Admissions Test (MCAT) during May or June.

Premedical Advisory Committee

Assistance for students is available from the Premedical Advisory Committee, which advises students on planning programs, choosing careers, and selecting and applying to schools. Students interested in health careers should seek out a member of the Premedical Advisory Committee as their academic advisor.

Premedical Student Responsibilities Before Interview

Students who want the assistance of the Premedical Advisory Committee must establish and manage their files through www.interfolio.com, a Web-based credential service used by the Career Development Center (CDC). Students should schedule a meeting with a counselor in the CDC, who will assist the student in establishing and maintaining their Interfolio.com credential file. It is the student's responsibility to consult with the CDC about Interfolio credential management well before the deadline and make certain that all materials, including letters and transcripts, are received on time. Before scheduling an interview with the Premedical Advisory Committee, students must have submitted the following materials to their Interfolio.com account:

1. Transcripts from all educational institutions; the Purchase College transcript must include at least four science courses
2. Letters of recommendation: a minimum of four letters; several should be from Purchase faculty
3. Entrance exam scores: may be completed after the committee interview but before the committee letter is finalized
4. Résumé
5. Autobiographical statement

Students with complete Interfolio files and acceptable GPAs are interviewed by the Premedical Advisory Committee. This interview also provides a practice experience to prepare the student for the medical school interview process: the faculty may be able to provide feedback and advice on ways to strengthen the student's application or interview skills. Interviews often take place in early April: student files must be complete early in the spring semester, and students must request a place on the interview schedule at the Career Development Center well in advance. For additional information, please consult with a counselor in the Career Development Center or a member of the Premedical Advisory Committee.

The Psychology BA Program

Psychology is the study of behavior and experience. As such, it includes topics as diverse as emotion, cognition, personality, social processes, psychobiology, psychopathology, and psychological development in children and across the lifespan. The psychology program at Purchase College offers basic and advanced courses, as well as research opportunities, in all of these areas. Regardless of the subject matter, there is a strong emphasis on the use of scientific methodology to pursue knowledge.

The psychology major is designed to provide and then build on the basic skills students need for critical analysis of empirical and theoretical material in the field and to provide a sophisticated understanding of the subject matter in a broad range of topic areas. This basic study is enriched by the perspectives drawn from courses in the related disciplines of biology, philosophy, and anthropology or sociology. The learning process culminates in the senior project, a yearlong independent research project conducted under the supervision of a faculty member.

In addition to the senior project, opportunities for hands-on experiences are available through supervised internships, teaching assistantships, and a practicum in child development, where students serve as assistants to teachers at the Children's Center on campus.

About Our Alumni

The psychology program provides a strong foundation for students who plan to continue their studies at graduate and professional schools. Our alumni are equipped to enter advanced degree programs in all areas of psychology as well as programs in education, medicine, social work, and law. Some students move directly into careers in mental health services, research, teaching, and early childhood education.

The Psychology BA Program: Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all psychology majors (except those concentrating in cognitive neuroscience) must meet the following requirements:

1. PSY 1530/Introduction to Psychology
2. PSY 2320/Behavioral Statistics
3. PSY 3550/Experimental Psychology*
4. PSY 3660/Physiological Psychology
5. Five electives in psychology (at least four upper-level)
 The following do not fulfill the electives requirement: independent studies, tutorials, internships, teaching assistantships, and PSY 3850/Practicum in Child Development. BPS 3000-level courses, offered by the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education, cannot be counted as upper-level electives (but one can be counted as the lower-level elective). Students may petition their academic advisor to have one upper-level psychology elective replaced by an upper-level elective in the liberal arts and sciences that is programmatically relevant.
6. One of the following biology courses:
 BIO 1510/Human Anatomy and Physiology I
 BIO 1550/General Biology I
 BIO 1560/General Biology II
7. One course in philosophy
8. One course in anthropology or sociology
9. PSY 3890/Psychology Junior Seminar*
10. PSY 4880 and 4890/Psychology Senior Seminar I and II
11. PSY 4990/Senior Project

Prerequisite: Advanced standing

Academic Requirements for the Concentration in Cognitive Neuroscience

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all psychology majors concentrating in cognitive neuroscience must meet the following requirements. Students who complete this concentration simultaneously earn a minor in biology.

1. PSY 1530/Introduction to Psychology
2. PSY 2320/Behavioral Statistics
3. PSY 3550/Experimental Psychology*
4. PSY 3660/Physiological Psychology
5. PSY 3745/Human Memory or
 PSY 3770/Cognitive Psychology
6. Two upper-level electives in psychology, chosen from the following:
 PSY 3405/Psychology of Music
 PSY 3715/Human Neuropsychology
 PSY 3845/Gender Development
 PSY 4180/Seminar on Neurocognitive Aging
 PSY 4680/Seminar on the Psychobiology of Mental Disorders
7. BIO 1510/Human Anatomy and Physiology I

8. BIO 1550/General Biology I
9. BIO 1551/General Biology I Lab
10. BIO 3250/Animal Physiology
11. BIO 3530/Cell Biology
12. CHE 1550/General Chemistry I
13. CHE 1551/General Chemistry I Lab
14. One course in philosophy
15. One course in anthropology or sociology
16. PSY 3890/Psychology Junior Seminar*
17. PSY 4880 and 4890/Psychology Senior Seminar I and II
18. PSY 4990/Senior Project

*Prerequisite: Advanced standing

Advanced Standing and Minimum Grade Requirements

Advanced standing is a prerequisite for PSY 3550/Experimental Psychology and PSY 3890/Psychology Junior Seminar. Psychology majors achieve advanced standing when they have completed three courses—PSY 1530/Introduction to Psychology, PSY 2320/Behavioral Statistics, and one psychology elective (lower or upper level)—with a grade of C+ or higher in each course.

Once advanced standing is achieved, psychology majors must earn:

1. a grade of C or higher in all required psychology courses, excluding the senior project, and in electives that are used to fulfill requirements other than advanced standing, and
2. a grade of C- or higher in the biology course

Students who do not meet these standards are required to retake or substitute courses as needed. Students who earn less than a C in PSY 3550/Experimental Psychology or PSY 3890/Psychology Junior Seminar must petition the Psychology Board of Study for permission to retake the course.

Transfer Students

The psychology program is carefully structured to prepare students to carry out their senior projects, and all students must complete a four-semester sequence of required courses after achieving advanced standing. Students who plan to transfer to Purchase College from another college should familiarize themselves with the degree requirements and the requirements for advanced standing and should meet with a member of the psychology faculty as early as possible during the application process.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/Sciences/Psychology/AcademicRequirements.aspx.

Minor in Psychology

The purpose of the minor in psychology is to provide students in other disciplines with the opportunity to broaden their understanding of psychology through a selection of introductory and advanced courses covering a wide range of topics within the field. Students interested in pursuing the minor in psychology must choose a faculty member in the Psychology Board of Study to assist in designing an appropriate program and have that advisor sign the Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under “Forms,” and in the Natural Sciences Office).

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Psychology

Five courses in psychology, as follows:

1. PSY 1530/Introduction to Psychology
2. Four electives, at least two of which must be upper-level (3000- or 4000-level)*

*The following do not fulfill the electives requirement: independent studies, tutorials, internships, teaching assistantships, and PSY 3850/Practicum in Child Development. Courses offered by the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education with BPS 3000-level numbers may be counted as lower-level (but not upper-level) electives.

Students must earn grades of C- or higher in each course used to satisfy the minor requirements. Because PSY 1530/Introduction to Psychology is a prerequisite for all upper-level courses in psychology, it should be taken early in the student’s program of study.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/Sciences/Psychology/Minor.aspx.

The Psychology Program: Courses

Introduction to Psychology

PSY 1530 / 4 credits / Every semester

Empirical and theoretical approaches to the basic physiological, cognitive, and social mechanisms underlying behavior. Topics include learning and conditioning; sensation and perception; memory, thinking, and language; psychological development; social processes; and personality and psychopathology. PSY 1530 is a prerequisite for all upper-level psychology courses, except when the course description notes otherwise.

Social IssuesPSY 2140 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

This course takes an interdisciplinary approach to a topic of broad interest or concern; examples include violence and terror, the global AIDS crisis, poverty, and racism. It is team taught by faculty members in at least two distinct disciplines. Lectures are supplemented by visual presentations and guest lectures.

Subtopic: Violence and Terror

Violence and terror are widespread and have many causes and consequences. This course examines different forms of violence through lectures, discussions, and a variety of media. The goals are to provide students with background on how violence and terrorism can be approached as areas of study; to expose students to a diverse range of sources, perspectives, and related topics; and to encourage a critical analysis and examination of pressing issues.

Psychology of EmotionPSY 2160 / 3 credits / Alternate years

The writings of classic and contemporary investigators provide the basis for examining theoretical and empirical issues within the area of human emotions. Topics include the expression of emotions; individual differences in emotional experience; the structure of emotion; and the interplay between emotions, cognition, and behavior.

Sensation and PerceptionPSY 2250 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An examination of the biological processes by which the sensory systems pick up information from the environment and the psychological processes by which that information is coded, transformed, and integrated to form perceptions. Emphasis is on the visual systems and visual perception. Aspects of perception in the visual arts and music are also discussed.

Behavioral StatisticsPSY 2320 / 4 credits / Every semester

An introduction to data analysis, with coverage of both descriptive and inferential statistics, and an introduction to probability. Class discussions focus on the use of sample, sampling, and population distributions as they are employed in hypothesis testing. Inferential tests include t-tests, ANOVAs, chi square, regression, and nonparametric tests. A problems section is required.

Note: This course is intended to fulfill the statistics requirement for psychology majors. It may also be used to satisfy the statistics requirement for economics and environmental studies majors, and it counts as a basic science support course for biology majors.

Prerequisite: Math fluencyDrugs and Behavior*PSY 2350 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the effects of a wide range of psychotropic drugs on behavior, including drugs used clinically to treat mental disorders and drugs of abuse (including alcohol). The biological basis of tolerance and withdrawal symptoms, and other issues related to drug addiction, are also covered. Knowledge of basic biology or psychology is helpful, but not required.

Psychology of CommunicationPSY 2360 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introduction to the behavior of communicating and to the implicit rules and conventions guiding verbal and nonverbal communication. Topics include the difference between language and communication, the roots of human communication in infant-caretaker interaction, and conversational analysis and persuasion.

Learning and MemoryPSY 2450 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Behavioral and cognitive approaches to the study of human and animal learning are discussed. Topics include classical conditioning, motivation, cognitive models of memory, and applications outside the laboratory.

Adolescent PsychologyPSY 2500 / 3 credits / Spring

A broad survey of human development from late childhood through early adulthood. Topics include physiological, social, and cognitive development; peers, the family, and the school; issues of autonomy, identity, and sexual relations; depression; substance abuse; and suicide.

Personal/Social RelationshipsPSY 2520 / 3 credits / Alternate years

An examination of both interpersonal relationships and the relationship between the individual and society. Topics include social development, situational and cultural influences on individual functioning, social support networks, interpersonal attraction, and intergroup relations.

Child DevelopmentPSY 2650 / 4 credits / Fall

A broad survey of human development from conception through childhood. Topics include prenatal development and birth, cognition, language, parent-child interaction, peer relations, moral development, and sex role development. PSY 2650 may serve as a prerequisite for upper-level developmental psychology courses. Credit will not be given for both PSY 2650 and BPS 3350/Developmental Psychology (offered through the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education).

Psychology of Stereotypes, Prejudice, and DiscriminationPSY 2745 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students examine the psychological research and theory relevant to the understanding of stereotypes, prejudice, and discrimination. Topics include the cognitive bases of stereotypes and prejudice, the role of socialization and the media, the nature of in-group-out-group biases, the changing face of prejudice and discrimination, ways to reduce prejudice, and the consequences of prejudice for members of stigmatized groups.

Stress and CopingPSY 2755 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this course, the intra- and extra-personal causes of stress are identified, and a variety of assessment instruments are demonstrated and used. The consequences of stress are examined from several physiological and cognitive perspectives. A catalog of effective, direct, and palliative coping strategies is offered so that students can develop personalized stress-management programs.

Psychology of WomenPSY 2860 / 3 credits / Alternate years

A critical examination of social, psychological, and biological factors governing female behavior and experience. Within the context of a life-span model (infancy to old age), topics include gender development, puberty, school performance, sexuality, the body, depression, relationships, and communication styles. Also offered as GND 2860.

Psychology of Problem SolvingPSY 3070 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Problem solving plays a major role in human life. In this in-depth exploration of problem-solving history and theories, topics include general problem solving, insight, impasse, incubation, transfer, expertise, and brain-imaging findings.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530Abnormal Psychology*PSY 3100 / 4 credits / Every year

Explores the diagnosis, phenomenology, and scientific and clinical understandings of a wide range of mental disorders. Current research is reviewed to explore the underlying mechanisms of the disorders under discussion. Diagnosis is approached from the perspective of the most recent DSM. At various points, psychodynamic, cognitive-behavioral, and neuroscientific viewpoints of psychopathology are represented.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530Psychological Perspectives on the Self*PSY 3120 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of the processes by which people develop and maintain a self-concept; how the self-concept influences emotion, motivation, and behavior; and whether or not the beliefs people hold about themselves are accurate or useful. Readings include recent theoretical and empirical writings from psychology journals and edited texts.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530Sports Psychology*PSY 3130 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A critical examination of the psychological variables that affect athletes and their performance, with emphasis on the social-emotional, cognitive, and developmental aspects of sports participation. The impact of social-psychological conditions on athletes is explored from historical, conceptual, and practical perspectives. Topics include understanding the nature of competition, women in sports, team vs. individual participation, coping with anxiety and maintaining self-esteem, imagery and intervention strategies, and children's participation in sports.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530History of Psychology*PSY 3185 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students study the historical roots of developmental, cognitive, and social psychology through the writings of major European and American psychologists, primarily from the 19th and early 20th centuries. The aim of the course is to expose students to the history of major ideas in psychology through an examination of primary sources.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530 or one philosophy course, or permission of instructorPsychology of Creativity*PSY 3210 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Research and theories of creativity are examined from the perspectives of cognitive, social, personality, and developmental psychology.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530Psychology of Terrorism*PSY 3220 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

This advanced seminar examines terrorism and responses to terrorism from a political/applied social-psychological perspective. Topics include defining terrorism, preconditions of terrorism, recruitment and motivation, domestic and international terrorism, and case studies and analysis of terrorist organizations. Students examine a variety of classic and current sources drawn from multiple disciplines.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Recommended: Previous experience in related upper-level courses and experience with reading primary sources. PSY 1530 or equivalent strongly preferred.

Psychology of FilmPSY 3240 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Why does film succeed in standing in for reality? Students explore answers to this question through semiotics, classical cognitive film theory, and both computational and ecological perceptual theory.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530 or permission of instructorCross-Cultural Psychology*PSY 3300 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A consideration of human behavior within an ecocultural perspective, beginning with historical and methodological issues. Perceptual, cognitive, and developmental processes, personality, and psychopathology are also studied. Distinct cultures serve as case studies.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530 or permission of instructor

Health PsychologyPSY 3301 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The interventions suggested by the biopsychosocial model and mind-body paradigm are examined. Topics include health behavior, social learning theory, attribution theory, and attitude formation as they apply to problems like health promotion, disease prevention, reactions to illness, management of chronic and terminal illnesses, and adherence to treatment regimens. Methods of evaluation of clinical services are addressed.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530Language and Thought*PSY 3320 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Do people who speak different languages think about and perceive the world differently? Are some thoughts unthinkable without language? How does language affect decision-making or memory? This course examines the interrelationships between language and other cognitive processes. It brings together theories and empirical findings from cognitive, developmental, and cultural psychology, as well as linguistics, anthropology, ethology, and neuroscience.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530Social Development*PSY 3330 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An in-depth exploration of social and personality development from infancy through adolescence. Topics include predispositions for sociability, formation of affectional ties with family members and peers, the development of knowledge of self and others, and the acquisition of interactional knowledge and skills.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530Cognitive Development*PSY 3345 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An in-depth exploration of cognitive development from infancy through adolescence. Students study major theories and research findings on the development of problem solving, reasoning, memory, perception, and academic skills.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530Psychology of Music*PSY 3405 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Explores the cognitive processes that underlie musical behaviors. Topics include auditory parsing, pitch perception, acculturation, memory, absolute pitch, amusia (tone deafness), music as a communicative device, emotional responses and mood regulation, cognitive similarities with language, music therapy, the relationship between musical training and intelligence, and evolutionary theories.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530 or permission of instructorProgram Evaluation*PSY 3410 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

Covers theoretical and practical aspects of program evaluation and its role in informing policymakers. The readings, which include a textbook and journal articles, cover theory and basic methodology. In addition, students collect, organize, and write about the evaluations they conduct. The applications component focuses on programs in education, childcare, and criminal justice.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530 or SOC 1500Social Issues in Developmental Psychology*PSY 3440 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Controversial social issues and policies are examined and discussed within a context of theory and research in developmental psychology. The goal is to examine how current developmental research has, and has not, been successfully applied to practical social issues regarding children and adolescents. Topics include day care, sex education, adolescent pregnancy and parenting, changing family structure, infants and children with AIDS, television viewing, and child abuse and neglect.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530Development of Language*PSY 3490 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Starts with an examination of various criteria for and precursors of language. Students read and analyze studies of children's first words, early syntactical development, speech play, metaphor, storytelling, and bilingualism.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530Social Cognition*PSY 3510 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An increasingly important focus in social psychology, social cognition is the study of how people think in social situations. Topics include social categories, scripts and schemas, attribution, inference, memory, and attitudes. Important applications are also considered, including stereotyping and prejudice.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530Sensing and Knowing in Anthropology, Psychology, and the Arts*PSY 3540 Refer to ANT 3540 in Anthropology Courses for description.Experimental Psychology*PSY 3550 / 5 credits / Every semester

A study of the application of the scientific method to the study of human and animal behavior. Topics include experimental design, respondent and operant conditioning, psychophysics, perception, and cognitive processes. Students conduct experiments as a group and prepare scientific reports on their results. Students design and carry out an original research project. A lab section is required.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530 and 2320, advanced standing in psychology, and permission of instructorPsychological Testing and Measurement*PSY 3610 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

This course covers the basic principles, research, and theories on the testing and measurement of psychological constructs. Topics include test reliability and validity, test development, intelligence and its measurement, personality assessment, and clinical assessment.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530

Physiological Psychology

PSY 3660 / 4 credits / Spring

An examination of the biological basis of behavior. Topics include neuronal transmission, the coding and higher-order processing of sensory stimuli, movement, regulatory processes in feeding and drinking, sexual and emotional behavior, learning and memory, and psychopharmacology. The biological bases of various psychological disorders are also covered.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530 or, for biology majors, permission of instructor

Personality Assessment

PSY 3690 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Focuses on how personality measures are constructed and how scores on these measures are interpreted and used. The strengths and weaknesses of various projective tests, personality inventories, single-trait measures, IQ tests, behavioral indicators, and physiological measures are reviewed. Topics include the stability of personality, whether or not IQ tests actually measure intelligence, and the accuracy of people's self-descriptions of their personalities.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530

Special Topics in Neuropsychology

PSY 3705 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

One or two topics in neuropsychology are examined in depth. Topics may include memory across the life span, degenerative disorders, neuropsychiatric disorders (e.g., schizophrenia and depression), and communication disorders.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530

Human Neuropsychology

PSY 3715 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

This course reviews brain-behavior interactions obtained from studies of human brain damage and from investigations of the normal brain. Topics include hemispheric specialization, the representation of language, memory, spatial ability, attention, movement disorders, developmental disorders, and generalized cognitive disorders.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530

Developmental Psychopathology

PSY 3725 / 4 credits / Spring

Focuses on the development of the major emotional and behavioral problems of childhood and adolescence, including autism and Asperger's disorder, AD/HD, depression, trauma-related problems, eating disorders, and personality problems. Empirical research and clinical material are both integral elements of the course, including in-class presentations of clinical research and case studies, as well as videos on psychopathology.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530 and 3100

Human Memory

PSY 3745 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines the cognitive representations and processes involved in human memory. Topics include short-term and working memory; encoding and forgetting processes; implicit, semantic, and eyewitness memory; reconstructive processes and alterability of memory; and memory for text.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530

Psychology of Personality

PSY 3760 / 4 credits / Fall

Personality psychologists study consistent ways people think, feel, and behave. This course focuses on classic and contemporary theoretical approaches to personality and how theory influences the research questions psychologists ask, the methods they employ, and their interpretation of results. An examination of research findings furthers understanding of commonalities as well as individual differences in people's thoughts, feelings, and behaviors.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530

Cognitive Psychology

PSY 3770 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The study of human cognition from the perspective of the mind as a processor of information. Topics include attention, memory, conceptual structure, imagery, reasoning, problem solving, and language use.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530 or permission of instructor

Cognitive Psychology in Education

PSY 3775 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Covers theories and findings in the cognitive psychology literature that have implications for and/or applications to the quality of college students' academic learning and performance. Topics include students' memory for passages of text, the usefulness of taking lecture notes, how testing is involved in learning, and the use of multimedia in learning situations.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530

Psychopharmacology

PSY 3780 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An interdisciplinary approach to topics in psychopharmacology. The field of psychopharmacology involves the evaluation of the effects of natural and synthetic compounds on the brain, mind, and human behavior. The method by which neurotransmitters and pharmaceuticals interact with receptors and enzymes, as well as their effects on behavior, are discussed.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530 or CHE 3320, and permission of instructor

Gender DevelopmentPSY 3845 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the processes involved in the development of gender during childhood, emphasizing the interaction between biology, socialization, and cognition. Students read primary source articles that examine the influence of hormones, parenting, knowledge, friendships, and media on children's beliefs about their gender and on sex differences.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530Practicum in Child Development*PSY 3850 / 4 credits / Every semester

Students work with preschool children for eight hours per week at the Purchase College Children's Center, located on campus. The academic component of the practicum is coordinated through weekly class meetings that relate the students' experience with children at the Center to issues in child development.

Note: This course (a) fulfills a requirement for the certificate program in early childhood development, offered by the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education; (b) does not count as one of the psychology electives for psychology majors.

Prerequisite: Permission of the Children's Center director and of instructorSeminar in Early Childhood Development*PSY 3855 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An in-depth exploration of the development and education of young children, ranging in age from two to five years. Topics include physical, social, emotional, and cognitive development; issues of self, autonomy, and independence; day care vs. preschool; developmentally appropriate practice; the assessment of young children; and transitions to kindergarten.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530Social Psychology*PSY 3860 / 4 credits / Every year

Students study classic experiments and contemporary research in the areas of conformity, obedience, helping behavior, attributions, aggression, persuasion, close relationships and attraction, attitudes and social influence, ethics, and prejudice. This material is applied to both current and historical examples in social research.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530 or one sociology coursePsychology Junior Seminar*PSY 3890 / 4 credits / Every semester

Under the guidance of a faculty member, each student conducts an in-depth critical review of research in a narrowly defined area. The aim is to develop critical-thinking skills and to teach close reading of primary sources and writing in the style of the discipline.

Prerequisite: Advanced standing in psychology and permission of instructorIndependent Study and Tutorial*PSY 3900 and PSY 4900 / 1–4 credits / Every semester

Students with special interests may study independently under the sponsorship of a qualified faculty member. Independent study in general is permitted if the board of study offers no formal course covering the material. Independent study in advanced or highly focused studies may be undertaken after a student has completed two 3000- or 4000-level courses in psychology with a grade of B or higher. Independent study may not be substituted for any specifically required course. The per-credit workload is approximately 2½ hours per week.

Internship in PsychologyPSY 3980 / 1–4 credits / Every semester

The internship in psychology provides students with the opportunity to gain supervised, voluntary work experience for academic credit. Internships are developed by the student, the academic internship advisor, and the sponsoring organization in conjunction with the Career Development Center. Psychology students have interned in clinics, laboratories, and educational settings. Some students elect to do internships at the Purchase College Children's Center.

Seminar on Neurocognitive AgingPSY 4180 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

The topic of aging and cognition is explored by examining work in cognitive psychology and cognitive neuroscience. Major theories of cognitive aging are reviewed, age-related decline in specific areas of cognition is discussed, and students are familiarized with multiple methodological approaches to understanding both healthy and pathological aging.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530 and permission of instructorSeminar on the Psychobiology of Mental Disorders*PSY 4680 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Intensive study of the neuroscientific literature on a few mental disorders. Topics may include schizophrenia; affective, anxiety, or substance-use disorders; conduct disorder; and antisocial personality disorder. Research on the biological bases of these disorders is explored through close reading of primary source material.

Prerequisite: PSY 1530 and PSY 3660 or 3100Psychology Senior Seminar I and II*PSY 4880 and 4890 / 1 credit (per semester) / I: Fall; II: Spring

In the first semester, students meet weekly to present and discuss their senior project proposals. In the second semester, students present the findings of their senior project research. Grading is on a pass/no credit basis.

Corequisite: PSY 4990Independent Study and Tutorial*PSY 4900 Refer to PSY 3900 for description.Senior Project*PSY 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Two-semester independent study (8 credits total) leading to a baccalaureate thesis. The project and thesis may take one of several forms. Students typically join in the faculty sponsor's research, pursuing an identifiable problem in that context. Some students do research projects at other institutions like psychiatric hospitals or clinics. These external projects must be approved by a Purchase faculty member, who acts as the internal sponsor.

Prerequisite: 90 credits, PSY 3550 and 3890

Corequisite: PSY 4880 (fall) and 4890 (spring)

The Sociology BA Program

Do you want to create a better world? Are you fascinated by such topics as race, social class, gender, globalization, the environment, education, social work, or social change? These subjects and others that deal with social relationships, culture, and the nature of society comprise the discipline of sociology. As a broad and eclectic field of inquiry, sociology uses many different approaches, ranging from cultural and historical studies to survey research.

The sociology major at Purchase College is designed to give students maximum exposure to the breadth of the field. A choice of four concentrations—Sociology (self-design); Globalization, Communities, Social Change; Social and Health Advocacy; and Education and Society—allows students to focus on a particular area of interest. The program also offers a minor in sociology.

The sociology program is based on social action. It offers opportunities for a broad general education in the liberal arts as well as preparation for work in a range of fields and for further professional training in the discipline or in a variety of other areas. Graduates have earned advanced degrees in sociology, education, law, journalism, public administration, social work, hospital administration, and other disciplines.

What can you do with a degree in sociology? Opportunities exist in both the private and public sectors in the fields of social advocacy, social work, human service, education, business, law, criminal justice, social science research, and community relations. For more detailed information about career opportunities, visit the American Sociological Association (www.asanet.org).

Minor in Sociology

The minor in sociology is designed to provide students with a basic understanding of the discipline and to introduce them to some of the major subfields. Students interested in the minor in sociology should consult with a member of the sociology faculty, then submit a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar/, under "Forms").

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Sociology

Five courses, as follows:

SOC 1500/Introduction to Sociology

Plus four elective courses in sociology, chosen in consultation the sociology faculty.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/socsci/sociology/Minor.aspx.

The Sociology Program: Courses

Cultural Activism in Latin America

SOC 1030 / 3 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

What does Latin American hip-hop have to do with social change? How do murga dances in Argentina and Uruguay or “theatre of the oppressed” performances in Brazil challenge “social authoritarianism”? Why are Greenpeace campaigns so successful in raising awareness about the Amazon? Why are carnivals in Oruro, Bolivia, or in Santiago del Estero, Argentina, still so lively and engaging? This course explores the relationship between activism and “culture” in different Latin American countries. Also offered as LST 1030.

Introduction to Sociology

SOC 1500 / 3 credits / Every semester

An introduction to some basic ideas in sociology and the basic literature of the discipline. Attention is given to the interrelation of sociology and disciplines like psychology and anthropology and its relevance to public policy issues like crime.

Human Sexuality

SOC 2020 / 3 credits / Fall

An overview of biological, psychological, and sociological approaches to understanding human sexual behavior. Topics include values in sexuality, sexuality through the life span, sexual dysfunction and therapy, sex and disability, sexual preferences, atypical sexualities, and sex and the law. Also offered as GND 2020.

Race and Politics

SOC 2130 Refer to POL 2130 in Political Science Courses for description.

Race and Ethnicity

SOC 2140 / 3 credits / Spring

An examination of the state of race relations in the United States and other industrialized nations. Topics include racial and ethnic stratification, systems of oppression, mechanisms for integration, pluralism, assimilation, and racial politics.

Culture, Consumption, and the City

SOC 2165 / 3 credits / Alternate years

An introduction to the development of consumer society and consumer culture, with emphasis on the city as a landscape of consumption. Topics include commodification, materialism, large-scale changes in cities and industries, the street as a site for identity, neighborhoods as contest spaces, and the environmental and social consequences of consumerism. Also offered as ENV 2165.

Sociology of Gender

SOC 2210 / 3 credits / Alternate years

A cross-cultural examination of social constructions and expressions of gender. Students define gender, examine ideological tensions, and explore the flexibility of gendered systems. Also offered as ANT 2211.

Environmental Sociology

SOC 2255 / 3 credits / Alternate years

This course brings a sociological perspective to environmental issues, both past and present, by asking: Who is civilized? Who is savage? What is nature? By addressing questions of how human societies, animals, and land have shaped each other, students better understand the root causes and consequences of today’s environmental crisis. Topics include world hunger, water, and environmental equity for all. Also offered as ENV 2255.

Self and Society

SOC 2365 / 3 credits / Alternate years

Introduces microsociology from a social-interactionist perspective. Concepts covered include self; social construction of reality and the symbolic environments; culture and subculture; and identity, social location, and socialization. The interconnectedness of selves and societies is explored by examining the ways in which (a) social arrangements shape individuals and (b) individuals shape the social order of which they are a part.

Class, Power, Privilege

SOC 2440 / 3 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

“All animals are equal, but some animals are more equal than others.” The inequalities in status and class are examined. Literary, philosophical, and sociological works are used to explore the nature and morality of inequality and to provide composite pictures of the different social classes.

Urban SociologySOC 2500 / 3 credits / Alternate years

An introduction to the study of cities in the U.S. and other countries. Using a “social problems” approach, the development of urban communities and the associated issues are explored. Topics include gentrification, poverty, housing, and public transportation. This course is designed to further develop students’ writing ability and capacity for critical thinking, research, and analysis. Also offered as ANT 2500.

America on FilmSOC 2610 Refer to POL 2610 in Political Science Courses for description.Social Activism, Memory, and Human Rights in Argentina*SOC 2750 / 4 credits / Summer (offered in Argentina)

Students learn about Argentina’s last dictatorship (1976–1983) and the socioeconomic processes that led to the 2001 crisis and explore the collective process of memory in which Argentines both remember and forget their recent traumatic past. In the classroom and in daily field trips, students analyze and participate in social movements and cultural organizations struggling for human and citizens’ rights, which emerged during and after the dictatorship. Also offered as LST 2750.

Proseminar in SociologySOC 3015 / 1 credit / Fall

This professional orientation for sociology majors includes sessions with each member of the sociology faculty on such topics as professional presentation and communication skills, preparation for graduate school, and faculty research. Graded on a pass/no credit basis.

Prerequisite: Junior standing or permission of instructorBirth and Death*SOC 3035 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An exploration of different sociological renderings of birth and death in contemporary societies. Understanding the concepts from a sociological perspective offers an opportunity to explore the intersections of race, class, gender, spirituality, and age. This course also focuses on recent biomedical technological innovations and their implications for birth and death representations. Students conduct an independent field trip and do extensive reading and writing. Also offered as GND 3035.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500, ANT 1500, or GND 1200Community Organizing, Action, Service*SOC 3052 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

The dynamics of community life and strategies for grassroots activism are explored. Readings include theoretical works and case studies about urban and rural community issues and organizations. Efforts, tactics, and successes are assessed. Coursework includes visits to local community organizations and guest lectures by grassroots leaders. Assignments include direct involvement with a campus or regional change organization.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500Personal Transformation and Social Change*SOC 3054 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

An investigation of the relationship between personal transformation and social change. Students examine theories of social change and read case studies of social movements and works by secular, spiritual, and religious leaders. Students also learn contemplative practices, apply techniques of mindfulness, assess activist efforts, and examine how internal experiences can nurture social activism.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500Global Social Movements*SOC 3056 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

How do groups mobilize to act for social change and against injustice? This course focuses on contemporary movements that emerge within and outside the United States, e.g., in Latin America. Case studies focus on human rights, feminism, environmentalism, landless rural workers, indigenous peoples, and global justice movements, with a particular focus on how these movements emerge, (re)create their identities, and frame injustice. The class analyzes how 21st-century movements are both global and local. Also offered as LST 3056.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500Sex Radicals in the 19th-Century U.S.*SOC 3115 Refer to HIS 3115 in History Courses (School of Humanities) for description.Social and Cultural Studies of Food*SOC 3125 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Investigates the meanings, production, distribution, and consumption of food by human beings. Special attention is paid to social solidarity—the racial, ethnic, and gender relations of food preparation and celebration. Social stratification is examined to understand social inequality in relation to food, particularly in terms of labor and hunger.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500, ANT 1500, or GND 1200Social and Cultural Studies of Food: Italian Gastronomy*SOC 3126 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly, summer, in Italy)

Food—its production, consumption, and representation—is used as a lens to understand politics, culture, sociality, identities, geographies, and economies. Taking the geographical area of Pisciotta, Italy, as a starting point and ultimately as an ethnographic case study, this course engages students in the local and regional landscape. From visits to the local weekly market to field trips to the local mozzarella or olive oil producers, students interpret how food, as a way of life, has shaped the village.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 or equivalentSocial Entrepreneurship*SOC 3145 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A theoretical and practical introduction to social entrepreneurship. Students explore the larger political and social context of social entrepreneurship, the possibilities for creating social change through innovation, and how to measure social impact. Students also gain practical experiences through a semester-long project addressing a local social problem. Topics include product design and development, community engagement, and business development. Field trips and group presentations are included.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 or equivalent

Action/Reflection in Indo-Tibetan Traditions

SOC 3151 Refer to PHI 3151 in Philosophy Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Sociology of the Body and Embodiment

SOC 3155 / 4 credits / Alternate years (new in Fall 2013)

Contemporary sociological studies of the body consider how bodies become social entities through membership in communities and how these bodies are valued according to their gender, social class, religion, and racial, ethnic, and national status. This course attends to bodies, engaging with a growing corpus of material on embodiment, embodied experiences, body regulation, bodywork, representations of bodies, and cultural exposures of the body.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 or ANT 1500, and permission of instructor

Science, Medicine, Culture

SOC 3175 / 4 credits / Alternate years

How is scientific and medical knowledge researched and developed? What is the relationship between science and medicine? What are the hidden premises or values that lie within different scientific and medical approaches? How is scientific and medical knowledge culturally represented? Additional topics include alternative medicine, epidemiology, and everyday lived experience of medicine and the relation to social inequality.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 or equivalent

Introduction to Teaching

SOC 3203 / 4 credits / Fall

What is teaching like? Would you make a good teacher? Designed to familiarize students with the profession of teaching, this course helps students consider whether they want to pursue a teaching career. In addition to addressing the motivation, training, and status of teachers, the course also provides an overview of educational policies and professional organizations. A child-observation component is included.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Social Organizations

SOC 3235 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

Focuses on what is meant by organizations, how organizations are shaped by their environment, and how organizations affect societies and individual lives. The World Bank, International Monetary Fund (IMF), and schools are among the organizations covered.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500

The Arts for Social Change

SOC 3237 Refer to VIS 3500 in General Visual Arts Courses (School of Art+Design) for description.

Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing

Global Populations, Local Problems

SOC 3255 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

What happens when a country that has historically been very homogenous experiences a sudden growth in its immigrant population? Can the earth really sustain seven billion people? Drawing on concepts from social demography and population studies, students explore links between the composition of populations and social trends and problems. Also offered as LST 3255.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 or equivalent

Critical Disability Studies

SOC 3275 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

Sociological perspectives on the historical and cultural construction of disability and accessibility. Includes theory and research on the gap between the everyday experience of disability and public policies that address accessibility. The focus includes race, class, gender, and sexuality issues as well as social movement and advocacy efforts.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 or equivalent

Science, Technology, and Queer Theory

SOC 3287 Refer to GND 3287 in Gender Studies Courses (Interdisciplinary Studies) for description.

Research Methods

SOC 3405 / 4 credits / Fall

Students become acquainted with methods that social scientists in general and sociologists in particular use for different types of research. Goals include learning to identify, understand, and evaluate diverse research strategies; distinguish between qualitative and quantitative methods, the types of knowledge they produce, and the strengths and the weaknesses of each; and think critically about objectivity, researcher standpoint, and research ethics.

Prerequisite: Junior standing, and SOC 1500 or equivalent

Religion, Culture, and Society

SOC 3435 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The role of religious institutions in the modern American social context. Topics include the role of religious influence on other institutions (especially the political), religious styles, new sectarian and revivalist movements, and conflict within the major religious traditions.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500

Conflict Management and Mediation

SOC 3455 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Conflict can signal either a disruption in an organization's operations or an opportunity for change and growth. This course examines the causes, processes, costs, and benefits of social conflict, and methods for conflict resolution. Using sociological theory and research, the relationship of social issues to organizational and institutional conflict is also addressed. Students are given a broad perspective on making conflict an asset organizationally and interpersonally, including 25 hours of coursework needed for conflict-mediation certification. Provides the foundation for an apprenticeship with a conflict-mediation or dispute-resolution center.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 or equivalent

To Enjoy Our Freedom: African-American History Since 1865

SOC 3466 Refer to HIS 3466 in History Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Surveillance, Technology, Society

SOC 3475 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

People's everyday lives are monitored on multiple levels through mechanisms they take for granted. Surveillance systems and technologies provide knowledge about people through identification, monitoring, and analysis of individuals, groups, data, or systems. These systems are examined as social entities that organize and shape cultural values and norms. Issues of identity, security, fear, control, and vulnerability are also explored.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 or equivalent

Sociology of Education

SOC 3500 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of the special relationship of education to other American institutions. Topics include the declining support for public education, attempts to privatize public education (vouchers), and race and class issues in public and private education.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500

Society and Public Policy

SOC 3565 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

An analysis of public policy processes in the U.S. Students examine who is involved in policy formation and implementation, the tools used by governments to implement public policy, and why some policies are successful and others are not. This course specifically focuses on education, immigration, and welfare policies. Also offered as POL 3565.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 or equivalent

Communities, Ethnicities, and Exclusion

SOC 3585 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Using the key concept of "boundary," students explore the intersection of community studies and race/ethnicity studies. While community and race/ethnicity define who belongs within the boundary, they also construct who does not belong, creating social, economic, and political exclusions. Readings draw extensively from work done on immigrants in the U.S.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 or ANT 1500

Families, Communities, Cultures

SOC 3615 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Focuses on the diversity of families, the challenges they face, their relationship to social institutions and communities, and how they interact with society at large. Students explore how social norms and public policy have benefited or constrained particular familial structures over time and examine how contemporary family formations are shifting normative social structures.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 or ANT 1500

International Migration Today

SOC 3660 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An examination of the various causes and consequences of international migration on migrants, their sending communities, and their destination countries. Topics include immigration debates, the social structures and economic and social conditions that facilitate labor migration, undocumented migration, refugee migration and forced migration. New York is an amazing place to explore migration, providing firsthand knowledge about migrant communities.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 or ANT 1500

Immigration Debated: A Seminar

SOC 3665 Refer to POL 3665 in Political Science Courses for description.

Contemporary Sociological Theory

SOC 3670 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

Beginning with the 20th century, this course introduces students to recent trends in social theory, including poststructuralist, feminist, critical race, neo-Marxist, postmodern, phenomenology, and transnationalism theories. Theorists may include Bourdieu, Foucault, Gramsci, Habermas, Hall, Hill Collins, Smith, and Wallerstein.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 and 3850

Masculinities: Feminist Perspectives

SOC 3705 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Considers experiences and images of men in U.S. society. Recent feminist theory and research concerning men are studied, with attention to the various meanings of masculinity in American culture. This course provides a sociological understanding of gender and society, with attention to race, class, and other aspects of identity that shape men's lives, including media representations of masculinity. Also offered as GND 3705.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500

Globalization, Culture, Social Change: Latin America

SOC 3725 / 4 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

A global sociological examination of the contemporary debates and studies concerning the social organization of cultures that transcends national boundaries. This course examines the highly debated concept of globalization by studying transnational social organizations and the distinctive dynamics of global political economy and culture. Topics include colonialism and postcolonialism, social movements and social change, social inequality, labor, human rights, democracy, global capitalism, urbanization, and cultural identity. Also offered as LST 3725.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 or equivalent

Sexuality and Society

SOC 3755 / 4 credits / Spring

Sexuality is grounded in bodily experience, but meanings of both body and experience are socially constructed. This advanced seminar examines contemporary sexual constructions and their cultural and historical roots. Also offered as GND 3755.

Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing and either GND 1200, SOC 2020, or ANT 3750

Film and Society

SOC 3840 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Film as depiction and analysis of society. Popular, avant-garde, documentary, and social science genres are examined. The social basis of film production is a major focus.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500

Sociological Theory

SOC 3850 / 4 credits / Fall

The meaning of theory, and the major theoretical perspectives in social science. Primary attention in reading and discussion is given to the works of Marx, Weber, and Durkheim. These thinkers have been chosen because of their seminal, interdisciplinary contributions to political, economic, sociological, and anthropological theory.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500

Sociology Junior Seminar

SOC 3885 / 4 credits / Spring

In preparation for the senior project, sociology majors conduct an in-depth critical review of research and learn how to plan and write a research proposal within a particular area of interest. The goal is to develop critical-thinking skills and the ability to do close reading of primary sources and write in the style of the discipline.

Prerequisite: Junior standing and permission of instructor

Internship in Sociology

SOC 3980 / 4 credits / Every semester

A supervised work experience in both on- and off-campus organizations where sociologists or social psychologists are employed. Organizations for community planning, mental health, legal aid, and local government are included.

Prerequisite: SOC 1500 or equivalent

Seminar in Sociological Issues

SOC 4030 / 4 credits / Every semester

Offers an in-depth focus on a specific sociological issue, which varies each semester. Includes research, readings, and writings on a topic related to the particular expertise of the faculty member.

Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing, and permission of instructor

Sociology Senior Project

SOC 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

A year-long project developed in consultation with advisors that usually involves empirical or library research, but may also include practical, applied, photographic, or creative efforts. Students are encouraged to speak with a member of the faculty regarding a possible project in the second semester of their junior year. Must be taken for two semesters (8 credits total).

Prerequisite: SOC 1500, PSY 2320, and SOC 3405

The Gender Studies BA Program

The gender studies program, which offers a major leading to the BA as well as a minor, examines gender using an interdisciplinary approach. Consisting of a variety of courses drawn from across the college, the program offers students the opportunity to study gender in a variety of historical periods and geographical areas using different academic, political, and feminist perspectives. The program equips students with reading, writing, research, and analytical skills that enable them to:

- identify and analyze the links among gender, sexuality, identity, power, and social justice
 - identify and analyze intersections among gender and sexuality and other categories of difference, such as class, race, religion, nationality, and physical ability
 - situate gender and sexuality in broader historical and geopolitical contexts
 - write or otherwise present (depending on the field of study) analyses of gender and sexuality in specific visual, literary, and theoretical works
 - design and execute a senior project that demonstrates these competencies within a theoretical framework of gender and sexuality

The Gender Studies Program: Courses

Additional courses may be crosslisted under GND each semester; students can search the schedule of classes on my.purchase.edu. Please refer to the academic requirements for lists of courses in various disciplines that fulfill requirements for the gender studies major.

Introduction to Gender and Sexuality

GND 1200 / 4 credits / Every semester

An introductory and foundational course on the key concepts, themes, and theories of studies of gender and sexuality. Students engage with materials that are social, scientific, historical, literary, autobiographical, artistic, and/or philosophical in examinations of themes of human gender, sexual relationships, and the intersection of gender and sexual identity.

Human Sexuality

GND 2020 Refer to SOC 2020 in Sociology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.

Women's Self-Defense with Rape Aggression Defense (RAD)

GND 2035 / 2 credits / Every semester

The RAD system incorporates physical self-defense options developed in response to realistic situations facing women. This course covers awareness and prevention techniques, personal protection tips, and reporting procedures. Students learn to develop a defensive mind-set, respond verbally to aggression, and adopt the optimal stance for self-defense. Concludes with an opportunity for students to test their skills in realistic simulations. Also offered as PED 2035.

Women and Politics

GND 2040 Refer to POL 2040 in Political Science Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.

Queer Performances

GND 2100 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In the past 20 years, the field of performance art has emerged as a major site of "minority" expression. At the same time, the field has been a target of the religious right's ongoing culture wars. This course explores the works of "queer" artists in videos and texts and looks at the political, social, and artistic questions that they raise.

Citizens Living Under Islamic Laws

GND 2105 Refer to POL 2105 in Political Science Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.

The Latin American Studies BA Program

The major in Latin American studies at Purchase College is designed as a multidisciplinary immersion experience that prepares students for life in a globalized world. Along with an introductory course on Latin American history, students are required to take courses in at least two different disciplines, drawing from courses on or related to Latin America in the social sciences, the humanities, or the arts. All students are required to attain language proficiency, defined as the equivalent of five semesters in Spanish or French. Experiential learning is a central and distinctive feature of this major: all students fulfill this requirement by completing a service-learning project or an internship in a local Latin American community, school, or nonprofit, or through a study-abroad program. Students synthesize this experiential learning with the knowledge gained from their coursework in an in-depth, two-semester senior project.

Graduates of this program will be able to demonstrate knowledge of Latin American history, geography, cultural traditions and innovations, political structures, and social issues and will possess an in-depth awareness of Latin America's diversity as well as its role in global processes.

What can you do with a degree in Latin American studies? Opportunities exist in a wide variety of fields, nationally and internationally. With Latin American immigrant communities increasing in number throughout the U.S., there is a broad range of career and volunteer options available. Internationally, options include positions in government and in nongovernmental for-profit and nonprofit organizations. Students are also encouraged to double-major in another program to increase their opportunities after graduation.

The BA in Liberal Arts: An Individualized Program of Study

Students who wish to pursue an individualized, interdisciplinary program of study that cannot be accommodated within another major at Purchase College may apply for admission to the Bachelor of Arts in liberal arts (BALA) program. Each student works closely with two or more faculty sponsors from different disciplines to design a course of study that meets both the specialized interests of the student and the academic standards of the college.

This degree program appeals especially to students interested in constructing highly individualized and innovative major areas of study. Some examples include bioethics, Mediterranean studies, philosophy of science, and choreography of literature. Students may also work with the faculty in established programs currently offering minors, which could provide core coursework that serves as a basis for a major.

Academic Requirements

Students in this program must meet general degree requirements for the BA. Students design a proposed curriculum for the major in collaboration with two or more faculty sponsors. This proposal is reviewed by the BALA committee, which may include faculty representatives from the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the School of the Arts. Although individualized in nature, all proposals must:

1. include relevant theoretical and methodological courses in the proposed area(s) of study
2. incorporate the teaching specialties of the Purchase College faculty
3. demonstrate why established majors or programs of study at Purchase College cannot accommodate the student's needs

A senior project is required of all BALA students. Approval of the proposal may be contingent upon inclusion of additional courses recommended by the BALA committee.

Representative Courses

Courses span the entire curriculum at Purchase College, according to the student's specific area of interdisciplinary study.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/LAS/Interdisciplinary/LiberalArts.aspx.

School of the Arts

The School of the Arts provides the highest level of education in order to forge the next generation of visual and performing artists, arts managers, and citizens devoted to the arts. Students are prepared for careers in their fields and are inspired to be engaged and innovative contributors to society. The prestigious faculties in the Conservatories of Dance, Music, and Theatre Arts, and the School of Art+Design cultivate, nurture, and prepare students through rigorous and comprehensive studio practice informed by theoretical, conceptual, and historical study. The professional degree programs (BFA, MusB, MFA, MM) challenge students to be reflective and articulate, productive and entrepreneurial, and creative and innovative practitioners of their respective art forms. The BA and BS programs provide an overview of contemporary research methods and cultural theory, history, and studio practice in a broad liberal arts context designed to introduce students to creative, analytic, and critical thinking. In addition, the School of the Arts offers students in other disciplines exposure to the practice of the arts through specialized courses in studio practice.

Academic Organization and Degrees

The School of the Arts includes the arts management program; the Conservatories of Dance, Music, and Theatre Arts; and the School of Art+Design. Its majors, which are described in detail in the respective school/conservatory sections of this catalog, lead to the following degrees:

- School of the Arts: BA (arts management)
- Conservatory of Dance: BFA (dance); MFA (dance)
- Conservatory of Music: MusB (classical instrumental performance, jazz studies, voice/opera studies, classical composition, studio composition, studio production); MM (music; areas of concentration: classical instrumental performance, jazz studies, voice/opera studies, classical composition, studio composition)
- Conservatory of Theatre Arts: BFA (acting, theatre design/technology); BA (playwriting and screenwriting, theatre and performance); MFA (theatre design/technology)
- School of Art+Design: BFA (graphic design, painting/drawing, photography, printmaking, sculpture, interdisciplinary visual arts); BS (visual arts); MFA (visual arts)

In addition to these degree programs, the Conservatory of Music offers a postbaccalaureate Performers Certificate and a post-master's Artist Diploma.

Minors

The School of the Arts offers five minors that are open to students in all disciplines, with specific entrance requirements:

- Arts management (through the School of the Arts)
- Music (through the Conservatory of Music)
- Playwriting (through the Conservatory of Theatre Arts)
- Theatre and performance (through the Conservatory of Theatre Arts)
- Visual arts (through the School of Art+Design)

Academic Advising

All students in the School of the Arts have faculty advisors and plan their semester's work in consultation with these advisors. Students are also encouraged to use the services of the Advising Center.

Arts Courses Open to All Students

Most courses offered by the BA programs in the School of the Arts' conservatories—like those in the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences—are open to students in other disciplines at Purchase College. These are offered under the regular course prefix for the discipline (e.g., AMG for arts management; DWR for playwriting and screenwriting; THP for theatre and performance).

Many courses offered by the BFA and MusB programs in the School of the Arts are also open to students in other disciplines at Purchase College, in most cases without audition or permission of instructor. These courses begin with an SOA prefix and are listed in the respective program section of this catalog:

Conservatory of Dance: SOA courses
Conservatory of Music: SOA courses
Conservatory of Theatre Arts: SOA courses
School of Art+Design: SOA courses

For courses offered by the BFA program in film that are open to students in other disciplines, please refer to School of Film and Media Studies: SOA Courses.

The Arts Management BA Program

The BA program in arts management at Purchase College is designed for students seeking a foundation for further education and for careers in a wide range of creative industries, including dance and theatre companies; symphony orchestras and opera; galleries and museums; presenting and community arts centers; festival and concert venues; and record companies and artist management agencies.

Led by a diverse faculty of arts management educators and field professionals, the BA program prepares a new generation of engaged managers who value the arts and are committed to the creative process. Emphasis is placed on developing critical inquiry, creative thinking, and the business and communication skills necessary to support the arts and entertainment industry in a changing environment.

The major in arts management integrates:

- business courses focused on building the core knowledge and skills vital to leading and supporting a wide variety of arts-based initiatives
- history and current issues relevant to the visual and performing arts
- opportunities to pursue individual career interests and to gain practical insight and experience through internships, interaction with field professionals, and a yearlong independent project
- a broad-based education in the liberal arts and sciences

The program also offers a minor in arts management, which is open to students in all disciplines.

The tradition of artistic excellence and diversity at Purchase College, along with its proximity to the vast cultural resources in Westchester County and New York City, are among the outstanding features enhancing the arts management program. On campus, networking and community-building opportunities include the Arts Management Club and South Bay Cabaret, a student-run organization that produces multidisciplinary events in collaboration with the Performing Arts Center.

The Arts Management Program: Courses

Introduction to Arts Management

AMG 1100 / 4 credits / Every semester

This introductory survey provides an overview of arts management, preparing students for upper-level courses in the arts management program. Topics include arts leadership and management philosophy, organizational structure, financial practices, strategic planning and programming, marketing and public relations, fundraising and development, volunteerism, and arts and entertainment law. Attention is given to the application of management principles common to arts organizations in both the nonprofit and commercial sectors.

Creative Producing

AMG 2060 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A student-centered course in which teams collaborate to explore the creative process by envisioning a nonprofit performing or visual arts organization, conceiving it from mission statement to the first body of work. As projects progress, students develop innovative and critical thinking skills while applying basic principles of arts management to sustain their ventures in today’s cultural environment.

Prerequisite: AMG 1100 or permission of instructor

Arts and Entertainment in Economics

AMG 2085 Refer to ECO 2085 in Economics Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.

Finance for the Arts

AMG 2200 / 4 credits / Every semester

To do more than survive in a competitive economy, artists and their managers must learn business strategies for the financial side of their profession. Students are introduced to the basics of budgets, financial management, and accounting concepts that translate into usable information with practical significance for financial decision-making.

Prerequisite: Math fluency

Renowned Arts Leaders of 20th-Century Theatre and Dance

AMG 2250 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An in-depth look at six originators of theatre and dance: Zelda Fichandler, Arena Stage; Hal Prince, Broadway; Joseph Papp, Public Theatre; Lincoln Kirstein, New York City Ballet; Harvey Lichtenstein, Brooklyn Academy of Music (BAM); and Alvin Ailey, Alvin Ailey Dance Company. Students choose leaders in theatre or dance to research and then present in oral and written formats.

Making the Case for the Arts

AMG 3010 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Communicating the power of the arts to enhance the lives of individuals and transform communities is central to the success of today’s arts leaders, educators, and practitioners. Students explore U.S. cultural policy, law, social values, and market forces affecting the arts and entertainment industry as they develop a theoretical framework and advocacy skills to support arts participation as a fundamental human right.

Prerequisite: AMG 1100 or permission of instructor

Fundraising and Development in the Arts

AMG 3100 / 4 credits / Every semester

An exploration of fundraising and development for nonprofit arts organizations, including donor cultivation, prospect research, proposal development, annual fundraising campaigns, special events, corporate support and sponsorship, and Internet-based fundraising.

Students also examine the history of U.S. arts and cultural philanthropy. Guest speakers and case studies give students an opportunity to apply concepts and techniques to real-world arts organizations.

Prerequisite: AMG 1100 or permission of instructor

Arts and Entertainment LawAMG 3170 / 4 credits / Every semester

An introduction to fundamental legal and business concepts that affect artists and arts managers, with emphasis on copyright protection and infringement. Students study and analyze artist agreements, amendment protections for symbolic and literal speech and the limits to those protections, the basics of contract law and statutory protection for artists, and the terms and nature of business relationships, plus other important areas of the law that affect the arts community.

Prerequisite: AMG 1100 or permission of instructorPerforming Arts Management*AMG 3400 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students contemplate the question "How does arts management complement performing artists in the 21st century?" Analyzing best practices, students explore management methodologies that affect what happens on the stage. Topics include general management, nonprofit and for-profit company management, presenting (programming), facilities management, touring logistics, labor relations, and human resources.

Prerequisite: AMG 1100Marketing the Arts*AMG 3520 / 4 credits / Every semester

Provides an overview of fundamental marketing concepts and strategies relevant to promoting artists, events, and creative products. Topics include market research and audience development; advertising and mailing campaigns; and public image enhancement through branding, community relations, strategic partnerships, grassroots initiatives, and press coverage. Course materials and assignments are designed to illuminate current field practice while building promotional skills and salesmanship.

Prerequisite: AMG 1100 or permission of instructorGallery ManagementAMG 3530 / 4 credits / Every semestercourse title and number through Fall 2013Visual Arts ManagementAMG 3535* / 4 credits / Every semestercourse title and number effective Spring 2014*

Students learn the fundamentals of operating commercial art galleries, including curating, artist contracts, and developing client relationships. Additional topics include connoisseurship, detecting fakes in the secondary (antique) art market, and the current regimen of high-profile art fairs. Texts, class discussions, and practical assignments are applicable to a wide variety of visual arts-based careers.

Prerequisite: AMG 1100 or permission of instructorBusiness Planning*AMG 3550 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introduction to the concept of and processes involved in strategic and business planning for arts organizations. Students review examples of completed plans and work on developing, from initiation to completion, a plan in class.

Prerequisite: AMG 1100; AMG 2085 or 2200; AMG 3100 and 3520Social Media and the Arts*AMG 3610 / 4 credits / Every semester

A hands-on approach to creating social media marketing campaigns. Topics include Facebook, Twitter, blogging, YouTube and viral videos, SEO (search engine optimization), SEM (search engine marketing), and virtual realities, as well as integration strategies and tactics. Viral theories, trends, and case studies are also explored.

Prerequisite: AMG 1100 or permission of instructorStructures and Revolutions of Culture*AMG 3650 / 2 credits / Spring

A study of the power structures, ideology, and shifting environmental factors underlying the evolution of the cultural economy, defined in its broadest sense: the arts, entertainment, sports, and tourism. Designed to provide theoretical context for the innovative and strategic work of today's cultural managers, topics include gatekeepers, tastemakers, the canon, and the dichotomies of high and low art.

Arts Management Internship and SeminarAMG 3780 / 4 credits / Every semester

Students' leadership and team skills are developed through the production, promotion, and administrative support of arts events hosted on campus. In addition to the hours required for the internship, students attend monthly seminars exploring innovative solutions to common challenges facing today's arts managers. To register for this course, students must obtain an Internship Program Learning Contract from the Career Development Center.

Prerequisite: 30 credits, including AMG 1100Commercial Theatrical Producing*AMG 3800 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students learn how to commercially produce a play or musical. Topics include optioning, finding investors, creating a collaborative team, casting/staffing, budget planning, royalty structures, rehearsal periods, marketing and audience development, press relations, opening nights, maintaining the quality of the production, and touring potential. Guest professional producers describe how their shows were developed, marketed, and reviewed.

Prerequisite: AWR 1100 or permission of instructorArts Management Internship*AMG 3980 / 4 credits / Every semester

Provides students with practical experience in an area related to their interests through direct work with a nonprofit or commercial arts organization. To register for this course, students must obtain an Internship Program Learning Contract from the Career Development Center.

Prerequisite: 30 credits, including AMG 1100

Arts EntrepreneurshipAMG 4100 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

It is critical for students in the arts to imagine new cultural landscapes and develop fresh ideas for revitalizing the impact of the arts in society. In this course, students explore and shape innovative, creative ideas; learn how to develop and mold them into feasible forms; and then build both linear and nonlinear business plans for their new projects and enterprises. Course delivery integrates both in-person and online interaction (synchronous and asynchronous) between students and the instructor.

Prerequisite: AMG 3100, 3170, and 3520Senior Seminar in Arts Management*AMG 4880 / 2 credits / Every semester

Taken in conjunction with the first semester of the senior project, this seminar is designed to assist students in generating a proposal and action plan while advancing writing, research, and analytic skills. Content and assignments provide opportunities to develop project ideas, practice job-applicable skills, and interact with field professionals.

Corequisite: AMG 4992Senior Project in Arts Management*AMG 4992 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every semester

In this yearlong independent study, students apply creative and reflective thinking to a research- and/or practice-based project of their choice. The senior project provides meaningful contributions to practitioners in the arts and entertainment industry while enhancing students' career options. Guidelines, including specific expectations, are available upon request from the faculty coordinator or other members of the arts management faculty. Must be taken for two semesters (6 credits total).

Conservatory of Dance

The Conservatory of Dance at Purchase College offers BFA and MFA programs that prepare students for careers in the professional dance world. The BFA curriculum offers the serious and dedicated dance student professional training in classical ballet and contemporary modern dance, as well as an extensive composition curriculum. Performance—on campus and on tour—is an integral and required part of professional dance training at Purchase.

The Conservatory of Dance BFA program emphasizes performance and choreography. Courses in music for dance, dance history, dance production, improvisation, anatomy for dance, and other related arts provide the foundation for each dance student to build a personal artistic vision. The rigorous standards are based on the levels of achievement found in the professional dance world.

The MFA program in the Conservatory of Dance is designed to develop the choreographic or performance/teaching skills of serious and dedicated dance artists. The individual attention of the faculty, superb facility, proximity to New York City, and unique balance of artists in the music, theatre design/technology, and visual arts graduate programs provide a stimulating atmosphere for the mature artist.

The Conservatory of Dance is a member of the U.S. Council of Dance Administrators.

Facilities

The award-winning Dance Building, designed by Gunner Birkerts, is the first facility in the U.S. to be constructed solely for the study and performance of dance. The 10 fully equipped studios, saunas, and Dance Theatre Lab provide students with space, light, physical therapy, and inspiration. Conservatory of Dance students also enjoy numerous opportunities to perform at the Performing Arts Center.

Entrance Auditions

All prospective BFA students are required to audition at the announced audition times, on campus or regionally, to qualify for admission to the Conservatory of Dance. Students may audition two times and return for one callback, if they are requested to do so by the conservatory, within a 12-month period. Students must audition within 10 months of their anticipated enrollment date. MFA candidates must audition on campus (regional auditions are not available). International students living outside the continental U.S. may audition by DVD or YouTube link. For additional information, updates, and audition schedules during 2013–2015, please visit or contact the Office of Admissions (www.purchase.edu/Departments/Admissions/ApplicationInstructions/conservatoryofdance.aspx).

After Purchase College

Alumni of the Conservatory of Dance perform in companies throughout the world, including the Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater, American Ballet Theatre, American Repertory Ballet, Bill T. Jones/Arnie Zane Dance Company, Ballet Hispanico of New York, Mark Morris Dance Group, Houston Ballet, Doug Varone and Dancers, Pilobolus, Ballet Municipal de Santiago, Buglisi Dance Theatre, Trisha Brown Company, Frankfurt Ballet, Atlanta Ballet, Oakland Ballet, Feld Ballet, Martha Graham Dance Company, Limón Dance Company, Paul Taylor Dance Company, David Parsons Company, Shen Wei Dance Arts, and Twyla Tharp and Dancers, and in Broadway musicals. Alumni like Doug Varone, Nicolo Fonte, Tere O'Connor, and Kevin Wynn have founded their own companies or are performing, teaching, and choreographing as guest artists around the world.

Administration

The Dance BFA Program

Criteria for Acceptance:

1. Talent and potential as a performer
2. Prior training and the ability to demonstrate a knowledge of modern dance and/or classical ballet techniques
3. Musicality
4. Good physical proportions in a healthy body that is injury-free

Requirements for Graduation

The BFA in dance is awarded upon the successful completion of course requirements and demonstrated quality of the student's technical ability and creative initiative, based on the standards of the professional dance world. The standard residency requirement in the Conservatory of Dance BFA program is four years (eight semesters), with rare exceptions; the minimum residency requirement is three years (six semesters). Graduation is dependent on the successful completion of course requirements, which include a minimum of 30 liberal arts credits, and the demonstrated fitness of the student for a professional performing career in dance. Students must meet all general degree requirements as well as conservatory requirements for graduation.

All students take the same required dance courses in the freshman and sophomore years. At the end of the sophomore year, the Dance Board of Study evaluates each student's progress and potential and makes recommendations for the direction of future study in one of the following areas: dance performance, ballet, dance composition, or dance production. Professional dance credits are awarded on the basis of the student's consistent artistic growth.

BFA Concentrations

Students earn a BFA in dance. All students enter the conservatory program in the area of dance performance. Subsequently, they may remain in dance performance or apply for one of the following concentrations: ballet, dance composition (choreography), or dance production.

Concentration decisions are approved by the Dance Board of Study. Sophomore jury results determine a student's concentration status.

Technique

All BFA students study classical ballet and modern dance daily. Students audition in a placement class at the beginning of each year and are evaluated and placed in technique class levels at the discretion of the faculty.

Performance

Performance is an integral and required part of the professional training program. The Purchase Dance Company (selected BFA students in the Conservatory of Dance) performs major concerts in the Performing Arts Center; in student and faculty concerts in the Dance Theatre Lab; and on tour in New York City, New York State, and abroad. They also participate in special performances for children and at lecture/demonstrations. The program culminates in the senior project, for which each senior performs a repertory piece and co-produces a concert as requirements for graduation.

Repertory for the Purchase Dance Company's major concerts and tours has included George Balanchine's Serenade, Valse Fantaisie, The Four Temperaments, and Tarantella; Merce Cunningham's Changing Steps, Duets, and Septet; Doris Humphrey's The Shakers and Passacaglia; Paul Taylor's Cloven Kingdom, Le Sacre du Printemps, Junction, and Company B; Mark Morris' Gloria, A Lake, and Grand Duo; Kenneth MacMillan's Pas de Deux from Concerto; Cynthia Gregory's Solo; Lester Horton's Beloved; Bill T. Jones' D-Man in the Waters; Dianne McIntyre's Lyric Fire; Doug Varone's Strict Love, Possession, and Rise; Lin Hwai Min's Crossing the Black Water; and the annual Nutcracker production; as well as work created for the Purchase Dance Company by Luca Veggetti, Shen Wei, Stanton Welch, Lauri Stallings, Helen Pickett, Pam Tanowitz, and Robert Hill, and by guest artists, emerging choreographers, alumni, and faculty.

New works and classics in both ballet and modern dance are prepared and rehearsed for performance each year. The choreography is licensed from major artists or created by faculty and guest artists.

Ballet

The codified theatrical dance derived from the Italian, French, and Russian schools, known as "classical ballet," is taught on progressive levels of technical proficiency. In addition, there are partnering, pointe, men's classes, and concert repertory, which further develop specific skills required of the classically trained dancer.

Modern

American contemporary dance techniques, originated by distinguished dance artists, are studied on progressive levels as a dynamic and developing art form. Technique is amplified by classes in modern partnering, the repertory of classic and current choreography, and collaboration with artists in other disciplines.

Dance Composition

The creative process of choreography is studied through three year-long courses in dance composition, either in modern or ballet idioms, preceded by one year of improvisation. Sophomores and juniors each present choreographic projects. The program culminates in the senior project in composition, performed in the Dance Theatre Lab as a requirement for graduation. Student choreography is auditioned for student concerts, student/faculty concerts, and lecture/demonstrations.

Dance Production

The Conservatory of Dance stresses a comprehensive professional dance curriculum, and dancers should be well versed in all aspects of technical dance production. A student concentrating in dance production receives training in lighting, sound, stage management, video production, and administration. Participation in all Conservatory of Dance productions is emphasized.

Music

The Conservatory of Dance has a strong commitment to the musical training of its students. This is reflected in the curriculum, which includes a historical survey of musical resources and courses that explore the shared elements of temporal arts (meter, tempo, rhythm, dynamics, texture, phrase, form, etc.), coaching for musicality, and score reading, together with extensive listening and analysis.

Dance History

In addition to training in technique and composition, students study the history of dance as an evolving form. Eight credits of dance history are a requirement for graduation. These 8 credits may count toward the liberal arts requirement (30 credits minimum) for the BFA.

BFA in Dance: Ballet Concentration

At the end of the freshman year, the ballet faculty invites students who, in the judgment of the faculty members, demonstrate potential for a career in classical ballet to join the ballet concentration. Students may accept or decline this invitation. Students may also request to be considered as candidates for the ballet concentration.

Ballet concentration status is probationary until the sophomore jury. The sophomore jury results determine concentration status for graduation.

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all students in the ballet concentration are required to:

1. audition for all ballet repertory pieces presented by the Purchase Dance Company;
2. perform ballet repertory in major concerts;
3. take pointe, ballet partnering, and variations each semester;
4. qualify for the 3000-level ballet technique course in the final two years; and
5. maintain a minimum grade of B in ballet technique, pointe, ballet partnering, and variations courses.

Once accepted in the ballet concentration, students must change to the current ballet concentration advisor. Approval to continue in the ballet concentration may be determined at any time by the faculty, based on the student's work ethic and improvement.

Freshman Year (provisional)

Students take all scheduled ballet classes, as well as Friday morning ballet class, pointe, and ballet partnering, and audition for all ballet repertory.

Sophomore Year (provisional)

Students in the ballet concentration take:

- weekly ballet classes as assigned, including two special two-hour classes designed to strengthen pointe work, variation, and/or men's technique;
- weekly modern classes as assigned; and
- pointe and ballet partnering.

They also audition for all ballet repertory. After one semester or at the end of sophomore year, students in the ballet concentration may choose to return to the performance concentration. If students are approved and elect to remain in the ballet concentration, they will remain so through to graduation.

Junior Year

Students must qualify for level III ballet technique; take weekly ballet and modern classes as assigned, including two special two-hour classes, pointe, and ballet partnering; and audition for all ballet repertory.

Senior Year

Same as the junior year. Senior project repertory must be ballet.

BFA in Dance: Composition Concentration

Prerequisites

1. Students who apply for the composition concentration (in the second semester of their sophomore year) should have a strong motivation for, and evidenced talent in, the art of choreography.
2. To qualify, students must have completed two semesters of Improvisation/Composition I and the first semester of Composition II, each with a minimum grade of B+.
3. During the second semester of Composition II, students must notify their composition teacher if they intend to apply for composition concentration.

4. Students who receive a grade of Incomplete or a grade lower than a B+ in Improvisation/Composition I or Composition II or who fail any other Conservatory of Dance course taken during their sophomore year are not eligible to apply for the composition concentration.

Application Process

1. Applications must be submitted by students to the administrative assistant in the Conservatory of Dance main office by the last Friday in February. The application consists of:
 - a letter from the student explaining why he or she wishes to pursue the composition concentration
 - the student's grade transcripts (attached to the letter)
2. The administrative assistant distributes the applications to the Composition Committee, which is composed of all members of the composition and improvisation faculty.
3. The committee evaluates the applications and sends its recommendations to the board of study.
4. Within three weeks of the application submission, the committee will inform students of its provisional decision.

Audition Process

1. During composition class time in the spring semester, the Composition Committee and the director of the Conservatory of Dance will view the preliminary showing by sophomores of a piece for three to five dancers (3 to 5 minutes), with music recommended by the composition teacher.
2. A student who has been provisionally accepted in the composition concentration will present a second audition piece on the last Tuesday in October (during the first semester of Composition III).
 - Students will present one duet or trio (maximum 5 minutes) and one larger work for a maximum of eight dancers (maximum 7 minutes). One work will have music of the choreographer's choice; one work will have music recommended by the composition teacher.
 - The Composition Committee, two additional board-of-study representatives, and the director of the Conservatory of Dance will view these second audition pieces.
3. On the basis of this second showing, the provisional student will be accepted or denied for the composition concentration.

Composition Concentration Requirements

Students must meet all general degree requirements as well as conservatory requirements for graduation. Students accepted in the performance concentration remain with their original academic advisor and must:

1. complete one summer composition workshop, and audit one semester of another composition teacher's course; or audit two semesters of another composition teacher's courses; or complete an equivalent requirement as determined by the Composition Committee.
All workshops must be approved by the Composition Committee and the director of the Conservatory of Dance.
2. maintain a minimum GPA of B+ in all composition courses. (Students who do not maintain this minimum GPA will be dropped from the composition concentration.)
3. complete a one-semester course in art history, and/or a one-semester course in aesthetics or another art history course, and/or at least one semester of DPD 1070/Documenting Dance: A Video Production Guide for Choreographers, as advised by the composition teacher and/or Composition Committee.
4. complete one year of level III ballet or modern technique and 2 credits of repertory as a minimum requirement for graduation.

Junior Year

Fall:

Each student prepares a work to be shown to the Composition Committee, two additional board-of-study representatives, and the director of the Conservatory of Dance. The nature of this work is determined by the student and the composition teacher and/or Composition Committee and designed to challenge the student's talents.

Spring:

Each student prepares a showing for the Composition Committee, two additional board-of-study representatives, and the director of the Conservatory of Dance. This showing takes place during the third week in March and consists of:

- a work determined by the student and the composition teacher and/or Composition Committee and designed to further challenge the student's talents
- a junior composition project that follows the Junior Composition Showing Guidelines.

Senior Year

- The student's mentor for the senior project must be a member of the composition faculty.
- The student choreographs three to four works as advised by the composition teacher and/or Composition Committee and presents two of these works during a Senior Project Weekend, which is shared with other dance students in their senior year.
- The composition teacher and/or Composition Committee may assign additional choreographic challenges, tailored to further enrich and deepen the student's developing artistry.

BFA in Dance: Dance Production Concentration

Students must meet all general degree requirements as well as conservatory requirements for graduation. Students in the dance production concentration are required to complete 2 credits of repertory before graduation and, as a minimum technique requirement for graduation, a 2000-level course in either ballet or modern for one year.

Freshman and Sophomore Years

Students apply for the dance production concentration during the second semester of their sophomore year and before the sophomore jury. Sophomore jury results, along with a general aptitude for and interest in dance production, determine a student's acceptance or denial. Freshmen and sophomores follow the basic curriculum.

Undergraduate Dance Courses: DPD 1000–4999

Dance Freshman Seminar

DPD 1030 / 1 credit / Fall

Freshmen dance majors are given an orientation to the campus and its services, such as health, counseling, and the library, and to the professional dance world. Includes an introduction to the resources and performance spaces in New York City, one of the major dance capitals of the world.

Documenting Dance: A Video Production Guide for Choreographers

DPD 1070 / 2 credits / Every semester

In the first semester, students learn the basic tools of video production and how they apply to archiving, grant proposals, and promotional materials. The second semester is devoted to creating dances for the camera and the application of nonfiction filmmaking techniques to documentation of the choreographic process.

Anatomy for Dancers

DPD 1250 / 3 credits / Spring

A lecture course, required for freshman dance majors, in which students study the skeletal structure, muscles, tendons, and ligaments; movement range in joints; and injury care, cure, and prevention through the principles of Swedish massage.

Music I

DPD 1650 (Fall) and 1660 (Spring)

2 credits (per semester) / Every year

A year-long course covering the basic elements of music: melody, harmony, and the relationship of musical and dance rhythm. Basic notation skills. Functional emphasis on relating music to dance. Required for all freshman dance majors.

Topics in Music

DPD 1655 (Fall) and 1665 (Spring)

2 credits (per semester) / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A year-long eclectic exploration of music's many dimensions as they relate to the professional dancer. Such concepts as line, symmetry, balance, form, tension and release, and force of gravity serve as a bridge between the two disciplines. Landmark musical works are studied, as well as the way various choreographers have approached them. DPD 1655 focuses more on fundamental musical skills (e.g., rhythm, score reading, harmony), while DPD 1665 pursues broader philosophical issues (e.g., the idea of narrative, antinarrative, texture, and historical style). Offered as SOA 1300 and 1301 for students in other disciplines.

Dance Production I

DPD 1710 (Fall) and 1720 (Spring)

2 credits (per semester) / Every year

A year-long course, required for all freshman dance majors. An introduction to basic dance production techniques, including lighting, sound/recording, stage management, and running crew. Involves classwork and crew assignments on dance productions. Open to students in other disciplines with permission of instructor.

Acting

DPD 1850 / 2 credits / Every semester

An introduction to the core elements of the actor's craft with the goal of developing sensitivity, awareness, and spontaneity on stage.

Awareness of the body, voice, mind, and soul is heightened through improvisations, exercises, monologues, nontextual and scene work, and in-class performances. This course builds on the dancers' work of physical articulation and incorporates a deep attention to psychological intention, character, and emotion. No previous experience required; open to students in other disciplines with permission of instructor.

Western Dance History I and II

DPD 2060 and 2070

2 credits (per semester) / I: Fall; II: Spring

A survey of Western theatrical dance. The roots of the ballet in Renaissance Italy and France through 20th-century developments in ballet and modern dance are studied as our cultural heritage. Required for all sophomore dance majors. Offered as SOA 2260 and 2270 for students in other disciplines.

Music II

DPD 2650 (Fall) and 2660 (Spring)

2 credits (per semester) / Every year

An in-depth exploration of historical style and the elements of music. Fall: Musical masterworks from the Baroque, Classical, and Romantic eras, with an analysis of their compositional techniques, along with examples of choreographic works and approaches especially suited to the music cited. The Dance MFA Program

The MFA program in the Conservatory of Dance contains two closely allied and interrelated tracks: choreography and performance/teaching. Throughout this highly focused, two-year professional training program, the MFA candidate researches and develops a strong sense of personal artistic identity as a performing artist or choreographer.

A central component and driving force of both curricula is the choreology sequence of courses. This holistic examination of choreography as a branch of knowledge or field of research—exploring the related history, design, music, theatre, and visual arts and the social and political pressures through which specific masterworks emerged—informs the choreographer and performer. In the context of this study, students in both tracks present their choreography or performance each semester.

Classes on the MFA level are small, personal, and intensive. In the master-apprentice tradition, admission to the MFA program is highly selective. The training reflects contemporary standards and directions; fosters artistic, creative, and intellectual growth; and prepares students to enter the professional field, as it is evolving today, in careers as faculty in higher education, freelance choreographers, dance company directors, dance studio founders and directors, and directors and faculty of professional training programs.

Coursework in both MFA tracks includes choreology, choreography, modern and/or ballet technique, improvisation, music seminars, studio and composition pedagogy, and graduate seminars. Each student presents graduate showings in the area of their selected track each semester. The course content is balanced to reflect the area of concentration.

Criteria for Acceptance

- A. Completion of an undergraduate degree.
- B. Demonstrate expertise in either modern dance or classical ballet at the required dance audition, and pass the audition.
- C. Submission of:
 1. a résumé;
 2. transcripts of all prior undergraduate experiences;
 3. a DVD or YouTube link of the applicant's work, performance, or teaching;
 4. a personal-statement essay; and
 5. professional and personal letters of recommendation.
- D. Choreography-track students must have mounted (and provide evidence of) their choreography over a minimum of the past two to four years.
- E. Performance/teaching-track students must have had (and provide evidence of) a professional performing career. At the required dance audition, they must qualify for the highest level of BFA technique.

For details and deadlines, please refer to the application instructions available online at the Office of Admissions, www.purchase.edu/Departments/Admissions/ApplicationInstructions/conservatoryofdance.aspx.

Graduate Dance Courses: DPC 5000–5999

Advanced Improvisation

DPC 5010 / 1 credit / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Through structured assignments, students investigate their own physical vocabulary, explore trust, and open new personal-movement boundaries.

Choreography I and II (Choreography Track)

DPC 5115 and 5215 / 2 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

Highly concentrated studies designed to develop choreographic proficiency and strengthen understanding and application in both structured work and the student's own creative concepts. In the fall, these works are presented in workshop format at the end of the semester. In spring, these works are presented in an informal concert in the Dance Theatre Lab.

Choreology I, II, III, IV

DPC 5120, 5220, 5320, 5420 / 3 credits (per semester)

I, III: Fall; II, IV: Spring

Research and analysis of the choreographic importance of works, as reflected by history, design, music, visual arts, and the social/political climate. Divided into four periods: classic, romantic, modern, and postmodern. A thorough and complete investigation surrounds major repertory and its impact on the state-of-the-art form, as it is evolving today.

Pilates I

DPC 5300 (Fall) and 5350 (Spring)

.5 credit (per semester) / Every year

The authentic Pilates mat workout, a technique for core conditioning, for novice or entry-level students. This course is the basis for the Pilates method of body conditioning. The class sessions include work on the Pilates exercises and address the history, philosophy, and methodology of Joseph H. Pilates.

Choreography III and IV (Choreography Track)

DPC 5315 and 5415 / 2 credits (per semester)

III: Fall; IV: Spring

A continuation of DPC 5215. Works are presented in a fully produced, major concert.

Pilates IIDPG 5325 / .5 credit / Fall

The authentic Pilates mat workout for students with prior Pilates experience. This course is the basis for the Pilates method of body conditioning. In each class session, students work out; examine the history of the Pilates method and its creator, Joseph H. Pilates; discuss the six principles of the method and the importance of the Powerhouse; and incorporate the five elements of the mind.

Graduate Dance Courses: DPD 5000–5999Documenting Dance: A Video Production Guide for Choreographers*DPD 5070 / 2 credits / Every semester

In the first semester, students learn the basic tools of video production and how they apply to archiving, grant proposals, and promotional materials. The second semester is devoted to creating dances for the camera and the application of nonfiction filmmaking techniques to documentation of the choreographic process.

Music Seminar I, II, IIIDPD 5120, 5220, 5320 / 1 credit (per semester)

I, III: Fall; II: Spring

Tailored to the student's background and future goals, these seminars intensely integrate the student's application and understanding of music with his or her choreography or performance and teaching.

Studio Pedagogy I, II, IIIDPD 5125, 5225, 5230 / 2 credits (per semester)

I, III: Fall; II: Spring

Through a combined format of seminar and practical application, students study pedagogy of dance technique and teach technique classes in their field of experience to both dancers and nondancers.

Composition Pedagogy I and IIDPD 5145 and 5245 / 1 credit (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

Students monitor and observe as master teachers deliver the composition curriculum to BFA students, followed by a practical application in the students' own choreography of the principles learned in those classes. Students also create their own syllabi for college-level composition classes.

Composition Pedagogy III and IVDPD 5345 and 5445 / 1 credit (per semester)

III: Fall; IV: Spring

The master-apprentice tradition continues while the students develop their own syllabi and course proposals for college-level choreography classes.

Prerequisite: DPD 5245 (for DPD 5345) and 5345 (for DPD 5445)Student/Teacher Practicum*DPD 5450 (Fall) and 5455 (Spring)

2 credits (per semester) / Every year

Students apply and are selected to be mentored in teaching ballet or modern technique classes for students in other disciplines.

Shared Student/Teacher PracticumDPD 5460 (Fall) and 5465 (Spring)

1 credit (per semester) / Every year

Students apply and are selected to be mentored in teaching ballet and modern technique classes with another person for students in other disciplines.

Repertory and Rehearsal I and II (Performance/Teaching Track)DPD 5510 and 5610 / 1 credit (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

Students learn, develop, rehearse, and prepare a performance of repertory. Classic and contemporary choreographers' works are researched and presented with historical background and inherent stylistic differences. Repertory selections vary according to the student's experience and interests.

Graduate Dance TechniqueDPD 5800 (Fall) and 5820 (Spring)

1–6 credits (per semester) / Every year

The goal of these courses is to expand the student's movement vocabulary while strengthening and refining the choreographic ability to choose materials that artistically and aesthetically express the student's creative and performing perspectives.

Repertory and Rehearsal III and IVDPD 5810 and 5815 / 1 credit (per semester)

III: Fall; IV: Spring

A fully produced concert in the Dance Theatre Lab, shared with other MFA candidates in the same class. One performance piece must be classical and one must be contemporary.

Independent StudyDPD 5900 / Variable credits / Every semester

Designed by each student with the MFA director and advisor to implement the student's training and enable the student to pursue specific curricular interests.

Conservatory of Music

The Conservatory of Music offers a comprehensive musical education at both the undergraduate and graduate level for carefully selected, gifted individuals who are seeking the chance to train, perform, collaborate, and connect with the most talented people in the world of music—individuals who are willing to commit themselves to rigorous training in a forward-looking conservatory environment.

A conservatory is a place of tradition, and the commitment and focus required of students who enter a conservatory have not changed in centuries. But the music industry has evolved dramatically during the last few decades. Musicians today must be artistically flexible, conversant in technology, and prepared to work in multiple genres in order to function as creative and autonomous professionals.

Programs in the Conservatory of Music are designed to guide students toward musical mastery and launch them on the path to rewarding professional careers. With an enrollment of approximately 450 undergraduate and graduate students, the conservatory offers small classes and close interaction with a stellar faculty of professional musicians, composers, and producers. Music students also have numerous opportunities to perform and have their work presented in a range of venues on campus, in the local community, and in New York City.

Master Classes

Each season, the Performing Arts Center at Purchase College brings many of the world's greatest artists to the campus. In collaboration with the Performing Arts Center, the Conservatory of Music presents a series of master classes and open rehearsals by these artists for the benefit of music students.

Alumni

Purchase graduates make their livings as professional musicians, performing with such groups as the New York Philharmonic, Metropolitan Opera, Baltimore Symphony, Houston Symphony, St. Louis Opera, and l'Orchestre Nationale de Paris, as well as in many professional chamber groups and Broadway musicals. Graduates of our jazz studies, composition, and production programs are active composers, recording artists, engineers, and producers in a wide variety of musical genres and venues, including film, television, and Broadway. Other graduates have gone on to pursue advanced studies and are now teaching in such prestigious schools as the Juilliard School, the Curtis Institute of Music, and Yale University.

Conservatory of Music: Facilities

The Music Building

The Music Building is an outstanding facility for practice, rehearsal, recording, and classroom study. It offers a variety of large, acoustically isolated rehearsal and performance spaces, including a 198-seat Choral Hall and a 280-seat Recital Hall; 72 practice rooms and teaching studios; and digital recording studios, two fully equipped MIDI sequencing rooms, and two state-of-the-art hard-disk digital assembly studios.

The Performing Arts Center

One of the finest facilities on any East Coast college campus, the Performing Arts Center (PAC), is located adjacent to the Music Building and is available for the conservatory's activities. The PAC has four professional performance spaces and one of the largest portable Flentrop tracker organs in the world.

The conservatory's inventory of instruments includes:

- Steinway B, D, L, and M performance pianos, plus approximately 102 other Steinway Grand pianos located in classrooms, studios, and practice rooms
- Franco-Flemish double and two doubles by Eric Herz
- Two fortepianos, a clavichord, two celestes
- A vast collection of professional standard woodwinds, brasses, and strings
- A complete authentic Baroque string quartet
- Gambas, sackbuts, crumhorns, and recorders
- An array of additional Renaissance, Baroque, Classical, and exotic Indian instruments

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit Facilities \(www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/music/facilities.aspx\) on the Conservatory of Music site.

Conservatory Recording Facilities

The Conservatory of Music maintains seven digital recording studios. Additional recording facilities include the Recital Hall, a 15-station digital piano lab, and two “smart” classrooms. The studios are open seven days a week during the academic year and summer session and are connected via Ethernet and fiber-optic cable to the campus network. All studios are equipped with industry-standard digital audio workstations and peripherals and are kept up to date with the latest from Avid, Ableton, Waves, etc.

For more detailed information and updates during 2013–2015, please visit Recording Facilities (~~www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/music/recordingfacilities.aspx~~) on the Conservatory of Music site.

Entrance Audition Requirements

Students are accepted in the Conservatory of Music by audition only, and a student’s application for admission must be submitted before beginning the audition process.

Prescreening Auditions

All programs require a prescreening audition recording, which applicants submit online at Slideroom (purchase.slideroom.com). There is a $57 nonrefundable audition fee, which is subject to annual increases approved by the State University of New York, plus a $5 Slideroom fee. Applicants who wish to audition for more than one program in the Conservatory of Music must submit a separate prescreening audition recording and audition fee for each program.

Live Auditions

If the prescreening audition is successful, the applicant will be selected for a live audition. Applicants selected for live auditions will be notified via email by the Conservatory of Music and will be assigned a live audition date at that time. All live auditions take place in the Music Building on campus.

Please visit www.purchase.edu/music or contact the conservatory, (914) 251-6700, music@purchase.edu, for:

1. audition dates and deadlines
2. updates during 2013–15 on the nonrefundable audition fee and Slideroom fee
3. specific audition requirements by major or area of study, including technical requirements for prescreening materials

The Bachelor of Music Program

Undergraduate majors in the Conservatory of Music lead to the Bachelor of Music (MusB) degree. For aspiring music professionals, four years at Purchase College offers something rare in the conservatory world: a true musical community where competition is balanced by a commitment to mentoring.

Undergraduate Majors

Minor in Music

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Music

The minor in music requires 21 to 25 credits, depending on the area of study. The course of study includes:

- Four semesters of private or master class instruction in the area of specialization
- Two semesters of theory or models
- Two semesters of solfège or ear training
- Two semesters of secondary piano*
*for students in areas other than piano performance
- Two semesters of music history (any courses)
- Two semesters of ensemble (placement by audition)

How to Apply

Only a limited number of students can be admitted each year to the minor in music, based on the available spaces in a given area. Students will only be accepted through the Conservatory of Music audition process. There is a $57 nonrefundable audition fee, which is subject to annual increases approved by the State University of New York, plus a $5 Slideroom fee.

After their audition, students who have been accepted must submit a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study, available at www.purchase.edu/registrar (under "Forms") and at the Office of the Registrar.

Required Course Fee and Performance Lab Fee

Students minoring in music are charged the course fee ($1,219.87 per semester) to cover private-study lessons and master classes, as well as a performance lab fee ($37 per semester). Please note that these fees are subject to annual increases. For a detailed explanation of each fee, please refer to Adjustments and Explanation of Fees on the Student Financial Services website (www.purchase.edu/departments/enrollmentservices/financialservices/obill/explanationoffees.aspx).

Updates on fees during 2013–2015 may be obtained from the Office of Student Financial Services (www.purchase.edu/departments/enrollmentservices/financialservices/); (914) 251-7000.

Information for Music Majors

Students majoring in a Conservatory of Music program may not minor in another area of music. However, they may (with permission of the instructor) pursue study in another area within the conservatory. Music majors who audition for another music program will not be charged an audition fee. However, they will be charged an additional course fee if they take secondary lessons.

For additional information and updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/music/musicminor.aspx.

The Master of Music Program

Graduate studies in the Conservatory of Music lead to the Master of Music (MM) degree, a postbaccalaureate Performers Certificate, or a post-master's Artist Diploma. These programs are designed for gifted musicians and composers clearly destined for professional careers.

The Conservatory of Music accepted its first candidates for the master's degree in September 1988. (Before 2000, graduate programs in the Conservatory of Music led to the MFA.) With a small and selective enrollment, the MM program is rigorous and delivers a measure of faculty mentoring that few conservatories can match.

Effective Fall 2013 (pending SUNY approval):

The MM program is an intensive two-year course of study (42 credits, except voice/opera studies, which requires 45 credits). Students pursuing this degree take private study, music theory and history, and courses specific to their area of study and must maintain at least a 3.0 (B) cumulative GPA. All master's degree candidates present their work in at least one recital.

Our faculty members are artists whose work can be heard in renowned recordings and in performances on the world's most important stages. Our connection with the Performing Arts Center affords students the opportunity for transformative master classes with guest artists. Expanded programs are tailored to the needs of our international students.

Diploma and Certificate Programs

The post-master's Artist Diploma and the postbaccalaureate Performers Certificate are programs reserved for accomplished students who are on the verge of major performance careers in solo, ensemble, or studio settings. The coursework is designed to prepare students for orchestral auditions, solo or chamber music competitions, and major recording projects.

Both programs include a strategically balanced offering of performance courses entailing private study, chamber music, large ensemble, and formal recital preparation. Each program culminates in digitally recorded public performance recitals, which are prepared and researched by the candidate under the careful guidance of his or her faculty mentor. The Performers Certificate and the Artist Diploma are available as one-year or two-year programs.

While the Performers Certificates are designed as postbaccalaureate programs, the earned credits could be applied to the conservatory's Master of Music (MM) degree should the candidate so desire in the future. Once an MM is earned, a student may apply for the Artist Diploma program.

Private Lessons and Recitals

Every music major's program includes instrumental, vocal, or composition study. The curricula for students in the performance majors (instrumental, vocal, and jazz studies) also include solo and ensemble playing and/or singing. The goal is to produce a resourceful, imaginative musician who will feel at ease with many kinds of music. Care is taken to keep technical work and musical understanding closely related at each stage of development.

Private-study lessons or master classes are taken with a resident faculty member or with a visiting affiliate artist selected by agreement of the student, the teacher, and the dean. Guidance in the choice of teacher is available from the resident faculty, in particular the head of the student's undergraduate major or graduate area of concentration. Each student must complete a course of lessons or master classes and receive an evaluation of satisfactory technical and musical progress from the private teacher each semester.

The Conservatory of Music offers 13 private-study lessons per semester to students in performance and composition. Studio composition and production students receive 13 master classes (small-group study) per semester. Private-study lessons or master classes may not exceed eight semesters for undergraduates and four semesters for graduate students. For students enrolled in other programs, undergraduate credit is available (at additional cost) in SOA 4500, with permission of the director of the Conservatory of Music.

Required Course Fee

There is a required course fee ($1,219.87 per semester) for these private-study lessons and master classes. Please note that this fee is subject to annual increases.

Recitals

A packet containing recital policy and procedure is available from the Conservatory of Music. All recitals require authorization from the student's private teacher, booking clearance, and approval of the director of the Conservatory of Music.

The String Program

The string program is dedicated to teaching instrumental mastery as part of a commitment to exposing each student to all of the traditional string professions—orchestra, chamber music, teaching, and solo playing. Chamber music is a hallmark of the program, and all of its faculty members have an extensive background performing chamber music. The curriculum of both the undergraduate and graduate programs includes exposure and opportunities in contemporary music, early music, intensive chamber music, collaborative string and piano music, and orchestral training (excerpts and auditions), in addition to solo training and orchestral experience. The mentoring provided by our Faculty String Quartet also gives our students ideas and inspiration for their own work.

The Piano Program

The piano program offers world-class teaching and practice facilities, extensive performance opportunities, and an excellent chamber music faculty. Students can discover their own unique artistic voice with courses in such disciplines as Baroque performance practice; vocal and instrumental collaboration; harpsichord, fortepiano, and organ; and contemporary performance practice.

The Summer Piano Series, an annual public concert series, provides a showcase for our piano students and alumni. Recent series have included students and alumni from the United States, Israel, Russia, Taiwan, Canada, and Macedonia, offering works by Beethoven, Chopin, Brahms, Debussy, Rachmaninoff, de Falla, Tower, Fennimore, and Buzarovski.

Piano Faculty

Stephanie Brown, BM, The Juilliard School
 Stephen Buck, DMA, Yale University
 Steven Lubin, PhD, New York University
 Paul Ostrovsky, MM, Moscow State Conservatory of Music

The Brass Program

In the brass program, students are taught to perform Baroque music on period instruments as well as contemporary or improvisational music on modern instruments. Each genre is explored in a structured program that emphasizes chamber music to develop good ensemble and aural skills. Solo repertoire is studied in a weekly master class as part of brass performance, where sectional rehearsals for the Symphony Orchestra are also scheduled. To help develop good ensemble skills, there are also trumpet, horn, trombone, and tuba ensembles, which tackle challenging repertoire, both contemporary and standard. Members of the brass faculty are dedicated teachers and highly visible performing musicians.

The Percussion Program

In the percussion program, students have numerous performance opportunities, including the Percussion Ensemble, Contemporary Ensemble, Symphony Orchestra, Opera Orchestra, Wind Ensemble, and Brass Ensemble, as well as collaborative opportunities with the other conservatories and schools at Purchase. All percussion students are required to perform solo recitals and are encouraged to present their own projects and participate in off-campus performances in New York City and surrounding areas.

The percussion facilities at Purchase are among the most outstanding in the nation, with six private practice rooms exclusively for the use of the percussion program, plus a separate rehearsal room for the Percussion Ensemble. Purchase College owns a vast array of percussion instruments, including marimbas, timpani, vibraphones, xylophones, glockenspiels, and chimes.

The Woodwind Program

The woodwind program accepts a select number of students, providing an intimate environment in which every student is recognized and encouraged. Faculty members in the program are top musicians deeply steeped in the great traditions of chamber music performance, as well as solo and orchestral performance. They offer their students a deeper musical perspective than is usually found in traditional woodwind training. The curriculum includes regular lessons, studio classes, chamber music, wind performance class, and orchestra.

Woodwind students enjoy a rich and varied musical experience through these and other performance opportunities, including the Contemporary Ensemble, Camerata, and concerts at the Neuberger Museum of Art.

The Classical Guitar Program

The classical guitar program offers students the very best in guitar pedagogy, with weekly lessons, performance seminars, chamber music coachings, and guest master classes. The Conservatory of Music also offers a fully equipped recording studio in which students can record their own CDs. Students perform regularly in the conservatory's Recital Hall, in which several excellent classical guitar CDs have been recorded, and in outreach concerts in the community.

In addition to the Performing Arts Center on campus, opportunities abound in nearby New York City to hear professional recitals. Students can also hear internationally accomplished soloists at the Connecticut Classical Guitar Society concerts in Hartford, Conn., and participate in its master classes.

The Composition Program

The composition program is committed to fostering the unique gifts of each composer and providing both the technical and artistic tools needed to best express his or her musical personality.

Students study with the entire faculty during their time at Purchase so that they may benefit from different approaches and musical perspectives. Courses in theory, orchestration, and musicology are designed to nurture and strengthen. A weekly Composition Seminar builds community and provides a forum for in-depth discussions of student work. Guest speakers are also invited to illuminate different aspects of the complex world of new music in this seminar.

Perhaps most important, student composers at Purchase hear their works performed. Purchase New Music is an extension of the Purchase Symphony Orchestra and provides a steady stream of players for the six yearly departmental recitals. Collaborations with other areas of the campus are encouraged and supported. The Performing Arts Center offers rich programming featuring some of the world's most acclaimed performers, enriching the musical experiences of our students and lighting the path toward professional life.

The Voice and Opera Studies Program (Vocal Performance)

Vocal performance at Purchase College is a small, highly selective program designed to train and mentor serious students in their pursuit of a career in professional classical singing and opera. This is achieved through a highly disciplined and completely integrated curriculum taught by a talented, committed, and caring faculty, all of whom were or are active, first-class performing artists. Our working mantra is “learning to perform requires performing to learn.” To that end, every class has a performing component whenever possible. In particular, the program is noted for its excellent instruction of vocal technique, stage technique, movement, language studies, and musical styles. The program’s operas, which are performed primarily by undergraduates, are routinely praised for their inventiveness and professionalism and have won several annual National Opera Association awards.

The Jazz Studies Program

The jazz studies program is a dynamic, intensive, professional training experience for the aspiring jazz performer. The performance-driven curriculum strives to emphasize the practical, bringing “the street into the classroom.” With world-class performance and rehearsal facilities, the program enjoys an acclaimed reputation among today’s leading institutions. Jazz majors are mentored by some of the leading jazz artists on the scene today, and performance opportunities abound on campus, locally in Westchester County and Connecticut, and in leading New York City venues.

The Studio Composition Program

The studio composition program provides talented and ambitious writers with intensive preparation in the craft of musical composition, especially in the recorded media. The hallmarks of this program are:

- hands-on studio experience

- thorough training in conventional and unconventional music
- small-group study with acclaimed professional writers
- a working community of artistic peers
- a tradition of alumni success

In sum, the studio composition program offers a friendly, artistic community whose tradition of excellence produces hundreds, if not thousands, of new musical compositions every year.

All studio composers write and produce two significant original projects (undergraduate) or two master's recitals (graduate). These can be either recorded, reviewed in score form, or performed live. Many studio composition recitals feature multimedia collaboration with students in the other arts conservatories at Purchase College. Other recitals may occur at clubs and concert venues in New York City, as well as in professional recording studios. The program also functions closely with the studio production program, and collaborative accomplishment between these two programs is typical in classes, concerts, and recording sessions.

Two and a half decades after the program's inception, studio composition alumni and former students are working in the music industry in New York City, Los Angeles, Berlin, Paris, and Tokyo and touring internationally. They are composers and recording artists, orchestrators and arrangers, producers and executives, DJs and MCs, interactive technology designers, authors and educators. They include (to name a few): Jay Azzolina, Sébastien Bardin, Susie Bench, David Bianciardi, Imani Coppola, Charlie B. Dahan, Jack D. Elliot, Jarrett Mumford (J-Zone), Dan Romer, John Selway, Regina Spektor, Bill Youngman, Jenny Owen Youngs, Jeremy Wall, Rich Westover, and Saundi Wilson.

The Studio Production Program

The undergraduate major in studio production is among the leading programs of its kind in the United States. The program seeks a limited number of experienced producers and engineers who display advanced skills in recording, production, and associated technology. It is the quest of the studio production program and its faculty to develop producers who can ultimately work within a wide spectrum of musical genres with expertise, awareness, and understanding of each genre's subtleties and traditions and with sharply honed technological, musical, and business skills. The faculty and alumni alike are established artists and producers, and many studio production students are professionals before they graduate.

The hallmarks of the studio production program include:

- hands-on studio experience
- thorough training in most musical genres, from hip-hop to Mozart
- small-group study with professional producers
- music theory and musicianship for producers

The curriculum offers hands-on lessons in each of the state-of-the-art recording facilities housed in the Conservatory of Music, plus a thorough grounding in the business of music. Additionally, studio production students engineer dozens of recitals for their fellow students in the conservatory, creating a synergy that is virtually exclusive to Purchase College. The program also functions closely with the studio composition program, and collaborative accomplishment between these two programs is typical in classes, concerts, and recording sessions.

Central to the program's success are internships at companies in the music industry, ranging from Warner Brothers and Sony to Shanachie and Rough Ryders, and at professional recording studios like Acme, Carriage House, and the Loft.

Undergraduate Music Courses: MCO 1000–4999

Models I, II, III, IV, V, VI

MCO 1010, 1020, 2010, 2020, 3020, 3030

3 credits (per semester)

I, III, V: Fall; II, IV, VI: Spring

The core music theory curriculum for studio composition and studio production students, consisting of six sequential courses (I–IV only for studio production). Studies in musical structure and syntax. An integrated presentation of melody, rhythm, harmony, counterpoint, and timbre. This course begins to explain the universal principles of proportion and beauty in all music.

- I. Music grammar, fundamental harmony, multiple musical traditions
- II. Harmony, species counterpoint, phrase structures
- III. Acoustics, proportion, harmonic series, monophony, species counterpoint
- IV. Tonal counterpoint, chromatic harmony, larger forms, jazz harmony and analysis
- V. Pop music, harmonic and rhythmic analysis
- VI. Impressionism, expressionism, Fauvism, minimalism, post-tonality

Jazz Theory I and II

MCO 1015 and 1025 / 3 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

The core music theory curriculum for jazz studies students provides a basic foundation leading to proficiency within jazz harmony. Students gain complete facility in major, minor, and dominant seventh scales in every interval, in all 12 keys. Application includes comprehensive abilities within basic foundational harmony, often referred to as II–7, V7, I. This understanding of harmony is immediately put to practical use in standard song forms, some of which are also learned in all 12 keys. Limited to jazz studies majors.

Studio Composition I

MCO 1310 / 2 credits / Fall

The fundamental information needed to function as an engineer/producer in today's digitally driven recording environment. Includes an overview of the recording studio and in-depth technical information on the properties of sound, microphone design, cabling, digital audio converters, the Nyquist theorem, consoles, and signal processors. Students gain the working knowledge needed to be comfortable in the studio, together with skills in troubleshooting, maintenance, and engineering. Open to students in all disciplines with permission of instructor.

Studio Composition II

MCO 1320 / 2 credits / Spring

In this technical exploration of the computer, how it is constructed, and its purpose in a modern recording studio, students gain a transparent view and working knowledge of technology, allowing for greater creative potential. Music-production software programs are explored, e.g., Digital Performer, Logic, Ableton Live, Reason, and Native Instruments. Students learn to troubleshoot and be comfortable in front of any modern computer system with multiple production software programs installed.

Prerequisite: MCO 1310 or permission of instructor

Studio Composition Seminar

MCO 1410 / 1 credit / Every semester

Group discussions and presentations of student works, together with analysis of music by a range of established composers, encompassing many different styles. Live performances and guest artists enhance class sessions. Required for studio composition majors. Grading is on a pass/no credit basis.

Jazz Harmony I and II

MCO 2015 and 2025 / 2 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

Examines the various aspects of jazz harmony and improvisation. Topics include the cycle of fifths; secondary and substitute dominants; key of the moment; cadences, modal interchange, and melodic embellishment; and an in-depth study of improvisational devices, linking scales, advanced reharmonization, and tertian relationships. Limited to jazz studies majors.

MIDI Composition I

MCO 2310 / 2 credits / Fall

Making technology transparent to musical composition. From the foundation of MIDI signal flow, MIDI editing, and sound-programming theory, students learn to translate compositions into a professional MIDI sequence. Emphasis is on synthesis methods, sampling techniques, and an introduction to instrumentation and orchestration within a MIDI performance. Open to students in all disciplines with permission of instructor.

MIDI Composition II

MCO 2320 / 2 credits / Spring

A continuation of MCO 2310, with emphasis on instrumentation and orchestration. Students learn advanced MIDI sequencing and sampling techniques for the creation of convincing arrangements and compositions within varying musical scenarios. The acoustical properties of various instrument groups are also addressed.

Prerequisite: MCO 2310 or permission of instructor

Composition Seminar

MCO 3010 / 1 credit / Every semester

Group discussions and presentations of student works, together with analysis of music by a range of established composers, encompassing many different styles. Live performances and guest artists enhance class sessions.

Studio Production I

MCO 3330 / 2 credits / Fall

Advanced recording and production technology, with an emphasis on digital multitracking. Large-format "out of the box" consoles and advanced signal path and gain structures are discussed. Includes acoustics and studio design seminars, with soundproofing and construction considerations; and advanced microphone and electronics selection, technique, theory, and practice. Students track a variety of instruments together. Culminates in a complex overdubbed class project.

Prerequisite: MCO 1320 and 4360, or permission of instructor

Studio Production II

MCO 3340 / 2 credits / Spring

Advanced mixing and mastering, including plug-in automation, audio restoration, and mixing in 5.1 surround sound, with an emphasis on troubleshooting, professionalism, and meticulous attention to production values. Discussions include analog processing and its relevance to digital workstations; the role of the engineer and producer in a modern studio environment; and ethics, technique, and real-time production constraints.

Prerequisite: MCO 3330 or permission of instructor

Scoring on Assignment

MCO 3350 / 2 credits / Spring

Producers of film, TV, advertising, and theatre request a wide range of musical moods and feels. In this course, composers and arrangers are given deadline assignments of writing to a client's specifications within typical industry parameters. Various styles and techniques used by commercial composers (e.g., thematic writing, underscore, and ostinati devices) are covered. Client relations are emphasized, as is the concept of perfection when writing on demand.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Recommended: Some notation or theoretical ability

Melody Writing

MCO 3415 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

A practical study of the craft of writing contemporary melody. Analytical and creative focus on effective melodic practice, plus musical rhyme, dramatic pitch curve, repetition and excursion, bridge, prechorus and chorus writing, melodic psychology and hooks. Studies may include Franz Schubert, Richard Rodgers, Cole Porter, Billie Holiday, Carole King, Bob Dylan, Joni Mitchell, Stevie Wonder, Randy Newman, and others. Prior musical accomplishment as a melodist and ability to read notation are required. Offered as SOA 3505 for students in other disciplines.

Lyric Writing

MCO 3420 / 2 credits / Spring

A practical study of the craft of writing contemporary lyrics. Analytical and creative focus on effective musical structures, plus rhyme forms and schemes, line and unit densities, text and subtexts. Studies may include Langston Hughes, Chuck Berry, Bob Dylan, Otis Redding, Joni Mitchell, Patti Smith, Chuck D, Tupac Shakur, and others. Prior musical accomplishment as a lyricist and a desire to collaborate are required. Offered as SOA 3500 for students in other disciplines.

Film Scoring I

MCO 3500 / 2 credits / Fall

Writing/producing music for motion pictures. Action/dialogue underscoring, multiple cues, synchronization, editing, and critical budgets of time, equipment, and labor.

Prerequisite: MCO 1320 or MCO 2320 or permission of instructor

Film Scoring II

MCO 3510 / 2 credits / Spring

Practical exercises in the technical and creative aspects of production and engineering, with an emphasis on sound for motion pictures. Topics include production sound, automated dialogue replacement (ADR), SFX, Foley, file formats and Sync, stem mixes, spotting and scoring, mixing to picture, and delivery formats. The course includes demonstrations and a group recording project. Collaborative work with Purchase College film students is encouraged.

Prerequisite: MCO 3500 or permission of instructor

Studio Arranging I

MCO 3550 / 2 credits / Fall

Designed to provide students with the knowledge needed to transform a song from its simplest form to a full-fledged, multidimensional arrangement, ranging from an entire symphony orchestra to exotic percussion and experimental studio effects.

Prerequisite: MCO 2020 and MTH 2425

Studio Arranging II

MCO 3555 / 2 credits / Spring

A continuation of MCO 3550, with a more in-depth approach to song structure, instrumentation/orchestration, lead sheet writing, the skill of transcription, and the harmonic/melodic/rhythmic relationship. Formulating an album concept, genre-specific characteristics, and arranging preexisting material are also discussed in detail.

Prerequisite: MCO 3550

Contracts, Copyrights, and Publishing

MCO 3712 / 2 credits / Fall

A course in the business of music that focuses on essential legal terms, language, and concepts underlying standard recording artist agreements, U.S. copyright law, and standard music publishing contracts. Sampling legislation, synchronization, and mechanical licenses are also examined in detail. Pending schedule availability, noted music industry professionals present guest lectures on relevant topics.

Open to students in all disciplines with permission of instructor.

Touring, Promotion, and Distribution

MCO 3722 / 2 credits / Spring

Addresses the complexities of booking a tour, artist promotion, and current trends in music distribution, including do-it-yourself (DIY) Web-based distribution. Ethical issues relating to controversial subject matter and images, derogatory lyrics, social politics, and sexual content and its effect on the marketplace are also discussed. Open to students in all disciplines with permission of instructor.

Jazz Composition I

MCO 4030 / 2 credits / Fall

A writing course covering the basics of composition as they relate to the jazz idiom. Song forms, harmonic and melodic structure, genre-specific compositional traits, and the work of both specific bebop-era jazz composers and composers in the Great American Songbook are studied. Compositions from different genres within the jazz idiom are broken down into their common components for comparison and contrast. All assignments are delivered via Finale or Sibelius notation software. Limited to jazz studies majors.

Prerequisite: MCO 1015, 1025, 2015, and 2025; MUS 4410 and 4420

Jazz Composition II

MCO 4035 / 2 credits / Spring

A writing course covering more contemporary concepts of composition as they relate to the jazz idiom. Song forms, harmonic and melodic structure, genre-specific compositional traits, and the work of specific modern post-bop jazz composers are studied. Compositions from different genres within the jazz idiom are broken down into their common components for comparison and contrast. All assignments are delivered via Finale or Sibelius notation software. Limited to jazz studies majors.

Prerequisite: MCO 1015, 1025, 2015, and 2025; MUS 4410 and 4420

Studio Composition Master Class

MCO 4120 / 3 credits / Every semester

Weekly study in small groups with master composers. Melody, harmony, rhythm, timbre, form, and lyrics are studied within a variety of styles, aesthetics, and technologies. Students present their work at each class.

Studio Production Master Class

MCO 4125 / 3 credits / Every semester

Weekly study in groups of three to five with master producers. Recording techniques and technologies, as well as the psychological, logistical, and entrepreneurial crafts of a producer, are studied. Students present their work at each class.

Digital Audio I

MCO 4350 / 2 credits / Fall

A "Pro Tools 101" course covering digital audio workstation (DAW) essentials, in which intensive digital editing and DAW skills are developed. Includes specific instruction in Pro Tools shortcuts, file types and digital audio formats, edit modes, groups, playlists, session management, and safe data-file management skills, along with background history on tape vs. digital recording techniques. Open to students in all disciplines with permission of instructor.

Digital Audio II

MCO 4360 / 2 credits / Spring

How to equip and set up a modern digital recording studio. Topics include equipment, project, and professional studio design and logistics for stereo and multitrack recording; setting up and running a tracking session; microphone techniques and cue mix strategies; an overview of mixing and mastering, including automation, region manipulation, time-division multiplexing (TDM), and AudioSuite and Real-Time AudioSuite (RTAS) plug-in basics; and advanced signal processing.

Prerequisite: MCO 4350 or permission of instructor

Creative Production Techniques I and II

MCO 4711 and 4721 / 1.5 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

Focuses on unique scenarios and non-mainstream techniques in recording and production. Assignments include recording live to mono analog tape; instrument construction, using scrap materials; and composition and recording. Study of ethnic music, including reggae and blues.

Undergraduate Music Courses: MPE 1000–4999

Freshman Jury

MPE 0200, 0201, 0202, 0203

0 credit / Spring

An evaluation of each music major's progress after one year of study in the Conservatory. Students perform for a faculty jury, and their abilities in their area of concentration are critically evaluated. Successful completion of the freshman jury is required to continue in the program. Students register as follows: MPE 0201, jazz studies; MPE 0202, studio composition; MPE 0203, studio production; MPE 0200, all other juries.

Sophomore Jury

0 credit / Spring

An evaluation of each music major's progress after two years of study in the Conservatory. Students perform for a faculty jury, and their abilities in their area of concentration are critically evaluated. Successful completion of the sophomore jury is required to continue in the program. Students register as follows: MPE 0301, jazz studies; MPE 0302, studio composition; MPE 0303, studio production; MPE 0300, all other juries.

Midpoint AssessmentMPE 0310, 0312, 0313, 0314

0 credit / Spring

A skills-related exam/jury scheduled concurrently with the second semester of second-year theory. Students are asked to demonstrate proficiency in theory or models, solfège or ear training, secondary keyboard (non-pianists only), and music history. Failure to do so results in the postponement of the junior recital/production. Students register as follows: MPE 0312, studio composition; MPE 0313, studio production; MPE 0314, vocal performance; MPE 0310, all other music majors (excluding jazz studies). Grading is on a pass/no credit basis.

Prerequisite: MCO 2010, MTH 2050, or MTH 2435 and permission of faculty advisor or conservatory directorCorequisite: MCO 2020, MTH 3050, or MTH 2445Keyboard Studies I, II, III, IV*MPE 1010, 1020, 2010, 2020

1 credit (per semester)

I, III: Fall; II, IV: Spring

Designed to promote facility at the keyboard, this four-semester sequence of lessons for non-keyboard students culminates in a proficiency examination normally taken at the end of the sophomore year. Different sections of this course sequence are designed specifically for classical performance (excluding piano), jazz studies, and studio composition majors.

Studio Chart ReadingMPE 1030 / 1 credit / Every semester

Focuses on the art of reading and performing music notation written for and by studio musicians. Topics include techniques in reading and performing numeric charts, reading and writing music shorthand, and sight-reading charts. This course recreates real-life studio conditions for ensembles and prepares players to participate in the professional opportunities of the recording studio.

Chamber Music ClassMPE 1110 / 2 credits / Every semester

The study and performance of works from the chamber music repertoire and/or the sonata literature for piano and instruments. Coaching sessions (up to one and a half hours per week) culminate in performances.

Prerequisite: AuditionBrass Chamber Music*MPE 1112 / 2 credits / Every semester

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorCamerata*MPE 1170 / 2 credits / Every semester

Interpretation of music of the 17th and 18th centuries from the perspective of historically informed performance. Instructors teach basic principles of interpretation that are evident from early performance manuals, then encourage students to actively engage these principles by forming personal interpretations around them. Students are encouraged to form creative, original approaches to the repertoire, particularly when the historical record may be incomplete, inchoate, or simplistic.

Symphony OrchestraMPE 1201 / 2 credits / Every semester

Intense preparation of works, mostly from the standard repertoire, for performance. Study of characteristic styles, performance practice, and acquisition of large ensemble skills and professional etiquette. Open to students in all disciplines with permission of instructor.

Woodwind Performance ClassMPE 1210 / 1 credit / Every semester

This course is devoted to the study of orchestral excerpts and large-scale chamber music. Instrumental techniques, tuning, and ensemble balance are given careful attention.

Corequisite: MPE 1211Woodwind Instrumental Lab*MPE 1211 / .5 credit / Every semester

Companion performance lab for participants in MPE 1210.

Corequisite: MPE 1210Brass Performance and Ensemble*MPE 1220 / 1 credit / Every semester

The main instrumental ensemble (20–30 players) in the brass program. Conducted by members of the brass faculty, this ensemble performs repertoire from the 16th century to the present. It also performs music from the British "brass band" repertoire, in which students are required to play traditional brass band instruments. Rehearses weekly for one and a half hours. Open to students in all disciplines with permission of instructor.

Brass Instrumental Lab

MPE 1221 / .5 credit / Every semester

Companion performance lab for participants in MPE 1112.

Corequisite: MPE 1112

Percussion Performance Class

MPE 1230 / 1 credit / Every semester

A forum for percussionists to discuss and examine the many facets of percussion performance. The study of the orchestral repertoire for timpani and percussion is the primary focus.

Percussion Ensemble

MPE 1231 / 1 credit / Every semester

Study and performance of the percussion ensemble repertoire. Students have the opportunity to perform a range of parts, from basic to virtuosic, in all areas of percussion: timpani, mallets, and multiple percussion.

String Performance Class

MPE 1240 / 1 credit / Every semester

A weekly gathering of all violinists, violists, violoncellists, and bass students, providing a forum for string players to perform for each other and to discuss and examine the many facets of string playing. Repertoire may include solo, chamber, and orchestral. Audition techniques, performance traditions, and instrument maintenance may also be covered.

Harpichord/Organ Repertoire Class

MPE 1260 / 1 credit / Every semester

Covers the full range of basic repertoire for the harpsichord and organ. Students perform and actively participate in the analytical and critical process for pedagogical purposes.

Viola for Violinists

MPE 1270 / 2 credits / Every semester

An introduction to the viola for violinists. Students gain proficiency in the alto clef, familiarity with sound production, and techniques of the bow and left hand as considered from a different perspective on the viola. Repertoire is individualized for each student.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Jazz Saxophone Doubling

MPE 1295 / 1 credit / Every semester

A comprehensive overview of playing techniques for the common saxophone doubles, especially clarinet and flute. Specifics on embouchures, fingerings, tone production, and performance practice are facilitated by weekly in-class readings of repertoire, études, and technical exercises.

Klezmer Ensemble

MPE 1360 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The study and performance of traditional and contemporary repertoire from the Eastern European Jewish music tradition known as klezmer. Students develop improvisational skills using the traditional ornaments and modal melodic language. They also learn the klezmer approach to ensemble playing, which combines unison playing, call and response, and improvised solos. This course culminates in a performance as final project. Offered as SOA 1510 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Italian Art Song Literature I and II

MPE 1370 and 1375 / 1.5 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

A survey course of Italian art songs from the 16th century to modern times; part of the core curriculum for classical voice majors.

Presented chronologically, the songs explore the repertoire that forms the core of each linguistic style and historical period. Students learn and perform one song every week in a master-class setting. Integrated with MPE 1380 and MPE 1390.

Italian Diction I and II

MPE 1380 and 1390 / 1 credit (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

An exploration of the principles of Italian diction. The international phonetic alphabet is employed to indicate correct pronunciation.

Vigorous application of these principles to the repertoire studied in MPE 1370 and 1375.

Guitar Performance Class

MPE 1400 / 2 credits / Every semester

Covers a full range of solo repertoire and performance. Students actively participate in the analytic and critical process for pedagogical purposes.

Harp Performance Class

MPE 1420 / 1 credit / Every semester

A weekly gathering of harpists, providing a forum for performance, discussion, and examination of the many facets of harp technique and interpretation. Repertoire may include solo, chamber, and orchestral works. Audition techniques, performance traditions, and instrument maintenance are also covered.

Piano Performance Class

MPE 1480 / 1 credit / Every semester

Covers the full range of solo repertoire for piano. Students perform and actively participate in the analytical and critical process for pedagogical purposes.

Prerequisite: MPE 0300

Jazz Orchestra

MPE 1550 / 2 credits / Every semester

The Jazz Orchestra is a 17-piece big band that performs jazz from every era. From staples like Ellington and Basie to more modern works by today's leading composers and arrangers, this orchestra swings and is always a pleasure to listen to. Limited to jazz studies majors.

Prerequisite: Audition

Purchase Latin Jazz Orchestra

MPE 1600 / 2 credits / Every semester

Focuses on the music of the Machito Orchestra, Tito Puente, Chico O'Farrill, and Dizzy Gillespie, among others. The conversion of standard jazz repertoire to what is currently known as Latin jazz is emphasized through an in-depth study of clavé (the rhythmic pulse found in Afro-Caribbean music) and the variety of rhythms incorporated in this genre. Orchestra members are encouraged to contribute original arrangements. Offered as SOA 1530 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: Audition

Studio Programs Ensemble

MPE 1650 / 2 credits / Every semester

Students develop performance skills in a cross-genre ensemble of popular music styles. While most of the group work takes place in a studio setting, live performance and recording sessions are also included. Students learn the skills of projection, amplification, and audience engagement and have the opportunity to develop their unique performance style and musical voice. Limited to studio composition and studio production majors.

Jazz Combos

MPE 1700 / 2 credits / Every semester

These combos are thematically based and speak directly to the firsthand performing experiences of faculty mentors. Focusing on repertoire derived from the master composer/bandleaders from all eras of jazz, elements of group interaction, group dynamic, improvisation, arranging, and stylistic interpretation are integrated into a professional ensemble experience. Limited to jazz studies majors.

Purchase Symphonic Winds

MPE 1800 / 2 credits / Every semester

An ensemble comprised of wind, brass, and percussion instrumentalists. Repertoire is chosen from the vast spectrum of literature written and transcribed for concert band setting. The ensemble engages in rigorous preparation that culminates in an end-of-semester concert performance. Membership is by audition for all Purchase College students as well as community residents. Offered as SOA 1525 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Sight Reading Workshop

MPE 1850 / 1 credit / Every semester

An exploration of the literature for piano-four hands (duets and two pianos) with the objective of developing skill in sight reading, leading to a performance of material read at sight.

Prerequisite: MPE 0300

Movement Styles

MPE 2230 / 1 credit / Every semester

A course for the singing performer on how to move within the context of different historical periods. It explores the reason for each movement style by offering training in balance, coordination, flexibility, and strength.

Stage Techniques for Singers

MPE 2260 / 2 credits / Every semester

A performance class designed to develop the language of the stage and its various applications, using pantomime, dance, music, text, character analysis, dramatic readings, meditations, etc. as tools to become comfortable on the stage.

German Art Song Literature I and II

MPE 2370 and 2375 / 1.5 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

A survey course of German art songs; part of the core curriculum for voice majors. Presented chronologically, the songs explore the repertoire that forms the core of each linguistic style and historical period. Students learn and perform one song every week in a master-class setting. Emphasis is on the development of musical skills necessary for the appropriate interpretation of each style. Integrated with MPE 2380 and 2390.

German Diction I and II

MPE 2380 and 2390 / 1 credit (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

An exploration of the principles of German diction. The international phonetic alphabet is employed to indicate correct pronunciation. Vigorous application of these principles to the repertoire studied in MPE 2370 and 2375.

Keyboard Literature I and II

MPE 2550 and 2560 / 2 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

A historical and practical survey of keyboard music from the pre-Renaissance through the Classical Era. Assignments involve the preparation and in-class performance of works from these periods and exploration of lesser-known literature. Discussions and projects relate to the history and performance practice of the period. Offered as SOA 2550 and 2555 for students in other disciplines with no corequisite.

Corequisite: MTH 2510 and 2520

Keyboard Literature III and IV

MPE 2570 and 2580 / 2 credits (per semester)

III: Fall; IV: Spring

A historical and practical survey of keyboard music from the 19th century to the present. Assignments involve the preparation and in-class performance of works from these periods and exploration of lesser-known literature. Discussions and projects relate to the history and performance practice of the period.

Collaborative Piano

MPE 2610 / 1 credit / Every semester

Study of the art of accompanying singers and instrumentalists. Members of the class perform regularly.

Improvisation for Pianists

MPE 2620 / 1.5 credits / Alternate years

A practical exploration of the art of improvisation for the classical pianist. Students develop improvisatory techniques using harmonic structures, varied musical textures, rhythmic nuance, and spontaneous counterpoint. This guided approach builds on the belief that accomplished improvisation is a practiced skill. It embraces the historical practice of improvisation as part of performances by composers like Mozart, Beethoven, and Liszt.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Opera Coaching

MPE 3260 / .5 credit / Every semester

Private weekly music coaching (for undergraduates, in the junior and senior years) that support the student's development (technical and artistic) and presentation (linguistic, stylistic, musical, and dramatic). Prepares the student for performance situations throughout the department. The goal is to enable the student to function as an independent professional upon completion of the program.

Opera Workshop

MPE 3350 / 2 credits / Every semester

In a performance lab setting, students prepare and perform in a concert of staged scenes with piano or instrumental ensemble; and/or participate in at least one fully staged opera, given in its original language, with orchestra, sets, and costumes. This course further develops and refines the musical and dramatic skills acquired in previous courses.

Opera Workshop Lab

MPE 3355 / 1 credit / Spring

A practical application of opera rehearsal techniques as studied in MPE 3350.

Corequisite: MPE 3350

French Art Song Literature I and II

MPE 3370 and 3375 / 1.5 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

A survey course of French art songs; part of the core curriculum for classical voice majors. Presented chronologically, the songs explore the repertoire that forms the core of each linguistic style and historical period. Students learn and perform one song every week in a master-class setting. Emphasis is on the development of musical skills necessary for the appropriate interpretation of each style.

Integrated with MPE 3380 and 3390.

French Diction I and II

MPE 3380 and 3390 / 1 credit (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

An exploration of the principles of French diction. The international phonetic alphabet is employed to indicate correct pronunciation. Vigorous application of these principles to the repertoire studied in MPE 3370 and 3375.

Conducting Techniques

MPE 3500 / 2 credits / Fall

A practical introduction: simple beat patterns with both hands, cues with the left hand, as well as indications for sforzati, cut offs, and lyric gestures. Works from early Haydn to Brahms.

Conducting Strategies

MPE 3510 / 2 credits / Spring

A seminar that explores how conductors approach musical challenges. Studies and assignments incorporate score analysis, orchestral arranging, and conducting techniques. Students conduct short works that they have arranged or composed for small ensembles formed in the class.

Orchestral Excerpts

MPE 4000 / 1 credit / Spring

An opportunity for instrumentalists to become familiar with challenging solo material from the standard orchestral repertoire, enhancing their ability to succeed at auditions.

Junior Recital

(jazz: 45 minutes; strings: minimum 30 minutes; all other junior recitals: 30 minutes)

MPE 3991, 3992, 3993 / 1 credit / Every semester

Senior Recital (60 minutes)

MPE 4991, 4992, 4993 / 1 credit / Every semester

A recital of repertoire or original compositions. While faculty and private teachers work closely with students in its preparation, the recital largely represents an independent effort demonstrating the student's mastery of a range of literature, a variety of styles and techniques, and the ability to design and execute a substantial program. String players must include a substantial work (from the mid-20th century through the contemporary era) on either their junior or senior recital. Students register as follows: MPE 3992 and 4992, jazz studies recitals; MPE 3993 and 4993, studio composition recitals; MPE 3991 and 4991, all other junior/senior recitals.

Prerequisite: Junior: MPE 0300, 0301, or 0302 (sophomore jury); senior: MPE 3991, 3992, or 3993 (junior recital)

Junior Production (30 minutes)

MPE 3995 / 1 credit / Every semester

Senior Production (60 minutes)

MPE 4950 / 1 credit / Every semester

A CD produced and engineered by each student that demonstrates his or her skills and musicality as a recording engineer and record producer. A 30-minute CD is required for MPE 3995; a 60-minute CD is required for MPE 4950. Material should be newly recorded, not a compilation of early material. MPE 3995 and 4950 are the equivalents of the junior and senior recitals for studio production majors.

Prerequisite: Junior: MPE 0303; senior: MPE 3995

1 credit (per semester)

I, III: Fall; II, IV: Spring

Establishes a familiarity with the keyboard and a thorough knowledge of essential skills to empower students in their pursuit of independent repertoire study.

Introduction to World Music

MTH 1560 / 2 credits / Spring

The music of Japan, India, West Africa, Cuba, and Brazil is compared and contrasted. Topics include the use of music in each respective society; musical forms; types of instruments; and the impact of history, religion, and politics on the music. Offered as SOA 1560 for students in other disciplines.

World Music and Jazz TraditionsMTH 2230 / 2 credits / Fall

An overview of world music and an introduction to the indigenous American art form of jazz. Students explore music from many cultures, including Africa, the Caribbean, India, China, Japan, Australia, Indonesia, the Middle East, and Latin America. The course also surveys traditional jazz styles and their roots, including the blues, Dixieland, swing, and bebop. These varied musical traditions are presented within both their unique cultural contexts and a modern global context. Offered as SOA 2580 for students in other disciplines.

Survey of Music History I and IIMTH 2510 and 2520 / 3 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

Traces the history of Western concert music, providing an overview and foundation. The course begins with a focus on world music, placing Western concert music in the greater context of its relationship to other cultures. The musical cultures of India and the Arabic countries of North Africa are examined for their impact on Western concepts. MTH 2510 and 2520 may be taken in either order. MTH 2520 is offered as SOA 2505 for students in other disciplines.

Corequisite (for classical music students): MTH 2050 and 3050Orchestration I*MTH 3070 / 2 credits / Fall

A practical introductory study of idiomatic writing for traditional instruments. Instrumental characteristics, timbral balance, dynamics, articulation, and texture. Scoring of fragments of works for ensembles of two to 20 instruments.

Prerequisite: MTH 3050 or MCO 2020 or permission of instructorOrchestration II*MTH 3080 / 2 credits / Spring

A continuation of MTH 3070. Scoring for complex traditional ensembles, including string orchestra, winds, full percussion, symphony, operatic, film, and theatre orchestras. Score analysis from Monteverdi to Stockhausen.

Prerequisite: MTH 3050 or MCO 2020 or permission of instructorTechniques of Composition for Performers*MTH 3170 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

An opportunity for instrumentalists to experience writing music. Each project is based on an existing work that students absorb and analyze before creating a work of their own. Through compositional models, students explore contemporary theory and the compositional thought process, which will enrich their lives as interpreters. All student pieces are performed in class.

Electroacoustic Music IMTH 3180 / 2 credits / Fall

A historical overview of electroacoustic music, beginning in the late 1940s with the devotees of musique concrète, recorded natural sounds, and synthesized tone construction. Students learn about the gradual evolution of technology and composition and its impact on many music traditions and trends. Offered as SOA 3550 for students in other disciplines.

Electroacoustic Music IIMTH 3190 / 2 credits / Spring

An overview of current creative trends in electroacoustic music. Contemporary digital music systems offer unprecedented dynamic control over timbre. This course reviews aspects of musical acoustics and psychoacoustics and explores electroacoustic simulation through recent experimental examples. Offered as SOA 3555 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: MTH 3180 or permission of instructorImprovisation for Classical Musicians*MTH 3370 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Fosters deep understanding of music theory by returning to 18th-century training methods that employ analysis and synthesis together, in place of the current reliance on analysis alone. On the basis of analysis of theoretical principles of 18th-century models of ornamentation, free fantasias, basso continuo, and cadenzas, students learn to do original work in these genres.

Jazz History I and IIMTH 3400 and 3450 / 3 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

Surveys the history and evolution of jazz from its West African origins and migration to the present. While emphasis is on listening to and analyzing recorded examples, sociopolitical and economic issues are also examined. Students learn to identify stylistic and contextual aspects of jazz based solely on listening and develop a familiarity with the major stylistic innovators from all eras. Readings from scholarly works help provide a comprehensive overview of America's indigenous music. Limited to jazz studies majors.

Music Since 1900MTH 3510 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines major developments and trends in 20th-century musical style, including impressionism, primitivism, expressionism, and neoclassicism. Studies include an examination of cultural and social movements as expressed through other art forms.

Prerequisite: MTH 2520Music From Antiquity*MTH 3575 / 2 credits / Fall

Taught from both musical and social perspectives, this course explores the history of music from its earliest surviving roots in ancient Greece through the opening of the Baroque era. Topics include plainchant, the rise of polyphony, development of notation, rhythmic modes, the Burgundian school, the effects of Renaissance humanism on musical culture, the Renaissance madrigal, basso continuo, and opera.

Prerequisite: MTH 2510 and 2520 and an excellent command of English (reading and writing)

Music of the Common Practice EraMTH 3576 / 2 credits / Spring

A study of repertoire, social history, performance practice, and changing aesthetics of music in the period c. 1750–1880, concentrating on works by C.P.E. Bach, Haydn, Mozart, Beethoven, Schubert, Berlioz, von Weber, Liszt, Chopin, Brahms, Wagner, and Tchaikovsky. Students are encouraged to investigate and understand stylistic foundations, analytical workings, reception history, and philosophical implications of important musical works of the period.

Prerequisite: MTH 2510 and 2520 and an excellent command of English (reading and writing)Expansion of Chromaticism*MTH 3577 / 2 credits / Fall

An in-depth look at the period of musical evolution that occurred between the collapse of a “common practice” in music (the closing decades of the 19th century) and World War II. Styles investigated include primitivism, futurism, extreme chromaticism extending into atonality, bitonality, impressionism, expressionism, decadent symbolism, and neoclassicism.

Prerequisite: MTH 2510 and 2520 and an excellent command of English (reading and writing)Music Since 1945*MTH 3578 / 2 credits / Spring

Presents an in-depth look at expansions of serial technique by the Darmstadt group; the rise of the American avant-garde; the emergence of a newly contextualized tonality; minimalism, mostly in the works of such Americans as Reich, Glass, and Adams, with some works by Pärt and Górecki; and expressions of postmodernism by artists as diverse as Brian Eno, Meredith Monk, Laurie Anderson, and Björk.

Prerequisite: MTH 2510 and 2520 and excellent command of English (reading and writing)The Music of J.S. Bach*MTH 3600 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Bach and his music are engaged from historical, social, generic, analytic, and performance-based perspectives. Students examine Bach’s inventiveness in cross-pollinating genres as well as his contrapuntal genius, fascination with musical instrument building, and expansion of the professional life of musicians. In addition to written assignments, each student gives a lecture-demonstration on a work (or segment of a work) by Bach. Offered as SOA 3600 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: MTH 2510 and 2520 and LWR 1110The Music of Beethoven*MTH 3620 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A study of the stylistic influences surrounding Beethoven’s music; the history of its reception; its formal, thematic, and harmonic construction; and how it interrogates other works. The tripartite division of Beethoven’s life is scrutinized and evaluated for its applicability (or lack thereof) to various parts of his repertoire. Students give a lecture-demonstration of one work (or one part of a work). Offered as SOA 3540 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: MTH 2510 and 2520 and LWR 1110Berlioz, Wagner, and Liszt*MTH 3630 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A study of the lives, output, and philosophies of the three composers of largely programmatic music who comprised the New German School and were opposed strongly by Brahms and Eduard Hanslick. The rich corpus of prose works (primarily those printed in Die neue Zeitschrift für Musik) left by these composers is used to interrogate their musical scores.

Prerequisite: MTH 2510 and 2520 and LWR 1110Mahler and Strauss*MTH 3670 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The lives, output, and collaborations of Gustav Mahler and Richard Strauss are explored in the context of the heady atmosphere of the Viennese fin de siècle. Discussions of political and social upheavals (Dr. Karl Luger, the Ringstrasse project, and Klimt and the Secessionist movement) are mixed with examination and analysis of representative works, predominantly orchestral songs and symphonies/tone poems.

Shostakovich and the Soviet EraMTH 3680 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the works of Dmitri Shostakovich, the greatest of the Soviet-era Russian composers and one of the top symphonists of the 20th century. Soviet politics are examined in relation to the arts, Shostakovich’s official condemnations and rehabilitations, and his major works for opera, ballet, piano, chamber, symphonic, and vocal repertoire.

Prerequisite: MTH 2510 and 2520 and LWR 1110Seminar in Analysis*MTH 4010 / 2 credits / Spring

Analysis of selected works from the Baroque, Classical, and Romantic eras, with particular attention to tonal design and rhythmic and phraseological structure.

Prerequisite: MTH 4050Post-Tonal Theory and Analysis*MTH 4075 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Students examine and contextualize many of the important works from the Second Viennese School and beyond. Special emphasis is given to the impact of such early 20th-century figures as Schoenberg and Stravinsky, opera, innovations in the work of Olivier Messiaen, and music by living composers. Major political and social changes during the century are factored into the musical discussions.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorHistory of Recorded Music I: Blues to Bebop*MTH 4120 / 2 credits / Fall

American popular music and its recording techniques (to 1950): ragtime, gospel, blues, vaudeville, New Orleans brass band, swing, Tin

Pan Alley, bebop, and early rhythm and blues. Analysis and performance. Offered as SOA 4600 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite for MTH 4120: Two years as a music major

History of Recorded Music II: Bebop to Hip-Hop

MTH 4130 / 2 credits / Spring

A continuation of MTH 4120. Cool, mainstream, progressive/free jazz, rhythm and blues, country and western, Broadway, rock 'n' roll, reggae, soul and Motown, fusion, disco, punk, metal, and hip-hop. Analysis and performance. Offered as SOA 4610 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite for MTH 4130: Two years as a music major

Opera History I and II

MTH 4211 and 4212 / 1.5 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

A chronological survey of major operas and opera composers from the early 1600s to the present in cultural context. Participants research and write critical analyses based on documentation of early performances and, when available, archival recordings. MTH 4211 is offered as SOA 4590 and MTH 4212 is offered as SOA 4595 for students in other disciplines.

Opera Literature I and II

MTH 4213 and 4214 / 1.5 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

An integrated companion to MTH 4211 and 4212, focusing on historic performance styles and their practical application. Participants learn and present excerpts from each major historical operatic period.

The Golden Age of Recorded Opera

MTH 4225 / 1.5 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students listen to recordings of such preeminent artists as Birgit Nilsson, Leontyn Price, Teresa Berganza, Christa Ludwig, Nicolai Gedda, and Leonard Warren from the golden age of recorded opera (1950–1985). Attention is paid to the variety of styles, techniques, and interpretations found in various arias, ensembles, and art songs.

The Magic of the Fugue

MTH 4320 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Provides training in composing and analyzing fugues based on teaching methods outlined in The Art of the Fugue (1750) by J.S. Bach. Each lecture illuminates one of Bach's teaching points and is followed by written assignments. The final exam is the composition of a fugue on a given subject.

Undergraduate Music Courses: MUS 1000–4999

Jazz Repertoire I and II: The Great American Songbook

MUS 1070 and 2080 / 2 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

Presents many of the essential American standards (e.g., Gershwin, Porter, Kern, Rodgers and Hart, Hammerstein) regularly performed by working jazz musicians. Each week, a tune is studied aurally, learned by ear, analyzed, and memorized. Small combo techniques, transposition, and interaction are included. Sample recordings of all the selections for these courses are made available. Limited to jazz studies majors.

Piano Pedagogy

MUS 1160 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

Pianists are introduced to the art of teaching through discussions, lectures, and assignments. Class activities explore teaching techniques, materials, repertoire, and curriculum planning for intermediate and advanced pianists. Students are also given opportunities for practice teaching. Other projects may include conducting a master class, adjudicating a competition, preparing a recital, and researching new technology resources related to pedagogy.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Chorus

MUS 1250 / 2 credits / Every semester

A mixed ensemble of vocal performance with students from all areas of the campus. The chorus performs a varied repertoire of music and presents concerts on campus and in touring venues with orchestra and professional soloists. Offered as SOA 1600 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite for MUS 1250: Prior choral experience

Songwriting I

MUS 1320 / 2 credits / Every semester

Introductory study of the craft of songwriting: analysis of lyrics, rhyme, emotional projection, melodic contour, and formal verse-chorus practice. Offered as SOA 1700 for students in other disciplines.

Songwriting II

MUS 1330 / 2 credits / Every semester

A continuation of MUS 1320. Further study of the craft of songwriting. Offered as SOA 1710 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: MUS 1320

Independent Study (Lower Level)MUS 1900*Independent Study (Upper Level)*MUS 3900

Variable credits / Every semester

Independent study, covering any area of musical scholarship, is an elective arranged between a student (or group of students) and a faculty member. It demands student initiative and self-guidance.

Prerequisite: A special course contract, filled out by the student and a faculty advisor, specifying goals, criteria, and credits

Jazz Improvisation IMUS 2050 / 1.5 credits / Fall

Introductory study in jazz improvisation: blues; pentatonic scales; and ionian, aeolian, and dorian modes. AABA forms. Simple chord positions, substitutions, and turnarounds. Melodic contours, rhythmic studies, transposition, and development. Analysis, accompanying, and improvisation. Limited to jazz studies majors.

Jazz Improvisation IIMUS 2060 / 1.5 credits / Spring

A continuation of MUS 2050. Rhythm changes, Latin patterns. Diminished and synthetic scales; chords: super-locrian and lydian-flat 7; and alternative. Modal, linear tunes, binary solos, countermelodies, and background riffs. Analysis, accompanying, and improvisation. Limited to jazz studies majors.

Prerequisite: MUS 2050

Rhythmic AnalysisMUS 2065 / 1 credit / Every semester

Provides students with fluency in performance-based sight reading of jazz music. The course is designed to enhance each student's ability to feel, identify, transcribe, and notate rhythm, with a primary focus on the most common time signatures and divisions of the beat. Limited to jazz studies majors.

Introduction to Ethnomusicology

MUS 2610 Refer to ANT 2610 in Anthropology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.

Tutorial (Lower Level)MUS 2900*Tutorial (Upper Level)*MUS 4900

Variable credits / Every semester

A tutorial is an elective arranged between a student and a faculty member. It is intended to allow for intensive study of a particular problem.

Prerequisite: A special course contract, filled out by the student and a faculty advisor, specifying goals, criteria, and credits

Ritmica MethodMUS 3060 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Develops in students a deeper understanding of rhythm as a musical element, moving beyond the arithmetic function of rhythm to explore its melodic and intuitive functions. Offered as SOA 3560 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Jazz Repertoire III: Latin JazzMUS 3070 / 2 credits / Fall

An examination of the melodic and rhythmic influence on jazz of the music of the Caribbean, Mexico, and South America with an emphasis on the music of Brazil. Limited to jazz studies majors.

Jazz Repertoire IV: BebopMUS 3080 / 2 credits / Spring

The bebop era changed not only the manner of playing jazz but the way of composing it as well. This course explores the bebop style of composing alternative melodies over the chords of standard popular songs of the day. In addition to learning standard repertoire of the era, students compose original bebop-style melodies. Limited to jazz studies majors.

Jazz Repertoire V: Modal and Cool JazzMUS 3090 / 2 credits / Fall

Jazz repertoire and styles presented include examples of modal and cool jazz. The material is taught by rote to develop and strengthen the ability to learn by ear. Classes are conducted in an ensemble format and explore improvisational techniques for all course material. Limited to jazz studies majors.

Jazz Repertoire VI: Contemporary and Post-BopMUS 3100 / 2 credits / Spring

Music Notation Software

MUS 4430 / 1.5 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this hands-on primer, students become proficient in the use of Finale and Sibelius, the industry standards in music notation software. The embedded tutorials are used as a basis for a project-driven introduction to music notation via the computer.

Topics in Professional Development

MUS 4455 / .5 credit / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A moderated series of guest lectures that address practical concerns of the professional musician. Topics may include dealing with injuries and injury prevention, tax strategies and tax-related record keeping, advertising and self-promotion in the age of the Internet, travel and airport security issues for the touring musician, and union protections and benefits.

New Modalities in Chamber Music

MUS 4470 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the varied career paths open to composers and performers in the changing musical ecosystem. Contemporary, classical, jazz and world, indie rock, electronica, multimedia work, and more are explored. Analysis of different artists, ensembles, presenters, and festivals, trips to New York venues, and interviews with leaders in the field provide unique insights. Students create and present a performance project.

The Art of Programming Music in the 21st Century

MUS 4480 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A concert program should be more than a random selection of works. How is a concert program put together? What are the reasons for choosing each piece? Is there an underlying concept or stylistic concern? Are there political issues involved? What are the public-relations ramifications? This course examines the philosophical, aesthetic, and practical considerations in concert programming today.

Advanced Songwriting

MCO 5430 / 2 credits / Fall

Advanced analysis of lyrics, rhyme, emotional projection, melodic contour, and formal verse-chorus practice. For experienced composers and lyricists who desire to broaden their understanding of the craft. Students are expected to be highly motivated to learn and to explore high-level collaborations across disciplines.

Practical Techniques in Studio Composition

MCO 5445 / 2 credits / Spring

An in-depth study of specific compositional devices that enhance the quality of a writer's output, regardless of style. The course focuses on scale selection, melodic development, nontraditional harmony, dynamic markings, and contrapuntal devices to facilitate well-crafted composition. Projects include integrating classroom assignments into original works. The course objective is to synthesize cognitive and "ear" writing methods into one fluid process.

Seminar in Mixing and Engineering

MCO 5450 / 2 credits / Fall

An advanced study of digital signal processors in the modern digital studio environment, focusing on their specific uses during the mix-down process. Engineers are immersed in real-world situations to foster technical and creative solutions within a typical engineer/client relationship. Emphasis is on the perception of the mind and the ear, mix techniques, and standard business practices.

Seminar in Studio Design

MCO 5455 / 2 credits / Fall

A practical exploration of design options for the modern recording studio, including its growing role in video and film postproduction. Construction techniques, space design, acoustic treatments, and facility ergonomics are examined, and changes in studio facilities in the digital age are discussed. Students learn how to spec and budget their own midsize recording facility, accounting for all aspects of equipment, construction, HVAC, electrical, and overhead.

Seminar in Studio Arranging

MCO 5460 / 2 credits / Fall

Advanced arranging skills for transforming music from its simplest rendering into complex orchestral and experimental arrangements. Class time includes projects using Pro Tools and MOTU Digital Performer as compositional/arranging platforms. Students alternately assume the roles of composer, musician, and engineer to develop collaborative communication skills from each of these points of view.

Seminar in World Music

MCO 5465 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

An overview of global musical styles with a special focus on African and Latin cultures. Emphasis is placed on understanding the present and historical practices of music making and why this music is relevant in the world-music scene today. Invited guests, together with video and audio recordings, provide additional insight into the sociological and practical relevance of these styles.

Seminar in Synchronization and Digital Media

MCO 5475 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

A hands-on seminar on advanced digital editing with a focus on the visual image. Studies include film sound and scoring, game sound, television sweetening, and Internet audio. Studies explore frame rates, video latency, troubleshooting, and various technologies and their relationship to working with sound for picture. Students also explore various delivery formats and media.

Seminar in Studio Scoring

MCO 5485 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

A writing-intensive course geared toward meeting client deadlines, with a strong emphasis on the craft involved in creating music scores in the studio. Assignments include writing for television, film, advertising, spoken-word, and Web-based situations. The composer as businessperson and current practices in the music business are also addressed.

Master's Studio Arranging

MCO 5650 / 2 credits / Fall

Designed to provide graduate-level students with the skills needed to become consummate and versatile musical arrangers. Equal time is spent in the classroom discussing advanced arranging techniques/concepts and in the recording studio implementing the ideas via hands-on experience with the recording/mixing console and software programs. In particular, the use of Pro Tools as a compositional/arranging device is frequently demonstrated.

Graduate Music Courses: MPE 5000–5999

Chamber Music

MPE 5140 / 2 credits / Every semester

The study and performance of works from the chamber music repertoire and/or the sonata literature for piano and instruments. Coaching sessions (up to one and a half hours per week) culminate in performance.

Prerequisite: Audition

Brass Chamber Music

MPE 5142 / 2 credits / Every semester

Coached by members of the brass faculty, this ensemble class focuses on group intonation, phrasing, articulation, and blend. Literature is selected from all styles and eras of music, and composition for the ensemble is also encouraged. Rehearses weekly for one and a half hours.

Symphony Orchestra

MPE 5201 / 2 credits / Every semester

Intense preparation of works, mostly from the standard repertoire, for performance. Study of characteristic styles, performance practice, and acquisition of large ensemble skills and professional etiquette.

Prerequisite: Audition

Camerata

MPE 5205 / 2 credits / Every semester

Interpretation of music of the 17th and 18th centuries from the perspective of historically informed performance. Instructors teach basic principles of interpretation that are evident from early performance manuals, then encourage students to actively engage these principles by forming personal interpretations around them. Students are encouraged to form creative, original approaches to the repertoire, particularly when the historical record may be incomplete, inchoate, or simplistic.

Woodwind Instrumental Lab

MPE 5211 / .5 credit / Every semester

Companion performance lab for participants in MPE 5450.

Brass Instrumental Lab

MPE 5221 / .5 credit / Every semester

Companion performance lab for participants in MPE 5142.

Trombone Ensemble

MPE 5226 / 1 credit / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this ensemble extension of the private-study studio, emphasis is placed on group intonation, phrasing, articulation, and blend. Literature is selected from all styles and eras of music, and composition for the ensemble is also encouraged.

Horn Ensemble

MPE 5229 / 1 credit / Special topic (offered irregularly)

This ensemble rehearses and prepares for performance of well-known horn compositions in many different styles, from the Hindemith Sonata for Four Horns to the Fripperies by Lowell Shaw. The class also works with the IVASI video system for orchestra training.

Percussion Ensemble

MPE 5231 / 1 credit / Every semester

Study and performance of the percussion ensemble repertoire. Students have the opportunity to perform a range of parts, from basic to virtuosic, in all areas of percussion: timpani, mallets, and multiple percussion.

Opera Workshop

MPE 5250 / 2 credits / Every semester

In a performance lab setting, students prepare and perform in a concert of staged scenes with piano or instrumental ensemble; and/or participate in at least one fully staged opera, given in its original language, with orchestra, sets, and costumes. This course further develops and refines the musical and dramatic skills acquired in previous courses.

Opera Workshop Lab

MPE 5253 / 1 credit / Every semester

A practical application of opera rehearsal techniques as studied in MPE 5250.

Corequisite: MPE 5250

Operatic Styles I, II, III

MPE 5255, 5256, 5257 / 2 credits (per semester)

I, III: Spring; II: Fall

This three-semester class is the principal focus of the graduate program in opera studies. Students prepare operatic scenes and arias for presentation in a master-class setting every week. Emphasis is on correct stylistic interpretation and performance practice in each stylistic period of opera history, from Monteverdi to recent works. Repertoire is assigned according to each participant's needs and abilities.

Opera Coaching

MPE 5260 / 1 credit / Every semester

Private weekly music coachings that support the student's development (technical and artistic) and presentation (linguistic, stylistic, musical, and dramatic). Prepares the student for performance situations throughout the department. The goal is to enable the student to function as an independent professional upon completion of the program.

Teaching Techniques for Voice

MPE 5275 / 2 credits / Fall

A seminar class in the fundamentals of teaching vocal technique. Students learn the physiological and pedagogical fundamentals of the workings of the voice, followed by practical application (working in a classroom setting to recognize and solve various vocal problems).

Teaching Techniques for Stage

MPE 5276 / 2 credits / Spring

A seminar class in the fundamentals of stage directing with a practical application of directing opera scenes in MPE 3350/Opera Workshop.

Jazz Saxophone Doubling

MPE 5295 / 1 credit / Every semester

A comprehensive overview of playing techniques for the common saxophone doubles, especially clarinet and flute. Specifics on embouchures, fingerings, tone production, and performance practice are facilitated by weekly in-class readings of repertoire, études, and technical exercises.

Guitar Performance Class

MPE 5410 / 1 credit / Every semester

Covers a full range of solo repertoire and performance. Students actively participate in the analytic and critical process for pedagogical purposes.

Harp Performance Class

MPE 5420 / 1 credit / Every semester

A weekly gathering of harpists, providing a forum for performance, discussion, and examination of the many facets of harp technique and interpretation. Repertoire may include solo, chamber, and orchestral works. Audition techniques, performance traditions, and instrument maintenance are also covered.

String Performance Class

MPE 5440 / 1 credit / Every semester

A weekly gathering of all violinists, violists, violoncellists, and bass students, providing a forum for string players to perform for each other and to discuss and examine the many facets of string playing. Repertoire may include solo, chamber, and orchestral. Audition techniques, performance traditions, and instrument maintenance may also be covered.

Woodwind Performance Class

MPE 5450 / 1 credit / Every semester

Provides an opportunity for students to perform solo and chamber repertoire for their peers in a master-class environment. Supervised by members of the wind faculty, the class is designed to help students develop quality performances and overcome any issues related to performance anxiety. Meets weekly for one and a half hours.

Percussion Performance Class

MPE 5460 / 1 credit / Every semester

A forum for percussionists to discuss and examine the many facets of percussion performance. The study of the orchestral repertoire for timpani and percussion is the primary focus.

Brass Performance and Ensemble

MPE 5465 / 1 credit / Every semester

The main instrumental ensemble (20–30 players) in the brass program. Conducted by members of the brass faculty, this ensemble performs repertoire from the 16th century to the present. It also performs music from the British “brass band” repertoire, in which students are required to play traditional brass band instruments. Rehearses weekly for one and a half hours.

Baroque Keyboard Literature

MPE 5470 / 2 credits / Alternate years

Examines music for organ, harpsichord, clavichord, and early piano from 1550 to 1770 by Byrd, Sweelinck, L. Couperin, Buxtehude, F. Couperin, J.S. Bach, and the Bach sons W.F. and C.P.E. Primary source materials include ornamentation and early fingering charts, as well as studies of contemporary music instruction. Outside readings of secondary source materials include Apel and Ferguson. Discussion of in-class performance is integral to the course.

Classical Sonata Literature

MPE 5471 / 2 credits / Alternate years

A survey of the piano music of Haydn, Mozart, and Beethoven, including sonatas, variations, and other shorter works. The Classical style is examined in relation to its emergence from the late Baroque era, with special attention given to keyboard technique, instruments of the period, range, and the continued evolution of musical forms.

Romantic Piano Literature

MPE 5472 / 2 credits / Alternate years

A survey of piano literature from Beethoven’s late works through the end of the 19th century. Primary focus on the works of Schubert, Mendelssohn, Chopin, Schumann, Liszt, and Brahms, with emphasis on the character piece, new trends in the use of older forms, and developments in timbre and range. Late Romantic composers are examined, focusing on their impact on early 20th-century styles.

20th-Century Piano Literature

MPE 5473 / 2 credits / Alternate years

A survey of piano literature from 1900 to the present. The works of Debussy, Ravel, Scriabin, Prokofiev, Ives, Janacek, Bartok, and Cage are the primary focus, with emphasis on extended techniques, new trends in the use of older forms, and developments in timbre and range.

Piano Performance Class

MPE 5480 / 1 credit / Every semester

Covers the full range of solo repertoire for piano. Students perform and actively participate in the analytical and critical process for pedagogical purposes.

Harpsichord/Fortepiano/Organ Class

MPE 5495 / 2 credits / Fall

For graduate piano students. An introduction to the techniques of playing keyboard instruments other than the modern piano, and an exploration of the repertoire particular to these instruments. Topics include performance practice, ornamentation, instrument construction, and sound production.

Conducting Techniques

MPE 5500 / 2 credits / Fall

A practical introduction: simple beat patterns with both hands, cues with the left hand, as well as indications for sforzati, cut offs, and lyric gestures. Works from early Haydn to Brahms.

Conducting Strategies

MPE 5510 / 2 credits / Spring

A seminar that explores how conductors approach musical challenges. Studies and assignments incorporate score analysis, orchestral arranging, and conducting techniques. Students conduct short works that they have arranged or composed for small ensembles formed in the class. Limited to graduate students concentrating in instrumental or vocal performance.

Jazz Orchestra

MPE 5550 / 2 credits / Every semester

The Jazz Orchestra is a 17-piece big band that performs jazz from every era. From staples like Ellington and Basie to more modern works by today's leading composers and arrangers, this orchestra swings and is always a pleasure to listen to. Limited to graduate jazz studies students.

Prerequisite: Audition

Contemporary Ensemble

MPE 5560 / 2 credits / Every semester

Presents the opportunity to study and perform contemporary works by established composers for diverse instruments, in all styles. Open to all graduate music majors with permission of instructor.

Purchase New Music

MPE 5565 / 2 credits / Every semester

Presents the opportunity to study and perform contemporary works by student composers for diverse instruments, in all styles. Open to all graduate music majors with permission of instructor.

Conducting/Score Reading/Analysis

MPE 5600 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A continuation of MPE 5500. Analysis of scores in the Schenkerian and compositional device modes. The science of measure groupings and the construction of main materials, especially during the Classical period.

Prerequisite: MPE 5500

Collaborative Piano

MPE 5610 / 1 credit / Every semester

Study of the art of accompanying singers and instrumentalists. Members of the class perform regularly.

Purchase Latin Jazz Orchestra

MPE 5620 / 2 credits / Every semester

Focuses on the music of the Machito Orchestra, Tito Puente, Chico O'Farrill, and Dizzy Gillespie, among others. The conversion of standard jazz repertoire to what is currently known as Latin jazz is emphasized through an in-depth study of clavé (the rhythmic pulse found in Afro-Caribbean music) and the variety of rhythms incorporated in this genre. Orchestra members are encouraged to contribute original arrangements.

Prerequisite: Audition

Klezmer Ensemble

MPE 5660 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The study and performance of traditional and contemporary repertoire from the Eastern European Jewish music tradition known as klezmer. Students develop improvisational skills using the traditional ornaments and modal melodic language. They also learn the klezmer approach to ensemble playing, which combines unison playing, call and response, and improvised solos. This course culminates in a performance as final project.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Jazz Combos

MPE 5700 / 2 credits / Every semester

These combos are thematically based and speak directly to the firsthand performing experiences of faculty mentors. Focusing on repertoire derived from the master composer/bandleaders from all eras of jazz, elements of group interaction, group dynamic, improvisation, arranging, and stylistic interpretation are integrated into a professional ensemble experience. Limited to graduate jazz studies students.

Purchase Symphonic Winds

MPE 5750 / 2 credits / Every semester

An ensemble comprised of wind, brass, and percussion instrumentalists. Repertoire is chosen from the vast spectrum of literature written and transcribed for concert band setting. The ensemble engages in rigorous preparation that culminates in an end-of-semester concert performance. Membership is by audition for Conservatory of Music students as well as area music teachers and professionals at the invitation of the instructor.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Master's Recital

MPE 5991, 5992, 5993 / 1 credit / Every semester

A 60-minute recital of repertoire or original compositions, demonstrating the ability to design and execute a substantial program at a professional level. String players must include a substantial work (from the mid-20th century through the contemporary era) in one of their recitals. Students register as follows: MPE 5992, jazz studies recitals; MPE 5993, studio composition recitals and/or recordings; MPE 5991, all other master's recitals.

Certificate Recital

MPE 5994

Diploma Recital
MPE 5995

2 credits (per recital) / Every semester

A 60-minute recital of repertoire demonstrating the ability to design and execute a substantial program at a professional level.

Graduate Music Courses: MTH 5000–5999

Research and Writing for the Modern Musician

MTH 5000 / 2 credits / Fall

Develops skills in music research and writing through guided assignments (e.g., a research paper, a concert review, liner and program notes, grant proposals, and “pitch letter” to a potential sponsor or concert presenter).

Prerequisite: Excellent proficiency in written English

Harmonic and Contrapuntal Techniques

MTH 5005 / 2 credits / Fall

A review of species counterpoint. Exploration of canon, fugue, chorale prelude, and variations. Emphasis is on the music of Bach, especially his Well-Tempered Clavier, and on composers just before Bach. Regular written assignments.

Structure and Analysis

MTH 5010 / 2 credits / Fall

Analysis of the structure and design of melody, tendency tones, and rhythmic stress; relationship of melody to harmony; serialism; tension, rhythmic units; and techniques of minimalism. From Gregorian chant to Nixon in China.

Practicum in Music Pedagogy

MTH 5025 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

MM students selected for the graduate honors program in music prepare five to seven lectures and/or lecture-demonstrations under the direct supervision of the director of graduate studies. Most of these are presented in undergraduate musicology courses at Purchase. One lecture-demonstration is presented in a semiannual honors program show to an audience of faculty, staff, students, and community members. Serves in lieu of one MTH course in the MM curriculum.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

History and Theory of Baroque Performance Practice

MTH 5055 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Illustrates the most important principles of Baroque performance practice, from early monody through Bach. The key concepts and skills discussed include special playing techniques, theories of articulation and accentuation, improvisation (including improvised ornamentation), execution of symbolized ornaments, and basso continuo realization. Lectures are enlivened by occasional hands-on exercises.

Prerequisite: MTH 5000

Overview of Performance Practice

MTH 5060 / 2 credits / Fall

Reviews the main issues involved in the attempt to perform music of the past 500 years in ways that acknowledge the historical realities of the works' periods of origin. Attention is paid to instruments, textual interpretation, contemporary writings, and performing approaches and conditions.

Post-Tonal Theory and Analysis

MTH 5075 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Students examine and contextualize many of the important works from the Second Viennese School and beyond. Special emphasis is given to the impact of such early 20th-century figures as Schoenberg and Stravinsky, opera, innovations in the work of Olivier Messiaen, and music by living composers. Major political and social changes during the century are factored into the musical discussions.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

20th-Century Harmony/Counterpoint

MTH 5100 / 2 credits / Fall

Intensive study of impressionist and expressionist techniques, plus serialism and pandiatonicism. Excerpts from Debussy, Stravinsky, Schoenberg, Bartok, Stockhausen, Crumb, Penderecki, and Reich.

Seminar in Recorded Music I

MTH 5120 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An exploration of individual topics: ragtime, gospel, blues, vaudeville, New Orleans brass band, swing, Tin Pan Alley, bebop, and early rhythm and blues. Individual lecture-demonstration for undergraduates required.

Seminar in Recorded Music II

MTH 5130 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A continuation of MTH 5120. Cool, mainstream, progressive/free jazz, rhythm and blues, country and western, Broadway, rock 'n' roll, reggae, soul and Motown, fusion, disco, punk, metal, and hip-hop. Individual lecture-demonstration for undergraduates required.

Electroacoustic Music I

MTH 5180 / 2 credits / Fall

A historical overview of electroacoustic music, beginning in the late 1940s with the devotees of musique concrète, recorded natural sounds, and synthesized tone construction. Students learn about the gradual evolution of technology and composition and its impact on many music traditions and trends.

Electroacoustic Music II

MTH 5190 / 2 credits / Spring

An overview of current creative trends in electroacoustic music. Contemporary digital music systems offer unprecedented dynamic control over timbre. This course reviews aspects of musical acoustics and psychoacoustics and explores electroacoustic simulation through recent experimental examples.

Prerequisite: MTH 5180 or permission of instructor

The Golden Age of Recorded Opera

MTH 5225 / 1.5 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students listen to recordings of such preeminent artists as Birgit Nilsson, Leontyn Price, Teresa Berganza, Christa Ludwig, Nicolai Gedda, and Leonard Warren from the golden age of recorded opera (1950–1985). Attention is paid to the variety of styles, techniques, and interpretations found in various arias, ensembles, and art songs.

The Opera and Vocal Works of Benjamin Britten

MTH 5230 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Focuses on the War Requiem and operas by Benjamin Britten. Students engage in a close reading of the texts, participate during class in musical renderings of selected sections, and become familiar with Anglican worship and musical traditions. Central themes, including class conflict, desire, and repression, are discussed when relevant. Substantial outside reading required.

Bach Cantatas

MTH 5240 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Examines secular and sacred cantatas of J.S. Bach, including the four that make up the Christmas Oratorio and the double cantata that was the basis for the now-lost Markuspassion. Topics include symbolism, text painting, neo-Platonism, instrumental concerti and sinfonias in the cantatas, the history of Bach editions, and the light shed on Bach's attitude towards Judaism in BWV 42.

Sondheim and American Musical Drama

MTH 5260 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Fall)

A study of Stephen Sondheim as a synthesis of American film, opera, and musical theatre traditions. Formal, motivic, harmonic, and structural analysis of Sondheim's principal works, supplemented by readings in philosophy, music theory and harmony, and American politics from the 1970s through the present. Extensive viewing outside of class.

Techniques of Composition for Performers

MTH 5270 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

An opportunity for instrumentalists to experience writing music. Each project is based on an existing work that students absorb and analyze before creating a work of their own. Through compositional models, students explore contemporary theory and the compositional thought process, which will enrich their lives as interpreters. All student pieces are performed in class.

The Magic of the Fugue

MTH 5320 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Provides training in composing and analyzing fugues based on teaching methods outlined in The Art of the Fugue (1750) by J.S. Bach. Each lecture illuminates one of Bach's teaching points and is followed by written assignments. The final exam is the composition of a fugue on a given subject.

The Musics of China

MTH 5350 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Chinese music is surveyed through the lens of geography and time. Students learn to sing Chinese folk songs and experience traditional instruments through writing assignments.

Topics in Music History

MTH 5540 / 2 credits / Spring

Provides a contiguous understanding of music history and prepares students for the comprehensive examination. A stream of guided readings and oral reports is designed to help students broaden and deepen their knowledge of the subject. Study groups work together on areas of common interest.

Prerequisite: Proficiency in English and sufficient prior studies in music history

Seminar in Repertoire

MTH 5560 / 2 credits / Spring

Several major works related to the student's specialization are examined in depth from musicological and performance-practice perspectives. A deeper understanding of these works is developed through guided readings and preparation of research papers, fact sheets, and annotated bibliographies. The course also provides an overview of existing repertoire from the historical period of specialization and fills any gaps in the student's general knowledge of that repertoire.

Improvisation for Classical Musicians

MTH 5570 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Students are set on a path of lifelong learning with the goal of being able to improvise in all the genres they perform. Instructors provide a graded series of tasks that begins with rudimentary ornamentation of existing lines and concludes with the improvisation of convincing fantasias, cadenzas, and dance-based pieces. Open to graduate students in the classical instrumental performance, voice/opera studies, and composition concentrations.

The Music of Alban Berg

MTH 5610 / 2 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

An intensive graduate course in the vocal and instrumental music of Berg, examining both his orchestral and previously unpublished early vocal works and his operas Wozzeck and Lulu. Topics include the influence of Freud, Weill's opera Mahagonny, Berg's satire of capitalism, the conventions of expressionist cinema, and source study of Wedekind, Brecht, and Pabst. Knowledge of German is helpful.

Music, Culture, and Ideas

MTH 5710 / 2 credits / Spring

A survey of traditional and recent perspectives on music as an object of philosophical and cultural inquiry. Questions raised include: Does music have a "metaphysical" nature? Is musical form separable from its emotional or social content? Has the postmodern culture of reproductive media changed the nature of musical experience? What are the causes of stylistic change in the arts?

Aesthetics of Film Music

MTH 5715 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Film music remains one of the least theorized branches of contemporary music. Building on the work of Royal S. Brown, Claudia Gorbman, and Max Winkler, this course explores diegetic vs. nondiegetic scoring, leitmotivic construction, and the genre's stylistic debts (particularly to Viennese fin de siècle composers). Students view films both in and outside of class and provide analyses.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Graduate Exit Exam: Classical

MTH 5840 / 0 credit / Every semester

A comprehensive, three-hour essay exam that tests that MM students have reached or exceeded a baseline of competency in music-historical topics. It is recommended that students take the exam in their third semester. Grading is on a pass/no credit basis.

History Specialization: Major

MTH 5990 / Variable credits / Every semester

Students choose a topic for an advanced individual project related to their area of study.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/music/GradCourses.aspx.

Graduate Music Courses: MUS 5000–5999

Ritmica Method

MUS 5060 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Develops in students a deeper understanding of rhythm as a musical element, moving beyond the arithmetic function of rhythm to explore its melodic and intuitive functions.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Chorus

MUS 5250 / 2 credits / Every semester

A mixed ensemble of vocal performance with students from all areas of the campus. The chorus performs a varied repertoire of music and presents concerts on campus and in touring venues with orchestra and professional soloists.

Prerequisite: Prior choral experience

Advanced Jazz Arranging I and II

MUS 5310 and 5320 / 3 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

Covers advanced arranging concepts in both big bands and small groups, centering on the styles of Thad Jones, Bob Brookmeyer, Gil Evans, and Duke Ellington. Students have opportunities for performance and recordings of their work.

Topics in Jazz Seminar

MUS 5350 / 3 credits / Fall

Problematic aspects of each student's playing are remedied through transcription and analysis of solos by master players. Students are assisted in reaching the next level of their playing ability and in developing a passion for life through music.

Seminar in Jazz Styles

MUS 5360 / 3 credits / Spring

This seminar focuses on fostering students' creativity in their original compositions, arrangements, and related original works. These works prepared and presented for live in-class group evaluation.

Seminar in Studio Pedagogy I and II

MUS 5375 and 5385 / 2 credits (per semester)

Special topic (offered irregularly; I: Fall; II: Spring)

Practical classroom and tutorial experience in the concepts of teaching. Assignments may include teaching assistantships in theory, ear training, basic keyboard, music history, and recording technology.

Seminar in Music Notation Software

MUS 5430 / 1.5 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this hands-on primer, students become proficient in the use of Finale and Sibelius, the industry standards in music notation software. The embedded tutorials are used as a basis for a project-driven introduction to music notation via the computer.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Topics in Professional Development

MUS 5455 / .5 credit / Every semester

A moderated series of guest lectures that address practical concerns of the professional musician. Topics may include dealing with injuries and injury prevention, tax strategies and tax-related record keeping, advertising and self-promotion in the age of the Internet, travel and airport security issues for the touring musician, and union protections and benefits.

New Modalities in Chamber Music

MUS 5470 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Examines the varied career paths open to composers and performers in the changing musical ecosystem. Contemporary, classical, jazz and world, indie rock, electronica, multimedia work, and more are explored. Analysis of different artists, ensembles, presenters, and festivals, trips to New York venues, and interviews with leaders in the field provide unique insights. Students create and present a performance project.

The Art of Programming Music in the 21st Century

MUS 5480 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A concert program should be more than a random selection of works. How is a concert program put together? What are the reasons for choosing each piece? Is there an underlying concept or stylistic concern? Are there political issues involved? What are the public-relations ramifications? This course examines the philosophical, aesthetic, and practical considerations in concert programming today.

Independent Study

MUS 5900 / Variable credits / Every semester

Independent study at the graduate level is intended to address special artistic, philosophical, ethnomusicological, technological, or entrepreneurial issues.

Prerequisite: A special course contract, filled out by the student and a faculty advisor, specifying goals, criteria, and credits

Graduate Project

MUS 5990 / Variable credits / Every semester

Graduate projects allow innovative presentation of materials not particularly suitable for live performance or score/tape review (e.g., transcription, recitation, or other nontraditional recital postures).

Prerequisite: Faculty recommendation and approval of the conservatory director

Conservatory of Theatre Arts

Overview of Programs

The Conservatory of Theatre Arts offers an intensive, highly focused BFA training program in acting and both a BFA and an MFA training program in theatre design/stage technology for a limited number of students who seek to pursue professional careers in these fields. As one of four schools in the Consortium of Professional Theatre Training Programs, Purchase is one of a handful of colleges in the world capable of training artists at this level—and of drawing a faculty from the ranks of professional theatre.

In addition, the conservatory offers two BA programs. In playwriting and screenwriting, students learn how to write for both the stage and the screen in courses taught by industry professionals, with plenty of room to explore other interests. The BA program in theatre and performance is designed for students interested in exploring the history and aesthetics of world drama and performance and the possibilities of theatrical expression—as performers, directors, and playwrights—within a broader liberal arts context.

Purchase Repertory Theatre

Each year, the conservatory presents a number of seasonal productions—exciting and bold interpretations of classic and contemporary plays that bring to the stage for the first time the next generation of actors, designers, and technicians. All conservatory productions are designed and produced exclusively by students.

The Acting BFA Program

The professional actor training program is a four-year sequential course of study in acting—voice, speech, movement for actors, dramatic literature, and history of the theatre, supplemented by offerings in stage combat, performance improvisation, Lecoq technique, acting for camera, makeup, and audition technique. The schedule is rigorous; in a typical week, a student works directly with faculty members for 27 to 40 hours and spends a comparable amount of time in preparation.

- The first two years of training focus on the development of the actor's imagination and an exploration of his or her inner resources as they relate to the external demands of the craft.
- During the third and fourth years, classroom work broadens to consider the elements of style and modes of behavior in various historical periods and in different media. During these last two years, the student is continuously engaged in rehearsal and public performance. The productions provide a wide range of experience, from the contemporary to the classic, and are directed by visiting professionals as well as experienced resident faculty.

The acting BFA program is one of four in the nation that meets the standards of the Consortium of Conservatory Theatre Training Programs. In the fourth year, those actors who (in the collective opinion of the faculty) are most representative of the four years of a conservatory training program are presented under Consortium auspices to an invited audience of more than 300 agents, producers, and casting directors in New York City and Los Angeles.

A very high percentage of alumni continue to find employment in the acting profession. They appear constantly on Broadway and Off Broadway, in films, on television, and in related media.

Our alumni include:

Kirk Acevedo	Edie Falco	Karen Sillas
Robert Burke	Melissa Leo	Sherry Stringfield
Oriagh Cassidy	Adina Porter	Stanley Tucci
Ron Eldard	Parker Posey
Dwight Ewell	Jay O. Sanders

Policy on Casting and Production

All students work in productions as cast. Because of the rigorous nature of the acting program, all coursework and extracurricular work or projects must be approved in advance by the student's faculty advisor. If a student becomes involved with such a project or work without the knowledge and consent of the student's faculty advisor, the student may be subject to probation and/or dismissal.

The Acting Program: Courses

Note: In the two-semester course sequences offered every year, successful completion of the fall course is a prerequisite for the spring course, unless otherwise noted. For example, TAC 1010/Acting I (part one, fall) is a prerequisite for TAC 1020/Acting I (part two, spring).

Acting ITAC 1010 and 1020 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Development of the basic acting instrument through exercises that promote relaxation, sensory awareness, expressiveness, logical stage behavior, and creative interaction with fellow performers. Beginning character and scene work emphasize various intellectual and instinctive approaches, such as script analysis and improvisation.

Script AnalysisTAC 1030 / 2 credits / Fall

In-depth analysis of selected dramatic texts to identify elements of structure, character, and language and to understand their function in creating the dynamics of dramatic action. Explores the active purposes of analytic terminology for the actor to gain awareness of action as a basic creative process for theatre. Selected plays are used.

Acting Workshop for Film and Design/TechnologyTAC 1050 and 1060 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

Introduction to the problems, processes, and techniques of the actor. Exercises deal with the focus of attention, use of objects, improvisations and beginning scenes, textual analysis to perceive acting problems, practice in communication, personal involvement, and selecting and accomplishing stage tasks. Limited to freshman film majors and sophomore design/technology majors.

Speech ITAC 1160 and 1170 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

An enlightening approach to learning the sounds of Standard American speech for clear articulation, without emphasis on "correct" speech. Students become fluent in their use of the International Phonetic Alphabet, as a means of "training the ear" in preparation for dialects.

Voice ITAC 1210 and 1220 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

Basic work on freeing the actor's natural voice. Alignment, relaxation, breathing, production of vibration, and exercises in recognizing habits and beginning to free the voice from physical and psychological tension. Exploration of vocal expression and emotion. Fundamentals of voice/text work.

Dramatic StructureTAC 1250 / 4 credits / Fall

A study of Aristotle's Poetics, plus an in-depth analysis of dramatic structures (form, theme, style, genre, and characterization) as applied to selected plays and films.

Movement ITAC 1310 and 1320 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

Teaches the actor how to actualize essential information and awareness through exercises that explore relaxation, breathing, muscular stretching, and alignment work. The practice of kinesthetic sense development and spatial relationships, along with awareness of body language and the sharpening of the senses, helps support the development of other skills (e.g., voice, speech, alternate movement styles).

Stage Combat ITAC 1355 / 1 credit / Fall

Beginning with basic, unarmed stage combat, students are drilled in use of the sword. An emphasis on fencing with foil épée and saber helps students attain better coordination and focus, as well as the practical applications thereof. In the latter part of the class, which is dedicated to the quarterstaff and its use, students explore this weapon through exercises and choreography.

Physical Comedy ITAC 1410 / 1 credit / Fall

Actors learn the art and language of images, imagination, physical creativity, and physical comedy. Such techniques as neutral and character mask work, improvisation, and story telling free the actors' bodies of excessive thinking while strengthening and honing their imagination, allowing them to create potent performances and deep character work.

Improvisation ITAC 1670 / 1 credit / Spring

An intensive workshop focused on building an understanding of the techniques and applications of improvisatory practice.

Acting IITAC 2010 and 2020 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

A continuation and extension of first-year work, with particular emphasis on characterization, text analysis, and techniques of various stylistic demands. TAC 2020 leads to performance in a full stage production.

Prerequisite: TAC 1020History of the Theatre*TAC 2100 / 4 credits / Spring A study of the history of world theatres from their origins through the present.Speech II*TAC 2160 and 2170 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

A progression of first-year work, brought to classical texts with strong emphasis on Shakespeare. Includes awareness of the devices of language and poetry necessary for speaking verse. Continued use of the International Phonetic Alphabet, followed by beginning dialect work.

Prerequisite: TAC 1170Voice II*TAC 2210 and 2220 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

Continued work on freeing the actor's natural voice, developing a voice in contact with emotional impulse, and strengthening this connection. Work on extending the voice.

Prerequisite: TAC 1220

Movement II

TAC 2310 and 2320 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

An introduction to modern dance technique, emphasizing kinesthetic and anatomical awareness of the body. Concepts include strength emulating from the center, skeletal alignment, mobility in the torso, turn out, use of breath, connection to the floor, gravity, dynamic quality, musicality, and the body's relationship to the proscenium space and to other performers. Includes exercises to warm up the body and develop muscle tone, agility, and fluidity of movement.

Prerequisite: TAC 1320

Physical Comedy II

TAC 2410 / 1 credit / Spring

In the second semester of this pedagogy, actors continue to deepen their experience with the first semester's work, moving from exploring new freedom and power into intentional direction, specificity, and control. Actors learn how to use form, image, and technique to create and perform from pure inspiration.

Directors' Scene Workshop

TAC 2450 and 2460 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

An introduction to directing actors in theatre scenes. Film majors direct sophomore acting majors in scenes under the guidance of film and theatre arts faculty. In the spring semester, the focus is on transferring the stage work to film/video.

Stage Makeup

TAC 2610 and 2620 / 1 credit (per semester) / Every year

Makeup begins with basic corrective work on the student's own facial structure and progresses to characterization work with hair, putty, and beards, aiming throughout to learn the makeup requirements of the major style periods and specialties like fantasy characters, animals, and clowns.

Introduction to Rehearsal and Performance

TAC 2700 / 1 credit / Spring

Rehearsal and added performance of selected plays produced before the public.

Acting III

TAC 3010 and 3020 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Acting techniques applied to more complex dramatic forms, including genres in which language and characterization are particularly demanding. Theatre periods and special authors for whom style skills are developed may include some or all of the following: Greek, Elizabethan, Restoration, Molière.

Prerequisite: TAC 2020

Speech III

TAC 3160 and 3170 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

After the first two years of study, students are able to speak in a standard contemporary American accent and to meet the additional demands of classic texts. In the third year, actors use their newfound skills to learn various American and international dialects. The spring semester includes more advanced work on dialects.

Prerequisite: TAC 2170

Voice III

TAC 3210 and 3220 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

Developing the actor's natural voice. Emphasis is on developing vocal strength, range, variety, texture, coloration, and the connection with thought and feeling. Sound and movement exercises enlarge the voice and develop vocal stamina and sensitivity through detailed work on contemporary and classical texts.

Prerequisite: TAC 2220

Movement III

TAC 3310 and 3320 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

Third-year, intermediate-level modern dance technique. Students are given combinations that are lengthier, with more intricate floor patterns and spatial relationships between dancers, gesture articulation at a more advanced level, richer musical and dynamic choices, a deeper vocabulary of movement, and an introduction to partnering techniques.

Prerequisite: TAC 2320

Stage Combat II

TAC 3365 / 1 credit / Fall

Covers the rapier and dagger, traditional weapons of Shakespeare's day, and the broadsword, a classic medieval weapon. Rapier and dagger training picks up from single sword technique, with the second weapon added to the nondominant hand. Students practice this double-fence style until they can use both weapons with facility. Broadsword basics include rudimentary footwork and guards of the weapon, cut and parry drills, and exploration of styles and choreography.

Prerequisite: TAC 1355

Improvisation II

TAC 3670 / 1 credit / Spring

Continued exploration of improvisatory technique for advanced acting students.

Rehearsal and Performance I

TAC 3700 and 3710 / 3 credits (per course) / Fall

TAC 3720 / 3 credits / Spring

Rehearsal and performance of selected plays produced before the public. This three-course sequence is required of all acting majors in their junior year. It covers separate Conservatory productions, which are presented across a two-semester period.

Prerequisite: TAC 2020

Acting IV

TAC 4010 and 4020 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Advanced acting, which may include one or more areas of special studies, like in-depth work on a role, audition techniques, or preparation for rehearsal. Career development is emphasized.

Prerequisite: TAC 3020

Voice and Speech IV

TAC 4250 and 4255 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

Every actor has a unique vocal instrument. This course focuses on methods used to develop the speaking voice and integrate it with good speech while staying true to one's self. Emphasis is placed on deepening the connection between voice, body, and mind through exercises, warmups, and focused work on both classical and contemporary texts.

Prerequisite: TAC 3220

Movement IV

TAC 4310 and 4320 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

The culmination of all previous movement classes, plus an introduction of basic yoga techniques that include meditation and the ability to focus.

Prerequisite: TAC 3320

The Business of Acting

TAC 4500 / 1 credit / Spring

Prepares students to make the transition into the professional acting world. Topics include how to attract and keep an agent, headshot and résumé requirements, auditioning, making and using a business plan, writing cover letters, unions, contracts, and marketing techniques. Sessions with a New York casting director are included.

Prerequisite: TAC 3020

Acting for Camera

TAC 4550 / 1 credit / Fall

Students apply the tools and vocabularies developed in studio work to acting in front of the camera. The physical freedoms and limitations of particular shots, from handheld to extreme close-up, are examined. The professional audition is replicated, and techniques for working on location are developed. Throughout the course, students view footage from features and rough cuts, independent films, television, actor's reels, and audition tapes.

Rehearsal and Performance II

TAC 4700 and 4710 / 3 credits (per course) / Fall

TAC 4720 and 4730 / 3 credits (per course) / Spring

Rehearsal and performance of selected plays produced before the public. This four-course sequence is required of all acting majors in their senior year. It covers separate Conservatory productions, which are presented across a two-semester period.

Prerequisite: TAC 3720

The Playwriting and Screenwriting BA Program

Professional writers increasingly work in multiple modes of expression. In the BA program in playwriting and screenwriting at Purchase College, students learn to write for both the stage and the screen through studies that encourage engagement with these disciplines at the introductory through advanced level. The curriculum also helps students to develop a sophisticated eye and gain a deeper understanding of the art and craft involved in making theatre and film. The college's proximity to New York City provides a distinct advantage: students are taught by industry professionals and have access to theatre, film, and television production facilities for their studies and internships.

The program includes required and elective courses in playwriting, screenwriting, theatre and film history, writing for television and documentaries, and directing for both stage and screen. Because playwriting and screenwriting are performance arts, students are encouraged to perform their work in front of an audience as much possible. In their final year, students work with a faculty mentor to develop a substantial senior project: a play, screenplay, teleplay, or documentary script.

This BA program also provides a solid foundation in the liberal arts, with plenty of room for students to explore other interests—all of which enriches their abilities as dramatic writers. The program also offers two minors for students in all disciplines: playwriting, offered by the Conservatory of Theatre Arts; and screenwriting, offered by the School of Film and Media Studies.

The Playwriting and Screenwriting Program: Courses

Playwriting courses are offered by the Conservatory of Theatre Arts. Screenwriting courses are offered by the School of Film and Media Studies.

Playwriting I

DWR 1000 / 4 credits / Fall

An introduction to the basic techniques of writing for the stage, beginning with the story. Multiple short writing assignments emphasize character, plot, diction, subtext, and meaning. They include writing from personal experience, adapting a short story and a classical play, and using a current news story as inspiration. Students discuss Aristotle's elements as they pertain to the scene, apply basic elements of the craft, read several short plays, and attend performances on campus and in New York City.

Screenwriting I

DWR 1010 / 4 credits / Fall

An introduction to the basic techniques of writing for the screen, beginning with the story. The elements of the story, including character, plot, theme, image, and voice, are analyzed. Students learn the proper screenplay format, write short assignments weekly, and analyze a classic screenplay and its realization in film in their study of screenplay structure.

Hollywood and the Writer

DWR 1230 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Explores the role of the writer in today's Hollywood. Through screenwriting and other assignments and lectures, this course introduces basic screenwriting ideas and techniques while covering some of the business concepts that Hollywood is based upon.

Plays and Playgoing

DWR 1250 / 4 credits / Spring

What makes a play alive, provocative, and vital? Using classics of dramatic literature as well as plays that are new to the stage, students read and examine the ideas and mechanics of the play. An examination of some key texts and theories, including Aristotle's Poetics, Brecht's Epic Theatre, Artaud's Theatre of Cruelty, and Boal's Theatre of the Oppressed lead to a fresh look at the old and the new. Students attend plays on campus and in New York City, and meet some of today's leading theatre artists.

Introduction to Cinema Studies and II

CIN 1500 and 1510 Refer to Cinema Studies Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.

Screenwriting II: Adaptation

DWR 2000 / 4 credits / Spring

Using an existing short piece of fiction, students delineate the elements of the story, experiencing their importance and power; translate the short story into a screenplay for a narrative film; and complete two drafts of a 25-page screenplay. In the process, they learn the techniques of adaptation for the screen and a deeper level of dramatic story structure. Emphasis is on discovering the dramatic character when evaluating the merits of a particular adaptation, which extends to evaluating one's own ideas for a screenplay; introducing genre and story types; and research as a dramatist's fundamental tool.

Prerequisite: DWR 1010

Playwriting II

DWR 2010 / 4 credits / Fall

Building on DWR 1000, students read and attend new plays, develop in-class writing exercises, and then write and revise a 30-page play.

Prerequisite: DWR 1000

Shakespeare Then and Now

THP 2205 Refer to Theatre and Performance Courses for description.

The Collaborative Process

DWR 2500 / 3 credits / Spring

Dramatic writing cannot be effective without an understanding of the collaborative process. Students direct, act, and write in this course, which is taught by a professional theatre director. Each student directs a scene from dramatic literature, writes scenes to be directed and acted by fellow classmates, learns some fundamental exercises for the actor, and develops the beginning vocabulary and techniques of the theatre director.

Theatre Histories I and II

THP 2885 and 2890 Refer to Theatre and Performance Courses for description.

Screenwriting III

DWR 3000 / 4 credits / Fall

An introduction to full-length narrative and the three-act structure employed by Hollywood. The art and craft of screenwriting are explored through analysis and developing, writing, and rewriting a screenplay (30 to 40 pages). Techniques covered include overlapping dialogue, establishing shots, voice-over, montages, and creating tension and payoff. The business of the screenwriter, how to pitch, and finding work/selling a screenplay are also covered.

Prerequisite: DWR 2000 or permission of instructor

The Writer and the DocumentaryDWR 3120 / 4 credits / Spring

Documentary films are screened and analyzed in class. Field assignments include researching and conducting interviews; written assignments include narration exercises, documentary summaries, and scripts. Students write and produce a short documentary and learn the basics of Final Cut Pro editing software.

Prerequisite: DWR 1010 and CIN 1500Playwriting III*DWR 3200 / 4 credits / Spring

Students submit plays to be developed in a reading series with actors and a director. Each class is devoted to one play—rehearsed by the actors and director, read for the class, and discussed by all. The collaborative process and vocabulary of constructive criticism are developed. Writers revise their plays during the semester and actors develop crucial play-reading techniques and flexibility.

Prerequisite: DWR 2010 or permission of instructorWriters' Scene Workshop*DWR 3230 / 4 credits / Fall

Explores the fine anatomy of writing the scene, with emphasis on writers looking at their work from the perspective of the director and on working with actors. Students write and direct a dramatic scene in digital video and learn to produce their video, using Final Cut Pro editing software and the basics of camera/lighting techniques.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorWriting for Television*DWR 3300 / 4 credits / Spring

Screenings and discussion of various forms of the medium, including the sitcom, television movies, and documentary and experimental forms. Students write a script that is critiqued in class and rewritten, with concentration on the world of the story, tone, character, style, dramatic tension, pacing, and evolving narrative.

Prerequisite: DWR 1010 or permission of instructorDocumentary Theatre: Performing Real Life*DWR 3500 Refer to THP 3500 in Theatre and Performance Courses for description.Adapting Literature for Performance*THP 3725 Refer to Theatre and Performance Courses for description.Junior Seminar in Playwriting and Screenwriting*DWR 3880 / 4 credits / Spring

Students develop ideas for their senior project—a play or screenplay. They research, develop, and present their scenarios to the class for response and critique.

Prerequisite: DWR 2000 and 2010; CIN 1500 or 1510; THP 2885 or 2890; and permission of instructorMaking New Plays*DWR 4150 / 3 credits / Spring

Writers and actors learn tools for working together on new plays. Taught by a playwright and a director, the class studies different collaborative models, including devised theatre, and explores communication strategies for working through creative friction. The course culminates in a final showcase on campus.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorSenior Colloquium in Playwriting and Screenwriting*DWR 4880 / 2 credits / Fall

During the solitary pursuit of writing their first full-length play or screenplay, students come together regularly to share in-process work for feedback and critique. A completion schedule is created, and assignments are given to aid in their scriptwriting discovery process.

Prerequisite: DWR 3880Senior Project: Playwriting/Screenwriting*DWR 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every year

The two-semester culminating project for playwriting and screenwriting majors. In the fall, students meet regularly with their mentor and write an outline and rough draft of a full-length stage play or screenplay, culminating in a reading of the draft. The spring semester is devoted to a significant rewrite of the play or screenplay under the guidance of the mentor. This work is expected to be at a professional level.

Prerequisite: for a playwriting senior project, DWR 2010 and THP 2885; for a screenwriting senior project, CIN 1510 and DWR 2000; for a television senior project, DWR 3300 and two DWR electives

The Theatre Design/Technology BFA Program

The professional training program in theatre design/technology places major emphasis on studio/classroom training under the guidance of established working professionals. Students learn every aspect of theatre design and technology.

Professional training requires a logical and sequential conservatory program. The freshman year is an exploratory common program that stresses fundamental coursework and assigned tasks on actual productions. After the freshman year, the following concentrations are available:

1. scenic design
2. costume design
3. lighting design
4. costume technology
5. stage management
6. technical direction/production management

Advanced study and practice in one or more of these areas occupies the second, third, and fourth years. Concurrent with these studies, a balance of liberal arts courses is also available to equip the candidate to function as a mature theatre professional.

Professional Training Facilities

The unparalleled technical and design resources of the Performing Arts Center—and its busy schedule of dance, musical, and dramatic productions—provide students with professional experiences few commercial theatres can match. Classes are conducted in modern design studios, where students have their own workspace and personal drawing tables. Private and semiprivate design studios are often provided for juniors, seniors, and graduate students. Opportunities for apprenticeships in professional studios and shops in New York City and throughout the country provide valuable career-related experience and contacts.

About Our Alumni

More than 86 percent of theatre design/technology graduates are working in their chosen profession. Many alumni are now members of USA local 829, IATSE, and AEA and have received Tony, Emmy, Obie, and Drama Desk Awards, among other honors. Their extensive design credits include Broadway, Off Broadway, dance, film, television, industrials, and Las Vegas.

The Theatre Design/Technology BFA Program: Scenic Design Concentration

It is the responsibility of the scenic designer to collaborate with the director and develop the conceptual ideas that will inform the look and functionality of the scenic design. The scenic designer must work closely with other members of the design team and communicate clearly—through technical drawings, color elevations, scale models, color renderings, and research—all the information necessary to realize the scenic design. Working with the director, the other designers, the technical director, and other members of the production staff, the scenic designer must develop a cohesive design that provides an effective setting for the production.

Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all undergraduate theatre design/technology majors concentrating in scenic design must complete the following requirements (99 credits). TAC 1250 (freshman year) and TAC 2100 may be counted toward the liberal arts requirement (30 credits minimum) for the BFA.

Freshman year: 25 credits

The freshman year requirements are the same for all undergraduate theatre design/technology majors.

The Theatre Design/Technology BFA Program: Costume Design Concentration

The costume designers' primary responsibility is to be part of the design team that transforms the words of a play into visual imageries. They are involved in developing conceptual and artistic ideas that will be used to guide the imageries for a production. The conservatory encourages its students to discover their own processes of formulating design ideas and to develop a discriminating standard for their own endeavors. Above all, it prepares them for creative and meaningful professional lives in the broad range of theatre activities. Designers learn to visualize the world of plays through the garments and clothing the actors wear while collaborating with directors, actors, other designers and technicians, and the professional staff and students in the costume shop. Students learn from a distinguished faculty of professional designers and artists, both in the classroom and through individual guidance and advising during production work. Students receive formal and informal feedback from faculty through portfolio presentations of their work each year. In addition, classes in costume technology are also available—the costume technology artisan takes the costume designer's vision and physically creates them. The four-year curriculum in many ways simulates a costume designer's and a costume technician's professional experience and process.

Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all undergraduate theatre design/technology majors concentrating in costume design must complete the following requirements (101 credits). TAC 1250 (freshman year) and TAC 2100 may be counted toward the liberal arts requirement (30 credits minimum) for the BFA.

The Theatre Design/Technology BFA Program: Lighting Design Concentration

The lighting designer's primary responsibility is to develop conceptual and artistic ideas that will be used to guide the design of the lighting for a production. As a member of the design team, the lighting designer has a significant impact on the visual unity of a production and is responsible for producing the light plot and all related paperwork. Working with the director, the other designers, and other members of the production staff, the lighting designer develops a cohesive design that supports the other aspects of design for the production and helps to create and define the environment of the production.

Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all undergraduate theatre design/technology majors concentrating in lighting design must complete the following requirements (98 credits). TAC 1250 (freshman year) and TAC 2100 may be counted toward the liberal arts requirement (30 credits minimum) for the BFA.

The Theatre Design/Technology BFA Program: Stage Management Concentration

The stage manager is responsible for managing the rehearsal process of a production and acting as the liaison between the rehearsal process and the members of the production team. In many cases, the stage manager is the one person working on a production who is responsible for coordination between all areas of a production. The stage manager is responsible for scheduling rehearsals and production meetings; tracking of blocking, props, scenic, and lighting changes; and a lengthy list of other duties. Working with the director, designers, and other members of the production, the stage manager plays a significant role in bringing a production together as a whole.

Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all undergraduate theatre design/technology majors concentrating in stage management must complete the following requirements (96.5 credits). TAC 1250 (freshman year) and TAC 2100 may be counted toward the liberal arts requirement (30 credits minimum) for the BFA.

The Theatre Design/Technology BFA Program: Technical Direction/Production Management Concentration

The technical director, working collaboratively with the scenic designer and others, is responsible for the execution of the scenic elements of a production. This process includes bidding, scheduling, developing technical elevations, supervising crews, budget management, and coordinating with the other departments that are working on the production. Additionally, the technical director is responsible for supervising and coordinating the load-in of scenery and other physical elements of the production into the theatre, helping to organize scene changes that involve moving scenery, and supervising the load-out of the production when the run is over. The production manager does for the entire production much of what the technical director does for the scenic elements. Collaborating and working with the director, stage managers, designers, shop heads, and others, the production manager helps to ensure that the production as a whole is realized in the best possible way.

Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all undergraduate theatre design/technology majors concentrating in technical direction/production management must complete the following requirements (103 credits). TAC 1250 (freshman year) and TAC 2100 may be counted toward the liberal arts requirement (30 credits minimum) for the BFA.

The Theatre Design/Technology Program: Undergraduate Courses

Note: The 1000-level courses are prerequisites for all other TDT undergraduate courses. In the two-semester course sequences offered every year, successful completion of the fall course is a prerequisite for the spring course, unless noted otherwise. For example, TDT 1100/Stagecraft (part one, fall) is a prerequisite for TDT 1110/Stagecraft (part two, spring).

Design/Technical Practicum

TDT 1010 / 1 credit / Every semester

First-year acting majors are given crew assignments on conservatory productions.

Drafting

TDT 1080 / 3 credits / Spring

Basic drafting skills for professional theatrical applications. Lettering, line weight, measuring, drawing with accuracy and clarity, drafting conventions, dimensioning, and drafting simple units and theatre plans and sections. Ground plans and elevations of each flat with details of door and panel moldings, all with descriptive cross-sections showing dimensions. Students must purchase their own supplies.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Stagecraft

TDT 1100 and 1110 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

An introduction to the basic materials and techniques used in scene, costume, and lighting production, presented in lecture and studio situations. Intended to equip the student with the skills required to work on productions.

Production I

TDT 1120 and 1130 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

A studio course in which freshmen are assigned to the scene, prop, costume, electric, and paint crews on a rotating basis. Intended as a reinforcement of the methodologies taught in TDT 1100 and 1110.

Design Fundamentals

TDT 1200 and 1210 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

An introduction to the process of theatrical design in which a broad spectrum of plays is assigned. Includes script and character analysis, the development of visual concepts, sketches, and renderings, and the use of color and motif.

Music Reading for Stage Managers

TDT 2045 / 1 credit / Spring

A practical introduction to score reading for theatrical stage managers and designers. Existing musical scores of varying levels of difficulty are used to teach musical vocabulary, tempo, and dynamic markings, and instrumental names and notation in their traditional Italian, French, and German languages. Required for and limited to theatre design/technology majors concentrating in stage management.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Theatre Technology I

TDT 2080 and 2090 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

An introduction to theories of technical production, methods, and planning, with emphasis on advanced technical drafting of scenery and safety practices.

Prerequisite: TDT 1110 and 1210

Production II

TDT 2120 and 2130 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

An intensive studio course in which sophomores are assigned to crew head or other crew positions. Intended as a reinforcement of methodologies taught in TDT 1100, 1110, 1120, and 1130.

Prerequisite: TDT 1130

Scene Painting I

TDT 2140 and 2150 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

An exploration of the techniques of large-scale, realistic painting through a series of critiqued exercises in the rendering of various materials and textures. (In this two-semester sequence, TDT 2150, which is offered in the spring, is the prerequisite for TDT 2140, offered in the fall.)

Costume Construction I

TDT 2160 and 2170 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Training in costume construction: hand-sewing techniques, machine operations, pattern layout, and fabric identifications. (For design/technology majors who are concentrating in costume design or technology: TDT 2160 is the prerequisite for TDT 2170. A different section of TDT 2170 is offered for other design/technology majors, with no prerequisite.)

Properties Construction I

TDT 2180 and 2190 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

Craft training in the construction of stage properties: learning basic approaches to upholstery and drapery, learning different sculpturing techniques, and creating prop lists with an emphasis on research, both historical and pictorial. Visual resources are used to push students out of their comfort zone in the ways they approach projects (both independently and in groups, depending on the project). (This is not a two-semester sequence: TDT 2180, offered in the fall, is the same course as TDT 2190, offered in the spring.)

Scene Design I

TDT 2200 and 2210 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Basic principles and practice of scene design, including script analysis. Composition and focus in scene design, developing acting areas, entrances, exits, and movement patterns. Research period architecture, art, and dress while refining drafting skills: complete ground plans and sections with masking, fully drafted elevations, color sketches, and a white model. All of these areas have preliminary, refined, and finished stages. Fall: Greek play with classical elements in period and Molière play with limitations of period style. Spring: Modern plays, one with exterior and one with period interior box set with ceiling.

Prerequisite: TDT 1080 and 1210

Stage Carpentry

TDT 2250 / 2 credits / Fall

An expansion of the theories and practices of stagecraft in a studio setting. Includes standard practices involved in stagecraft and accepted construction techniques.

Prerequisite: TDT 1110

Costume Design I

TDT 2300 and 2310 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

An introduction to concept, costume rendering, character extension, and historical research.

Prerequisite: TDT 1210

Lighting Design I

TDT 2400 and 2410 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

An introduction to concept-based lighting design in the theatre. Through play analysis and practical lab exercises, students begin to comprehend the connections between color, equipment, angles of light, etc. and how these are used to support their ideas and feelings on stage. Students also obtain a basic knowledge of lighting rendering, equipment, history, theory, drafting, etc., and have the opportunity to observe working professionals during technical and dress rehearsals of outside productions.

Rendering and Graphic Techniques

TDT 2440 and 2460 / 2 credits (per semester) / Every year

Focuses on the development of painting and sketching techniques in all categories of theatre design. The primary goal is to assist student designers and technicians in pictorial explanations of their ideas.

Prerequisite: TDT 1080 and 1210

Introduction to Sound Design

TDT 2500 / 2 credits / Spring

An introduction to audio for the theatre, covering the basic principles of sound design, reinforcement, equipment and technology, live recording, editing, and show control.

Sources of Stage Design

TDT 2540 / 3 credits / Fall

Lectures and research assignments in historical modes of decorative art and ornamentation (Greek through 18th century).

Introduction to Stage Management

TDT 2600 and 2610 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

An introduction to the fundamental skills of stage management through each phase of the production process: preproduction, first rehearsal, rehearsal period, preparing for the tech, technical rehearsals, previews, opening, running of the show, and closing.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Theatre Technology II

TDT 3080 and 3090 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Focuses on the advanced technologies needed to understand and build complete structures. Topics include live load and structural computations, wood vs. steel structures, and rigging practices for large loads. An intensive research/drafting project is required.

Prerequisite: TDT 2090 and permission of instructor

Production III

TDT 3120 and 3130 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

An intensive studio course in which juniors are assigned to designer/technical director, crew head, and/or other crew positions.

Prerequisite: TDT 2130 and permission of instructor

Costume Construction II

TDT 3160 and 3170 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Familiarizes students who are interested in a career in costume construction and/or design with the basics of textiles and related crafts. Focuses on textile identification, fiber classifications and painting, distressing/aging, and other related textile crafts.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Scene Design IITDT 3200 and 3210 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Students learn to develop a cohesive, unified design for a multiset show. Topics include finding design elements that flow through each set to give the sense of style and unity, working out ground plans and scene changes to assure speed and practicality, and using historical plays from several periods to evoke a sense for period style. Full drafting and model building with intensive work on sketching and rendering techniques to develop presentation-quality sketches.

Prerequisite: TDT 2210 and permission of instructorCostume Design II*TDT 3300 and 3310 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

A continuation of TDT 2310, with emphasis on character and script analysis and on developing skills in color, line, proportion, scale, movement, and rhythm. Study involves historical reality and stylization with projects that address design theory and practical problems, research and chart making, as well as conceptualizing designs for dance, drama, and opera. Rendering technique workshops are included.

Prerequisite: TDT 2310 and permission of instructorStage Combat for Stage Managers*TDT 3350 / .5 credit / Fall

A course in the foundation skills necessary for safe and dramatically effective techniques of staged combat.

Lighting Design IITDT 3400 and 3410 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Continued study of lighting design principles, with emphasis on drafting and design of full-scale, concept-based light plots for the theatre.

Prerequisite: TDT 2410 and permission of instructorVector Works*TDT 3520 / 3 credits / Fall

Covers the computer-aided drafting and graphic standards for lighting design used in the industry. Extensive out-of-class work is required. Required for design/technology majors who are concentrating in lighting design.

Prerequisite: TDT 3400Directing for Stage Managers*TDT 3550 / 2 credits / Fall

The problems, requirements, and relationship of the stage manager to the director. This seminar deals with script analysis and technique of the designer, as well as the position of the actor as an instrument of the director and the play.

Advanced Stage ManagementTDT 3600 and 3610 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Thinking like a stage manager; the psychology of management; critical thinking, collaboration, conflict resolution, problem solving, principled negotiation, and leadership tools. Advanced stage management skills, e.g., calling a show, public speaking, scheduling, theatrical unions and contracts, preparing a Broadway musical, and the ins and outs of working as a professional freelance stage manager.

Prerequisite: TDT 2610 and permission of instructorProduction Management*TDT 3660 / 3 credits / Spring

This detailed look at the position of a production manager on Broadway takes students from the design process to the load-out of a show and introduces them to the inner workings of a Broadway musical and play.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorCAD for the Theatre*TDT 3700 and 3710 / 3 credits / Every year

An introduction to the theories and practices of computer-aided drafting for theatrical productions, including how to draw and organize DWG files so that a designer can express his or her designs to anyone working in the field. Emphasis is also placed on communication skills to help students become comfortable discussing projects with directors, other designers, and future employers. Includes in-class participation, lectures, practical exercises, and critiques. (This is not a two-semester sequence: TDT 3700, offered in the fall, is the same course as TDT 3710, offered in the spring.)

Prerequisite: TDT 1080 and permission of instructorComputer Graphics and Techniques*TDT 3720 / 3 credits / Every semester

Focuses on creating the skill sets necessary to adapt students' existing manual drawing and painting talents to the realm of computer-assisted media.

Design/Technology InternshipTDT 3980 / 4 credits / Every semester

A program providing structured, off-campus theatrical work experience. Placement by faculty committee. Limited to fourth-year design/technology majors.

Prerequisite: Permission of board of studyTheatre Technology III*TDT 4080 and 4090 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

A seminar covering a mixture of advanced scenery construction techniques and the set of managerial skills required to be a working professional in the industry. Typically includes field trips to production venues in New York City, including shops, theatres, and studios, together with mock interviews and production/shop scenarios.

Prerequisite: TDT 3090 and permission of instructor

Production IVTDT 4120 and 4130 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

An intensive studio course in which seniors are assigned to design, technical direct, assist, and hold crew head and/or crew positions.

Prerequisite: TDT 3130 and permission of instructorStage Management/Tech/Design Production*TDT 4140 and 4150 / 6 credits (per semester) / Every year

An intensive studio course in which senior stage management and tech students staff Theatre Arts productions on a supervisory level.

Prerequisite: TDT 3130 and permission of instructorCostume Construction III*TDT 4160 and 4170 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Fall: Construction techniques for dance costumes using stretch fabrics, including patterning, cutting, sewing, and fitting techniques. Also basic principles and construction of tutus and other classical dance costumes. Spring: Tailoring with an overview of the development of the three-piece suit (style details and construction). Basic techniques used in traditional tailoring and an exploration of theatrical methods of tailoring. Alteration techniques and some pattern making are included.

Prerequisite: TDT 3170Scene Design III*TDT 4200 and 4210 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Design projects developed to meet the needs of each student. Furthers the skill sets needed to become a working professional in the many mediums of scenic design.

Prerequisite: TDT 3210 and permission of instructorAdvanced Design Seminar*TDT 4260 / 1 credit / Spring

An advanced seminar in design techniques and practices of leading industry professionals.

Costume Design IIITDT 4300 and 4310 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Advanced design projects developed to meet the needs of each student. Furthers the skill sets needed to become a working professional in the many mediums of costume design.

Prerequisite: TDT 3310 and permission of instructorLighting Design III*TDT 4400 and 4410 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Advanced work in concept-based lighting design, preparing students to enter the professional community. Through class projects, lab exercises, guest lectures, and field trips, students master a wide range of lighting design mediums (e.g., theatre, opera, dance, television, video, corporate theatre, architectural). Students are exposed to automated and advanced lighting equipment, control consoles, channel assignment theory, the business of lighting, and industry leaders.

Prerequisite: TDT 3410 and permission of instructorDirected Studies in Collaborative Process*TDT 4460 / 2 credits / Spring

An analysis of current theatrical practices and the interaction of designer, technician, stage manager, actor, and director. Guest lecturers include leading industry figures who stress the various methods of collaboration.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorStage Management Seminar*TDT 4605 and TDT 4615 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every year

Focuses on methods, practices, theory, and organizational structures specific to Broadway and other commercial production environments.

Prerequisite: TDT 3610Seminar in Production Design/Art Direction*TDT 4770 / 3 credits / Spring

Advanced studies in the art of scenery for film and television. Explores similarities to and differences from the theatrical model involved in the creation of the changing frame with varying camera angles.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorPortfolio*TDT 4880 / 1 credit / Spring

Discussion of the skill sets, techniques, and requirements needed to enter the professional community.

Prerequisite: Permission of the board of study

The Theatre Design/Technology MFA Program

This two- and three-year MFA program provides professional training in the following areas of theatre design and technology:

1. scenic design
2. costume design

3. lighting design
4. technical direction/production management

MFA students design and mount productions for theatre, opera, and dance, and occasionally for film. We prepare our MFA students for a professional career, equipping the designer and technical director for today and the future.

The MFA program in theatre design/technology is exceptional because of its:

- curriculum, which is balanced between studio studies and practical experience
- facilities, which are among the finest in the country for teaching design/technology
- collaborative environment: our MFA students work with other students who are being professionally trained as choreographers, actors, musicians, dancers, and singers
- hands-on training: students design and mount productions themselves, instead of executing productions designed by the faculty
- affordability: we provide superior professional training at low SUNY tuition

Classes on the MFA level are small, personal, and intensive, and admission to the program is highly selective, in the master-apprentice tradition. Only a small number of students are admitted to the program—perhaps two or three in each area of specialization. Classes and seminars have an approximate ratio of five students to one teacher. In addition, internships may be arranged for qualified students to work with a number of leading professional designers, at selected regional theatres, in scene shops, and with professional union crews.

About the Curriculum

During the three-year program, skills are developed and refined under careful faculty guidance and instruction. It is expected that applicants specialize in one or perhaps two areas, although they receive training in all areas of design and technology as needed. While there is a basic core curriculum, classes and requirements are tailored to each student's needs and abilities. The course of study varies in credits from 60 to 85, depending on individual qualifications. In some instances, the faculty may approve a two-year course of study for very advanced students.

About Our Alumni

The success of our MFA alumni demonstrates the quality and success of the program. The majority are now working in their chosen fields on Broadway and Off Broadway, at regional theatres, on major films, in television, in dance, at the Metropolitan Opera, at the Philadelphia Opera, at the Brooklyn Academy of Music, at several Las Vegas showrooms, and at scene shops in New York and Hollywood. Many report that the Purchase "network" continues among former students, helping them pursue their careers and locate job openings.

Faculty: Please refer to the BFA Program for a list of the theatre design/technology faculty.

The Theatre Design/Technology MFA Program: Concentrations

Scenic Design

It is the responsibility of the scenic designer to collaborate with the director and develop the conceptual ideas that will inform the look and functionality of the scenic design. The scenic designer must work closely with other members of the design team and communicate clearly—through technical drawings, color elevations, scale models, color renderings, and research—all the information necessary to realize the scenic design. Working with the director, the other designers, the technical director, and other members of the production staff, the scenic designer must develop a cohesive design that provides an effective setting for the production.

Costume Design

The costume designers' primary responsibility is to be part of the design team that transforms the words of a play into visual imageries. They are involved in developing conceptual and artistic ideas that will be used to guide the imageries for a production. The conservatory encourages its students to discover their own processes of formulating design ideas and to develop a discriminating standard for their own endeavors. Above all, it prepares them for creative and meaningful professional lives in the broad range of theatre activities. Designers learn to visualize the world of plays through the garments and clothing the actors wear while collaborating with directors, actors, other designers and technicians, and the professional staff and students in the costume shop. Students learn from a distinguished faculty of professional designers and artists, both in the classroom and through individual guidance and advising during production work. Students receive formal and informal feedback from faculty through portfolio presentations of their work each year. In addition, classes in costume technology are also available—the costume technology artisan takes the costume designer's vision and physically creates them.

Lighting Design

The lighting designer's primary responsibility is to develop conceptual and artistic ideas that will be used to guide the design of the lighting for a production. As a member of the design team, the lighting designer has a significant impact on the visual unity of a production and is responsible for producing the light plot and all related paperwork. Working with the director, the other designers, and other members of the production staff, the lighting designer develops a cohesive design that supports the other aspects of design for the production and helps to create and define the environment of the production.

Technical Direction/Production Management

The technical director, working collaboratively with the scenic designer and others, is responsible for the execution of the scenic elements of a production. This process includes bidding, scheduling, developing technical elevations, supervising crews, budget management, and coordinating with the other departments that are working on the production. Additionally, the technical director is responsible for supervising and coordinating the load-in of scenery and other physical elements of the production into the theatre, helping to organize scene changes that involve moving scenery, and supervising the load-out of the production when the run is over. The production manager does for the entire production much of what the technical director does for the scenic elements. Collaborating and working with the director, stage managers, designers, shop heads, and others, the production manager helps to ensure that the production as a whole is realized in the best possible way.

Backstage and Beyond

TDT 5710 / 3 credits / Fall

The study of professionals, shops, and organizations that have played an important role in realizing productions, events, and other live entertainment presentations. The histories of prominent individuals and companies are explored to help piece together an understanding of how the modern production process works. Assignments include research papers and presentations on individuals, organizations, and/or production shops. Offered as SOA 3750 for undergraduate students in other disciplines.

The Theatre and Performance BA Program

The BA major in theatre and performance is designed for the intellectually curious and creative student whose interests, while including traditional theatre, extend into making new and cutting-edge theatrical and interdisciplinary work. The program is also designed to attract students who possess an entrepreneurial spirit and the ability to creatively address the challenges of mounting exciting work with limited resources.

In the foundation courses of the major, students gain a strong base in theatre history and dramatic literature, together with a production practicum. Courses in performance practice range from Fundamentals of Acting to Performing the Self in Society. An advanced directing course offers the opportunity to work with digital media projections, while courses in writing for the stage include exposure to both well-known plays and nontraditional performance practices.

Our students study what theatre and performance art has been, explore what it is now, and think about what it might be. They acquire knowledge of world theatre and performance and often choose to experiment with their own creativity as performers, directors, and playwrights.

Working Onstage and Backstage

Students may audition for and work backstage on student- and faculty-directed productions and may eventually choose to write or direct their own. Students receive academic credit for participating as actors, designers, or stage managers in faculty-directed productions. In addition, students entering the program as freshmen after the fall 2013 semester must serve as production crew on student- and/or faculty-directed shows for four semesters. Occasionally, an outstanding student may have the opportunity to assist on a BFA or BA production as a dramaturge or assistant director.

Studying Abroad and Across the Disciplines

Students are encouraged to take advantage of study-abroad opportunities; being socially conscious and globally aware is vitally important in our interconnected world. To broaden their knowledge, students are also encouraged to pursue relevant courses in such areas as anthropology; art history; arts management; cinema studies; dance; gender studies; language and culture; literature; media, society, and the arts; new media; sociology; Asian studies; Latin American studies; and the visual arts.

Exploring the Relationships Between Theatre, Performance, and Society

The major in theatre and performance combines a liberal arts education in dramatic literature, theatre history, and performance theory with experience of theatre as an art form. The primary goal is to develop each student's ability to articulate, both artistically and intellectually, the relationships between theatre, performance, and society. Although this major is not a professional training program, workshops and limited production opportunities are offered in acting/performance, writing for the stage, and directing. Three areas of focus within the broad range of courses help prepare students for careers in theatre and related fields or for graduate study in theatre, performance studies, and related disciplines.

The Relationship Between the Theatre and Performance BA Program and the Acting BFA Program

While the goals of the theatre and performance BA program differ from those of the acting BFA program, members of the acting faculty teach some courses offered to theatre and performance students, and some theatre and performance courses are required for other students in the conservatory. There are also opportunities for advanced theatre and performance students to work as dramaturges and assistant directors during the acting program's theatre season. This option is strongly encouraged in the junior year for students who will be directing a production as a senior project.

Admission to the theatre and performance BA program is separate from admission to the acting BFA program and does not increase the likelihood of being admitted to the acting BFA program.

Performance Venues and Opportunities

There are several performance venues and opportunities at Purchase College. Professional companies perform at the Performing Arts Center (PAC), and the Conservatory of Theatre Arts offers performances at the PAC and in the Dance Theatre Lab. The theatre and performance program contributes to performance on campus with senior projects and faculty- and student-directed shows, which take place in a variety of venues. These are usually staged in the Humanities Theatre, although some senior projects may be appropriately staged elsewhere, including nontraditional theatre spaces. The theatre and performance faculty also encourages students to develop their own projects and to participate in the Drama League, a student club, and in other clubs and organizations that present student-based performances. While performance space is in high demand, spaces are available for student groups and individuals on campus.

Note: During the renovation of the Durst Family Humanities Building (closed through June 2014), the theatre and performance program is using the following spaces:

- Rehearsal and performance classes: CCS Southside Lounge and the Green Room in the Performing Arts Center
- Senior projects: Sub C rehearsal space (the "UnderGround")
- Fall and spring mainstage productions: PepsiCo Theatre, Performing Arts Center

The Theatre and Performance BA Program: Academic Requirements

In addition to meeting general degree requirements, all theatre and performance majors must meet the following requirements (47–51 credits):

Six foundation courses: 20 credits

1. THP 2020/Introduction to Theatre and Performance Studies: 3 credits
2. THP 2200/Theatre and Performance Production: 4 credits*
This is a 1-credit course that must be taken four times*
3. THP 2205/Shakespeare Then and Now: 3 credits
4. THP 2885/Theatre Histories I: 3 credits
5. THP 2890/Theatre Histories II: 3 credits
6. THP 2895/Production Practicum: 4 credits

Five elective courses: 16–20 credits

Students choose five electives in consultation with their faculty advisor. Independent studies and internships cannot be used to satisfy this requirement. At least three of these electives must be upper level (3000 or 4000), including at least one in dramatic literature or theory. In most cases, courses taken to fulfill this upper-level electives requirement also fulfill the senior project prerequisites.

Synthesis courses: 11 credits

- THP 3890/Junior Seminar: 3 credits
- THP 4990/Senior Project: 8 credits

Internships and study abroad are highly recommended. Courses in other disciplines (outside the major) may count toward requirements for the major if approved in advance by the faculty coordinator.

Transfer students may meet some requirements for the major with courses taken elsewhere, subject to approval by the faculty coordinator and the registrar.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/TAF/DramaStudies/AcademicRequirements.aspx

The Theatre and Performance BA Program: Production Options

The theatre and performance BA program welcomes students with or without performing or production experience. All students are required to take THP 2895/Production Practicum, preferably in the freshman year, to obtain basic empirical experience in mounting and running a production. No other production experience is required of theatre and performance majors.

For those who seek it, however, there are a variety of other opportunities. Theatre and performance majors are eligible to audition for student- and faculty-directed productions, for which they may receive course credit. They may receive a maximum of 4 credits of independent study (with the approval of a theatre and performance faculty member) in playwriting, directing, or play production. Students may also produce extracurricular productions on or off campus. Qualified seniors may direct productions for senior projects. Students are encouraged, through courses, tutorials, and independent studies in playwriting and adaptation to create their own productions. With imagination, energy, and focus, the Humanities Theatre, a classroom, a meadow, an amphitheatre, or the Red Room can become the setting for fully realized theatrical presentations.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/TAF/DramaStudies/ProductionOptions.aspx.

The Theatre and Performance BA Program: The Junior Seminar and Senior Project

Students normally take the junior seminar (THP 3890) in the spring of their junior year, during which they develop and submit their senior project proposal for approval. The senior project (THP 4990) is normally completed during the fall and spring of the senior year (4 credits per semester, 8 credits total) in one of the following areas (or a combination of these areas):

- Directing
- Writing for the stage or performance composition
- Production (including stage managing or designing and executing the design for a production)
- Performance practice (including acting a major role in a faculty-supervised student production or a faculty-directed production)
- Alternative performance practices (e.g., solo or devised performance)
- Theatre history, theory, or criticism (an academic essay)
- Dramaturgy

All creative senior projects (in acting, directing, solo performance, design and writing for the stage) require a statement of artistic aims, a contextual research essay, and technical essay evaluating the process and results of the creative project.

Specific elective courses are prerequisites for each of these types of senior projects, as listed below. Students should consult closely with their faculty advisor to ensure that these courses have been completed by the end of the junior year.

In most cases, students must receive formal approval of their senior project proposal by the end of the junior seminar. Acceptance of proposals is not automatic—it is dependent on adequate student preparation and fulfillment of required courses, as well as faculty availability and expertise. Students may be asked to submit an alternate proposal or take additional courses before proceeding. The number of students pursuing a particular type of senior project may be limited, subject to approval by the theatre and performance faculty.

Advanced students who plan to explore the intersections of two or more areas in their senior project should consult with their faculty advisor well in advance to shape an acceptable course of study and senior project.

The following elective courses are prerequisites for (or strongly recommended prior to) the senior project. In most cases, courses taken to fulfill the upper-level electives requirement for the major also fulfill these senior project prerequisites.

Directing:

Prerequisites (12 credits):

1. THP 1800/Introduction to Theatre Design (4 credits)
2. THP 3680/Directing I (4 credits)
3. THP 3681/Directing II (4 credits)

Recommended:

Internship, dramaturge, or assistant director experience with acting productions in the Conservatory of Theatre Arts (junior or senior year)

Writing for the stage:

Prerequisites (8 credits):

1. THP 3590/Playwriting I (4 credits)
2. THP 3591/Playwriting II (4 credits) or an alternative, approved course in performance composition

Production:

*Prerequisites (10 credits):

1. THP 1800/Introduction to Theatre Design (4 credits)
2. THP 2800/Managing the Production (3 credits)
3. An additional design or management course (3 credits) †

† Students who successfully complete THP 1800 and 2895 may be allowed to enroll in one or more of the following theatre design/technology courses:

- TDT 2080/Theatre Technology I
- TDT 2200/Scene Design I
- TDT 2300/Costume Design I
- TDT 2400/Lighting Design I

† Students who successfully complete THP 2800 may be allowed to enroll in the following theatre design/technology course:
TDT 2600/Introduction to Stage Management

Performance practice:

Prerequisites (14 credits):

1. SOA 1750/Fundamentals of Acting (2 credits)
2. THP 2760/Movement for Actors (2 credits)
3. THP 3070/Acting Scene Study (3 credits)
4. THP 3315/Vocal Exploration for the Actor (3 credits)
5. One course in performance composition, directing, or writing for the stage (4 credits)

Alternative performance practices:

Prerequisites (10–11 credits):

1. SOA 1750/Fundamentals of Acting (2 credits)
2. THP 2760/Movement for Actors (2 credits)
3. THP 3315/Vocal Exploration for the Actor (3 credits)
4. THP —/One alternative performance-practices course in performance composition; for example:
THP 3510/Solo Performance: Performing the Self in Society (4 credits) or THP 3685/Ensemble Creation (3 credits)

Theatre history, theory, or criticism:

Prerequisites (8 credits):

1. THP 3250/Theories of Drama and Performance (4 credits)
2. An upper-level course in dramatic literature (4 credits)

Students who are planning a senior project in performance studies should consult with their faculty advisor about additional course options.

Dramaturgy:

Prerequisites (8 credits):

1. THP 3000/Dramaturgy (4 credits)
2. THP 3500/Documentary Theatre: Performing Real Life (4 credits) or

An exploration of the basic ideas and concepts involved in designing for theatre productions.

Acting the ClassicsTHP 2000 / 4 credits / Spring

Integrates discussions, readings, presentations, viewings, and exercises to teach students an appreciation of the elements of both classical and contemporary theatre and performing arts. The acting techniques of Stanislavsky and Uta Hagen, among others, are used to analyze and understand classic modern drama. Students develop dramatic tools for creating new realities via acting and directing in both solo and group performances. Readings include works by Chekhov, Ibsen, Lorca, and Havel.

Introduction to Theatre and Performance StudiesTHP 2020 / 3 credits / Fall

An introduction to dramatic literature and theory and to seeing, writing about, and participating in theatre and performance.

Theatre and Performance ProductionTHP 2200 / 1 credit / Every semesterStudents work in a variety of capacities in productions within the theatre and performance program. *Open to students in other disciplines with permission of instructor.Shakespeare Then and Now*THP 2205 / 3 credits / SpringSelected plays spanning Shakespeare's entire career. In addition to close reading and textual interpretation, students address questions and problems of performing, directing, lighting, costuming, and set designing Shakespeare's plays. The course examines past and current trends in Shakespearean criticism, as well as the social and theatrical contexts in which the plays were first produced. *Also offered as LIT 2205.Performing Oral History and Poetry*THP 2380 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Students learn to transform poetry and personal stories into short plays and performance pieces. Poetry and movement are used to create choreopoems. Students also develop interview theatre pieces. Readings and/or video viewings include works by Ntozake Shange, Eve Ensler, and Anna Deavere Smith.

American Drama: From O'Neill to AlbeeTHP 2600 / 4 credits / Alternate yearsAmerican drama considered primarily as a critique of American society, values, and life. Covers the period from 1916 to 1964, including plays by Susan Glaspell, Eugene O'Neill, Clifford Odets, Lillian Hellman, Gertrude Stein, Thornton Wilder, Tennessee Williams, Arthur Miller, Lorraine Hansberry, Adrienne Kennedy, and Edward Albee. *Also offered as LIT 2600.Movement for Actors*THP 2760 / 2 credits / Every semester

An introduction to dramatic movement for the stage. Technique, improvisation, repertoire, and composition are explored, using physical language. Students work on solos, duets, and in groups with text, objects, and music. Assignments include classroom presentations, readings, and papers. Videotapes are reviewed and discussed.

Managing the ProductionTHP 2800 / 3 credits / Every year

An introduction to stage management, production, and company management. Students who successfully complete this course may be allowed to take TDT 2600.

Performance and Culture in a Global WorldTHP 2860 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Equips students with the tools to read performance in its myriad contexts, including Broadway musicals, "native" rituals, American drama, museums, modern dance, international arts festivals, and everyday life. Students read and occasionally view plays, ethnographies, and reviews and consider issues involved in their production. Issues may include tourism, gender, interculturalism, and cultural capital.

Performance of Dramatic LiteratureTHP 2870 / 4 credits / Fall

A performance course that covers rehearsal techniques, monologues, and short scenes, using classic, modern, and contemporary plays. Students critique campus productions in written essays and write character and play analyses.

Theatre Histories ITHP 2885 / 3 credits / FallWestern and world theatre from ancient Greece to 1642, when the theatres of Shakespeare's time were finally closed. What would now be called actors, playwrights, producers, directors, designers, and theatre architects are all considered. *Also offered as LIT 2885.Theatre Histories II*THP 2890 / 3 credits / Spring

Western and world theatre from the 17th to the 20th centuries. Playwrights, actors, directors, producers, and designers; neoclassicism, romanticism, realism, naturalism, expressionism. This course begins where THP 2885 leaves off, but either can be taken independently.

Production PracticumTHP 2895 / 4 credits / Every semester

Students receive training in lighting (hanging, focusing, and maintaining), the use of power tools, and basic set construction. Elements of lighting and set design are also discussed. Requirements include work on a minimum of two productions in the Humanities Theatre as crew and board operators. A lab section is required.

Prerequisite: Limited to freshman and sophomore majors in theatre and performance; others by permission of instructor

Dramaturgy

THP 3000 / 4 credits / Every year

Focuses on the relationships among text, social context, production history, and directorial concept in staging a production. Includes play analysis, theoretical readings, research, student presentations, and analysis and discussion of campus productions. Research, writing, and oral presentations required.

Acting Scene Study

THP 3070 / 3 credits / Spring

Focuses on characterization and motivation, with emphasis on interpretation, finding interesting choices for the actor, and the "truth of the moment." Different contemporary plays and screenplays are used by students. Scenes are used to deepen the actor's ability to execute honest and purposeful stage acting and communication.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Commedia and Pantomime

THP 3110 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introduction to the history and contemporary practice of physical theatre and to the traditions of commedia and pantomime. Includes lectures, mask making, scenario creation, and instruction in and physical practice of the form.

Prerequisite: One acting course, preferably THP 2870 or SOA 1750

Gameplay and Performance

THP 3120 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Explores the genre of alternate reality or pervasive gaming currently used as an alternative to traditional performance by contemporary theatrical and visual artists, dancers, and musicians. The blurring distinctions between game and narrative are examined, opening new possibilities for performance. Students design and stage their own live alternate-reality game as a means of storytelling or extend an existing narrative through transmedia. Also offered as NME 3120.

Medieval and Renaissance English Drama

THP 3140 / 4 credits / Alternate years

A study of the mystery plays, morality plays, interludes, masques, and entertainments of the 14th, 15th, and 16th centuries. Analysis of texts is combined with consideration of theatrical production in light of the ideological, religious, and historical contexts of the plays. Also offered as LIT 3141.

Introduction to Lecoq and Physical Performance

THP 3150 / 3 credits / Fall

An introduction to the Lecoq method of performance, focusing on physical approach to character, the notion of actor as creator, and the importance of mask work.

Prerequisite: SOA 1750 or permission of instructor

Theories of African Diaspora: African/Caribbean Performance

THP 3220 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Theories of African diaspora are analyzed and applied to plays and performance traditions from the Caribbean and Africa. Students study Black Nationalist and pan-Africanist movements in different locations, as well as more contemporary theories of African diaspora like Gilroy's The Black Atlantic. Students also conduct research projects on a play, playwright, or performance tradition within a theoretical framework studied in class.

African Theatre and Performance: History and Practice

THP 3226 / 4 credits / Alternate years

The performance traditions of Africa, specifically South Africa, Kenya, Nigeria, and Ghana, are examined through the lens of the impact of colonialism on African performance traditions and on major playwrights from the region. Students read dramatic texts and learn about ritual performance, contemporary film, music, and dance.

20th-Century Italian Drama

THP 3232 / 4 credits / Summer (offered in Italy)

Italian performance and plays from the 20th century are considered in their social and political contexts, including the works of Dario Fo, a performer and playwright who received the Nobel Prize in Literature. The course culminates in a student performance of selected scenes and excerpts, staged in an ancient piazza. Also offered as ITA 3232.

Theories of Drama and Performance

THP 3250 / 4 credits / Fall

Focuses on postmodern theory and performance. Historical and cross-cultural study of how theatre artists and critical thinkers have addressed issues of aesthetics, representation, style, space, and time.

Women in Performance

THP 3300 / 4 credits / Alternate years

This course considers 20th- and 21st-century performance work by women in dance, theatre, and the visual art world (performance art) from a historical and theoretical perspective. Critical and theoretical feminist essays and other writings are assigned. Students read original texts, view documentation, and analyze contemporary works by women writers, choreographers, performance artists, and theatre directors. Also offered as GND 3300.

Masks and Movement

THP 3310 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Explores the neutral mask and commedia dell'arte, as informed by Lecoq technique. The neutral mask focuses on finding a bodily sense of calm and openness, helps build the actor's presence on stage, and highlights physical habits that can hinder expression. Commedia dell'arte calls on the actor's timing, ability to improvise, and humor, and requires big physical choices and delving into the idiosyncrasies of type.

Vocal Exploration for the Actor

THP 3315 / 3 credits / Every year

Explores the fundamental connection between voice and text, based on Linklater technique. Using technical and imagistic exercises, students find a free connection to breath, develop resonance and range, release jaw, tongue, and throat tensions, and build vocal strength.

Concepts in Costuming

THP 3320 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introduction to the fundamentals of designing costumes for theatre and dance productions. As they examine the design process, students explore how and why a designer makes certain choices. Emphasis is placed on how ideas are generated and communicated within the flux of the production process.

Advanced Movement for Performers

THP 3330 / 2 credits / Spring

Continued sensory-actualization technique to increase the physical awareness needed to create authentic theatre and characters. Classes include warm-up, technical exercises, improvisations, and monologues.

Prerequisite: Basic work in acting and/or movement, or permission of instructor

Contemporary British Drama

THP 3460 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In 1956, a play called Look Back in Anger began a revolution in British drama. The class focuses primarily on the plays of the last 50 years, studying how British playwrights expressed the concerns of their changing society. Dramatists considered include Osborne, Pinter, Orton, Bond, Churchill, and Kane.

Black American Drama

THP 3495 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Examines the history of 20th-century black American theatre. Major representative plays are read as literature; playwrights include Richard Wright, James Baldwin, Amiri Baraka, Alice Childress, Adrienne Kennedy, August Wilson, Robert O'Hara, Suzan-Lori Parks, Lynn Nottage, Kia Corthron, and Lorraine Hansberry. Also offered as LIT 3495.

Documentary Theatre: Performing Real Life

THP 3500 / 4 credits / Spring

Students collect, assemble, and perform scripts based on "lore" (oral history, personal narratives). History is seen as a performative way to construct identity. Includes readings by documentary playwrights like Brecht, Emily Mann, and Caryl Churchill.

Theory and Drama

PHI 3510 Refer to Philosophy Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Solo Performance: Performing the Self in Society

THP 3510 / 4 credits / Spring

Considers the history of performance art and offers a creative process for developing solo and group performances from memory, personal material, and issues in contemporary society. Requirements include both academic and creative projects.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Gay and Lesbian Theatre and Performance

THP 3520 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Historical, theoretical, and performative perspectives on the representation of same-sex relationships and issues on the stage. Topics include cross-dressing, camp, gender, parody, coming out, identity formation, and affirmation. Close reading and discussion of plays, mostly by contemporary American dramatists. Also offered as GND 3520.

Playwriting I

THP 3590 / 4 credits / Fall

Playwriting exercises and extensive reading and discussion of significant one-act plays. The focus is on exploring playwriting strategies and finding a voice. Students present scenes in class and revise them; the final assignment is a one-act play.

Prerequisite: A dramatic literature course and permission of instructor

Playwriting II

THP 3591 / 4 credits / Spring

Further development of the playwright's craft, with attention to plot, character, and language. Students present scenes in class and revise them; the final assignment may be a one-act or full-length play.

Prerequisite: THP 3590 or permission of instructor

Women and Drama

THP 3600 / 4 credits / Fall

Explores female characters in plays by Ibsen, Chekhov, Shaw, and contemporary women playwrights (Mann, Fornes, Churchill, Shange). Theories of gender, language, and performance are addressed. Also offered as GND 3600.

Contemporary Performance

THP 3610 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students study, attend, and create contemporary performance works.

Shakespeare and Film

THP 3620 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Shakespeare goes to celluloid, Hollywood, Japan, TV, and elsewhere. On the one hand, this is a Shakespeare seminar, with emphasis on discussions of the plays themselves. On the other, it becomes a film course, focusing on analyses of screen adaptations. Also offered as LIT 3619.

Prerequisite: THP 2205

New Theatre and Performance

THP 3630 / 4 credits / Fall

Contemporary theatre encompasses a wide range of approaches, from the collective experiments in the 1960s (e.g., Living Theatre, Open Theatre) to Robert Wilson's "operas" and the mixed-media performances of Ping Chong, Meredith Monk, Richard Foreman, and the Wooster Group. Students study the works of several contemporary theatre artists, attend performances, and meet selected artists working with new forms in New York theatre. Taught in New York City.

Directing I

THP 3680 / 4 credits / Fall

Introduction to staging. After a brief overview of directing history, students are introduced to elements of directing (including the Viewpoints) and strategies for working with actors, staging short scenes, and using a minimum of technical elements in a final scene. Required for students with a directing concentration; open to other majors with junior standing.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Directing II

THP 3681 / 4 credits / Spring

Theory and practice of directing, with lectures and practical focus on exercises. Required for theatre and performance majors who are considering production senior projects.

Prerequisite: THP 3680 or permission of instructor

Ensemble Creation

THP 3685 / 3 credits / Fall

In this introduction to strategies of collective creation, students are engaged in a process that culminates in an end-of-semester performance.

American Theatre in Our Time

THP 3690 / 4 credits / Alternate years

American theatre and society during the last 50 years. Plays by Jones (Baraka), Mamet, Shepard, Hwang, Kushner, Fornes, Marsha Norman, Sarah Ruhl, and August Wilson. Also offered as LIT 3690.

Prerequisite: Some knowledge of the American drama of O'Neill, Williams, and Miller

Theatre and Revolutions

THP 3700 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A study of revolutions in theatre, and theatre at the time of historic revolutions. Students study plays (Beaumarchais's Marriage of Figaro, Buchner's Danton's Death, Peter Brook's Marat/Sade), and movements (guerrilla street theatre, Chicano theatre, Bread and Puppet, Living Theatre), focusing on theatre as an active, participatory art and on drama as a literary form.

Theatrical Representations of the Holocaust

THP 3709 Refer to JST 3709 in Jewish Studies Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Modern Hispanic Theatre

THP 3715 Refer to SPA 3715 in Spanish Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Performance of Narrative

THP 3720 / 4 credits / Alternate years

By scripting and performing oral traditions, short stories, and 19th- and 20th-century novels, students explore how narratives establish gender, ethnicity, region, and nation as indexes of identity. Solo and group work.

Adapting Literature for Performance

THP 3725 / 4 credits / Fall

A writing workshop on how to develop performance scripts from poetry, prose fiction, and nonfiction. Requires a background in literature, interest in theatrical form, and commitment to the scripting process. Also offered as LIT 3730 and LWR 3730.

Collaborative Devising and Directing

THP 3730 / 3 credits / Spring

For the ensemble director and actor/creator, a course in creating devised theatre. Using a range of source materials, including short stories, news articles, and interviews, students learn tools and strategies for company-created works. This is a rigorous immersion in building a collaborative vision through structured improvisation, space, character, narrative arc, and mise-en-scène.

Prerequisite: THP 3680 or 3685, and permission of instructor

Non-Western Theatre History and Practice

THP 3740 / 4 credits / Spring

An introduction to the history of world theatre, apart from the Western tradition, including discussion of theatre traditions in Japan, China, India, and Africa. Requirements include readings and viewings of live and videotaped performances. Whenever possible, practitioners of the form under discussion offer an on-campus lecture/demonstration/workshop, for which students enrolled in this course have priority. Limited to theatre and performance, acting, and theatre design/stage technology majors.

European Drama in Our Time

THP 3750 / 4 credits / Spring

Malaise, futility, despair, and, sometimes, hope in the plays of Pirandello, Brecht, Giraudoux, Beckett, Ionesco, Genet, Osborne, Pinter, Churchill, and others, from World War I to somewhere short of tomorrow. Also offered as LIT 3751.

Poetry in PerformanceTHP 3760 / 4 credits / Alternate years

Study and dramatic interpretation of 20th-century lyric poetry, including Eliot, Roethke, Sexton, Plath, Olds, Ginsberg, Rich, Stafford, and Giovanni. Workshop atmosphere; solo and group techniques of performance and script making; written analyses.

Criticism/Reviewing WorkshopTHP 3780 / 4 credits / Alternate years

An introduction to styles of criticism and a practical course in writing short, critical essays (reviews) on the performing and visual arts. On-campus plays and films are assigned; students write about theatre, film, music, dance, painting, and other art forms. Also offered as JOU 3780.

Transmedia and PerformanceSOA 3780 Refer to Theatre Arts SOA Courses for description.Junior Seminar*THP 3890 / 3 credits / Spring

Focuses on the relation between text and production in the theatre through play analysis, theoretical readings, research, student presentations, and discussion of campus productions. A substantial research paper and senior project proposal with annotated bibliography are required. Required for all junior theatre and performance majors, and normally open only to them.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor or board-of-study coordinatorPerformance Practicum*THP 3895 / 4 credits / Every semester

Students rehearse and perform a role or work on the production of a main-stage show directed by a faculty member or other professional director. Students may enroll only after they have been cast or assigned to the production.

Prerequisite: Audition or assignment by facultyHits: Broadway's Popular Plays*THP 4100 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Rather than focusing on the critically acclaimed plays that make up the canon of American drama, this course examines plays that were the most popular and commercially successful of their time. Combining historical research, textual analysis, and cultural theory, students discuss the long-running Broadway hit plays of the past 100 years from artistic, commercial, and ideological perspectives. Open to students in other disciplines with permission of instructor.

Prerequisite: THP 2600 or 2890Advanced Vocal Exploration for the Actor*THP 4315 / 3 credits / Spring

An advanced course that deepens the actor's work with voice and text and introduces Fitzmaurice Voicework, a comprehensive approach to voice training. Students learn to identify vocal needs of particular roles and continue building on techniques to achieve expanded release, resonance, and strength in their voices and bodies.

Prerequisite: THP 3315 or permission of instructorSenior Project*THP 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Two semesters required (8 credits total). Students have the option to either write or direct/perform. Writing option: An essay on theatre history, dramatic literature, film (history, criticism, or theory); an original play or adaptation from existing literature; a promptbook with critical essay for a production; or a screenplay. Directing/performing option: A play or performance piece or a combined project.

Theatre Arts Courses Open to Students in All Disciplines

Many courses in playwriting and screenwriting and in theatre and performance are open to students in all disciplines (on a space-available basis). The following courses, offered by the the BFA programs in Conservatory of Theatre Arts, are open to students in other disciplines.

Additional courses may be added to this list each semester. For the current (or upcoming) semester schedule, search the schedule of classes at my.purchase.edu.

Fundamentals of ActingSOA 1750 / 2 credits / Every semester

Students work on basic acting skills, e.g., developing the ability to produce free, imaginative, and purposeful behavior in relation to environments, objects, and other persons; individual silent exercises; and group exercises. This work leads to in-class performances of selected scenes from a variety of American contemporary plays, with special focus on the sensory requirements in the text. No previous experience required.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorBackstage and Beyond*SOA 3750 / 3 credits / Fall

The study of professionals, shops, and organizations that have played an important role in realizing productions, events, and other live entertainment presentations. The histories of prominent individuals and companies are explored to help piece together an understanding of how the modern production process works. Assignments include research papers and presentations on individuals, organizations, and/or production shops. Offered as TDT 5710 for theatre design/technology MFA students.

Creative Expression

SOA 3760 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students create original stories from various sources of inspiration and gain the theatrical tools to tell them. The course focuses on ensemble creation and covers such areas as mime, heightened character, tréteaux, soundscapes, and object manipulation. Requirements include performing, directing, writing, and making props. Designed to help students get in touch with their creative side in a supportive group atmosphere. A background in performance/high school theatre is beneficial but not required.

Costume Design Seen Through Film

SOA 3775 / 4 credits / Spring

A survey of costume design that covers the creation of icons and myths as well as attempts to reinvent history by exploring self-definitions as individuals and groups, and by looking at people's need to express their subconscious and define themselves in historical context. R-rated films may contain some adult material (hard language, intense or persistent violence, sexually oriented nudity, drug abuse or other elements).

Transmedia and Performance

SOA 3780 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Transmedia narrative can be described as storytelling across multiple forms of media, with each element making distinctive contributions to a user's understanding of the story world. The course combines this with a study of immersive performance environments that wrap around viewers and production practices that blend video, photography, games, and music to extend the project's meaning and theatricality.

School of Art+Design

The School of Art+Design offers professional instruction in the visual arts for students possessing outstanding artistic promise and strong motivation for accomplishment.

Philosophically as well as pragmatically, the purpose of the School of Art+Design's programs is to provide an educational atmosphere in which students and faculty artists and designers work together, engage in critical dialogue, experiment, test their ideas, and learn. The curriculum is based on the belief that artists and designers must have both the traditional tools and current skills of their respective disciplines. In addition, they must have an understanding of contemporary society and technology, an awareness of conceptual and theoretical approaches to art making, and the educational opportunity to explore their abilities through the development of intellectual and technical skills. The curriculum in the School of Art+Design is responsive to both the established traditions and categories of art making and the expanding new concepts, materials, and technologies of the contemporary world.

About Our Alumni

Alumni of the School of Art+Design enjoy successful careers in gallery and museum work, national publications, electronic visualization, master print edition studios, art direction, computer typography, photography, graphic and corporate design, education, graduate study and research, and as independent, exhibiting studio artists. Their success is evidenced in the major awards, grants, and fellowships that they have received, including Guggenheim, Fulbright, Prix de Rome, and MacArthur fellowships and Siskind, New York Foundation for the Arts, and Marie Walsh Sharpe Foundation grants. Alumni work has been exhibited at such prestigious institutions as the Museum of Modern Art, P.S.1 Contemporary Art Center, and Whitney Museum of American Art in New York City; the Los Angeles County Museum of Art; and the Albright Knox Art Gallery. In 2003, a School of Art+Design graduate received the coveted honor of representing the U.S. at the Venice Biennale, the renowned international contemporary art fair.

School of Art+Design: Laptop Policy for Incoming Undergraduate Students

In the School of Art+Design, all incoming undergraduate students must have a functional laptop (two years old or newer) with the newest version of the Adobe Creative Suite Master Collection installed and ready to open. While Windows or other operating systems may be used, a student's optimal learning experience will be with the Mac OS because of its integration with the School of Art+Design's computer labs and faculty Mac OS laptops. Recommended specifications and links to educational pricing are available at www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/artdesign/laptoprequirement.aspx.

This laptop and software are the property of the student, who is expected to maintain them throughout his or her years in the program. The college will not maintain, repair, support, or replace these items. Therefore, AppleCare warranty protection is recommended. There is an Apple store very close to the campus that will provide service for machines under warranty.

It is also recommended that students extend homeowners or renters insurance to cover the laptop and other valuables while at college or purchase a separate policy for these items. This type of insurance can cover theft and other unforeseen circumstances. The Purchase College Association can assist students with separate insurance plans for these items at a very nominal rate.

For additional information and updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/artdesign/laptoprequirement.aspx.

The Visual Arts BS Program

Distinct from the professional BFA programs, the BS major in visual arts provides an overview of contemporary art-based research methods and cultural theories, art history, and studio practice in a broad liberal arts context designed to introduce students to analytic and critical thinking.

The BS program combines courses in studio foundation, studio electives, art history, and art theory. Students can choose from other art electives offered by the School of Art+Design, as long as they have taken the prerequisite courses. Twenty-six credits of electives outside the visual arts make it possible for students to complete a minor in the humanities, natural sciences, social sciences, or performing arts. This freedom offers students access to the full range of programs at Purchase College.

The Neuberger Museum of Art and Performing Arts Center on campus serve as active resources and integral components of the curriculum. Study abroad programs may provide enrichment and global perspectives to the course of study. Internships may also provide a practical connection between academic studies and potential career paths.

Academically engaged, visually perceptive, and skillful students who wish to pursue this course of study will be admitted by portfolio review. Upon completion of the program, students may pursue careers in such cultural organizations as museums, galleries and nonprofit organizations; art journalism and publishing, marketing and advertising; and other professions that require creative problem solving and inventive solutions. Graduates of this BS program will also be prepared to continue study in graduate and professional programs.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/ArtDesign/BSVA.aspx.

BS in Visual Arts: Academic Requirements

In addition to fulfilling general degree requirements, undergraduate students majoring in the visual arts BS program must complete the following requirements (61 credits), as outlined below:

Foundation Courses: 19 credits

VIS 1050/ComX: 1 credit
 VIS 1060/Foundation Drawing: 3 credits
 VIS 1070/Extended Media: 3 credits
 VIS 1080/Visual Language: 3 credits
 VIS 1250/2-D Processes: 3 credits
 VIS 1260/3-D Processes: 3 credits
 VIS 1270/4-D Processes: 3 credits

Art History Courses: 16 credits

ARH 1020/History of Art Survey II
 ARH —/One course in the history of art prior to 1800 (lower-level)
 ARH —/Art history elective (modern/contemporary)
 ARH —/Art history elective (upper level)

Studio Electives: 18 credits

V —/Visual arts studio electives: 6 credits
 V —/Visual arts studio electives (upper level): 12 credits

Synthesis Courses: 8 credits

VIS 4990/Senior Project: 8 credits

Notes on the Curriculum

Visual Arts Studio Electives

The requirements include 18 credits of visual arts studio electives, 12 of which are upper level. These electives can be taken within a particular area of study or spread among the various disciplines in the School of Art+Design.

Core Curriculum

The core curriculum provides students in the BS program with a foundation in the liberal arts. VIS 1050 (required for the major) satisfies the Freshman Seminar core curriculum requirement for incoming freshmen in BS programs.

Minors

Students are encouraged to pursue a minor in the humanities, natural sciences, social sciences, or performing arts. A minor provides a more interdisciplinary framework for the study of visual arts and more depth within a particular discipline than courses in the core curriculum alone can offer. While four of the five courses required for the minor in art history are included in the major requirements, students are encouraged to explore other minors. Students who complete a five-course minor in a field other than art history will normally have room for only two electives in their course of study.

Upper-Level Credits

A total of 45 upper-level credits are required for the Bachelor of Science degree. This includes upper-level visual arts studio, art history, core curriculum, and elective courses, as well as the senior project.

Internships

Students may take two 4-credit internships with an organization, company, or working visual arts professional. These credits may be applied toward the visual arts studio elective requirements or the upper-level elective requirements. Internships are optional and subject to an academic sponsor's approval.

Senior Project

Students are encouraged to pursue a senior project that combines two areas of study, one within the visual arts and one within a minor area. Such an interdisciplinary project would involve visual analysis, research, critical thinking, writing, and methods of documentation. Students may also choose to complete all 8 credits of their senior project in the visual arts or in their minor area of study, as long as the subject matter pertains in some way to the visual arts. The senior project for the BS in visual arts does not require an exhibition component.

The BFA Program

The School of Art+Design offers four-year curricula in graphic design, painting/drawing, photography, printmaking, sculpture, and interdisciplinary visual arts. Each of these majors leads to the Bachelor of Fine Arts degree (BFA):

Graphic Design
Painting/Drawing
Photography
Printmaking
Sculpture
Visual Arts: Interdisciplinary

Each student works closely with a faculty advisor to establish a program of study that allows the student to develop particular areas of interest and to prepare for the larger world of art and design. In the art school setting, the student investigates introductory courses in different visual arts disciplines and, during the four-year program, specializes in a major area of study. Students who wish to pursue an interdisciplinary course of study in which several media are investigated should refer to the visual arts interdisciplinary major and consult with their advisors or the heads of the boards of study during their freshman year to determine requirements.

Visiting Artists and Critics

The BFA program is frequently enriched by visiting artist lectures and critiques. Past visiting artists and critics include Vito Acconci, Polly Apfelbaum, John Baldessari, Mike Bidlo, Benjamin Buchloh, Willie Cole, John Coplans, Arthur Danto, Jim Dine, Rackstraw Downes, Elliott Earls, Ed Fella, Eric Fischl, Coco Fusco, Thelma Golden, Leon Golub, Alfredo Jaar, Yvonne Jacquette, Joan Jonas, Jon Kessler, Alison Knowles, Komar and Melamid, Les Levine, Donald Lipski, Ellen Lupton, T. Abbott Miller, Judy Pfaff, Peter Plagens, Tim Rollins, Dana Shutz, and Wolfgang Weingart.

BFA Overview: Requirements, Electives, and Option

At least 73–77 credits in visual arts studio courses (depending on the major) plus 12 credits in art history are required for BFA students in the School of Art+Design; the academic requirements are listed under each major. To graduate, BFA students must fulfill all general degree requirements as well as the requirements for their major.

Study Abroad

Students may choose to spend a semester abroad in any of the numerous international programs offered through the State University of New York. In addition, the School of Art+Design sponsors student exchanges with the Amsterdam School of the Arts in the Netherlands, the Royal Academy of Art in London, the Glasgow School of Art in Scotland, and the Universidad Iberro in Mexico City. Students who wish to participate in any of these international programs should consult with their advisors or the director in the School of Art+Design about eligibility.

Summer Studies

Art+Design students have a variety of opportunities to continue their studies in the summer:

1. The college's study abroad programs offer opportunities for interdisciplinary study.
2. In the summer sessions at Purchase College, which are administered by the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education, a range of undergraduate credit courses are available, including many that satisfy core curriculum requirements.
3. Numerous summer programs in the visual arts, offered by institutions across the country, may provide a particular process, media, or topic of interest.
4. It is possible to arrange an independent study with a member of the Purchase College faculty.
5. It is also common for students to arrange for a professional internship as part of their summer activity.

Students should consult with their faculty advisors to discuss the particular options available.

Freshman Year

First-year requirements for BFA students include a foundation program consisting of VIS 1050/ComX, a freshman seminar based on community experience; studio courses in drawing, extended media, visual language, and 2- through 4-D processes; and one year of art history, from medieval times through the 20th century. As part of their first-year art history requirement, all students take ARH

1020/History of Art Survey II, which also satisfies the humanities requirement in the core curriculum. Students are also required to complete LWR 1110/College Writing in the fall semester.

Freshman-Year Withdrawal Policy

Please note that students may not withdraw from any foundation program courses. If extenuating circumstances exist, a student may petition his or her advisor for permission to withdraw. Withdrawal will only be allowed with the permission of both the student's advisor and the associate/assistant dean of the School of the Arts.

Sophomore and Junior Years

More concentrated study in the major begins in the first semester of the sophomore year. Students should refer to both the general degree requirements for the BFA and their major requirements, and consult with their advisors for assistance in following their courses of study during the sophomore and junior years. In the second semester of their junior year and in consultation with their faculty advisor, students must submit an application for graduation to the registrar.

Senior Year

All senior-year studies must be completed in residence at Purchase. During the senior year, all students must complete an 8-credit senior project, as well as other remaining requirements. In the senior project—an intensive, independent study undertaken with faculty sponsorship—students pursue a particular theme or topic as a culmination of their undergraduate experience. A written thesis and visual documentation of the project must be submitted to the Library before graduation.

Art History

In addition to the general art history requirements, BFA students in the School of Art+Design have two options for further study in art history: a minor and a concentration. These options are grounded in the idea that there is a clear interrelationship between art history/critical studies and studio practice in the visual arts.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/ArtDesign/BFA.aspx.

Minor in Visual Arts

The minor in visual arts is designed to provide students in other disciplines with an understanding of visual arts processes, issues, and skills.

Prerequisite: 4 credits in visual arts studio courses and 4 credits in art history courses

Academic Requirements for the Minor in Visual Arts

A total of 20 credits (16 credits in visual arts studio courses and 4 credits in art history courses) are required, as follows:

1. The prerequisites listed above: 8 credits
2. Plus 12 additional credits in visual arts studio courses, chosen in consultation with the academic advisor in the School of Art+Design

A maximum of 4 transfer credits may be counted toward these academic requirements. All studio courses must be completed with a grade of C or higher to count toward the minor.

Applying for Admission to the Minor

An application and review process is required for admission to the minor in visual arts; acceptance is not automatic. To apply, students must have completed the prerequisite courses and must submit the following to the School of Art+Design main office (Visual Arts Building, second floor):

- a completed Application for a Program of Minor Study (available on the School of Art+Design website)
- an advising transcript
- a written statement, and
- a portfolio (submitted online via Slideroom.com; details are available on the application form)

For more information, please refer to the application form. Students who still have questions should call the School of Art+Design, (914) 251-6750.

For the application form and updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/ArtDesign/Minor.aspx.

BFA Program: Art History Minor and Concentration

In addition to the general art history requirements, BFA students in the School of Art+Design have two options for further study in art history: a minor and a concentration. These options are grounded in the idea that there is a clear interrelationship between art history/critical studies and studio practice in the visual arts.

Minor in Art History

Please refer to the Art History section (School of Humanities) for the minor in art history requirements.

- Of the credits earned toward the minor in art history, 12 satisfy the art history requirement for visual arts majors.
- An additional 8 credits may be counted toward the studio/professional requirements (73–77 credits) for visual arts majors.
- Requirements for the minor in art history can be satisfied within the normal 120-credit program required for the BFA.

Concentration in Art History: Academic Requirements

Nine courses, as follows:

- ARH 1010/History of Art Survey I
- ARH 1020/History of Art Survey II
- ARH 3880/Junior Seminar in Art History
- One course in the history of art before 1800
- Four additional art history courses
- ARH 4990/Senior Project in Art History*

*For ARH 4990, students are expected to write a thesis to accompany their studio senior project in the School of Art+Design. The thesis is a 15-to-20-page paper that (a) fulfills academic expectations for an art history major, (b) may be closely integrated into the student's studio senior project, and (c) may fulfill the writing requirement in the studio senior project.

Please note:

1. BFA students in the School of Art+Design who pursue the concentration in art history do not receive a BA in art history, nor are they required to complete the collateral course requirements of art history majors.
2. Of the credits earned toward the concentration in art history, 12 satisfy the art history requirement for visual arts majors.
3. An additional 8 credits may be counted toward the studio/professional requirements (73–77 credits) for visual arts majors.
4. The remaining credits constitute an overload (above the 120-credit requirement for the BFA), which requires summer study and/or an additional semester of coursework.
5. For ARH course descriptions, please refer to Art History Undergraduate Courses.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/artdesign/ArtHistoryMinorAndConcentration.aspx.

The Graphic Design BFA Program

The graphic design area offers a distinctive program in the art and practice of print- and digitally based graphic design and experimental publishing. The program approaches graphic design as a vital field of professional art practice that gives shape to culture through a variety of media, including:

- print and digital books, magazines, brochures, posters, billboards
- motion graphics
- Web and interactive design
- type design
- exhibition design
- packaging
- other two-, three-, and four-dimensional manifestations

While graphic design usually solves visual communication problems through words, symbols, and images, its applications can be commercial, political, educational, literary, subversive, personal, and experimental.

To prepare for the range of options in the graphic design field, the program provides a hands-on studio environment with emphasis on the marriage of formal and conceptual skills. After the freshman foundation studies, a three-year sequence of courses begins with training in fundamental principles, skills, theory, and history and progresses toward more advanced and applied applications. Experienced, professional faculty members help students find their own voice and approach to design in a facility that encompasses a broad array of print and digital technologies. The program challenges students to consider the role of the artist/designer as creative collaborator, if not the originator of project ideas.

In collaboration with the printmaking program, courses in the art of the book and experimental publishing are offered in the facilities of the School of Art+Design's Center for Editions. The graphic design major is rigorous yet flexible and encourages overlaps with other areas in the school.

BFA in Graphic Design: Academic Requirements

In addition to fulfilling general degree requirements, undergraduate students majoring in graphic design must complete the following requirements (89 credits):

Foundation Courses: 19 credits

VIS 1050/ComX: 1 credit
 VIS 1060/Foundation Drawing: 3 credits
 VIS 1070/Extended Media: 3 credits
 VIS 1080/Visual Language: 3 credits
 VIS 1250/2-D Processes: 3 credits
 VIS 1260/3-D Processes: 3 credits
 VIS 1270/4-D Processes: 3 credits

Art History Courses: 12 credits

ARH 1020/History of Art Survey II
 ARH —/One course in the history of art before 1800 (lower-level)
 ARH —/Art history elective (modern/contemporary)

Graphic Design Studio Courses: 38 credits

VDE 2540/Digital Media for Designers I: 3 credits
 VDE 2460/Digital Media for Designers II: 2 credits
 VDE 2500/Word and Image I: 3 credits
 VDE 2600/Word and Image II: 4 credits
 VDE 3200/Advanced Typography: 4 credits
 VDE 3300/History of Graphic Design Survey: 4 credits
 VDE 3450/Production for Designers: 3 credits
 VDE 3510/Word and Image III: 4 credits
 VDE 3610/Word and Image IV: 4 credits
 VDE 4100/Community Design: 4 credits
 VDE —/Graphic design elective: 3 credits

Studio Electives: 11 credits

V —/Visual arts studio electives: 11 credits

Synthesis Courses: 9 credits

VDE 4090/Senior Seminar: 3 credits
 DES 4990/Senior Project: 6 credits

Sophomore Review

Students who choose to major in graphic design are required to complete a midprogram sophomore review, conducted during the spring semester. This allows students who pass the review to preregister for required junior-level courses in the major. Students should contact the board-of-study coordinator for specific information on the review process and timeline. Students who do not successfully pass the sophomore review are encouraged to work with the School of Art+Design administration and faculty to find another major that will better fit their educational goals.

Internship Credits

Students majoring in graphic design may count a maximum of 4 hours of internship credit toward graduation.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/artdesign/DesignAcademicRequirements.aspx.

Undergraduate Design Courses

Note: In sequenced courses (e.g., I, II, III, IV), successful completion of each course is a prerequisite for the next course in the sequence. For example, VDE 2450/Digital Media for Designers I is a prerequisite for VDE 2460/Digital Media for Designers II.

Letterpress Workshop

VDE 2400 / 3 credits / Fall

Students become familiar with hot-type technology and relief printing, together with their contemporary aesthetic possibilities in both the applied and fine arts. Hands-on experience with handset, moveable type is provided, and traditional and experimental techniques are explored. No previous typographic experience is required.

Digital Media for Designers I

VDE 2450 / 3 credits / Fall

Focuses on developing technical and practical skills in digital typesetting, image making, composition, and layout. Students are introduced to software applications (InDesign, Photoshop, and Illustrator), digital fonts, and techniques for creating print and digital output. Topics include digital literacy and the influence of digital tools on contemporary graphic design. Required for graphic design majors.

Corequisite: VDE 2500 or permission of instructor

Digital Media for Designers II

VDE 2460 / 2 credits / Spring

This continuation of VDE 2450 introduces students to digitally delivered, time-based, and interactive media. Software applications (Adobe Dreamweaver, After Effects) are used to expand upon the work of VDE 2450. Required for graphic design majors.

Prerequisite: VDE 2450

Corequisite: VDE 2600 or permission of instructor

Word and Image I

VDE 2500 / 3 credits / Fall

An introduction to the professional program in graphic design and visual communications. Emphasis is on skill development in controlling the performance of elements within a field; generation, refinement, and analysis of graphic forms and representations through a variety of drawing techniques; development of symbols and icons; and composition, variation, and discovery of word/image relationships through experimentation and play. Historical typographic distinctions are also explored. Required for graphic design majors.

Corequisite: VDE 2450

Word and Image II

VDE 2600 / 4 credits / Spring

This continuation of VDE 2500 examines the representation of ideas through typography and images, with intensive explorations of typographic and type/image hierarchy (through placement, scale, weight, juxtaposition), theme and variation, and problem-solving techniques. Students also explore a range of image-making techniques as a means of expressing ideas. Projects evolve from theory-based exercises to applied campaigns (brochures, posters, on-screen messaging). Required for graphic design majors.

Prerequisite: VDE 2500

Book Structures

VDE 2750 / 3 credits / Spring

This hands-on intensive bookbinding workshop investigates the relationship between content and book structures. Students follow the development of the book from scrolls to case-bound sewn books from the perspective that the way a book is made structures what it communicates.

Interactive Design

VDE 3090 / 3 credits / Spring

An intensive exploration into interactive design with information, objects, and spaces, building on VDE 2460 and 3800. Class projects explore what is needed when working with programmatic instructions: thinking rigorously and methodically while also exploring the tools of design. This allows an interactive experience to move beyond the sum of its instructions to become "living" and "responsive." Topics include navigational systems, nonlinear organization, HTML, and CSS. Offered as NME 3090 for new media majors.

Prerequisite: VDE 2460 and 3800

Motion Graphics for Designers

VDE 3190 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Builds on the principles and skills of time-based and interactive design introduced in VDE 2460. Technique, theory, and practice are further explored through projects using time, on-screen spatiality, transition, kinetic typography, narrative, and sound. Projects address linear and nonlinear environments such as film and television titling, DVD menus, Web splash pages, and graphics for mobile devices. Offered as NME 3190 for new media majors.

Prerequisite: VDE 2460 and permission of instructor

Advanced Typography

VDE 3200 / 4 credits / Fall

Students are encouraged to further explore and develop individualized approaches to typographic problems, with emphasis on experimentation, communication, and advanced application of typography. Projects focus on letterforms as image, typographic metaphor, and text typography. Areas of investigation include the shape, texture, and division of text; typographic grid, layout, and systems; book design and advanced problems of word/image relationships. Required for graphic design majors.

Prerequisite: VDE 2600

Design Issues

VDE 3240 / 3 credits / Spring

Current issues of theory, methodology, and practice confronting graphic designers are explored through readings, discussions, and designed responses. Topics include modernist and postmodernist manifestos; semiotics, deconstructionism, and feminism; the role of the graphic designer in society; branding and visualizing data; copyright law; sustainability; and designing for a digital world and local and global economies. Students produce a final research project. Open to students interested in design; highly recommended for graphic design majors.

Social Design: Global Cities, New Ecologies, and Sustainability

VDE 3260 Refer to NME 3260 in New Media Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.

History of Graphic Design Survey

VDE 3300 / 4 credits / Spring

Focuses on print communication, primarily graphic design, in the Western world from the late 19th century to the present. A brief summary of important historical precedents launches a chronological series of lectures on significant movements and individuals and the economic, political, and technological developments that have influenced modern and contemporary print communication. Required for graphic design majors. Offered as NME 3301 for new media majors.

Typographic Investigations

VDE 3440 / 3 credits / Spring

An introduction to type design. Topics include manipulation of pre-existing letterforms, proportional systems, legibility, critical theory, information design, and developments in technology. Participants learn about decisions inherent in developing typefaces for print and screen and analyze historical and contemporary examples of typographic innovation. Software includes Fontlab.

Prerequisite: VDE 3200

Production for Designers

VDE 3450 / 3 credits / Every semester

A comprehensive study of the methods and techniques used in producing and distributing graphic design projects. Projects explore hands-on prepress and print production. Topics include print technologies, paper specification and engineering, binding/finishing techniques, sustainability, quality control, photography for designers, budget parameters, and designing for Internet and mobile devices. Field trips may include print shops, paper mills, and graphic design suppliers. Required for graphic design majors.

Prerequisite: VDE 2600

Word and Image III

VDE 3510 / 4 credits / Fall

Emphasizes the development and evaluation of word and image through advanced studies and pragmatic applications. Development of an identity system, applied printed and electronic matter, issues of imagery, relationship to audience, ethics, information theory, and research methods are explored. Students are encouraged to explore the balance between individualized approaches, vision, and appropriateness. Required for graphic design majors.

Prerequisite: VDE 2600

Word and Image IV

VDE 3610 / 4 credits / Spring

Focusing on applications of 3-D visual communications (e.g., packaging, exhibition, signage design), students explore problems of human and environmental scale, display typography, interactivity, object containment and reflection, visual systems, and color through a variety of applied projects. Construction techniques, model making, and familiarity with materials are balanced with concerns for relationship of form, function, and idea. Required for graphic design majors.

Prerequisite: VDE 3510

Design for the Web

VDE 3800 / 3 credits / Spring

Contemporary Web-based communication design is introduced and examined. Students analyze existing sites as well as explore and experiment with formal, conceptual, and technological developments specific to the restrictions and capabilities of the Web. Specific attention is paid to the role of the designer in the creation of a website, user experience, screen-based typography, and innovative design. Recommended for graphic design majors.

Prerequisite: VDE 2460 or equivalent

Senior Seminar

VDE 4090 / 3 credits / Spring

Explores the possibilities and realities of design practice after graduation. Students develop a portfolio, enter competitions, and design a personalized identity package, including a website, modular digital portfolio, letterhead, cover letter, and résumé. Discussions revolve around current issues in the field, professional options, the business of design, and freelancing. Includes guest speakers and field trips to design studios, museums, and related events. Required for graphic design majors.

Prerequisite: VDE 4100 and senior standing

Community Design

VDE 4100 / 4 credits / Every semester

Brings senior graphic design students together in a collaborative design studio, simulating a "real world" professional studio situation. Students work directly with on-campus and nonprofit off-campus clients. Under the supervision of the faculty member, the students assume complete responsibility for the concept and development of multiple design solutions, production, printing, scheduling, maintaining client relationships, billing, etc. Required for graphic design majors.

Prerequisite: VDE 3200 and 3510

Advanced Web Design: Special Projects

VDE 4170 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Based on the model of VDE 4100, this special upper-level course provides advanced students in graphic design and new media with professional experience working as a team on a real job for a real client. Offered as NME 4170 for new media majors.

Prerequisite: VDE 3090 or 3800, and permission of instructor

Experimental Book

VDE 4600 / 3 credits / Fall

Students are encouraged to reconsider what a book is and expand the boundaries of the traditional codex book through workshops in experimental formats, integration of word and image, form and content, sequencing, and physical structure. This may include a variety of projects and the study of video and film structure, historical and contemporary artists' books, and innovative trade books.

Artist/Writer Workshop

VDE 4790 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The ideas and skills inherent in visual arts and literature are combined toward an integrated expression in this interdisciplinary course.

Students confront issues of form, word and image relationships, sequence, storytelling, semiotics, and visual/experimental literature. Skills are developed through a sequence of exercises, including Dada poetry and other writing (continuous, automatic, multiple points of view); titling objects; building a narrative; story development; typographic settings of original text; and writing and designing for the visual book, performance, and other time-based media. Students choose the medium for their final projects; collaborations are encouraged. Offered as SOA 4240 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: Junior or senior standing, and an interest in the marriage of visual arts and writing

Senior Project for Design (Two Semesters)

DES 4990 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every semester

The two-semester, 6-credit senior project is required for all graphic design majors in their senior year. It is an intensive independent study undertaken with faculty sponsorship, in which students pursue a particular theme or topic as a culmination of their undergraduate experience. A written thesis and visual documentation of the project must be submitted to the Library before graduation.

Senior Project for Design (One Semester)

DES 4991 / 6 credits / Every semester

This is a one-semester variant of the DES 4990 requirement. Students who wish to pursue their entire senior project in one semester register with this course number.

Prerequisite: Permission of the senior project advisor and the director of the School of Art+Design

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/artdesign/VdcCourses.aspx.

The Painting and Drawing BFA Program

Students in painting and drawing benefit from the variety of views of faculty members who are all practicing and exhibiting artists. Studio work is complemented by trips to New York City to visit galleries, museums, and artists' studios. Students pursuing the BFA major in painting/drawing take part in sophomore and junior reviews; all students participate in critique and review sessions conducted by the resident faculty, as well as by visiting artists and critics.

Students have access to nine studio classrooms specifically designed for painting and drawing, with large north-facing windows that provide excellent natural light. In the junior and senior years, selected students are assigned semiprivate studios.

Sophomore Review

Students who choose to major in painting/drawing are required to participate in a sophomore review, conducted during the spring semester. This allows students to be reviewed by full-time faculty and to present their work in a group critique format. Students should contact the board-of-study coordinator for specific information on the review process and timeline. Students who do not successfully pass sophomore-level coursework are encouraged to work with the School of Art+Design administration and faculty to find a path to successful study or another major that will better fit their educational goals.

Undergraduate Painting and Drawing Courses

Painting I

VPD 1000 / 3 credits / Every semester

In this introduction to oil painting, students are presented with a variety of attitudes toward making paintings, with emphasis on composition and color. Some assignments involve painting from direct observation while others involve transforming and abstracting from a given motif. Students develop color equivalents for observed relationships by translating their experience into color choices of hue, value, intensity, and temperature.

Painting II

VPD 2000 / 3 credits / Every semester

A continuation of VPD 1000. Emphasis is on the role of technique, style, color, and composition in painting. Students' work is based on art historical models, concepts, and direct observation. Students develop a range of skills, including alla prima, underpainting, transparency, divided color, and various approaches to color mixing.

Prerequisite: VPD 1000

Sophomore Seminar

VPD 2010 / 3 credits / Every semester

A survey of contemporary artists, ideas, and texts in which basic research skills are taught. A combination of slide lectures, discussions of readings, and museum/gallery visits familiarize students with contemporary art discourse and many of its important figures. Contemporary issues are understood to originate in modernist traditions.

Prerequisite: VIS 1060

Painting III

VPD 2050 / 3 credits / Fall

A continuation of VPD 2000, with emphasis on choices of color, scale, size, composition, and subject. Projects may include interiors and figures in the environment, as well as narrative, conceptual, and thematic approaches.

Prerequisite: VPD 2000

VPD 2100 and 2105 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Observational drawing of the figure is a vehicle to comprehend drawing as visual language. Drawing fundamentals are employed as tools in intense observation of the human form. Such elements as gesture, contour, line, mass, and movement are introduced in critiques and slide presentations. Materials include pencil, charcoal, wash, and various wet and dry media.

Prerequisite: VIS 1060

VPD 2150 and 2155 / 2 credits (per semester)

Special topic (offered irregularly)

A 2-credit workshop version of VPD 2100 and 2105. Drawing fundamentals are employed in the study of the human figure. Materials include wet and dry drawing media.

Prerequisite: VIS 1060

Black and White as Color

VPD 2250 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students are asked to invent and discover roles for black and white to play, other than the traditional and obvious ones of dark and light.

The goal is to characterize observed form and space in "plastic terms" (Matisse). Colorants are explored in extension, as areas. Plasticity is expressed by means of color interaction: selective orchestrations of color intervals, edge conditions, quantity, distribution, and proportion.

Prerequisite: VIS 1060 and VPD 1000

On-site Drawing

VPD 2300 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students work outside the studio from direct observation and experience. Invention and unique responses are encouraged. Sites have included the Museum of the City of New York, Flushing Meadows–Corona Park, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the World Trade Center, the Museum of Natural History, and various locations on campus.

Prerequisite: One semester of drawing

Intermediate Drawing

VPD 2350 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Explores themes and a variety of approaches to style, form, and content. Themes are subject to change; examples include science and art; ornament, pattern, and decoration; and politics and cultural identity. Classroom work, lectures, critiques, readings, and illustrated discussions augment the thematic research. A range of drawing materials and approaches are encouraged.

Prerequisite: VIS 1060

Junior Studio I and II

VPD 3000 and 3001 / 3 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

Focuses on the synthesis of observational skills, a visual vocabulary, and individual vision. Students identify their sensibilities and interests through increasingly self-directed assignments and further their visual, technical, conceptual, and verbal abilities.

Prerequisite: Junior standing in painting/drawing

VPD 3010 / 3 credits / Every semester

Helps expand students' knowledge of art and theory. Students learn new ideas and perspectives through research, presentations, and discussion of modernist and contemporary art. They also research artists and identify their individual affinities with contemporary and modernist traditions. This seminar is tailored to junior-level painting/drawing majors who are beginning a self-motivated course of study.

Advanced Painting I

VPD 3020 / 3 credits / Fall

Students work independently, choosing their subjects and approach to painting under the guidance of a faculty member. Critical thinking is promoted in critiques and discussion of readings. Students' work is considered in the context of contemporary painting as they attempt to define their individual sensibility and concerns in preparation for (or in complement to) the senior project.

Prerequisite: VPD 2050

Advanced Drawing Projects I and II

VPD 3030 and 4030 / 3 credits (per semester)

Special topic (offered irregularly)

The limits of scale, material, and the concept of drawing as an art form are pushed in these courses. Students are expected to already be directed in their primary medium(s) of interest (painting, sculpture, printmaking, design, or photography) and to be able to pursue drawing in relation to those or as an independent discipline.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Experimental Drawing

VPD 3040 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

This course encourages nontraditional approaches to drawing. Students explore a more innovative and interpretive response to their visual and intellectual experiences, both through a wide-ranging use of tools and materials and through complex and unconventional concepts, ideas, and subject matter. Assumptions about technique, subject, author, environment, audience, and historical classifications are interrogated.

Prerequisite: VIS 1060

Experimental Painting

VPD 3041 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

This course encourages nontraditional approaches to painting. Students explore a more innovative and interpretive response to their visual and intellectual experiences, both through a wide-ranging use of tools and materials and through complex and unconventional concepts, ideas, and subject matter. Assumptions about technique, subject, author, environment, audience, and historical classifications are interrogated.

Prerequisite: VPD 1000

Large-Scale Figure Drawing

VPD 3100 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

This course involves drawing the figure on a large scale from direct observation of the model and various sculptural, two-dimensional, or digitally based sources. Form, gesture, and composition are stressed in large-scale, fast-to-slow drawing. Assignments in anatomy, photography, narrative, memory, and art history are used to develop concepts for representation of the figure. Analysis, critique, and experimentation are components of the course.

Prerequisite: VIS 1060

Outrageous/Outscale

VPD 3150 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students experiment with ideas for making a series of work that is extreme in content, scale, color, and visual impact, and may choose to work independently or collaboratively.

Prerequisite: VIS 1060

On-site PaintingVPD 3201 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students work outside the studio from direct observation. Invention and unique responses are encouraged. Sites have included Grand Central Station, the Rockefeller Estate, the Westchester County Airport, and various locations on campus.

Prerequisite: Two semesters of paintingSpecial Topics: Museum Drawing*VPD 3400 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The collections of New York's museums are used as sources for drawing studies. Particular focus is on sculptural forms and their representation in painting and drawing, as well as the development of students' relationship to art history.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorThe Generated Image*VPD 3410 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students make paintings and drawings based on generated images. Various strategies, including appropriating imagery from cultural media (print, photography, the Web) and manipulating imagery through mechanical and electronic processes (photocopy, Photoshop), are explored. Other approaches (e.g., layering, de/constructing, morphing) may also be used to generate imagery for narrative, ironic, or abstract works.

Prerequisite: VPD 1000 and working knowledge of PhotoshopPeople and Places*VPD 3420 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Issues are figure/ground, identity/context, and the diverse roles of the figure in art. Using varied methods and approaches, students explore the wide-ranging possibilities of figuration, drawing from the model and other sources. The history and traditions of figurative art are examined in slide presentations and gallery visits.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorMaterials and Techniques*VPD 3500 / 3 credits / Every semester

Contemporary and more traditional approaches to painting materials and techniques are demonstrated and then practiced by students. Materials include pigments, solvents, supports, media, and their technical applications.

Prerequisite: VIS 1060Studio Assistant*VPD 3950 / 2 credits / Every semester

Students gain technical professional experience by helping provide a safe and well-functioning studio environment for their fellow students. Studio assistants are expected to have advanced standing in their media area and a thorough understanding of current professional practices. Duties include basic maintenance and demonstrations of equipment, independent or group tutorials and workshops, weekly meetings, and other responsibilities assigned by the sponsoring instructional technician. A maximum of 4 credits in VPD 3950 (or a combined maximum of 6 credits in VIS 3800 and VPD 3950) may be applied toward the BFA. Also offered as VPH, VPR, and VSC 3950.

Prerequisite: Two semesters in the relevant media area and permission of instructorVisiting Artist*VPD 4000 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Visiting artists work with advanced students to further develop their painting and drawing skills and abilities. Students work independently and meet for group discussions and critiques. Readings and field trips may supplement the visiting artists' discussions.

Prerequisite: VIS 1060Senior Seminar and Critique*VPD 4010 / 3 credits / Every semester

Commitment and professional practice are the focus of this seminar. Students are encouraged to articulate and clarify the intentions of their work through lectures, critiques, discussions, and readings. Required for all painting/drawing majors who are undertaking a senior project.

Prerequisite: VPD 3000 and 3001Advanced Painting II: Content and Form*VPD 4020 / 3 credits / Spring

Students work independently, choosing their subjects and approach to painting under the guidance of a faculty member. Critical thinking is promoted in critiques and discussion of readings. Students' work is considered in the context of contemporary painting as they attempt to define their individual sensibility and concerns in preparation for (or in complement to) the senior project.

Prerequisite: VPD 3020Advanced Drawing Projects II*VPD 4030 Refer to VPD 3030 and 4030.Special Topics in Painting*VPD 4040 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An extensive study of a particular topic or technique in painting. Topics vary each semester.

Prerequisite: Two semesters of paintingSpecial Topics in Painting Workshop*VPD 4041 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A 2-credit workshop version of VPD 4040 on a particular topic or technique in painting. Topics vary each semester.

Prerequisite: Two semesters of painting

Special Topics in DrawingVPD 4050 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An extensive study of a particular topic or technique in drawing. Topics vary each semester.

Prerequisite: Two semesters of drawingSpecial Topics in Drawing Workshop*VPD 4051 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A 2-credit workshop version of VPD 4050 on a particular topic or technique in drawing. Topics vary each semester.

Prerequisite: Two semesters of drawingSenior Project for Painting and Drawing (Two Semesters)*PAD 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

The two-semester, 8-credit senior project is required for all painting and drawing majors in their senior year. It is an intensive independent study undertaken with faculty sponsorship, in which students pursue a particular theme or topic as a culmination of their undergraduate experience. A written thesis and visual documentation of the project must be submitted to the Library before graduation.

Senior Project for Painting and Drawing (One Semester)PAD 4991 / 8 credits / Every semester

This is a one-semester variant of the PAD 4990 requirement. Students who wish to pursue their entire senior project in one semester register with this course number.

Prerequisite: Permission of the senior project advisor and the director of the School of Art+DesignFor updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/artdesign/VpdCourses.aspx.

The Photography BFA Program

The photography curriculum provides an in-depth program that is focused specifically on fine art photography through the study of traditional film/wet processes as well as newer digital and older nonsilver processes. Despite this focus, many graduates work successfully in applied photography fields.

Students begin with courses in traditional silver printing and continue with practical courses selected from an array of technical and conceptual electives. Film formats range from 35mm to 8x10, and advanced technical courses are offered in silver, color, view camera, nonsilver, and digital scanning, editing, and printing techniques.

Various thematic courses, offered on a rotating basis, encourage the integration of conceptual thinking with the materials and technical processes. Examples of these courses include Portrait/Self-Portrait, Photographic Intervention, and Contemporary Trends.

The facilities include group darkrooms with more than 50 4x5 enlargers, an 8x10 enlarger, 20 private darkrooms, a nonsilver darkroom, and a digital facility capable of high-end scanning and file preparation for inkjet and digital C-printing, and enlarged negative creation for nonsilver printing.

Undergraduate Photography Courses

Note: In sequenced courses (e.g., I, II, III, IV), successful completion of each course is a prerequisite for the next course in the sequence. For example, VPH 1010/Photography I is a prerequisite for VPH 2030/Photography II. All VPH courses are limited to photography majors.

Photography I

VPH 1010 / 3 credits / Every semester

This introduction to the basic techniques and concepts of analog black-and-white photography covers exposure, the Zone system, film development, preparation of developers, enlarging, spotting, and dry mounting. Assignments alternate between technical, aesthetic, and expressive concerns. Offered as NME 1010 for new media majors and as SOA 1110 for students in all other disciplines.

Photography II

VPH 2030 / 3 credits / Every semester

A continuation of VPH 1010, with continued emphasis on the basic concepts of analog photography and the introduction of digital black-and-white photography, including an introduction to print toners, camera filters, Adobe Photoshop, inkjet printing, and film scanning. Assignments alternate between technical and creative concerns. Offered as SOA 2110 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: VPH 1010 or SOA 1110

Looking at Photographs

VPH 2320 / 3 credits / Every semester

A critical and historical approach to photography is developed in this lecture/discussion. Emphasis is given to a vocabulary of photographic viewing, as well as to the interactions of photography, painting, and documentation. The needs of chronology and historical interpretation are also considered. Written papers required. Offered as SOA 2130 for students in other disciplines.

The Photograph as Document

VPH 2500 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

This course focuses on a concern for human situations and conditions, while maintaining a respect for the inner vision of the photographer. Topics include imagery about people in both a private and a social environment.

Prerequisite: VPH 1010

The Photographic Essay

VPH 2505 / 3 credits / Summer (offered in France)

Students explore photographic language to develop a narrative related to a specific setting. Using formal elements like color and composition, students construct a document on a selected theme or subject, drawing on the visual and cultural context of the area. Development of the content of photographs as a group is emphasized, so that the camera's language and the cumulative effect of photographic documentation can be explored. Working with digital cameras (a simple one is fine!), students select images for printing and establish a photographic sequence that translates ideas and experiences into a visual story for presentation to the class.

Digital Photography I

VPH 2660 / 3 credits / Every semester

An exploration of the color digital photographic image, from capture with a digital SLR camera to methods of printing using Adobe Photoshop and inkjet printers. RAW file processing, editing, and various printing techniques are investigated. Includes hands-on work, theory, and the history of both color photography and photo-image manipulation. Students must own a digital SLR camera; please contact the School of Art+Design for specifications.

Prerequisite: VPH 2030

Special Photography WorkshopVPH 2700 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)An extensive study of a particular topic or technique in photography. Topics vary each semester. *May be taken a second time for credit.Prerequisite: VPH 1010Sophomore Seminar*VPH 2880 / 3 credits / Fall

A survey of contemporary artists, ideas, and texts in which basic research skills are taught. A combination of slide lectures, discussions of readings, and museum/gallery visits familiarize students with contemporary art discourse and many of its important figures.

Prerequisite: VPH 2030Visiting Artist*VPH 3050 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Visiting artists work with advanced students to further develop their photographic skills and abilities. Students work independently and meet for group discussions and critiques. Readings and field trips may supplement the visiting artist's discussions.

Prerequisite: VPH 2880Urban Landscape*VPH 3100 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this "think tank," art is developed that deals with the variety of the constructed environment. Diverse approaches are used to shape a concept of urban space. Using photo-related media, students explore and create provocative work; images are made, taken, stolen, borrowed, defaced, and ultimately transformed.

Prerequisite: VPH 2880Nonsilver*VPH 3160 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Nonsilver photo processes involve the use of alternatives to traditional photographic paper. Students work with collotype, a continuous-tone printing process that is one of the earliest photographic processes. Other nonsilver photographic processes (e.g., cyanotype, platinum/palladium printing, photogravure, Iris prints, Polaroid transfer) are also studied.

Prerequisite: VPH 2880Portrait/Self-Portrait*VPH 3210 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A seminar and critique in which visual and conceptual notions of photographic imagery are filtered through philosophical, psychological, and cultural interpretations of dream and reality. The seminar includes readings, discussion, visual exercises, and group critique.

Prerequisite: VPH 2880Dream and Reality*VPH 3220 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this visual and conceptual investigation of photographic imagery, visual narrative strategies and literary methods like memoir, diary, confession, and autobiography are used.

Prerequisite: VPH 2880View Camera*VPH 3250 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

The basic concepts and techniques concerning field and view cameras, including the use of swings, tilts, shifts, and rises, are covered. Assignments deal with portraits, still life, architecture, and landscapes and the particular problems and opportunities each presents.

Prerequisite: VPH 2880Studio Photography*VPH 3300 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Technical and creative photographic experiences are put to practical use. Assignments explore artificial and natural lighting, their diverse properties, and uses of tungsten and electronic flash lamps. Technical skills developed also include use of 4x5 cameras, the Zone System of exposure and development for black and white film, understanding of bellows extension factor and reciprocity failure; color temperature, and filtering and exposure of color transparency film.

A practical investigation of narrative strategies as a predominant aspect of still photography and photo-related imagery. Sequence, series, the grid, linear and nonlinear approaches, and literary models are explored as the deep structure of subject. In addition to assigned readings and visual exercises, students complete a self-directed project in consultation with the instructor, resulting in a portfolio of images, a book, and/or a photographic installation.

Prerequisite: VPH 2880Advanced Silver Processes*VPH 3440 / 3 credits / Spring

Students learn to embrace the potential of the black-and-white silver print as a unique and richly expressive vehicle for their visual ideas. Advanced exposure and development controls for a variety of film types and papers are explored, including push and pull processing, the Zone System, bleaching and toning, and mural printing.

Prerequisite: VPH 2030 and 2320Photographic Intervention*VPH 3460 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A studio/critique course that investigates the meaning and application of "photographic intervention." The style, form, and content of documentary, landscape, portrait, street, and snapshot photography, as well as the differences between objective and subjective approaches to the medium, are focused on throughout the course. In assignments, students apply and discuss methods of photographic intervention (e.g., lighting, perspective, framing, narrative, contrast, tone, color palette).

Prerequisite: VPH 2880

Constructed Reality

VPH 3470 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Study and assignments include such aspects of photography as still life, portraiture, fantasy, tableau, genre, sequential and serial, as well as a reordering of the real world. Trends and examples in contemporary photography are studied through slides, books, and field trips.

Prerequisite: VPH 2880

Contemporary Trends in Photography

VPH 3560 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An overview of contemporary photography and the major trends that shape it. Through a series of lectures, gallery visits, and critiques, students follow the developments of photographic art through history in order to place their own work within a global context.

Prerequisite: VPH 2880

Digital Photography II

VPH 3660 / 3 credits / Fall

In this continuation of VPH 2660, larger work as well as more complex editing and printing methods are explored. Techniques covered include advanced film scanning and sharpening, noise reduction, compositing, and masks. Students are challenged to find ways in which their technical decisions can clarify their artistic intentions. Includes hands-on work, theory, and the history of conceptual photography.

Students must own a digital SLR camera; contact the School of Art+Design for specifications.

Prerequisite: VPH 2660

Junior Seminar

VPH 3690 / 3 credits / Spring

A special preparatory course required for juniors who intend to complete a senior project in photography. Coursework includes intensive critiques, weekly written exercises, and both assigned and self-directed projects—all directed toward making, knowing, and judging each individual's work.

Prerequisite: VPH 2880

Professional Practices

VPH 3740 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Technical and professional information is provided to help students in their transition to the world of professional photography and related fields. Students concentrate on developing a portfolio, artist statement, résumé, and publicity materials, and on learning how to present and exhibit their work.

Prerequisite: VPH 2880

Studio Assistant

VPH 3950 Refer to VPD 3950 in Painting and Drawing Courses for description.

Prerequisite: VPH 1010, NME 1010, or SOA 1110

The Contemporary Landscape

VPH 4100 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A photographic examination of the contemporary landscape and a parallel inquiry into the cultural tensions and complexities of contemporary society. Topics include interpretation of land use; the growth and decline of urban, suburban, and rural communities; the politics of climate change; and the myths of conservation and development. Both traditional and experimental documentation are encouraged, as are personal and psychological interpretations. Includes directed, self-directed, and collaborative projects, critiques, and field trips.

Prerequisite: VPH 2880

Advanced Nonsilver Photography

VPH 4160 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this continuation of VPH 3160, both new processes (salt print, gum bichromate) and advanced procedures and practices (cyanotype, combination printing, platinum/palladium, printing-out paper) are introduced. An in-depth study of the digital negative process constitutes a significant portion of the course. Each student is expected to define a long-term project that results in a finished body of work by the end of the semester.

Prerequisite: VPH 3160

Senior Seminar and Critique

VPH 4400 / 3 credits / Fall

An intensive seminar and critique required for students during their senior year. Students work on self-directed projects and make an oral presentation on their work, attempting to place it within a context of cultural factors.

Prerequisite: VPH 3690

Field Trips to Museums and Galleries:

A Practical Course for Working Photographers

VPH 4470 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A practical course for working photographers that meets regularly in New York City and beyond to view photographic exhibitions and collections. Emphasis is placed on the complex nature of influence, with special consideration given to translating viewing experiences into practice.

Prerequisite: VPH 2880

Special Topics in Photography

VPH 4500 and VPH 4501 (second time) / 3 credits

Special topic (offered irregularly)

Extensive study of a particular topic or technique in photography; topics vary each semester. May be taken a second time for credit (VPH 4501).

Prerequisite: VPH 2880

Senior Project for Photography (Two Semesters)

PHO 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

The two-semester, 8-credit senior project is required for all photography majors in their senior year. It is an intensive independent study undertaken with faculty sponsorship, in which students pursue a particular theme or topic as a culmination of their undergraduate experience. A written thesis and visual documentation of the project must be submitted to the Library before graduation.

Senior Project for Photography (One Semester)

PHO 4991 / 8 credits / Every semester

This is a one-semester variant of the PHO 4990 requirement. Students who wish to pursue their entire senior project in one semester register with this course number.

Prerequisite: Permission of the senior project advisor and the director of the School of Art+Design

The Printmaking BFA Program

The printmaking program provides scope and flexibility through both its faculty and one of the finest and most comprehensive facilities in the country. Students gain mastery in traditional printmaking processes while pursuing their interdisciplinary interests, including painting, drawing, photography, mixed media, digital media, and book arts. The studio is equipped for work in all of the major media: lithography, silkscreen, intaglio, woodcut, papermaking, and fiber casting.

The extraordinary facilities of the school's Center for Editions and computer labs provide students with an unusually wide array of technologies for both print and electronic media, ranging from traditional hand tools, letterpress, offset lithography, photomechanical processes, and bookbinding to computer graphics and multimedia. It is the expectation of the printmaking faculty that the rigorous interaction of ideas and tools will promote experimentation and invention among students.

Undergraduate Printmaking Courses

Note: In sequenced courses (e.g., I, II, III, IV), successful completion of each course is a prerequisite for the next course in the sequence. For example, VPR 3670/Art of the Book I is a prerequisite for VPR 3680/Art of the Book II.

Introduction to Intaglio

VPR 2100 / 3 credits / Every semester

Using metal or plastic plates, students explore intaglio printmaking. A variety of techniques are taught, such as engraving, etching, aquatint, drypoint, spit bite, sugar lift, soft ground, and photo transfer. Students are expected to produce a body of work engaging these processes. Individual and group critiques occur on a regular basis.

Introduction to Lithography

VPR 2110 / 3 credits / Every semester

Lithography is the closest printmaking technique to direct drawing. Students are taught how to create images on both lithographic stones and aluminum plates. The goal is for students to develop a series of personal images that emphasize the graphic potential inherent in lithography. Individual and group critiques challenge students' methods and ideas while aiming to improve their skills.

Introduction to Silkscreen

VPR 2120 / 3 credits / Every semester

Through demonstrations, discussions, and critiques, students learn to use a variety of silkscreen techniques to create multilayered images on paper or other surfaces. The immediacy, versatility, and photographic possibilities that are unique attributes of this medium challenge students to visualize their expressive works in new ways and bring their imagery to an increasing level complexity, depth, and refinement.

Introduction to Woodcut

VPR 2130 / 3 credits / Every semester

Woodcutting is the oldest printmaking technique and the most practiced method of creating prints throughout the world. In this course, wood or medium density fibreboard (MDF), a composite material, is engraved and cut to incise images into the wood surface. The emphasis is on creating prints with graphic power, complex patterning, and variety of mark making. Other unorthodox techniques, such as reduction printing, multiblock prints, and puzzle prints, are also explored.

Introduction to Papermaking

VPR 2250 / 3 credits / Fall

Papermaking is a particularly flexible and adaptable medium that blends aspects of printmaking, painting, and sculpture. In this course, paper is explored in both its flat, two-dimensional aspect and as a three-dimensional sculptural object. Students learn how paper is made by viewing demonstrations of pulping, dyeing, pressing, pouring, casting, and spraying paper pulp.

Drawing Through Print

VPR 2300 / 3 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Explores the use of printmaking and drawing techniques to create unique works while allowing experimentation and a more open adaptation of printmaking. Students are introduced to such techniques as monotype, stencil, photo transfer, collage, collograph, chine collé, and embossing. Assignments help students develop the ability to use drawing and printmaking as tools for inquiry and studio experimentation.

The History of Printmaking

VPR 2500 / 3 credits / Spring

In this survey of the historical significance of printmaking, the focus is on understanding the history of print media and its influence on culture in Europe, Asia, and the New World. Students explore both the history of printmaking and its intertwined relationship to the history of art. Of prime concern are the unique and distinct characteristics of each printmaking process.

Intermediate/Advanced Papermaking

VPR 3250 / 3 credits / Fall

In this continuation of VPR 2250, students are required to produce a body of work using a variety of papermaking techniques, in consultation with the instructor.

Prerequisite: VPR 2250

Experiments and Mixed Media and MultiplesVPR 3320 and 3325 / 3 credits (per course)

Special topic (offered irregularly)

These courses begin to address the ever-changing landscape of the various media within printmaking. In response to special themes, innovations, and new techniques/equipment, each semester features a different topic of exploration. Students create a body of work that embraces the issues at hand. Critiques, readings, studio visits, and field trips supplement the coursework. Open to students in other disciplines on a space-available basis with permission of instructor.

Prerequisite: VIS 1070 and either VPR 2100, 2110, 2120, or 2130 (or equivalent)Printmaking Now*VPR 3330 / 3 credits / Fall

In preparation for the professional world, students are exposed to contemporary practices in printmaking and to the New York art world through visits to museum study rooms, artists' studios, print workshops, publishers, artists' collectives, and other venues. Topics include portfolio development, résumé writing, artists' statements, applying for grants, project proposals, and looking at ways that one's work overlaps and intersects with the larger context of printmaking and contemporary art. Student-funded travel required.

Prerequisite: VPR 2100, 2110, 2120, and 2130 and junior standingLarge-Scale Prints*VPR 3380 / 3 credits / Alternate years (Spring)

Explores large-scale and monumental works that expand the definition of printmaking. Such projects as installations, interventions, and site-specific works are made within the framework of print-based concepts and methods. Students are introduced to oversize printing techniques, repeat imagery for large-scale works, and unconventional printing surfaces.

Prerequisite: VIS 1070 and either VPR 2100, 2110, 2120, or 2130Special Topics in Printmaking*VPR 3440 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An extensive study of a particular topic or technique in printmaking. Topics vary each semester.

Prerequisite: VPR 2100, 2110, 2120, and 2130 and junior standingThe Monotype*VPR 3550 / 3 credits / Spring

Monotype is a bridge between painting and printmaking. Students use brushes, paints, inks, rollers, and drawing implements to create unique prints from a Plexiglas or metal plate. The nature of the process allows students the freedom to work in a direct, spontaneous manner leading to gestural images and textured surfaces.

Prerequisite: Must be a sophomore, junior, or senior visual arts major, or permission of instructorArt of the Book I and II*VPR 3670 and 3680 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

In this two-course sequence, all aspects of the limited-edition artist's book are explored. Students are taught that, by the act of turning pages, they can express the continuity of an idea flowing through a near-cinematic continuum. Students realize the potential of narrative, sequence, and pacing, together with the importance of combining word and image. Discussions include letterpress, binding, other bookmaking techniques, and printmaking media.

Prerequisite: VPR 2100, 2110, 2120, and 2130Junior Printmaking Studio I and II*VPR 3880 and 3890 / 3 credits (per course)

I: Fall; II: Spring

Building on techniques learned in VPR 2100, 2110, 2120, and 2130, students are introduced to advanced color, multiplate, and digital printing. Students are expected to produce a cohesive and well-crafted portfolio of prints. Critiques, discussions, and field trips enhance the class experience.

Studio AssistantVPR 3950 Refer to VPD 3950 in Painting and Drawing Courses for description.VPR 4000–4999:*Senior Printmaking Studio I and II*VPR 4880 and 4890 / 3 credits (per course)

I: Fall; II: Spring

Prepares students to develop an advanced studio practice and create a series of exhibition quality prints. Students design a project resulting in a thematic or narrative portfolio or an artist's book. Visits to exhibitions, museums, and artist studios are included.

Senior Project for Printmaking (Two Semesters)PRT 4990 / 3 credits (per semester) / Every semester

The two-semester, 6-credit senior project is required for all printmaking majors in their senior year. It is an intensive independent study undertaken with faculty sponsorship, in which students pursue a particular theme or topic as a culmination of their undergraduate experience. A written thesis and visual documentation of the project must be submitted to the Library before graduation.

Senior Project for Printmaking (One Semester)PRT 4991 / 6 credits / Every semester

This is a one-semester variant of the PRT 4990 requirement. Students who wish to pursue their entire senior project in one semester register with this course number.

Prerequisite: Permission of the senior project advisor and the director of the School of Art+Design

The Sculpture BFA Program

Exploring contemporary concerns, sculpture students can choose to employ a variety of traditional and new media. The curriculum honors traditional skills, encourages experimental ideas, and encompasses object making, site-specific work, installation, inter/multimedia, and video.

The facilities feature more than 25,000 square feet of shop and studio space superbly equipped for work in wood, metals, ceramics, plaster, fabric, plastics, and large-scale fabrication. There are also sophisticated digital and audiovisual equipment and labs for work in video, light, sound, digital fabrication, and interactive multimedia. In their junior and senior years, undergraduate students are eligible for semiprivate studios.

BFA in Sculpture: Academic Requirements

In addition to fulfilling general degree requirements, undergraduate students majoring in sculpture must complete the following requirements (86 credits):

Foundation Courses: 19 credits

VIS 1050/ComX: 1 credit
 VIS 1060/Foundation Drawing: 3 credits
 VIS 1070/Extended Media: 3 credits
 VIS 1080/Visual Language: 3 credits
 VIS 1250/2-D Processes: 3 credits
 VIS 1260/3-D Processes: 3 credits
 VIS 1270/4-D Processes: 3 credits

Art History Courses: 12 credits

ARH 1020/History of Art Survey II
 ARH —/One course in the history of art before 1800 (lower-level)
 ARH —/Art history elective (modern/contemporary)

Undergraduate Sculpture Courses

Note: In sequenced courses (e.g., I, II, III, IV), successful completion of each course is a prerequisite for the next course in the sequence. For example, VSC 2080/Direct Metal I is a prerequisite for VSC 3260/Direct Metal II.

Direct Metal I and II

VSC 2080 and 3260 / 3 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

Instruction in acetylene gas welding and all the tools required for direct metal fabrication of sculpture. The focus varies each semester (within the parameters of contemporary, nonfigurative sculpture) and includes the refining of technical form-making and welding skills.

VSC 2080 is offered as SOA 2080 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite (for VSC 3260): VIS 1260

Thinking in Three Dimensions

VSC 2110 / 3 credits / Every semester

Emphasizes the conceptual aspects of sculpture while continuing the development of technical skills in various processes and materials. The course is structured around assignments that develop individual industry, research skills, creative expressiveness, and class participation.

Prerequisite: VIS 1260

Recommended concurrent studies: VSC 2120 or 2280

Materials and Methods

VSC 2120 / 3 credits / Every semester

Students learn to work with traditional sculpture materials and techniques, exploring the use of wood and metal as both a means to an end and a final material. Students create a "how to" book from their notes, including all methodologies taught, resources found, and materials used. Offered as SOA 2121 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: VIS 1260

Introduction to Wood

VSC 2150 / 3 credits / Every semester

The specific visual and structural properties of wood are discussed with application to both functional and nonfunctional sculpture. Basic construction and forming techniques are introduced. Offered as SOA 2151 for students in other disciplines.

Introduction to Wood: Sculptural Techniques

VSC 2155 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students are introduced to the specific visual and structural properties of wood, as well as techniques for working with wood from a sculptor's perspective. Open to all visual arts majors.

Prerequisite: VSC 2120

Collage/Assemblage

VSC 2160 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Projects investigate collage from a variety of approaches, then move to assemblage sculpture and finally diorama boxes and object transformation. This exploration of the unique possibilities of collage/assemblage may include work with found objects and fabricated forms. Offered as SOA 2160 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: VSC 2080, 2120, or 2150

VSC 2200 / 3 credits / Every semester

Clay modeling from the human figure. Drawing and 2-D media are used for support and insight into issues of figuration. Armature construction and relief sculpture are explored.

Prerequisite: VIS 1260

Ceramic Sculpture

VSC 2270 / 3 credits / Fall

Focuses on clay as a sculptural medium with emphasis on process and the development of sculptural ideas. Various techniques are taught, including slab building, modeling, and some mold making for clay.

Prerequisite: VSC 2120

Digital Tools for Sculptors

VSC 2280 / 3 credits / Fall

Provides students with a digital toolset for creating sculpture today. Students explore the role of 2-D drawing tools, animation, video editing, and 3-D modeling software in the creation of sculptures and installations. The focus is on the potential of using virtual and physical tools together in the production of art works.

Prerequisite: VIS 1260

Video Art I

VSC 2420 / 3 credits / Every semester

An introduction to video as a creative visual, auditory, and spatial medium. Students learn the fundamentals of video production with the goal of making original work in the genres of single-channel tape, performance, and installation. At the same time, students are introduced to key works in the history of time-based arts in a weekly thematic program of viewing, listening, reading, and critique. Offered as NME 2420 for new media majors.

The Digital ObjectVSC 2600 / 2 or 3 credits (variable) / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Three-dimensional digital objects mostly remain virtual, experienced only in computer and video games, in cinema, online, and in immersive or semi-immersive virtual environments. This course enables the building and actualization of virtual form into sculptural form using state-of-the-art computer object-generation techniques.

Prerequisite: VIS 1260Bronze Casting*VSC 3070 / 3 credits / Every semester

Students produce forms in clay or wax and cast them in bronze. The traditional methods of lost-wax casting are explored, and students participate in all aspects of bronze foundry work.

Prerequisite: VSC 2120 or permission of instructorPerformance Art*VSC 3155 / 3 credits / Fall

An introduction to performance art as a creative, visual, experiential, and time-based medium. Through structured projects, students learn ways to create and document performance pieces. Projects may include live performances, video and photo documentation of private actions, interactive pieces, and sculpture/installation works. Through presentation and lectures, students are introduced to significant historical and contemporary works. All mediums and backgrounds welcome. Offered as SOA 3155 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: VIS 1270Shelters and Structures*VSC 3190 / 3 credits / Fall

Using Gaston Bachelard's The Poetics of Space as a text, students investigate the idea of shelters and structures, both built and imaginary, as a source for 3-D work ranging from the miniature to the environmental, from the substantial to the ephemeral. Offered as SOA 3190 for students in other disciplines.

Off the Grid: Curves with WoodVSC 3240 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

To design and make objects that use curves, the designer/maker must think and act "off the grid." This class explores form by using curves to define line and volume. Students learn about and experience the techniques used to produce curvilinear forms in wood (e.g., shaping, steam bending, bent laminations, panel forming, pattern routing, jig making and finishing).

Prerequisite: VSC 2120 or 2150Direct Metal II*VSC 3260 Refer to VSC 2080 for description.Intermediate Wood I and II*VSC 3270 and 3275 / 3 credits (per semester)

I: Every semester; II: Special topic (offered irregularly)

In these sequential courses, information and experience gained in VSC 2150 are used to develop a more comprehensive understanding of the way an object's overall form is affected by the methods used in its construction. More complex joinery and shaping processes are presented and practiced.

Prerequisite: VSC 2150 or 2155Digital Dimensions*VSC 3310 / 3 credits / Every semester

In this studio introduction, students explore the relationship between the three-dimensional world and digital technology. In this creative new-media environment, students are given a foundation for developing 3-D content and integrating it into their preferred field. Students generate digital objects, prepare them for real-world fabrication, and create virtual-reality simulations and photorealistic sculpture proposals. Offered as NME 3300 for new media majors.

Prerequisite: VSC 2280, VSC 2600, or NME 2100Public Art: Making a Proposal*VSC 3350 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Takes advanced students through the process leading to the fabrication and installation of a public art commission. Students answer a call for proposals; create a professional-level response, including a written statement, model, drawings, budget, and fabrication schedule; and present to a committee of experts for appraisal. This course is especially recommended to any student considering making a public art proposal for the Purchase College campus. Offered as SOA 3150 for students in other disciplines.

Video Art IIVSC 3420 / 3 credits / Every semester

A workshop devoted to the production of independent video projects. Students are expected to have some facility with electronic cameras, sound, and editing techniques and to be highly motivated in the use of video as a creative tool. The course is strongly (though not exclusively) focused on video installation, exploring both its unique properties as a mixed-media, time-based form and its relationship to other contemporary 3-D practices. Offered as NME 3420 for new media majors.

Prerequisite: VSC/NME 2420 and, for new media majors, NME 2100Direct Carving*VSC 3470 / 3 credits / Every third semester

An introduction to carving as a discipline in sculpture. Initial emphasis is placed on technical issues of tools and process with the intent of using carving as a method of producing art objects. Historical and contemporary issues are also explored.

Prerequisite: VSC 2120 or 2150Multiples: Methods for Making*VSC 3480 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Various methods used to make sculptural multiples are explored. Mold-making techniques are taught in clay, glass, paper, and mixed media. Assignments focus on achieving technical expertise and understanding the use of the multiple in contemporary sculpture. Offered as SOA 3180 for students in other disciplines.

Field Trips: Looking at Sculpture

VSC 3540 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Weekly field trips to gallery and museum exhibitions of contemporary sculpture in New York City. Students write responses on a regular basis, both analyzing the exhibitions seen and relating them to their own work. Several classes are held on campus to discuss each student's current studio work. Open to students in other disciplines on a space-available basis with permission of instructor.

Junior Sculpture Studio I and II

VSC 3550 and 3560 / 3 credits (per semester)

I: Fall; II: Spring

This two-semester course is intended to foster the discovery and sharpening of personal vision and the development of personal initiative and self-motivation. Students have the opportunity to work independently on self-generated projects, which are then presented for both group and individual critique. Required for sculpture majors.

Prerequisite: Limited to visual arts majors who have completed 60 studio credits and intend to complete a senior project in sculpture

Installation

VSC 3570 / 3 credits / Every semester

This intensive exploration of installation art consists of a series of temporary projects that explore site-specific work, which may include a variety of media. Taking into account the range of sensory experience, space and time take on a greater importance than in object-based art works.

Prerequisite: VSC 2120, or VSC 2080 and 2150

Sound/Interactive Media I

VSC 3630 / 3 credits / Every semester

Sound is explored as material in the context of the visual arts, using DAT recorders, sampling, synthesis, processing, computers, sensor control, and MIDI systems. Projects may include making sonic instruments, sounding objects, and experimental video; ambient, interactive, performative, and multimedia installations; and surround-sound DVDs. Advanced technological means enable uncharted explorations in the time-based arts. Offered as NME 3630 for new media majors and SOA 3210 for students in all other disciplines.

Sound/Interactive Media II

VSC 3640 / 3 credits / Every semester

A continuation of VSC 3630, for advanced sound and multimedia projects. Sound is further explored in ambient, interactive, performative, time-based, and site-specific installations. Tools available include the Kurzweil K2600 Architectural Synthesis System and Macintosh computers with mixing, synthesis, and DVD surround-sound mastering technology. Interactive programs in the studio include MAX, Jitter, and Cyclops. Offered as NME 3640 for new media majors and SOA 3220 for students in all other disciplines.

Prerequisite: VSC/NME 3630

Studio Assistant

VSC 3950 Refer to VPD 3950 in Painting and Drawing Courses for description.

Senior Seminar I

VSC 4800 / 3 credits / Fall

Focuses on commitment and professional practice. Students generate portfolios and documentation materials of their own work. Public speaking is emphasized as students learn to articulate and clarify their own work. Teaching methods include lectures, discussions, readings, and field trips. Required for all students undertaking a senior project in sculpture.

Prerequisite: Declared concentration in sculpture

Senior Seminar II

VSC 4810 / 3 credits / Spring

Extends the goals of VSC 4800, preparing students for the "real world" after graduation. Students research venues for their work, write grant proposals, investigate job possibilities, etc. Contemporary issues in sculpture are addressed through readings and discussions. Required for all students undertaking a senior project in sculpture.

Prerequisite: VSC 4800

Senior Project for Sculpture (Two Semesters)

SCP 4990 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

The two-semester, 8-credit senior project is required for all sculpture majors in their senior year. It is an intensive independent study undertaken with faculty sponsorship, in which students pursue a particular theme or topic as a culmination of their undergraduate experience. A written thesis and visual documentation of the project must be submitted to the Library before graduation.

Senior Project for Sculpture (One Semester)

SCP 4991 / 8 credits / Every semester

This is a one-semester variant of the SCP 4990 requirement. Students who wish to pursue their entire senior project in one semester register with this course number.

Prerequisite: Permission of the senior project advisor and the director of the School of Art+Design

BFA in Visual Arts: Interdisciplinary Academic Requirements

Working in close consultation with a faculty advisor, students in this BFA major design a course of study that bridges two or more traditional areas. The course of study should:

- direct the student along a path of exploration, experimentation, synthesis, and juxtaposition
- prepare the student to execute a comprehensive thesis study in the senior project, for which faculty sponsorship must be obtained

In addition to fulfilling general degree requirements, undergraduate students majoring in interdisciplinary visual arts must complete the following requirements (85 credits):

Foundation Courses: 19 credits

VIS 1050/ComX: 1 credit
 VIS 1060/Foundation Drawing: 3 credits
 VIS 1070/Extended Media: 3 credits
 VIS 1080/Visual Language: 3 credits
 VIS 1250/2-D Processes: 3 credits
 VIS 1260/3-D Processes: 3 credits
 VIS 1270/4-D Processes: 3 credits

Art History Courses: 12 credits

ARH 1020/History of Art Survey II
 ARH —/One course in the history of art before 1800 (lower-level)
 ARH —/Art history elective (modern/contemporary)

Studio Art Courses: 30 credits

Students must find a faculty sponsor in each of the two areas (primary and secondary).

Primary area:

V —/Studio art courses (lower level): 6 credits
 V —/Studio art courses (upper level): 12 credits

Secondary area:

V —/Studio art courses (lower level): 6 credits
 V —/Studio art courses (upper level): 6 credits

Studio Electives: 13 credits

V —/Visual arts studio electives: 13 credits

Synthesis Courses: 11 credits

V —/Senior seminar or other synthesis course: 3 credits
 VIS 4990/Senior Project: 8 credits

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/artdesign/InterdisciplinaryMajorAndRequirements.aspx.

Undergraduate Foundation and General Visual Arts Courses (VIS)

Note: In sequenced courses (e.g., I, II, III, IV), successful completion of each course is a prerequisite for the next course in the sequence. For example, VIS 2120/Crossover I is a prerequisite for VIS 3120/Crossover II.

Foundation Studio Courses

ComX

VIS 1050 / 1 credit / Fall

This common experience brings freshmen in the School of Art+Design together as a community. Every year a new theme is embraced and becomes the touchstone for the class, engaging each student and drawing links between the class activities and the rest of the curriculum. Students experience happenings ranging from artist lectures, films, and readings to performances and field trips. Includes required meetings outside the scheduled class time.

Foundation Drawing

VIS 1060 / 3 credits / Every semester

Drawing is explored as a distinct practice inspired by particular media and traditions, as well as a fundamental tool for exploring ideas across disciplines. Observational skills are emphasized, but seeing extends beyond the visual, enriched by physical, intellectual, and personal experience. Analytical and intuitive approaches are developed toward the goal of communicating significant form and content.

Extended Media

VIS 1070 / 3 credits / Every semester

Working thematically toward a finished project (realized in an artist's book), students gain experience in traditional and alternative methods for art making. Digital media, printmaking, and photography are used as unique forms or in new combinations. Emphasis is on the process of making and the challenge of expressing ideas. Demonstrations, critiques, readings, slide lectures, visiting artists, and films are included.

Visual Language

VIS 1080 / 3 credits / Every semester

Introduces the fundamental theories and methodologies of visual communication that explore the relationship between form and content. Through observation, analysis, writing, exercises, and projects, students begin to develop work processes that involve articulation, visual research, concept generation, form making, and craft skills. Class time is spent generating ideas, establishing criteria, and making and refining form.

2-D Processes

VIS 1250 / 3 credits / Every semester

A foundation studio course that expands on VIS 1060 and 1080; taught by members of both the drawing and graphic design faculty. Students explore interrelated perceptual, abstract, formal, and expressive concerns. Advanced techniques like wet media, experimental formats, and the use of computer technology further extend the vocabulary and processes that enable students to relate form and content.

Prerequisite: VIS 1060, 1070, and 1080

3-D Processes

VIS 1260 / 3 credits / Every semester

A foundation studio course that introduces the fundamental skills and vocabulary needed to design and create three-dimensional works. Students explore areas of 3-D construction, sculpture, and design, ranging from object to installation and using a variety of processes, materials, and techniques, including wood, metal, plaster, clay, mixed media, and digital tools (e.g., vector and raster graphic programs).

4-D Processes

VIS 1270 / 3 credits / Every semester

An introduction to physical and digital tools used to create collaborative, performative, interactive, and community-focused works. Students explore and gain fluency with the interplay of the handmade and the digital, undertaking projects that play with location, time, sound, or collaboration, or any combination of these.

General Visual Arts Courses

Programming for Visual Artists

VIS 1450 Refer to NME 1450 in New Media Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.

The Photographic Artist's Book

VIS 2025 / 4 credits / Summer (offered in Italy)

Students create a photographic essay that is inspired by their observations and experiences of Pisciotta. The development of content and narrative strategies, along with a consideration of sequence, rhythm, and layout in books, is discussed. Working with digital cameras (a simple one is fine) and Internet publishing, each student creates a self-published book. Offered as SOA 2025 for students in other disciplines.

Wordless Books: The Original Graphic Novel

VIS 2050 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Wordless books, or novels in pictures, are from the early 20th century. Using the medium of woodcuts, artists like Frans Masereel were able to create complex narratives told only with images. This course examines the history of these books and how they are relevant today. Students learn how to effectively plan, develop, and create a hand-printed woodcut novel. Offered as SOA 2050 for students in other disciplines.

Color

VIS 2100 / 3 credits / Every semester

Color affects the work of all artists and designers. This seminar/studio engages two ways of understanding color: color behavior and color meaning. Assignments include color studies, readings, and discussions. Color is addressed as relevant to all media, and students are asked to make color studies and present analyses of how color is used in their own studio practices.

Color Seminar

VIS 2110 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Color is the most relative of all visual attributes. The seminar makes use of this relativity as the means by which visual awareness is heightened and refined through fundamental studies in color action and interaction. This is not a course in color theory; rather, it is a practicum in color as experienced. Mastery of basic color grammar and syntax leads to a personal sense of looking and expression. Offered as SOA 2010 for students in other disciplines.

Crossover I and II

VIS 2120 and 3120 / 3 credits (per semester)

Special topic (offered irregularly)

Juxtaposes art and science as inquiring and creative pursuits. Exchanging knowledge of the materials and processes used in their creative endeavors, students collaborate on three innovative projects that focus on perceived relationships between science and art. Visiting professionals, at work in studios and labs, provide insight into thinking and doing through and across the disciplines of art and science. VIS 2120 is offered as SOA 2040 for students in other disciplines. VIS 3120 is designed for students who wish to pursue in greater depth the issues exemplified in VIS 2120, and is offered as SOA 3040 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Key Class

VIS 2150 / 1 credit / Every semester

Introduces new transfer students to the School of Art+Design, its faculty, and core values. The class explores what it means to be an artist at Purchase College. What are the expectations, challenges, and rewards? Activities include discussions, artist lectures, films, performances, field trips, and peer advising. Includes required meetings outside the scheduled class time.

CollageVIS 2200 / 3 credits / Fall

The collage medium is often associated with Cubism because it has the power to both fracture and reassemble shapes and images. This course explores the fabrication of two-dimensional artworks, using a variety of materials (both found and created), including paper, fabric, wood, metal, and string, along with drawing and painting elements. Offered as SOA 2020 for students in other disciplines.

Art in the Age of Electronic MediaVIS 3000 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An overview of electronic media and its relationship to the fine arts. This course covers the genre from its infancy to the present and focuses on the study of the art and artists critical to the genre's development. Lectures, hands-on demonstrations, and visiting artists are augmented by assigned readings, critical writing, and examinations. Offered as NME 3000 for new media majors and SOA 3001 for students in all other disciplines.

Internet as Public ArtVIS 3040 Refer to NME 3040 in New Media Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.Master Class: Applied Design*VIS 3060 / 2–3 credits / Every semester

Coordinated by faculty in Art+Design, this master class includes guest lectures by the resident artist in the Center for Applied Design and focuses on areas related to the particular artist's pursuits. Students engage in collaborative research and studio production as they explore the cultural relevance and social impact of objects. Open to students in other disciplines; may be taken a maximum of three times for credit.

Prerequisite: VSC 1020 and 2080, or permission of instructorCrossover II*VIS 3120 Refer to VIS 2120 and 3120 for description.Real-Time Media Processing*VIS 3230 Refer to NME 3230 in New Media Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.Contemporary Art Theory*VIS 3400 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Contemporary art theory is examined in a historical context, illustrating how theory illuminates, defines, and shapes the meaning of images. The roots of modern and postmodern art theory are examined through critical readings, lectures, slide presentations, and artists' documents. Assignments include group discussions based on the readings and presentations, critical papers, and a final research paper. Offered as SOA 3200 for students in other disciplines.

Video PerformanceVIS 3435 Refer to NME 3435 in New Media Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.Contemporary Issues in Art*VIS 3440 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introduction to contemporary art theory, criticism, and contemporary practice. Using 20th-century and contemporary artwork and ideas, artists' writings, and other readings, students are exposed to a variety of contemporary art and encouraged to widen their visual vocabulary. A research component is required.

Prerequisite: Four semesters of visual arts studio coursesSpecial Topic Colloquium*VIS 3470 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

This colloquium augments the Art+Design undergraduate program by focusing on the independent research of a current MFA student with advanced standing. The graduate student shares his or her unique research through readings, workshop activities, studio critiques, writing, and other assignments. Open to all visual arts majors; offered as SOA 3170 for students in other disciplines.

The Arts for Social ChangeVIS 3500 / 3 credits / Every semester

Public art is used in this course to promote community engagement and cross-cultural interaction. Students use established, recognized methods of collaboration to explore local community issues, concluding with the physical implementation and exhibition of student-led solutions. Offered as SOC 3237 for sociology majors and SOA 3237 for students in other disciplines.

Prerequisite: Junior or senior standingCommunity-Centered Media*VIS 3545 Refer to NME 3545 in New Media Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.Interactive Installation: Hacking the Everyday*VIS 3720 Refer to NME 3720 in New Media Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.Experimental Web Practice*VIS 3770 Refer to NME 3770 in New Media Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description.Undergraduate Learning Assistant*VIS 3800 / 2 credits / Every semester

Students assist faculty members with the delivery of an undergraduate studio course. Duties include grading, demonstrations, and other tasks assigned by the faculty sponsor. A maximum of 4 credits in VIS 3800 (or a combined maximum of 6 credits in VIS 3800 and VPD/VPH/VSC 3950) may be applied toward the BFA.

Artist AssistantVIS 3920 / Variable credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students assist visiting resident artists in the School of Art+Design or the Neuberger Museum of Art with the creation of a new work. Duties are assigned, overseen, and evaluated by the faculty sponsor and may include fabrication, technical support, rendering, printing, or other artistic practices.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructorField Trips*VIS 4470 / 3 credits / Fall

The class meets at various museums, galleries, and alternative spaces in and around New York City, where students encounter a wide range of media, aesthetic sensibilities, and institutional settings. At least one class is devoted to discussing student work in relation to concepts explored during the field trips. Student-funded travel required.

Senior Project (Two Semesters)VIS 4990 / 4 credits per semester / Every semester

The two-semester, 8-credit senior project is required for all visual arts majors in their senior year. It is an intensive independent study undertaken with faculty sponsorship, in which students pursue a particular theme or topic as a culmination of their undergraduate experience. A written thesis and visual documentation of the project must be submitted to the Library before graduation.

Senior Project (One Semester)VIS 4991 / 8 credits / Every semester

This is a one-semester variant of the two-semester VIS 4990 requirement. Students who wish to pursue their entire senior project in one semester register with this course number.

Prerequisite: Permission of the senior project advisor and the director of the School of Art+Design

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/artdesign/VisCourses.aspx.

Visual Arts Courses Open to Students in All Disciplines

These courses, offered by the School of Art+Design, are open to students in all disciplines (excluding visual arts majors, unless otherwise noted). Additional courses may be added each semester. For the current (or upcoming) semester schedule, search the schedule of classes at my.purchase.edu.

Design:Artist/Writer Workshop*SOA 4240 Refer to VDE 4790 in Design Courses for description.Drawing and Painting:*Introduction to Drawing*SOA 1010 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A basic introduction to drawing for students from other disciplines. Focus is placed on becoming familiar with the elements of 2-D design and on strengthening observational skills. A variety of drawing techniques and materials are used to explore both representational and nonrepresentational image making.

Introduction to PaintingSOA 1030 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

A basic introduction to painting for students from other disciplines. Focus is placed on becoming familiar with the materials and methods of painting. A variety of techniques and materials are used to explore both representational and nonrepresentational image making.

Prerequisite: SOA 1010Tibetan Thangka Painting*SOA 2155 / 2 credits / Summer (in India)

Students start with foundational drawing techniques and learn some of the figures, images, and symbols of the Tibetan iconographic tradition. Topics include preparing canvas and preparing natural vegetable and mineral sources of pigments for painting. Students work under the close supervision of a master Thangka painter and his assistants.

Translation DrawingSOA 2165 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly, summer, in France)

Students learn to observe critically as they discover and record the distinctiveness of the region's culture, landscape, and architecture through drawings and a visual journal. They also learn to identify, couple, and build on the similarities (e.g., translation, idiom, syntax) of the two new languages being studied—one spoken, the other visual. Readings, lectures, and field trips to world-class museums and various physical sites enrich the experience.

Landscape: Practice and HistorySOA 3130 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly, summer, in Italy)

To develop perception from direct observation, students study the history of landscape drawing and painting through on-site studio practice, using Pisciotta as the subject. Readings and discussions focus on major figures and periods in Western landscape painting. Students learn to use wet and/or dry media to capture a motif and the artist's relationship to landscape and the site.

Prerequisite: Some experience in art history or art-making processes

General Visual Arts:Introduction to Visual Communication*SOA 1020 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introduction to digital visual communications and basic creative software applications used by professionals outside of the visual arts. The course focuses on building a digital and visual vocabulary and developing skills within the Mac iLife suite and Photoshop. Concepts include basic design principles, resolution, printing, scanning, optical media, and multimedia presentations. Digital literacy is promoted through observation, discussion, workshops, tutorials, exercises, collaborative work, reading, writing, and small projects. Coursework is designed to integrate the student's field of study with digital visual communications.

Special Topics in Visual Arts: India/TibetSOA 1240 / Variable creditsSpecial topic (offered irregularly, summer, in India)

Students explore various art-making processes through the unique lens of the cultures of India and Tibet. Readings, lectures, writing, and studio work are combined with locally developed research to form projects that focus on themes established by the instructor.

Color SeminarSOA 2010 Refer to VIS 2110 in the General \(VIS\) section for description.Collage*SOA 2020 Refer to VIS 2200 in the General \(VIS\) section for description.The Photographic Artist's Book*SOA 2025 Refer to VIS 2025 in the General \(VIS\) section for description.Theme and Variations*SOA 2030 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Students research, investigate, and comment on the architecture at Purchase College, using the Visual Arts Building as a focal point to investigate both 2-D and 3-D methods of site-specific art. Projects may include site drawings, temporary interventions with interior and exterior architecture, and object-based installations. All media and backgrounds are welcome.

Crossover I and IISOA 2040 and 3040 Refer to VIS 2120 and 3120 in the General \(VIS\) section for description.Prerequisite: Permission of instructorWordless Books: The Original Graphic Novel*SOA 2050 Refer to VIS 2050 in the General \(VIS\) section for description.Art in the Age of Electronic Media*SOA 3001 Refer to VIS 3000 in the General \(VIS\) section for description.Special Topic Colloquium*SOA 3170 Refer to VIS 3470 in the General \(VIS\) section for description.Contemporary Art Theory*SOA 3200 Refer to VIS 3400 in the General \(VIS\) section for description.The Arts for Social Change*SOA 3237 Refer to VIS 3500 in the General \(VIS\) section for description.Prerequisite: Junior or senior standingPhotography:*Introduction to Digital Photography*SOA 1100 / 4 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introduction to the basic concepts and techniques of digital photography. Exposure, composition, color, retouching, resolution, and preparation of image files for on-screen and print use are among the techniques covered. Assignments include both technical and aesthetic concerns. Students must own a digital SLR camera that can save RAW images; contact the School of Art+Design for specifications. Also offered as NME 1100.

Prerequisite: Some photographic experienceIntroduction to Color Photography*SOA 1105 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introduction to the creative use of color in digital photography, beginning with image capture using a digital camera and ending with the production of inkjet prints using Adobe Photoshop. Students create original work with a digital camera in response to a series of lectures and assignments. Includes hands-on work and an introduction to the history of color photography. Students must own a digital camera.

Photography ISOA 1110 Refer to VPH 1010 in Photography Courses for description.Photography II*SOA 2110 Refer to VPH 2030 in Photography Courses for description.Exchange and Pictorial Language*SOA 2120 / 4 creditsSpecial topic (offered irregularly, summer, in Spain)

This digital photography course explores the student's relationship to light and color and how these subtle nuances can be used to create visually exciting images that relate directly to a specific region. The final result will be a combination of photography, found imagery, and cultural collage presented in class for discussion and critique. Students must bring their own digital camera (with at least six-megapixel resolution).

Looking at Photographs

SOA 2130 Refer to VPH 2320 in Photography Courses for description.

Printmaking:

Introduction to Printmaking

SOA 1150 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

An introductory course in printmaking for students from other disciplines. Focus is placed on becoming familiar with basic processes like intaglio, lithography, silkscreen, and woodcut.

Tibetan Carving/Block Printing

SOA 2150 / 2 credits / Summer (in India)

Students learn to draw iconographic symbols and how to make and maintain their set of tools. Carved objects may include a plain altar, small folding tables, photo frames, small plain boxes, and blocks for printing.

Sculpture:

Direct Metal I

SOA 2080 Refer to VSC 2080 in Sculpture Courses for description.

Materials and Methods

SOA 2121 Refer to VSC 2120 in Sculpture Courses for description. There is no prerequisite for SOA 2121.

Collage/Assemblage

SOA 2160 Refer to VSC 2160 in Sculpture Courses for description.

Aural Electronics

SOA 2220 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Blending electronics, sound, and sculpture, this course focuses on the creation of simple analog audio circuits for artistic expression. Starting with basic concepts, the creation and modulation of sound are studied with an emphasis on craft and experimentation.

Introduction to Video Art

SOA 3000 / 2 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

In this introduction to the discipline of video art, students expand their knowledge of nonlinear editing as it pertains to the exhibition of video. Conceptual approaches may include non-narrative structures, installation art, and performance art as they relate to the moving image.

Note: Students must have access to and be able to use a DV camcorder, webcam, camera phone, or other video-recording device that can capture moving images of decent quality and upload them to a computer for editing.

Prerequisite: Experience in shooting and editing digital video

Public Art: Making a Proposal

SOA 3150 Refer to VSC 3350 in Sculpture Courses for description.

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Multiples: Methods for Making

SOA 3180 Refer to VSC 3480 in Sculpture Courses for description.

The MFA in Visual Arts Program

The MFA program in the School of Art+Design is a two-year, interdisciplinary graduate program in the visual arts. This small and highly selective program fosters the artistic, intellectual, and professional growth of each student through exposure to a variety of viewpoints represented by faculty, visiting artists, and critics, and through independent studio work and academic studies. Emphasis is placed on the development of originality, clarity, and studio discipline that will carry into the student's professional career. The focus on independent studio work encourages discovery of individual forms of expression. This is accomplished through one-on-one meetings with faculty sponsors chosen each term, group critiques, and cross-disciplinary critiques with the MFA faculty.

Each graduate student is expected to produce a body of work during their two years, culminating in an MFA exhibition accompanied by a written thesis. For those interested in developing teaching skills and pedagogical approaches to art making, opportunities are available to assist in the teaching of undergraduate courses and, when appropriate, to develop and offer courses.

The extensive facilities of the school, including photography, video, and digital labs, a furniture-grade woodshop, metal shop, printmaking studios, all housed within the school's 140,000 square foot building, are available to MFA students. In addition, each MFA student is assigned a semiprivate studio space. Thirty-five miles south of the campus, the vast art resources in New York City also play a crucial role in every student's curricular and extracurricular studies.

MFA in Visual Arts/MA in Art History

Graduate students have an opportunity to earn both an MA in art history through the School of Humanities and an MFA in visual arts through the School of Art+Design. For information on this three-year option, please refer to MFA/MA Academic Requirements.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/ArtDesign/Mfa.aspx.

MFA in Visual Arts: Academic Requirements

The MFA program is designed to be completed in two years with a minimum requirement of 64 graduate credits. This normally includes 40 credits of studio work (three semesters of VIS 5900; VIS 5585–5615; VIS 5990; and one studio art elective), 8 credits of art history, and 16 credits of elective coursework chosen in consultation with a graduate advisor. For successful progress through the program, a 3.0 (B) GPA must be maintained.

MFA in Visual Arts/MA in Art History

Graduate students have an opportunity to earn both an MA in art history (through the School of Humanities) and an MFA in visual arts at Purchase College. In most cases, obtaining the two degrees requires three years of in-residence study with a total course load of 96 credits. For successful progress through the program, a 3.0 (B) GPA must be maintained.

Apart from preparation for museum and gallery work and writing art criticism, students enrolled in the MA/MFA program gain a significant competitive advantage when pursuing a teaching career in studio art. Candidates for both the MA and MFA should review the options for thesis exhibition. Studio space is provided during the first two years of the program.

Graduate Visual Arts MFA Courses

Note: Graduate course offerings and their frequency are subject to change.

Proseminar: Method and Theory in Art History

ARH 5101 Refer to Art History Graduate Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Visiting Artist Studio

VIS 5050 / 3 credits / Special topic (offered irregularly)

Visiting artists focus on areas of interest to both the students and the artist. Activities may include studio work and critiques, field trips, and lectures. Through direct work with these artists, students become engaged with current trends in visual art. For information on the artist(s) and subjects covered, contact the School of Art+Design main office.

College Pedagogy

VIS 5150 / 2 credits / Fall

Provides pedagogical methods for the graduate teaching assistantship experience. Students examine different approaches to the teaching of art through readings, discussions, and research. Topics and activities include syllabi formatting, common teaching problems, role-playing classroom situations, and course development.

Master's Colloquium I and II

ARH 5325 and 5326 Refer to Art History Graduate Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Graduate Studio Seminar I, II, III, IV

VIS 5585, 5595, 5605, 5615 / 4 credits (per semester)

I, III: Fall; II, IV: Spring

All graduate students meet weekly as a group with the seminar leader. Major figures in the art world, including artists, curators, and gallerists, join the seminar throughout the semester and participate in individual and group critiques. General thematic concerns provide continuity in a given semester. Other activities include visits to museums, galleries, and artists' studios in the New York City metropolitan area. Successful completion of each graduate studio seminar is a prerequisite for the following semester's seminar.

Special Topics Seminar IA, IB, IIA, IIBVIS 5700, 5705, 5710, 5715 / 2–4 credits (per course)

Special topic (offered irregularly—IA and IIA: Fall; IB and IIB: Spring)

Focuses on the issues and practice of art making. Fall classes include studio visits with New York City artists. Spring classes include visits to museums and nonprofit spaces and visits with curators and writers. Students learn about the artistic practice of professional artists and are exposed to the inner workings of the New York City art world.

Graduate Teaching AssistantVIS 5870 / 2 credits / Every semester

Students assist faculty members with the delivery of an undergraduate studio course. Duties include grading, critiques, lecture/demonstrations, and other tasks assigned by the faculty sponsor. Graduate students interested in teaching must participate as a teaching assistant and take VIS 5150 at least once before being allowed to independently teach a course.

Prerequisite or corequisite: VIS 5150Independent Graduate Studio*VIS 5900 / 4 credits (per semester) / Every semester

Each MFA student meets regularly with a studio sponsor. All MFA students work independently in semiprivate studio spaces and have access to the majority of the school's facilities. During the academic year, graduate students have 24-hour access to their studios.

Successful completion of each graduate studio is a prerequisite for the following semester's graduate studio.

MFA Graduate ProjectVIS 5990 / 8 credits / Every year

An intensive independent study undertaken with faculty sponsorship, in which students pursue a particular theme or topic as a culmination of their graduate experience. A written thesis and visual documentation of the project must be submitted to the Library before graduation.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/artdesign/MfaCourses.aspx.

MFA Advising and Review Process

Advising

Students are assigned an individual faculty sponsor/advisor upon admission to the program. In their final semester, students are free to select a sponsor from the MFA faculty (with the new sponsor's consent) for their MFA thesis and final exhibition. Formal meetings and end-of-semester faculty reviews serve as advising tools.

Review Process

Reviews for MFA students take place at the end of each semester. In addition, a comprehensive review is conducted at the end of the first year of the program. At the culmination of the program, the final review takes place during the thesis exhibition.

The end-of-semester review includes a group of at least four faculty members, with representation from different areas in the School of Art+Design, along with the student's faculty sponsor. Each faculty review group meets with the student for approximately 30 minutes to discuss the semester's work. Recommendations are given and each student is assigned a grade. The format is designed to encourage intellectual, artistic, and theoretical exchange.

Each student's progress determines his or her continuation in the program. Probation can be recommended at the conclusion of the first semester only. Invitations to continue in the MFA program are extended at the conclusion of the first year. Failure to demonstrate adequate professional growth during the first year will lead to dismissal at the end of that year.

MFA students should also refer to the general program progress and professional standards in the Academic Policies section of this catalog.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/artdesign/MfaAdvisingAndReview.aspx.

MFA Thesis and Exhibition

As one of the graduation requirements, the MFA candidate mounts a final thesis exhibition, accompanied by a critical thesis paper (6 to 10 double-spaced pages) that articulates the philosophical and/or formal viewpoint of the work. MFA thesis exhibitions, which include the work of two or more graduate students at a time, are installed in the Richard and Dolly Maass Gallery, the main exhibition space in the School of Art+Design. An additional group exhibition of graduating MFA candidates' work is held in a New York City gallery.

The thesis exhibition, carried out with the sponsorship of a faculty member, is reviewed, critiqued, and adjudicated by three to five members of the MFA faculty, including the student's sponsor.

Notes for MFA candidates:

1. The review must be scheduled during the time of the thesis exhibition.
 2. The thesis paper must be given to each of the reviewers one week in advance of the review date.
 3. Finally, the thesis paper and appropriate documentation of the exhibition must be submitted to the Library and confirmed by the sponsor and second reader before graduation.

School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education

The School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education at Purchase College provides lifelong learning for individuals in the surrounding communities of Westchester and Fairfield counties. The school is dedicated to delivering quality credit and noncredit courses, an adult degree completion program, professional certificate programs, and personal enrichment courses designed to enhance lives and meet the existing and emerging educational and professional needs of adults, transfer students, youth, and precollege teens.

Day, evening, weekend, online, and hybrid courses are available throughout the year. In addition to its programs in the fall and spring semesters, the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education offers an accelerated online winter session, a full summer session, and noncredit youth and precollege programs in the arts. Courses are also offered at the school's extension site in Rockland County.

Overview of Programs

The Liberal Studies Degree Completion Program

The Continuing Education Program

Nonmatriculated and visiting students can enroll in both credit and noncredit courses through the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education for a variety of reasons: to prepare for graduate school or a career change, enter or re-enter the job market, upgrade skills, fulfill a lifelong dream, or pursue a passion.

Selected undergraduate credit courses offered by the school are also available to nonmatriculated students at a lower noncredit tuition rate. Students who choose this option do not receive grades or college credit. For more information, please visit www.purchase.edu/noncreditoptions.

In addition, numerous undergraduate credit courses in the other schools at Purchase College are open to nonmatriculated students (on a limited enrollment basis) during the fall and spring semesters.

Course brochures, published each semester by the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education, are available at www.purchase.edu/LSCCatalog.

Professional Certificate Programs

Professional certificate programs at Purchase College are designed to increase students' knowledge and enhance employment opportunities in expanding fields. Upon completion of the approved curriculum, the student receives a certificate from Purchase College. The School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education offers professional certificate programs in:

Credit programs:

Arts Management \(online\)*

Early Childhood Development

Also available on a noncredit basis*

Noncredit programs:

Appraisal Studies

Arts Management

CSP™ Home Staging

Drawing and Painting

Fundraising and Board Development

Health Coach Training

Interior Design

Museum Studies

Nonprofit Management

Pilates Mat Instructor

Social Media Marketing

Each of these programs can be completed within a few semesters of part-time study. For information on these certificate programs (which are subject to change) and updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/professionalcertificates or call (914) 251-6500.

Personal Enrichment Courses (Noncredit)

Personal enrichment courses allow community members in Westchester and Fairfield counties to explore a variety of interests. For information on these courses during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/personalenrichment or call (914) 251-6500.

Winter Session (Online)

In the accelerated online winter session—offered by the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education during the intersession between the fall and spring semesters—students can take a course from any location. Winter session courses are open to all current, prospective, and visiting students who wish to obtain undergraduate college-level credit. (The senior citizen “special auditor” option is not available.) Because of the intensive nature of these undergraduate courses, enrollment is limited to one 4-credit course per student. For more information and updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/winter.

Summer Session

Summer session at Purchase College, which is administered by the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education, welcomes community members, Purchase undergraduates, visiting students from other colleges, and eligible high school students.

Courses are offered in the humanities, natural and social sciences, and performing and visual arts. Of particular interest to Purchase undergraduates and visiting students from other SUNY campuses are the many courses offered that satisfy SUNY general education requirements.

Summer session at Purchase maintains the same academic standards as the undergraduate program, and the same standards of performance are expected from students. Courses are taught by highly qualified artists, scientists, scholars, and professionals from Purchase College, other academic institutions, and the private sector.

On-campus room and board are available for eligible summer session students. For more information on summer session, please visit www.purchase.edu/summer or contact the school at (914) 251-6500, conted@purchase.edu.

Youth and Precollege Programs in the Arts

Each summer, the school offers full-day, noncredit youth and precollege programs in the arts during a six-week period. Programs in such areas as architecture, chess, video game/app creation, filmmaking, photography, creative writing, comic drawing, visual arts, musical theatre, Shakespeare, acting, pop choral singing, songwriting, and jazz are available for ages 6–18. Summer precollege institutes provide opportunities for portfolio building and audition training techniques. Institute students may earn certificates based on participation and attendance. On occasion, courses for youth and precollege students are also offered during the academic year.

For additional information and updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/youth or contact the school at (914) 251-6500, youth.pre.college@purchase.edu.

Academic Advising

Academic advising is available for students majoring in liberal studies and for all nonmatriculated students, including those who are interested in the liberal studies degree completion program or a credit-bearing professional certificate program at Purchase College. To schedule an appointment, please call the school at (914) 251-6500.

Administration

Danielle D'Agosto, MA, Executive Director of Academic Programs
 Michael DeGrazia, BA, Executive Director of Finance and Administration
 Kelly Jackson, BA, Director of Continuing Education

The Liberal Studies Degree Completion Program

The liberal studies BA program is designed especially for adults and transfer students who need to complete their degree within a tight timeframe and who are looking for a flexible schedule. It is possible to earn a bachelor's degree in liberal studies through either part-time or full-time study. Courses are available during the day, evening, and weekend, and also in hybrid and online formats. Summer and winter sessions are also available. The program accepts up to 90 transfer credits from other accredited colleges and institutions to accelerate the process of achieving a bachelor's degree.

Prospective students who are interested in applying for admission to the liberal studies degree completion program should schedule an advising appointment in the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education, (914) 251-6500. Information sessions are also offered during the year.

For additional information and updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/ce/adult/ or email liberalstudies@purchase.edu.

Freedom of Choice

Students can choose one of four liberal studies majors:

1. Liberal Studies
2. Liberal Studies: Arts
3. Liberal Studies: Communications/Media Studies
4. Liberal Studies: Legal Studies

Each major provides a breadth of learning and understanding in the liberal arts fields. The range of courses offered is what makes the BA in liberal studies an in-depth, comprehensive program.

Extension Site at Rockland Community College

The liberal studies degree completion program is also offered at an extension site at Rockland Community College in Suffern. For detailed information, please visit www.purchase.edu/rcc or email rockland@purchase.edu.

Overview of Academic Requirements

1. Satisfy all general degree requirements for the BA, including the core curriculum requirements.
2. Earn at least 15 credits in each of three liberal arts areas: humanities, natural sciences, social sciences.*
3. In addition, earn at least 12 upper-level credits in one liberal arts area (humanities, natural sciences, social sciences) and 8 upper-level credits in a second liberal arts area.*
4. Earn at least 6 credits in the performing and/or visual arts.*

*No D or pass/no credit grades are accepted toward this requirement.

Note: Students who transfer from one of the liberal studies majors to another major at Purchase are subject to the specified requirements for their new major.

Liberal Studies Alumni

Becoming part of a group of successful graduates is only one of many advantages of studying at Purchase College. The sense of accomplishment and of personal and professional growth gives rise to a satisfaction each graduate can appreciate. Liberal studies alumni move into such fields as education, advocacy, health, social work, advertising, and customer service. They work for corporations, businesses, civil services, and nonprofits. Many liberal studies graduates also continue their education in a variety of graduate programs.

BA Major in Liberal Studies

This interdisciplinary major helps students to develop an appreciation of the questions, issues, and perspectives underlying the liberal arts, to integrate knowledge across disciplines, and to be able to apply academic learning to life pursuits. Coursework is required in a variety of areas and includes a cross-section of the humanities (e.g., history, philosophy, writing), social sciences (e.g., anthropology, economics, sociology), natural sciences (e.g., math, biology, psychology), and the arts (e.g., art history, studio art, music). The flexibility of the liberal studies degree allows students to choose advanced courses that best suit their needs and interests. This major is also offered at the extension site at Rockland Community College.

Pre-Law Advisor

Law schools are interested in students with strong liberal arts backgrounds who can (a) think analytically and creatively and (b) communicate their arguments effectively and persuasively. The college's pre-law academic advisor, usually a member of the political science faculty in the School of Natural and Social Sciences, can suggest specific courses that help pre-law students hone their oral and written communication skills and stimulate meaningful conversations about legal issues. For additional information, please visit the Advising Center at www.purchase.edu/departments/advisingcenter/prelaw.

Online Certificate Program in Arts Management

The certificate program in arts management provides students with an understanding of management, marketing, arts and entertainment law, and fundraising and development in arts-related organizations. This certificate program is particularly suited for:

- new arts administrators who want to broaden their knowledge and skills
- professionals who are considering a career transition to arts management
- artists who are interested in starting their own companies or joining existing organizations
- board members and volunteers who want to become more informed and effective

The curriculum consists of four 4-credit courses and a 3-credit internship (19 credits total), which can be completed within three semesters. Students may take individual courses without commitment to the entire program. All courses except the internship are offered online.

Before starting this certificate program, students must formally enroll in the program by completing the Arts Management Certificate Form of Intent, available at www.purchase.edu/artsmanagementcertificate. It is also recommended that students visit www.purchase.edu/online to learn more about online learning at Purchase College.

To earn the certificate, students must be high school graduates, earn a grade of C or higher in all certificate courses, and send a completed Certificate Request Form to the certificate advisor in the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education during the last semester of their coursework.

Certificate Program in Early Childhood Development

The certificate program in early childhood development is designed for students who wish to pursue concentrated study in the area of child development and gain practical experience working with young children. Please note that this certificate does not provide teacher licensure. To enhance employment opportunities, students are advised to combine the certificate with an undergraduate degree.

The curriculum consists of four courses (16 credits total). Through this coursework, students are provided with broad exposure to important areas of study in general and child psychology. The practicum offers hands-on experience in working with young children at the Purchase College Children's Center.

Individual courses may be taken without commitment to the entire program. Day and evening courses are available; however, because the Children's Center offers daytime child care, PSY 3850 is offered only during the day. Some courses may be offered during summer session, but not every course is offered every year. At least two semesters are required to complete the program.

To earn the certificate, students must be high school graduates and earn a grade of C or higher in certificate courses. Applications for the certificate are available at www.purchase.edu/earlychildhood and may also be obtained from the instructor for PSY 3850 in the Psychology Board of Study or from the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education.

Film/Media Studies CoursesFilm and Artistic Expression

FTF 3015 / 4 credits

The most successful films function as both art and entertainment; students explore why this balance is a rare achievement. Topics include the business origins and aspects of cinema, films that concern and depict artistic process, and a critical/historical evaluation of films as works of art. Film aesthetics are examined from several perspectives, including grammar, genres and forms, and auteur theory. Also offered as CSS 3015.

Women in Film

FTF 3040 / 4 credits

The roles of women in cinema, as in American society generally, have changed drastically since the beginning of the 20th century. This course examines these diverse roles from their filmic beginnings in 1895 to the present. Although women have indeed "come a long way" in film, it remains clear that society still has a very long way to go. Also offered as CSS 3040.

The Law and Film

FTF 3055 Refer to CSS 3040 under Legal Studies in Social Sciences Courses for description.

American Film, Reflections of a Century I: 1900–1949

FTF 3075 / 4 credits

Early films depict the transition from the Victorian era to the Industrial Age, the birth of big cities, the suffragette movement, and the development of narrative cinema. Topics include World War I and the introduction of the propaganda film, the wild Jazz Age, the cynical gangster movies, the protest films of the Depression era, and the rise of escapist films. Also offered as CSS 3075.

History and Memory: Literature and Films of Atrocity

African American Cinema

FTF 3090 / 4 credits

This focus on African American cinema includes the work of major African American directors and performers and the films that reflect the complex issues attending the relationship between race and film in the United States. Also offered as CSS 3090.

Teenagers in Literature and Film

FTF 3110 Refer to ALI 3110 under Literature in Humanities Courses for description.

American Subcultures in Film

FTF 3160 / 4 credits

What does it mean to be part of a subculture? This phenomenon is explored through film, focusing on subcultures that are usually not in the mainstream spotlight and analyzing what it means to live on the margins. The subcultures may include, for example, the Amish, big rig drivers, scrabble champions, graffiti artists, quadriplegic athletes, prison inmates, and outsider artists. Also offered as CSS 3160.

American Film, Reflections of a Century II: 1950–1999

FTF 3175 / 4 credits

Defining trends in U.S. cultural history between 1950 and 1999, as reflected in film. Topics include the re-introduction of realism, counterculture films, films by socially oriented and "new auteur" directors, and the impact of AIDS, relations between the sexes, and modern special effects. Aspects of cinema history are also examined, including the construct and use of certain genres, the relationship between cinematic realism and censorship, and the rise of independent film. Also offered as CSS 3175.

The City on Film

FTF 3235 / 4 credits

"The city" is examined from some of the perspectives in which it has been depicted in film, beginning with early screen melodramas where the evils of the city are juxtaposed against the virtues of country life. Discussions range from the plight of anonymous individuals struggling for recognition and representations of the "urban jungle" in 1940s film noir to more contemporary perspectives. Filmmakers who incorporate the city as an identifying aspect of their directorial styles are also considered. Also offered as CSS 3235.

Musicals: Stage, Screen, and Beyond

FTF 3255 Refer to ADR 3255 under Humanities: General in Humanities Courses for description.

The Horror FilmFTF 3260 / 4 credits

Charts the transformations of one of the most stimulating and complex of film genres, the horror film, from its birth in the early 20th century to the present. Students study how the Hollywood horror film has evolved through the years in response to contemporary culture. Also offered as CSS 3260.

Sports Films: Underdogs, Champions, and Gutter BallsFTF 3265 / 4 credits

Examines the elements and messages in sports films that make people cheer for the underdog and care about teams, players, and sports. Using both big-budget Hollywood films and documentaries with a small scope, this course explores the ideas of team, sport, and athletics and investigates the grip that sports have on American culture. Also offered as CSS 3265.

The Family on FilmFTF 3270 / 4 credits

Explores the many types of families presented on the silver screen in the 20th century and today: perfect/idyllic families, families threatened by divorce, dysfunctional families, eccentric families, families facing a crisis, and current notions of extended or nontraditional families. Also offered as CSS 3270.

American Film, Reflections of a Century III: The 21st CenturyFTF 3275 / 4 credits

Analyzes trends in American cultural history as reflected in the movies from 1990 onward, with an exploration of precursors. Topics include the digital age, globalism, millennialism, postmodernism, and what is to come in the future. Students examine connections between Western civilization and landmarks of film history—cinema mirroring society and vice versa. Also offered as CSS 3275.

The Comedy FilmFTF 3280 / 4 credits

Throughout the history of cinema, the comedy film has been one of the most financially profitable genres, producing some of the biggest movie stars. Topics include various comedy film styles and performers, and the role of the comedy film genre within the context of world history, especially during darker periods like the Depression and World War II. Also offered as CSS 3280.

Mass Media: A Cultural HistoryCSS 3325 Refer to Communications in Social Sciences Courses for description.Lights, Camera, God: Religion in the Movies*FTF 3340 / 4 credits

Since the dawn of cinema, religion has had an enduring hold on filmmakers' creative and spiritual imaginations. The symbolic and controversial role of religion in movies made during the 20th century is examined through films and critical readings. Students analyze Judeo-Christian traditions and imagery inspired by the Bible and sacred sites. Films include cinematic masterpieces, popular movies, silent films, and indie features. Also offered as AHU 3340.

Contemporary Global CinemaFTF 3400 Refer to CIN 3400 in Cinema Studies Courses (School of Film and Media Studies) for description. There is no prerequisite for FTF 3400.East–West: Film and Literature of Cultural Formation*FTF 3415 Refer to ALL 3415 under Literature in Humanities Courses for description.Social Psychological Theory Applied Through Film*FTF 3450 / 4 credits

A discussion of the constructs, theories, and ideas in the field of social psychology that are most relevant to contemporary society. Films that are rich in examples of social psychological theory are analyzed to facilitate mastery of these concepts. Also offered as BNS 3450.

History in FilmFTF 3550 / 4 credits

How has history been portrayed on the silver screen? What responsibilities do directors assume in presenting their subjective view of historical events? Students consider these questions and examine depictions of American and European history in early and contemporary cinema, the documentary film, and the cinematic presentation of film history itself. Also offered as CSS 3550.

Gender Expression in FilmFTF 3610 / 4 credits

By focusing on masculinities, femininities, and the space in between, this course examines the cultural structure of gender and investigates the various ways that gender is expressed visually in film. Also offered as CSS 3610.

Human Rights Topics in FilmFTF 3615 / 4 credits

Topics including tolerance, racism, terrorism, colonization, and citizenship are explored in the context of human rights. The use of film in promoting and protecting human rights internationally is interrogated. This course aims to engage and help students understand various political and social issues through the visual medium of film. Also offered as CSS 3615.

The Great DirectorsFTF 3750 / 4 credits

Asserting that directors are in some ways the “authors” of a film text, it is often possible to identify key aspects and motifs of particular directorial styles. While looking at the director's overall role in the collaborative filmmaking process, this course examines the work of several influential directors who have had a major impact on the cinema. Also offered as CSS 3750.

The American Crime FilmFTF 3760 / 4 credits

An examination of the transformations, both stylistic and thematic, within the crime film. Topics include the ways in which social attitudes toward crime and criminals are mediated in the social conventions of the cinema, the relationship of the crime film to distinct periods of American history, and the relevance of the crime film to other genres. Also offered as CSS 3760.

Romance, Love, and Sex on FilmFTF 3780 / 4 credits

The various styles of lovemaking that have dominated the silver screen are examined, considering them both as art and entertainment and as reflections of social mores and attitudes. Topics vary through the decades, ranging from the early "peep show" days of the film industry through eras of moralism and censorship to the more sexually liberated and explicit films of the 1950s and beyond. Also offered as CSS 3780.

Film/Video Production CoursesIntroduction to Video Techniques and Technology*FTF 1500 / 3 credits

This introduction to the art and science of video production focuses on developing visual literacy and postproduction skills. Starting with an examination of basic video technology and traditional media aesthetics, all stages of the video production process are covered. Students receive introductory technical training and hands-on experience with digital camcorders, microphones, and nonlinear editing equipment.

Documentary ProductionFTF 2110 / 3 credits

An examination of the history, cultural impact, and aesthetics of documentary film and video production. Through viewings, lectures, discussions, and hands-on exercises, students learn how to research, write, interview, direct, shoot, and edit a documentary. The class works in small production teams, using camcorders and editing equipment to produce mini-documentaries designed by each team.

Motion Picture Production WorkshopFTF 2240 and 2260 (second time) / 3 credits (per semester)

Using highly portable, digital camcorders and editing tools, students have the opportunity to plan and complete short motion pictures. The course includes instruction in camera operation; roles in production, sound, and editing procedures; and shooting video as film. Working in crews, each student concentrates on one of the production roles: writer, director, camera, sound, or editor.

Music CoursesPopular Music in America: Evolution and Revolution*EMT 2200 Refer to AHI 2200 under History in Humanities Courses for description.Music and Cultural Identity*EMT 3073 / 4 credits

A study of music in its cultural contexts, including how it defines and perpetuates national, cultural, ethnic, and personal identity around the world. The class examines the recording, performing, and broadcasting of music and the role of race, class, and gender in Spain, Central Asia, Australia, Europe, Africa, and the Americas. Looking through the lens of culture, students see who drives the music industry, who listens, and for what purposes. Also offered as CSS 3073.

The Great Broadway SongwritersEMT 3105 Refer to AHU 3105 under Humanities: General in Humanities Courses for description.American History and Society Through Music*EMT 3115 Refer to AHI 3115 under History in Humanities Courses for description.Music of Protest*EMT 3116 Refer to AHI 3116 under History in Humanities Courses for description.American Popular Music: Blues to Bebop*EMT 3200 / 4 credits

American popular music and its recording techniques to 1950: ragtime, gospel, blues, vaudeville, New Orleans brass band, swing, Tin Pan Alley, bebop, and early rhythm and blues. Students may not earn credit for both this course and SOA 4600 or MTH 4120.

American Popular Music: Bebop to Hip-HopEMT 3210 / 4 credits

Since 1950, American pop music has changed its directions, its media, and its paradigms on a regular basis. This course surveys the principal artists, writers, and producers of a half-century of popular music, one that has proven to be critical to any artistic comprehension of modern America, commencing with the musically shattering experiment of bebop, through rock and R&B, to today's undergrounds and fringes. Students may not earn credit for both this course and SOA 4610 or MTH 4130.

American Music: A Cultural HistoryEMU 3470 / 4 credits

Using an interdisciplinary approach, students analyze the social and historical effects of American music, from the music of Native Americans and the early Europeans in America to gospel, blues, jazz, rhythm and blues, rock 'n' roll, rap, hip-hop, and beyond. The evolution and convergence of musical genres and forms are also examined, along with the artists, their aesthetics and audiences, and the evolving history of American culture. Also offered as CSS 3470.

Painting and Drawing Courses

Life Drawing I and II

(Beginning, Intermediate/Advanced)

GDR 1040 and 3040 / 3 credits (per semester)

This studio/art history course offers each student the opportunity to draw from a live model as well as from the wealth of art history's famous masters like Rembrandt and da Vinci. The form and structure of the model are explored in a variety of media. Traditional and modern drawing concepts are introduced, including gesture, contour, relational technique, value, and composition.

Prerequisite (for GDR 3040): One semester of life drawing

Drawing From Nature

(Beginning, Intermediate/Advanced)

GDR 2600 and 3600 / 3 credits (per semester)

Designed for all levels, beginning through advanced, this course uses the Purchase campus and environs as its subject. Students work with a variety of drawing materials, developing their abilities to observe and interpret landscape. The class meets in the studio for the first session and during inclement weather. Students are responsible for providing their own transportation to off-campus sites.

Painting I and II

(Beginning, Intermediate/Advanced)

GPA 1150 and 3150 / 3 credits (per semester)

This course develops each student's unique personal vision and style. Students are encouraged to be creative and to develop "image books" and sequential paintings to foster awareness of their own emergent tendencies. Students learn the fundamental aspects of painting and visual form, including color theory, thematic development, composition, palette and canvas preparation, and painting media and techniques.

Prerequisite (for GPA 3150): One semester of painting

Fundamentals of Color

GPA 2020 / 3 credits

An intensive lecture/studio study of the fundamental elements, principles, and concepts of color theory, with emphasis on how color has been used historically in the studio arts. Lectures span from prehistoric cave paintings to contemporary art. Students complete a variety of design and painting projects and are responsible for purchasing some supplies.

Watercolor

GPA 2090 / 3 credits

Designed for students who have not yet discovered the fluidity and vibrancy that watercolor can offer. Emphasis is on the development of painting skills and techniques related to artistic expression. Topics and demonstrations include flat washes, graded washes, wet-in-wet, tonality, glazes, and the use of resist.

Painting From Art History

GPA 3060 / 3 credits

A lecture/studio course that explores transformations of previous art by important artists from prehistoric times through the postmodern era. Students learn to research and analyze composition, style, and content of significant paintings and apply new methods to their own work. Designed for all levels of accomplishment, from beginning through advanced.

Photography Courses

Photo I: Beginning and Intermediate

GPH 1010 and 2010 / 3 credits (per semester)

Designed to provide a solid foundation in the basic techniques of black and white photography and darkroom procedures, this course concentrates on developing and printing a series of photographic assignments, along with demonstrations, critiques, and presentations of selected photographers' work. After a review of basic skills, intermediate students select a theme and develop a photographic series.

Students need a 35mm camera and light meter.

Digital Photography I

GPH 1200 / 3 credits

An exploration of the digital image for on-screen use and for output onto paper. Editing and printing techniques are covered, with attention to image manipulation using Adobe Photoshop and RAW files. A digital camera is required.

Prerequisite: GPH 1010 and 2010 or equivalent

Digital Photography II

GPH 3210 / 3 credits

In this continuation of GPH 1200, the digital image is explored in more depth. Topics include advanced printing and editing techniques as well as color calibration issues for various output methods. A digital camera is required.

Prerequisite: GPH 1200 or equivalent

Sculpture Courses

Introduction to Sculpture: Materials and Processes I

GSC 2000 / 3 credits

An introduction to the basic processes, materials, and vocabulary used by artists and designers who work in three dimensions, with emphasis on the nature of 3-D space, structure, and content. Materials include clay, plaster, wax, and wood; processes include modeling, carving, and construction. The exploration of individual interests is encouraged. Projects should be easily portable, and students provide basic household tools (e.g., pliers, hammers).

Bronze CastingGSC 2060 and 2070 (second time) / 3 credits (per semester)

An exploration of foundry techniques based on traditional methods of lost-wax bronze casting. Students prepare wax objects, make molds, and cast sculptural pieces in bronze during an all-day Saturday casting (a festive event with music, potluck refreshments, and invited guests). All levels of experience are welcome, and individuals can advance at their own pace.

Workshop in Metal SculptureGSC 2100 and 2110 (second time) / 3 credits (per semester)

Sculptural form making is explored using a variety of metalworking techniques, including shearing, bending, forging, and welding. Emphasis is on the evolution of each participant's sculptural ideas, using metalworking skills as a means of materializing those ideas. Twentieth-century art movements and concepts within the tradition of welded steel sculpture are also examined. Students supply their own safety goggles and gloves.

Introduction to Woodworking and Furniture DesignGSC 2670 and 2680 (second time) / 3 credits (per semester)

Designed to provide a firm foundation in woodworking processes and techniques, this course covers the structure of wood, its identification, aesthetics, and uses as a design material. A wide range of tools and construction techniques are explored with emphasis on hand work, although machinery and machine joinery are covered. Basic cabinet-making and design techniques are covered with related projects.

Sculpture: Found Objects Into ArtGSC 3420 / 3 credits

Students examine their sense of the disposable as they make sculptures with low overhead costs, using accessible and found materials. Various processes and materials are explored to challenge the way people see ordinary objects and to find artistic potential in unexpected places. Additive and subtractive sculptural processes, casting, mold making, assemblage, and installation projects are explored.

The Liberal Studies Program: Humanities Courses

Note: It is expected that each course will be offered at least once during 2013–14 or 2014–15.

Art History Courses

Introduction to Modern ArtAAR 2050 Refer to ARH 2050 in Art History Undergraduate Courses (School of Humanities) for description.Picasso: The Man, His Art, and His Critics*AAR 3100 / 4 credits

Deified, demonized, or mythologized, Pablo Picasso remained indisputably the consummate artist of the 20th century. As a painter, sculptor, printmaker, ceramicist, and set designer, Picasso absorbed techniques and traditions culled from various Western and non-Western art sources. Students study his numerous styles, from his early academic exercises through the Blue Period, Rose Period, African Period, Cubism, and Surrealism, and his influence on other artists.

Contemporary ArtAAR 3120 / 4 credits

The first distinctly American modern movement in art, Abstract Expressionism, burst onto the international scene around 1950. American artists then pioneered the major movements of Pop art, photorealism, earth art, and minimalism, while simultaneously participating in the more international developments: happenings, environments, conceptualism, neo-expressionism, and new figuration. Students explore the multiple directions in American and European art from 1945 to the present.

Tribal Arts of AfricaAAR 3160 / 4 credits

The scope of this course begins with archaeological studies of prehistoric artifacts and continues with the geography and traditions of historical cultures. Emphasis is on visual vocabulary, identifying materials and techniques, and recognizing formal elements of design and style. Textiles, pottery, utensils, tools, architecture, sculpture, costume, masking, and ritual objects are viewed and discussed.

American ArtAAR 3180 / 4 credits

A study of American painting and sculpture from colonial times to the present, focusing on American contributions to romanticism, realism, impressionism, abstraction, Pop art, and postmodernism. Lectures also cover African American art, Latino-American art, and Jewish artists as part of this opportunity to learn about American history through art.

20th-Century PhotographyAAR 3193 Refer to ARH 3193 in Art History Undergraduate Courses (School of Humanities) for description. There is no prerequisite for ARH 3193.

ImpressionismAAR 3400 / 4 credits

The simultaneous development of various painters associated with Impressionism (e.g., Monet, Renoir, Morisot, Pissarro, Manet, Degas, Cassatt) is presented. This radical new art movement is traced from the first Impressionist exhibition of 1874 to the last exhibition of 1886 and the appearance of the post-Impressionists. Students explore the shared relationships of the Impressionist artists.

Modern Sculpture and Three-Dimensional ArtAAR 3450 / 4 credits

Beginning with Auguste Rodin, generally considered the first modern sculptor, students explore the changes in concepts, methods, and materials that have brought about dramatic shifts in ideas about what constitutes sculpture. Movements examined include Cubism and Futurism, constructivism, Dada and surrealism, Pop art, minimalism, super realism, conceptual art, Arte Povera, and Scatter art. There are visits to museums on and off campus.

The Cubist EpochAAR 3510 / 4 credits

An interdisciplinary examination of Cubism both as a phenomenon and an artistic movement. Discussions include Cubism's style, history, and identification with modernism and modernity. In particular, the course explores the influence of Cubism in film, advertising, art, theatre, dance, music, and literature.

19th-Century ArtAAR 3511 / 4 credits

European art from the French Revolution to 1900, with movements in France, Germany, and England receiving particular attention. Major artists studied include David, Gericault, Delacroix, Ingres, Frederich, Constable, Turner, the pre-Raphaelites, Daumier, Manet, Degas, Monet, and Gauguin.

Art of the '80s, '90s, and 21st CenturyAAR 3520 / 4 credits

A retrospective and prospective point of view is used to analyze contemporary art, beginning with the many coexisting styles and schools of the pluralistic 1970s, progressing to the powerful neo-expressionist images of the 1980s, and then considering the globalism of the 1990s. Discussions also contemplate the increasingly provocative content of much recent art and the 21st-century fusion of existing styles.

Realism in ArtAAR 3550 / 4 credits

Various artists from the 17th century to the present have worked in a style that can be termed "realist." This course explores the definition of "realism" in art and examines why these artists chose to work in an empirical style. How do their styles differ, and what does their work tell us about the societies in which they lived? Students choose and place in social context a 20th-century or contemporary "realist" to discover how the meaning of "realism" has evolved over the centuries.

Pioneers of Modern Art: Romanticism to RealismAAR 3700 / 4 credits

Traces the origins of modernism, beginning with the growth of neoclassicism and the development of Romanticism in France, England, Germany, and Spain. With the rise of the middle class came a growing interest in artistic representation of the everyday world. By the mid-19th century artists began to challenge the emphasis on traditional history painting. Students examine how realism developed in the work of artists like Courbet and Manet, which led to the Impressionism of Monet and Degas. Selected post-Impressionists (e.g., van Gogh, Gauguin) and parallel developments in America are also considered.

Pop ArtAAR 3750 / 4 credits

Though cool and noncommittal, Pop art posed serious questions about our relationships to society and culture. This course begins with the formation of the Pop art aesthetic (Jasper Johns, Robert Rauschenberg, Larry Rivers) and moves to a detailed study of the works of major Pop artists like Andy Warhol, Claes Oldenburg, and Roy Lichtenstein. The Pop phenomenon in Europe is also examined in an international and intermedia context, as is the formation of a "post-Pop" aesthetic in the 1980s and 1990s.

History CoursesWestern Civilization II*AHI 1020 Refer to HIS 1020 in History Courses (School of Humanities) for description.History-on-Hudson: History of the Hudson Valley Region*AHI 1400 / 4 credits

Dive into a more than 400-year study of "America's First Great River." Discover why, where, and how the Hudson River region has had—and continues to have—a vital role in shaping American history and society. The region's history is examined through a selection of such themes as culture, exploration, art, literature, economics, industry, transportation, international relations, and the environment.

Understanding AmericaAHI 1500 Refer to HIS 1500 in History Courses (School of Humanities) for description.Western Civilization I*AHI 1530 Refer to HIS 1010 in History Courses (School of Humanities) for description.Popular Music in America: Evolution and Revolution*AHI 2200 / 4 credits

The invention of sound recording in the late 1800s caused profound aesthetic transformations in music. This course surveys the many styles that have swept through American music—from ragtime, blues, and brass band through R&B, top 40, heavy metal, rap, and hip-hop—and discusses the roles of rural and urban musical centers. Using the last 110 years of technological innovation in recording, students analyze the more significant cultural changes that continue to reverberate throughout American society. Also offered as EMT 2200.

The Emergence of Modern America

AHI 3040 / 4 credits

A comprehensive survey of American society, politics, and culture from the Civil War to the present. Topics include the significance of the Civil War in American society, the role of the Industrial Revolution in the shaping of the Gilded Age, the progressive era and its enduring influence on American politics, the impact of American involvement in 20th-century wars on current U.S. foreign policy, the changing nature of race relations and gender roles, urbanization, and the influence of the rise of modern technology and mass communications.

American History and Society Through Music

AHI 3115 / 4 credits

A narrative survey of U.S. history from the colonial period to the present through an exploration of its musical history. The course investigates America's fundamental principles of politics, its primary social issues, and its wealth of aesthetic musical initiatives. Students examine the unity, diversity, originality, and adaptability of significant political, social, and musical institutions. Also offered as EMT 3115.

Music of Protest

AHI 3116 / 4 credits

A survey of the past 50 years of popular protest music, with a preparatory examination of early 20th-century blues and socialist "magnet" songs. Students study the power of popular music and the artist's role in shaping contemporary society, with a focus on three eras of social upheaval in the U.S.: the civil rights movement, the war in Vietnam, and the emergence of punk and hip-hop. Includes readings, musical analysis, and listening. The ability to read musical notation is not required, but a working knowledge of contemporary popular music is critical. Also offered as EMT 3116.

The Militarization of American Society

AHI 3130 / 4 credits

The influence of warfare is arguably the least understood aspect of human history; too often, war is considered like a sporting event—teams, winners, and losers. Students critically examine the effects of warfare on U.S. history in the 20th century. Topics include how militarization and "modern" warfare influence American society and shape its history.

America at the Movies

AHI 3156 / 4 credits

Selected films are analyzed to illuminate significant aspects of American society in the 1970s and 1980s, including the war in Vietnam and expansion of American power, the end of legal racial segregation, the movements for women's equality and gay rights, and challenges to traditional conventions (the sexual revolution, counterculture movement, and youth movement). How did these developments affect life in America in the following decades, and how did Hollywood confront their political reverberations? Also offered as CPO 3156.

Empire City: A History of New York City

AHI 3265 / 4 credits

An introduction to the history and culture of New York City. New York's colonial origins, its critical role in the American Revolution, and its 19th-century ethnic and social conflicts are studied. Secondly, the evolution of the city's dynamic growth in the 20th century and the impact of 9/11 are examined. Lastly, the image of New York City as portrayed in literature and film is explored.

Vietnam and Modern America

AHI 3269 Refer to HIS 3269 in History Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

The Rise and Fall of Nazi Germany

AHI 3435 Refer to HIS 3435 in History Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

The Blue and the Gray: U.S. Civil War

AHI 3530 Refer to HIS 3535 in History Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

African History

AHI 3560 / 4 credits

This study of African history addresses the continent's geography and how it has affected Africa's place in history, the rise and fall of civilizations, Islamic/Arab influences, European colonization, independence movements, and current challenges. In particular, students examine the slave trade and its effects on African societies, colonial domination, and the rise of nationalist movements.

The Early American Republic: 1789–1865

AHI 3630 / 4 credits

Examines the social, cultural, and political history of the U.S. before the Civil War. The focus is on America's transformation from a colony to an independent republic and on the culture and society of the U.S. during its formative years. Historians' major inquiries concerning this period are compared and contrasted.

The American South

AHI 3640 Refer to HIS 3640 in History Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

The American West 1789–1914

AHI 3650 / 4 credits

Explores the influence of the expanding West on the culture, politics, and society of the United States. Topics include the California Gold Rush, the significance of the Northwest Land Ordinances, the Louisiana Purchase, the Mexican Cession, and the Oklahoma Land Rush. Students consider the influence of the "Wild West" on the American character and explore racial and gender stereotyping in American literature. In addition to readings, traditional Hollywood "westerns" are compared with more modern portrayals of the West.

The U.S. Since 1945

AHI 3670 / 4 credits

An exploration of American life since World War II, using books, documentaries, and films. Topics include the rise of America as a world power and the Cold War; McCarthyism and anticommunism; consumerism, environmentalism, and the transformation of values, taste, style, and manners; uprisings of the 1960s; the conservative agenda of the Reagan/Bush era; the contemporary distrust of politicians; and concerns about the future.

Humanities: General Courses

The Great Broadway Songwriters

ADR 3105 / 4 credits

Come taste the finest sampling of the great Broadway songwriters. Each class examines a particular songwriter (Cole Porter, Stephen Sondheim), idea (the subversives: Weill and Bernstein), or era (contemporary voices on Broadway). Students savor recordings, investigate the dramatic qualities of the songs, and analyze lyrics, melody, and song form. Also offered as EMT 3105.

Holocaust Theatre and Film

ADR 3220 / 4 credits

Explores various representations of the Holocaust in dramatic and cinematic forms. The focus is on American and Israeli plays by such authors as Arthur Miller and Donald Margulies. Students examine questions of realism, historical truth, and artistic freedom and view Eastern European, American, and German films, including popular Shoah films like Schindler's List, Life is Beautiful, and Sophie's Choice. Also offered as AJS 3220.

Musicals: Stage, Screen, and Beyond

ADR 3255 / 4 credits

Musicals are used as the focus for comparing works of art. Broadway musicals are often based on movies, and vice versa—and both draw from literature. They also generate multiple adaptations, recordings, and broadcasts. Topics include the relationship of theatre and film, use of song and dance, and how similar ideas and stories are handled in different media and eras. Also offered as FTF 3255.

20th-Century World Drama

ADR 3400 / 4 credits

Explores 20th-century world drama from an end-of-the-millennium perspective. Plays are chosen from North America, Africa, Asia, and Europe for cross-cultural thematic investigations. Close reading of the plays, along with class discussions, encourages students to theorize on the inter- and intratextual nuances dramatized in the plays. The emphasis is on students' response to the works, although they are expected to become familiar with various postmodernist theories, including feminist and postcolonial studies. Also offered as FTA 3400.

American Sign Language

AHU 1400 Refer to Language and Culture Courses for description.

Gods, Goddesses, and Demons

AHU 3000 / 4 credits

Gods, goddesses, and demons are resurfacing in these postmodern times. This course explores the moral, spiritual, and emotional relationships among human, divine, and demonic beings in epic spectacles, literary and visual, from a variety of periods and cultures.

Middle Eastern Cultures: Texts and Films

AHU 3020 / 4 credits

Explores the various cultures, geography, and history of the Middle East, including Turkey, Iran, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, and Israel. Some time is also devoted to minorities within a larger context. The selected texts and films raise awareness of human rights issues as well as the political, ethnic, and national complexities of the region. Both fiction and nonfiction works are used.

The Mediterranean Origins of Western Culture

AHU 3025 / 4 credits

Examines the main historical events in the Mediterranean area from late antiquity through the Renaissance. Judaism, Christianity, and Islam were born here, and the diverse peoples and cultures around its shores competed for intellectual and political dominance. These interactions resulted in the legacy of beliefs and institutions at the core of Western culture, including some issues still unresolved today.

Women for Change in the Middle East

AHU 3077 / 4 credits

The Middle East is mired in controversy over basic human rights, particularly in the area of women's rights. A growing number of Muslim and Jewish women artists/activists, living in the Middle East or in the West, have joined the fight for equality. Using film, literature, and theatre, advocates for peace and equality are studied across ethnic, religious, and national lines. Also offered as CSS 3077.

World Religions: An Anatomy of the Sacred

AHU 3110 / 4 credits

"God is dead," Nietzsche famously proclaimed to signal the waning power of religion. In spite of the influence religion exerts, one is reminded of the lack of understanding of the world's major faiths. This course is a study of the origins, evolution, and the traditions of the major and minor religions of the world.

Contemporary Popular Culture

AHU 3160 / 4 credits

Combines readings, viewings, and discussion of various forms of contemporary culture since the mid-1960s, such as popular films and music, design and fashion, architecture, magazines, art, television, and the new imaging technologies. Topics include avant-garde, popular, and mass culture; high and low aesthetics; stereotypes; cultural hierarchy; identity, gender and sexuality, and race and ethnicity; and American concepts of age and class. Also offered as CSO 3160.

Shamanism and Native Cultures

AHU 3175 / 4 credits

An exploration of Native American, Central Asian, and aboriginal Australian testimonies and techniques of shamanic experience and their relationship to other native cultures of the world. The contemporary global contribution of these cultures to ecology and spirituality, together with the challenges faced by native cultures today, are also explored.

Modernism, Media, and the Middle Class

AHU 3180 Refer to CSS 3180 under Social Sciences: General in Social Sciences Courses for description.

Enlightenment East and West

AHU 3200 / 4 credits

Although both ancient Asian and modern Western traditions define an enlightened person as one who is liberated from the bondage of ignorance, they differ in their definitions of the highest human values and of the discipline necessary to attain those values. Special attention is given to the contribution each tradition can make to the search for clarified values.

Spirituality and Nature

AHU 3215 / 4 credits

An exploration of writings, cultural traditions, activities, and lifestyles that involve spiritual interaction with nature. Through appreciating models of nature-consciousness, the goal is to deepen and sustain students' awareness of the natural world, to develop actions and voices for expressing and clarifying that awareness in the present environmental context, and to modify environmentally destructive habits.

Buddhist Ideas and Practice

AHU 3235 / 4 credits

Investigates practical Indian, Tibetan, and Zen teachings and their relationship to meditative practice, somatic awareness, ethical engagement, and personal and collective well-being. Students evaluate how people learn, know, and do what is good, i.e., that which promotes individual and collective health and happiness. The effects and applications of these practices and teachings are also explored.

Religion and Psychology

AHU 3245 / 4 credits

In this study of psychology in relation to religion, students explore the definition of religion, its personal meaning to people, and its social and political meaning in the community. The importance of ritual is discussed, and conversion is examined to understand its meaning. The middle of the course focuses on such theorists as Freud, Jung, and Maslow and the role religion played in their theories. Finally, the role religion and culture play in psychotherapy and the difference between religions and cults are examined. Also offered as BPS 3245.

God's Warriors: Religious Fundamentalism Today

AHU 3270 / 4 credits

Contemporary culture cannot be adequately understood without considering the impact of religious extremism. While other factors play a role, it is religious passions that fuel the jihadist movement in the Islamic world, incite violence in the occupied Palestinian territories, and amplify culture wars between secular and religious forces in the U.S. This course examines the root causes of such cultural phenomena, asking whether fundamentalism can exist in modern society without leading to bloodshed.

Mass Media: A Cultural History

AHU 3325 Refer to CSS 3325 under Communications in Social Sciences Courses for description.

Lights, Camera, God: Religion in the Movies

AHU 3340 Refer to FTF 3340 under Film/Media Studies in Performing and Visual Arts Courses for description.

Healing and the Arts: Indo-Tibetan Traditions

AHU 3390 / 4 credits

Indian and Tibetan traditional arts evolved from ancient techniques for rebalancing natural energies through aesthetic experience and awareness. Students explore these traditional musical, visual, literary, theatrical, and ritual arts and the meditative philosophies behind them. The course also observes techniques of current practitioners and relates them to practices cultivated by traditional healers for living in harmony with nature and attuning to the elemental energies of life.

Law, Ethics, and the Media

AHU 3755 / 4 credits

The First Amendment allows the mass media certain freedoms to publish, broadcast, advertise, and promote. Yet with those rights come responsibilities. This course examines the legal and ethical dimensions and issues involved with contemporary American mass media. Also offered as CSS 3755.

Senior Capstone

AHU 4800 / 4 credits

An intensive research and writing course, completed on the Purchase campus and culminating in a significant biographical research paper. Also offered as CSS 4800.

Jewish Studies Courses

Holocaust Theatre and Film

AJS 3220 Refer to ADR 3220 in Humanities: General Courses for description.

Holocaust Memoir and Diary

AJS 3285 / 4 credits

Holocaust scholar Lawrence Langer asks, "To whom shall we entrust the custody of the public memory of the Holocaust?" This course examines eyewitness testimony produced either during or after the Holocaust. Students read works by such authors as Elie Wiesel, Primo Levi, Kazik (Simha Rotem), Emanuel Ringelblum, Anne Frank, and Hanna Senesh, a true Jewish Joan of Arc. Also offered as ALI 3285.

Journalism Courses

Journalism I

AJO 2515 Refer to JOU 2515 in Journalism Courses (School of Humanities) for description.

Writing for the Mass Media

AJO 3305 / 4 credits

Writing for the mass media builds on the ability to tell a story about an event, person, or situation and present it to a wide and varied audience. In this course, students learn to differentiate between content produced for informational, visual (print, television, and online), audio (radio), and multimedia outlets as well as how to create content for each of them. Also offered as CSS 3305.

Media Literacy

AJO 3315 / 4 credits

Media literacy encompasses the ability to access, analyze, evaluate, and create media. In this course, students learn to critically examine visual, audio, and online media while gaining an understanding of the media's effect on culture and society. Also offered as CSS 3315.

Language and Culture CoursesAmerican Sign Language I

AHU 1400 / 4 credits

A comprehensive introduction to American Sign Language (ASL), beginning with a focus on the linguistic aspects of ASL, including syntax, facial expression, vocabulary, and the manual alphabet. Students progress to conversational signing and finger spelling and develop an ability to communicate on a beginning level.

Basic French I

AFR 1030 / 4 credits

For students who have had little or no previous exposure to the language. Presents the essential structures of spoken and written French by involving the student in situations that concretely represent the concepts of the language.

Basic French II

AFR 1035 / 4 credits

A continuation of AFR 1030. Increased time is devoted to reading and writing. The development of oral skills remains the primary objective of the course.

Basic Italian I

AIT 1010 / 4 credits

Designed for students with little or no previous exposure to the language. The method used presents the essential structures of spoken and written Italian by involving students in situations that concretely represent the concepts of the language.

Basic Italian II

AIT 1060 / 4 credits

In this continuation of AIT 1010, more attention is given to listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills. Emphasis is placed on oral work, using material from students' everyday experiences and activities.

Basic Spanish I

ASP 1030 / 4 credits

Designed for students with little or no previous exposure to the language. Attention is given to listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills. Emphasis is placed on oral work, using material from students' everyday experiences and activities.

Basic Spanish II

ASP 1040 / 4 credits

In this continuation of ASP 1030, more attention is given to listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills. Emphasis is placed on oral work, using material from students' everyday experiences and activities.

Literature CoursesModern American Short Stories

ALI 3070 / 4 credits

Concise and focused, the short story has been a lens through which Americans have explored their identities. Stories written in the last 25 years examine the changing sense of what being an American means.

History and Memory: Literature and Films of Atrocity

ALI 3085 / 4 credits

Students study historic accounts, memoirs, diaries, and cinematic depictions of such atrocities as the Jewish Holocaust, Armenian and Rwandan genocides, Stalinist and South African purges, and Cambodian massacres. Genocide and mass murder are dissected by considering the causes, methods, aftermath, and possibly the lessons learned. Also offered as FTF 3085.

Frontline Reporting: Global Conflict

ALI 3086 / 4 credits

The past century saw two world wars and countless smaller, armed conflagrations over land, political influence, and ancient hatreds. This course focuses on a variety of post-World War II conflicts as reported by international journalists. Students learn about the atrocities in Bosnia, the Middle East, and Africa, among others, but most of all, they learn how war and conflict are reported. Also offered as FTF 3086.

Teenagers in Literature and Film

ALI 3110 / 4 credits

Whether finding a prom date or a lunch table, or dealing with the problems of puberty, the anxiety of being a teenager is a nearly universal experience. Writers and filmmakers use adolescence in their work as a way to connect to their audience through common and accessible themes. This course traces the pervasive themes of the teenage experience in film and literature. Also offered as FTF 3110.

Modern American Poetry

ALI 3170 / 4 credits

Modern and contemporary American poetry is studied with an emphasis on craft and the creative process. Poets include T.S. Eliot, Wallace Stevens, Robert Frost, and Sylvia Plath, among others. Attention is given to the imagery, structure, and sound patterns (or “music”) of the poems. Poetry writers are encouraged to enroll, and anyone interested in poetry is welcome.

Shakespeare’s History Plays

ALI 3195 / 4 credits

Neither comic nor tragic, but with elements of both comedy and tragedy, Shakespeare’s history plays stage the recent past, the era leading up to his lifetime. In this course, students read a sequence of history plays—Richard II and Henry IV, part I and II—with an eye to the ways they explore such characteristic Shakespearean concerns as the meaning of acting, the nature of kingship, and the development of a modern political world.

20th-Century World Literature

ALI 3205 / 4 credits

World literature of the 20th century is considered as it reflects and generates discussion of national and international boundaries, politics, religion, freedom, nationalism, sexuality, gender, and identity. Its diverse riches are experienced in this course through a broad cross-section of contemporary writings, including short stories, by international and American authors. Readings facilitate discussion of the global mosaic of social norms and values and the diversity of global literary tradition.

Holocaust Memoir and Diary

ALI 3285 Refer to AJS 3285 in Journalism Courses for description.

Love in Literature

ALI 3360 / 4 credits

From Adam and Eve to the present, numerous authors have written about love. In this course, students examine forms and expressions of both romantic and erotic love in Western literature, from the Bible and ancient Greeks to Bob Dylan. Writers studied include Shakespeare, Emily Brontë, Joyce, F. Scott Fitzgerald, and Nabokov, in addition to love poems, recent American short stories, and more.

Modern American Literature

ALI 3370 / 4 credits

A survey of the writings of representative American literary figures of the last 100 years. This course places these writers in the continuum of American literary development and examines their responses to the intellectual, moral, and social currents of the period.

Short Fiction

ALI 3400 / 4 credits

An examination of the “middle genre,” encompassing the novella and the short novel. Readings provide ample opportunity to sample works embodying the intensity of short fiction and some of the expanded characterization and plot development of the novel. Readings include works by several significant 19th- and 20th-century authors from many countries.

East–West: Film and Literature of Cultural Formation

ALI 3415 / 4 credits

Students explore contemporary literary and cinematic expressions of immigrant groups seeking acceptance in Western cultures. The focus is on issues related to assimilation, identity, and the reactions of the Western mainstream cultures as outside forces compete for recognition. The immigrant groups depicted include those originating in Southeast Asia, China, Africa, and the Middle East. Also offered as FTF 3415.

The Modern Short Story

ALI 3450 / 4 credits

The short story, often regarded as merely “introductory” or as a lesser sibling of the novel, is considered as a distinctively literary form. From this perspective, students carefully read representative classics and contemporary works as they dramatize compelling questions of religious, sexual, and racial identity.

The Literature of Popular Culture

ALI 3455 / 4 credits

One way of identifying themes and conflicts central to American popular culture is to analyze its icons as characters and its events as scenes in a collective narrative that tells the culture’s story. This course explores how literary theories can help people construct alternate interpretations of popular films, songs, and television shows. Students also examine the manipulation of language and symbolism in such media as political commercials and local news programs. Readings include excerpts from best-selling novels and essays by cultural commentators.

Gothic Literature

ALI 3497 / 4 credits

Addresses the question “What is the gothic?” by tracing such themes as horror, imprisonment, madness, vampires, and ghosts in literature and film from the late 18th century to the present. Readings in such Gothic classics as The Castle of Otranto, Northanger Abbey, and The Turn of the Screw are complemented by the viewing of such films as The Bride of Frankenstein.

New York City: Society in Literature

ALI 3630 / 4 credits

An examination of the historical and cultural intersections of New York City and literature. Students study a wide range of writers who have been inspired by the city and analyze their work in relationship to its historical context. The city is examined through a literary lens, from its beginnings through its rise in global influence to the post-9/11 era. Also offered as CSS 3630.

Literature and Film of the '60s: The Age of AquariusALI 3680 / 4 credits

With its attacks on modernity, technology, government, and everything having to do with “the system,” the 1960s was a decade of revolutionary ferment. Many of the concerns that fueled this unrest remain alive in today’s society. The course addresses this decade of rebellion, resistance, and disruption through readings and viewings of representative films.

Modern PoetryALI 3855 / 4 credits

This course begins with modern poetic texts of the 19th century and considers Hopkins, Yeats, Frost, Eliot, Stevens, Williams, Crane, Auden, Bishop, Hughes, Plath, Ginsberg, and others. Some academic experience with poetry is useful for all students; poetry writers are also encouraged to enroll.

Philosophy CoursesIntroduction to Philosophy: Ideas of Human Nature*APH 1540 Refer to PHI 1540 in Philosophy Courses (School of Humanities) for description.Methods of Reasoning*APH 2120 Refer to PHI 2120 in Philosophy Courses (School of Humanities) for description.History of Western Ideas*APH 3020 / 4 credits

The history of Western ideas is traced from their inception in the ancient world to their culmination in contemporary culture. Students read seminal works spanning a broad historical setting, beginning with the ancient world of the Bible and Greek philosophy. The course covers noted movements in Western history, including the Medieval period, the Reformation, the Renaissance, the Scientific Revolution, the Industrial Revolution, the Enlightenment, and postmodernism.

Understanding Moral ProblemsAPH 3350 / 4 credits

Representative problems of business, legal, medical, environmental, and personal ethics (e.g., violence, discrimination, capital punishment, abortion, euthanasia, conservation, sexual morality) are covered. Emphasis is placed on learning to think about and discuss these issues clearly and objectively, rather than on abstract ethical theories.

Philosophy, Culture, and the MediaAPH 3645 / 4 credits

An examination of what it means—aesthetically, socially, and existentially—to live in a 21st-century world pervaded by electronic and digital technologies. How do these technologies and practices shape people’s beliefs and knowledge about the world? How do they shape moral and social values? Is the Internet good for human beings? Readings from selected philosophers and media theorists.

Writing CoursesCollege Writing*AWR 1100 / 4 credits

Students are guided through the writing process: rehearsing, drafting, conferring, revising, and editing. The course combines informal writing activities (e.g., journal writing, free writing) with more formal assignments, such as a research paper. Students are encouraged to discover their own “voices” and to write clearly and effectively about a given topic or reading assignment.

Fiction Writing WorkshopAWR 2030 / 4 credits

A workshop for beginning writers, with an emphasis on finding story ideas, beginning and ending narratives, creating plot and conflict, developing characters, controlling voice and point of view, and handling narration. Students read, discuss, and revise their work regularly. Individual requirements are developed with the instructor, who reviews and evaluates each writer’s work. AWR 2030 and 3030 meet together.

Creative Writing Workshop

(Beginning, Intermediate/Advanced)

AWR 2120 and 3120 / 4 credits (per semester)

This course allows students to explore various genres, including poetry, the short story, and the memoir. Students should be prepared to write, revise, and share portions of their work with the class and to read a selection of works by contemporary authors.

Poetry Writing Workshop

(Beginning, Intermediate/Advanced)

AWR 2160 and 3160 / 4 credits (per semester)

Focusing on the process of writing poetry, this course facilitates writing new work and sharpening revision skills. Students read contemporary poetry, participate in writing exercises, explore the writer’s craft, critique poems, and discuss the road to publication.

Creative Nonfiction

(Beginning, Intermediate/Advanced)

AWR 2260 and 3260 / 4 credits (per semester)

Students examine how experience, research, and imagination are integrated in this evolving genre. Discussions focus on traditional published works and those that play with the boundaries of the nonfiction, integrating traditional styles to create new ones. Students analyze one another’s attempts to artfully place the subjective in the context of the larger world and create their own original works.

True Stories: The Craft of Memoir

(Beginning, Intermediate/Advanced)

AWR 2350 and 3350 / 4 credits (per semester)

Students learn how to examine and write their own stories through in-class exercises and discussion of both student and published work. Beginning writers, as well as those with a particular project in mind, learn how to place their stories in the larger context of the world and employ storytelling techniques, including imagery, voice, dialogue, and character development.

Advanced Fiction Writing WorkshopAWR 3030 / 4 credits

For fiction writers with some experience. Students read and discuss their work regularly and revise their stories. Specific requirements are developed with the instructor, but writers normally work on at least two stories during the term or on a longer project (a novella or novel). The instructor periodically reviews and evaluates each writer's work. AWR 2030 and 3030 meet together.

Biology CoursesHuman Anatomy and Physiology*BBI 1510 / 4 credits / Summer

Introduction to the organ systems of the human body, including the neuromuscular, skeletal, cardiovascular, respiratory, renal, and digestive systems. The physiological mechanisms of adaptation to exercise are also considered.

Human Physiology and NutritionBBI 1520 / 4 credits / Summer

Introduction to the human body, emphasizing general physiological processes. The body is studied from the viewpoint of homeostasis, concentrating on the relationship of food to the functioning living organism in health and disease. Topics of current interest, controversies, and myths are highlighted. BBI 1510 is not a prerequisite for BBI 1520.

General Biology IBBI 1550 / 4 credits / Summer

Introduction to contemporary biology, covering cell structure and function, genetics, development, and molecular biology. This course is intended for science majors and premedical students; students with limited high school science and mathematics can satisfy college distribution requirements with other course options. General Biology I and II may be taken in either order.

Corequisite for Purchase College premedical students, biology majors, biochemistry majors, and environmental studies majors: BIO 1551

General Biology I LabBBI 1551 / 1.5 credits / Summer

Lab exercises on cell organization, cell division, genetics, enzyme kinetics, photosynthesis, and development, and the use of light microscopes, spectrophotometer, and chromatography. Required for Purchase College premedical students, biology majors, biochemistry majors, and environmental studies majors.

General Biology IIBBI 1560 / 4 credits / Summer

Introduction to contemporary biology, covering plant and animal morphology and physiology, ecology, behavior, and evolution. This course is intended for science majors and premedical students; students with limited high school science and mathematics can satisfy college distribution requirements with other course options. General Biology I and II may be taken in either order.

Corequisite for Purchase College premedical students, biology majors, and environmental studies majors: BIO 1561

General Biology II LabBBI 1561 / 1.5 credits / Summer

Vertebrate anatomy and physiology, and examination of selected plant and animal phyla through lab exercises, experiments, and field trips. Required for Purchase College premedical students, biology majors, and environmental studies majors.

Chemistry CoursesGeneral Chemistry I*BCH 1550 / 4 credits / Summer

The principles and applications of chemistry. Topics include the development of an atomic/molecular model, stoichiometry, interaction of light with matter, and the physical behavior of solids, liquids, and gases. The lab is optional.

Prerequisite: High school algebra or its equivalent

General Chemistry I LabBCH 1551 / 1 credit / Summer

Basic techniques in synthetic and analytical chemistry. Students must bring a $5 security deposit for their lab drawer key to the first class.

Corequisite: BCH 1550

General Chemistry IIBCH 1560 / 4 credits / Summer

A continuation of BCH 1550. Topics include chemical kinetics and equilibrium, electrochemistry, thermodynamics, acids and bases, and the chemistry of representative elements. The lab is optional.

Prerequisite: BCH 1550General Chemistry II Lab*BCH 1561 / 1 credit / Summer

Basic techniques in analytical and synthetic chemistry. Students must bring a $5 security deposit for their lab drawer key to the first class.

Corequisite: BCH 1560Computer Science Courses*Computer Science I*BMA 1520 / 4 credits

An introduction to problem solving, using computers. Emphasis is on programming, including the study of syntax, semantics, logical structures, graphics, and object-oriented programming. General topics of algorithm development, formulating problems, finding methods for computer solutions, differences among computer languages, and trends in the industry are also discussed. Experience is acquired through hands-on labs and several programming assignments.

Creating Web DocumentsBMA 2730 / 4 credits

Interactive online media like the World Wide Web have revolutionized the way people communicate. Students who are familiar with computers and the Internet are introduced to tools and techniques for creating interactive documents. Topics include HTML authoring, Cascading Style Sheets, scripting languages, interaction techniques, data retrieval, and incorporating sound, video, and images in documents.

Environmental Studies CoursesWorld of Weather:*Introduction to Meteorology and Global Weather Patterns*BEN 1100 / 4 credits

An introduction to the basic concepts of meteorology: radiation budget, weather elements, atmospheric stability, general circulation, frontal systems, surface and upper-air weather maps, and the basics of weather forecasting. Students are also introduced to modern weather display systems using audiovisual support (e.g., computer-generated graphics and Internet weather services).

Introduction to Environmental ScienceBEN 1500 / 4 credits

A survey of the physical, biological, and cultural dimensions of current and past environmental problems. The nature of scientific inquiry and principles that apply to the study of the environment are covered, with emphasis on developing facility in interpreting environmental data.

The World Beneath the Waves:Exploring Physical Oceanography*BEN 1545 / 4 credits

An exploratory course for nonscience students that examines physical aspects of the world's oceans and the role of the oceans in the earth-atmosphere-ocean system. Topics include the history of the science of oceanography, geomorphology and topography of the ocean bottom, continental drift, sedimentation, physical and chemical properties of sea water, ocean heat budget, surface currents, and coastal processes.

Mathematics CoursesMathematics for Contemporary Life*BMA 1060 Refer to MAT 1060 in Mathematics Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.Precalculus*BMA 1150 Refer to MAT 1150 in Mathematics Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.Prerequisite: Math fluencyCalculus I*BMA 1500 / 4 credits

The basic concepts of the differential and integral calculus. Focus is on the applicability of these topics to an array of problems.

Prerequisite: BMA 1150 or equivalentCalculus II*BMA 1510 / 4 credits

A continuation of BMA 1500. Topics include differentiation and integration of logarithmic, exponential, and inverse trigonometric functions; techniques of integration; arc length; infinite series; and improper integrals. Applications include work, growth, and decay problems and volumes of solids of revolution.

Prerequisite: BMA 1500 or equivalentStatistics*BNS 2400 Refer to Natural Sciences: General Courses for description.

Natural Sciences: General Courses

The Search for Life in the Universe

BNS 1120 / 4 credits

Explore the nature of life, examine the history of life on Earth, look for life among the rocky planets and icy moons of our solar system, hunt for extrasolar planets, and join in the Search for Extraterrestrial Intelligence (SETI). Are we alone in the universe?

Should I Eat That?: The Science of Food Safety

BNS 1300 / 4 credits

People deal with food safety on a daily basis; it affects how long they cook meat, whether they eat raw cookie batter, and if they eat food that has fallen on the floor. Students examine microbial and chemical agents that contaminate the food supply, learn practical considerations for preventing food contamination, and explore the politics of food regulation.

Astronomy: Exploring the Universe

BNS 2050 / 4 credits

Using the theory of stellar structure and evolution as a springboard, students explore other aspects of astronomy, like planet formation, the origin of elements, interstellar matter, and the structure and nature of galaxies and quasars. The observational basis of astronomy and its relationship to currently accepted theories are emphasized. Because astronomy is an exact science, some quantitative investigations are required.

Statistics

BNS 2400 / 4 credits

This introduction to data analysis includes both descriptive and inferential statistics. Descriptive statistics covers introductory data analysis and measures of central tendency, dispersion, and association. Inferential statistics covers probability, hypothesis testing, sampling, and population distribution and their use in conducting T-tests and one-way ANOVAs. The theory and technique of linear regression and its applications, forecasting, and discriminant analysis are also presented. Some statistical applications are explored in an on-campus computer lab during class hours.

Prerequisite: High school algebra or equivalent

Social Psychological Theory Applied Through Film

BNS 3450 Refer to FTF 3450 under Film/Media Studies in Performing and Visual Arts Courses.

Psychology of Personal and Social Change

BNS 3525 / 4 credits

Focuses on personal development by exploring theoretical foundations of and practical techniques for the integration of body, mind, and spirit. Self-awareness skills are enhanced, and strategies that facilitate personal growth within the contexts of family, community, and the world are examined. Students study mainstream psychological theory and practice, as well as Eastern and Western philosophical and spiritual traditions, using didactic, interactive, and experiential modalities. Also offered as CSO 3525.

Psychology Courses

Introduction to Psychology

BPS 1530 Refer to PSY 1530 in Psychology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description. BPS 1530 is not a prerequisite for upper-level psychology courses offered by the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education (i.e., those with BPS prefixes), unless noted in the course description.

Behavioral Statistics

BPS 2320 Refer to PSY 2320 in Psychology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description. There is no prerequisite for BPS 2320.

Drugs and Behavior

BPS 2350 Refer to PSY 2350 in Psychology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.

Adolescent Psychology

BPS 2500 Refer to PSY 2500 in Psychology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.

Child Development

BPS 2650 Refer to PSY 2650 in Psychology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description. BPS 2650 may serve as a prerequisite for upper-level developmental psychology courses. Credit will not be given for both BPS 2650 and BPS 3350.

Abnormal Psychology

BPS 3100 Refer to PSY 3100 in Psychology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description. There is no prerequisite for BPS 3100.

Psychological Perspectives on the Self

BPS 3120 Refer to PSY 3120 in Psychology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description. There is no prerequisite for BPS 3120.

Sports Psychology

BPS 3130 Refer to PSY 3130 in Psychology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.

Prerequisite: BPS 1530 or equivalent

Industrial and Organizational Psychology

BPS 3140 / 4 credits

An introduction to the scientific study and professional application of psychological concepts and principles to the workplace. Students explore the science and practice of industrial and organizational psychology in all phases of working life, including job analysis, selection, training and development, performance management, organizational development, teamwork, motivation, work stress, and leadership.

Also offered as CBU 3140.

Religion and Psychology

BPS 3245 Refer to AHU 3245 under Humanities: General in Humanities Courses for description.

Health Psychology

BPS 3300 / 4 credits

An introduction to the theoretical and clinical foundations of the emerging field of health psychology. Explores contemporary approaches to the promotion of health and well-being from a multidisciplinary framework and sociocultural perspectives. Topics include co-morbidity factors (depression, anxiety) as they affect health outcomes; obstacles to health promotion, such as nonadherence; and quality of life with respect to chronic medical and mental health problems.

Cross-Cultural Psychology

BPS 3301 Refer to PSY 3300 in Psychology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.

Prerequisite: BPS 1530 or equivalent

Cognitive Development

BPS 3345 Refer to PSY 3345 in Psychology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description. There is no prerequisite for BPS 3345.

Developmental Psychology

BPS 3350 / 4 credits

A study of human development from infancy through childhood, with particular emphasis on social interaction, cognition, language, play, and representational activity. Because of their interchangeability, credit is not given for both BPS 3350 and PSY 2650/Child Development (offered by the School of Natural and Social Sciences).

Advanced Psychology of Communication

BPS 3369 / 4 credits

This course focuses on understanding communication in relationships (interpersonal) and within the mind (intrapsychic: thinking, alone time, analyzing, understanding the external world and how one communicates internally). Topics include communication styles and communication in the intimate relationship, within the family, and at the workplace. Also offered as CSS 3369.

Social Psychological Theory Applied Through Film

BNS 3450 Refer to FTF 3450 under Film/Media Studies in Performing and Visual Arts Courses.

Educational Psychology

BPS 3460 / 4 credits

Psychological themes, together with cognitive and social-emotional development, are studied in the context of the education environment. Emphasis is on the role of emotional climate in the classroom and its overall relationship to learning. Student variability (e.g., attention deficit disorder, learning disabilities, autistic spectrum disorders) is evaluated. Sociological and legal issues pertinent to today's classroom are also examined.

Psychology of Personal and Social Change

BNS 3525 Refer to Natural Sciences: General Courses for description.

Forensic Psychology

BPS 3540 / 4 credits

Hone critical thinking and evaluative skills in examining data, evidence, and assumptions underlying the judicial process and the application of psychological principles. Study the research and clinical practice of forensic psychology in both civil and criminal law-enforcement settings. Examine the training, roles, and responsibilities of forensic psychologists along with methods of interrogation, criminal profiling, and investigation.

Psychology of Death and Dying

BPS 3550 / 4 credits

Topics include attitudes toward the dying and the bereaved, the psychological stages of death, institutional settings of death and dying, insights from survivors of life-threatening illnesses or experiences, the impact of death on the individual and family, and the social functions of grief and mourning. Different types of death, death at different ages, euthanasia, and violent death are also examined.

Experimental Psychology

BPS 3551 Refer to PSY 3550 in Psychology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.

Prerequisite: BPS or PSY 1530 and 2320 and a third course in psychology, with a grade of C+ or higher in each

Multiple Intelligences

BPS 3680 / 4 credits

The theory of multiple intelligences suggests that there are several distinct forms of intelligence. This course examines the initial interest in interspecies differences, followed by a critical look at the use of intelligence tests as classification tools and predictors of academic success. Students explore different forms of intelligence and ways of teaching children, and work with schoolchildren to study one form of intelligence.

Personality Assessment

BPS 3690 Refer to PSY 3690 in Psychology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.

Prerequisite: BPS 1530 or equivalent

Child Psychopathology

BPS 3720 / 4 credits

Addresses early and profound deviations in infancy, childhood schizophrenia, and organic disturbances, as well as the theoretical work of Stern and Mahler on the concept of self. Other topics include depression and the consequences of loss, pathologies of initiative and early socialization, neurotic process and issues of excessive/inadequate control, mental retardation, neglect and abuse, and developmental issues around cultural/ethnic differences.

Counseling and Psychotherapy

BPS 3730 / 4 credits

A study of the basic theories and their applications in counseling and psychotherapy. Theories studied include behavior therapy; drug therapy; interpersonal psychotherapy; psychoanalysis; and group, art, movement, and the "newer" therapies. Variations on the above as applied to different clinical populations are emphasized, as are issues of research and ethics in counseling and psychotherapeutic practice.

Psychology of Aging

BPS 3750 / 4 credits

Based on changes occurring throughout life-span developmental psychology, this course evaluates what is myth, stereotype, potential, and reality about old age. Students examine the theoretical and empirical developments in such areas as psychosocial functioning, including identity and personality development; cultural norms and expectations, including role and status changes; physical and intellectual change; death and dying; and health nutrition.

Psychology of Personality

BPS 3760 Refer to PSY 3760 in Psychology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.

Prerequisite: BPS 1530 or equivalent

Social Psychology

BPS 3860 Refer to PSY 3860 in Psychology Courses (School of Natural and Social Sciences) for description.

Body Art and Modification

CAN 3480 / 4 credits

The body is adorned, manipulated, and modified in both Western and non-Western societies. Forms of alteration, which include dressing, body sculpture, plastic surgery, infibulation (piercing), cicatrization (scarification), and tattooing, are examined sociologically, culturally, and historically. The symbolic and mythic associations of body modification are also explored as mechanisms of social communication that help define aesthetic and cultural meanings and perceptions.

Business Courses

The Internet and Business

CBU 3060 / 4 credits

Students examine the impact of the Internet on business and develop a solid foundation for evaluating current and future Internet business applications. Topics include Internet businesses; the impact of the Internet on traditional businesses, including Internet marketing, customer relationship management, and virtual workplaces; information businesses (music, software, movies, news); and global issues (outsourcing, offshoring).

Entrepreneurship/Business Planning

CBU 3120 / 4 credits

The components of writing a successful business plan are explored. Topics include barriers to market entry and capital procurement, competitive analysis and strategic planning, market pricing and promotion, and management issues and other operational factors. The writing of an actual business plan is part of the process.

Introduction to Mass Media and Communications

CSO 1540 / 4 credits

The history and impact of communication technologies are examined, beginning with speech and moving forward through print and digital media, advertising and public relations, media regulation and potential, and ending with a consideration of the future.

Public Speaking

CSS 2280 / 4 credits

Students develop expertise in public speaking by preparing and presenting different types of speeches for a variety of purposes. The focus is on the main elements of planning and delivering a speech: the message, the speaker, the audience, and the occasion. All speeches are critiqued in class. As an integral part of the course, students learn PowerPoint.

Mass Media: A Cultural HistoryCSS 3325 / 4 credits

An interdisciplinary (social science and humanities) course that emphasizes critical thinking in understanding the social and historical effects of mass media in the U.S. and throughout the world. This course begins in 19th-century America, when print media shaped and defined the national culture, and concludes in the current century with the mass-media convergence of print, electronic, and digital multimedia that is shaping and defining our global culture. Also offered as AHU 3325.

Management and CommunicationCSS 3335 / 4 credits

The roles and theories of communication and leadership, together with the skills and traits of effective managers, are studied. Students examine how managers use behavioral modification and motivation techniques, develop coaching skills, manage change and conflict, and create a vision for their employees. The topics of strategy, organizational culture, and diversity are also included.

Introduction to Criminal LawCSO 1510 / 4 credits

Topics include the structure of the criminal justice system; the impact of the Supreme Court on criminal justice; and the process of arrest, prosecution, and sentencing.

Introduction to Civil LawCSO 1590 / 4 credits

An exploration of the day-to-day applications of civil law: who can sue and be sued, the basis for lawsuits, and how to win cases. Through case studies and mock litigation, students explore such issues as product liability, medical malpractice, negligence, strict liability, and legal procedure, including document production and the use of expert witnesses.

Conflict ResolutionCSO 3010 / 4 credits

An introduction to dispute resolution techniques (negotiation, mediation, arbitration) increasingly used in the courts as alternatives to the trial process and in schools and communities to resolve personal, social, and political conflicts. Procedures like mini-trials, early neutral evaluation, and settlement conferences are also covered. Students develop dispute-resolution skills while practicing in structured role-play.

Legal ResearchCSO 3065 / 4 credits

Students learn how to research the law and assess both its impact and effectiveness through research projects on the impact of law in a range of areas (e.g., consumer rights; the rights of women, students, minorities, and aliens; the rights of both the accused and the victims of crime).

The Supreme Court and Civil LibertiesCSO 3205 / 4 credits

Focuses on major Supreme Court decisions pertaining to civil liberties. Cases dealing with the broad issue of privacy are examined, including those concerned with free speech, reproduction, and sexual preference. Students gain a better understanding of the current state of the law on major civil liberties issues and a better grasp of how Supreme Court decisions affect everyday life.

Anatomy of a Trial and the Jury ProcessCSO 3210 / 4 credits

Topics include the mechanism of the U.S. jury system; the truth-seeking process of juries; the concepts of mistrials, jury nullification, and hung juries; and a consideration of whether trial by jury is the best method for attaining justice. Students participate in a week-by-week mock trial, permitting hands-on experience in jury selection, opening statements, cross-examination, and summation.

Current Social Issues and the LawCSO 3300 / 4 credits

Focuses on current legal issues such as abortion, the death penalty, and affirmative action. The pivotal Supreme Court cases establishing the law in each area are read. In addition, research in sociology and psychology is examined to understand the conditions that led to the key court decisions and the impact of those decisions on society.

Juvenile Delinquency and the LawCSO 3460 / 4 credits

Examines the causes and controls of juvenile delinquency. Topics include a historical overview of children, their legal status, the evolution of the juvenile justice system, alternatives to incarceration and community-based solutions, and reform efforts. The effectiveness of prevention and deterrence efforts is evaluated.

Law and the FamilyCSO 3475 / 4 credits

The law touches everyone from conception to the grave and beyond. Family interactions between spouses, parents, children, and elders are dictated by rights and duties defined in the law. This course explores how the law weaves in and out of family structures in an attempt to protect and preserve certain rights and values.

Censorship: Sociological and Legal PerspectivesCSO 3481 / 4 credits

Sociologists have long understood that the study of censorship can yield an understanding of the structure and values of a society. Modern societies define and enforce limits on expression by defining certain forms of expression as "obscene," "pornographic," "subversive," etc. Censorship in film, literature, and theatre is the major focus.

Crime and DelinquencyCSO 3550 / 4 credits

Crime and delinquency are analyzed as social phenomena, and their relationship to various social institutions is examined. Students are also given an overview of the theories of crime causation, as well as the nature and role of the police, courts, and prisons in society.

Sexual Assault: The Courts and Society TodayCSO 3655 / 4 credits

Students examine the different types of sexual assault; the effects on victims, their families, and society; and the legal process unique to sexual assault prosecutions. Topics include legal protection for special victims; motivation of criminals; date rape, domestic violence, and battered women's syndrome; and crimes against children. The roles of investigators, doctors, forensic scientists, district attorneys, judges, experts, and psychological counselors are also analyzed.

The Law and FilmCSS 3055 / 4 credits

An examination of how law functions (or malfunctions), using contemporary films to illustrate the U.S. criminal justice system. Students review a series of films and compare them to literature and contemporary realities. Topics include arrest, interrogation, and the right to an attorney; preparation for trial and jury selection; the conduct of a trial, including opening statements, examinations and cross-examinations of witnesses, and sentencing; and imprisonment. Also offered as FTF 3055.

Cyberspace Law

CSS 3375 / 4 credits

The existence of the Internet has significantly changed the way people live and work and has presented interesting legal questions and challenges. This course examines some of these questions, ranging from what it means to click on an "I Agree" button to where one "is" (in legal terms) on the Internet. Topics include privacy issues, cybercrime, and recent case law.

Environmental Law

CSS 3385 / 4 credits

U.S. environmental law and policy, the common-law foundations of environmental law, and the regulatory process and toolkit are examined. The focus is on major environmental statutes: the National Environmental Policy Act, the Clean Air Act, the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, the Comprehensive Environmental Response, the Compensation and Recovery Act (Superfund), and the Safe Drinking Water Act.

Immigration Law

CSS 3390 / 4 credits

Issues related to immigration law are placed in context by reviewing their historical evolution. Students examine current law and issues related to family and labor-based petitions for permanent residence, political asylum and refugee applications, the status of undocumented workers, immigration and national security, and deportation policies and procedures.

Law, Order, and Disobedience

CSS 3420 / 4 credits

Protection of civil rights in the U.S. has been characterized by both civil disobedience and widespread violence. This course analyzes milestones in American history, periods of unrest, and the sociolegal changes associated with them. Landmark constitutional cases, law, and justice in U.S. culture are studied, and historical lawbreakers and high-profile dissidents are examined through various media.

White-Collar Crime

CSS 3530 / 4 credits

White-collar criminality, the law of economic crime, and political crimes associated with white-collar crime are investigated through the lens of class and privilege. Students compare traditional and white-collar crimes, including organized crime, and associated prosecutions such as conspiracy, mail fraud, racketeer influenced and corrupt organizations (RICO), money laundering, corporate criminal liability, and fraud upon financial institutions and against the government.

Gender and the Law

CSS 3727 / 4 credits

Focuses on the evolution of the law in regard to gender-related issues, including sexual harassment in the workplace, gender discrimination in employment, and reproductive rights. Readings include key Supreme Court cases that have shaped the law concerning gender. A background in law is not required.

Capital Punishment in America

CSS 3729 / 4 credits

An examination of the historical, moral, and legal issues surrounding the death penalty. Students confront the major controversial issues in the current death penalty debate and learn to form arguments from both the pro- and anti-death penalty perspectives. Topics include retribution, deterrence, proportionality, discrimination, error, and public opinion. Students analyze Supreme Court decisions and scholarly treatments of capital punishment.

Substance Abuse and Addiction

CSS 3130 / 4 credits

What contributes to addictive personalities and behaviors related to alcohol and/or chemical dependency? Through lectures, independent research, and special events, students learn about systems of treatment and the critical judgments involved in referrals, gain an understanding of addiction and the resulting behaviors, and evaluate the impact of these behaviors on the family, society, and self.

Modernism, Media, and the Middle Class

CSS 3180 / 4 credits

Charles Morazé, in The Triumph of the Middle Classes, describes the political and social history of the bourgeoisie during the 19th century. This course traces themes from Morazé through the 20th century, with attention to how the middle class sees itself through art, literature, film, advertising, and television. Also offered as AHU 3180.

The Politics of Green

CSS 3383 / 4 credits

Political ecology is an interdisciplinary discipline that connects politics and economy to problems of environmental control and ecological change. This course examines the essentials of political ecology: its history and emergence, its conceptual and methodological challenges, major questions that it has answered to varying degrees, and major challenges that face the field now and in the future.

Racial InequalitiesCSO 3430 / 4 credits

Given the ethnic complexity of society, major social institutions—including education, criminal justice, health care, social services, and business—face many challenges. This course explores the past, present, and future of race and ethnicity in American society, and how immigration, culture, religion, education, and income play parts in prejudice, discrimination, and racial inequalities.

Psychology of Personal and Social ChangeCSO 3525 Refer to BNS 3525 under Natural Sciences: General in Natural Sciences Courses for description.Sociology of the Family*CSO 3605 / 4 credits

The intersections between families and other U.S. social institutions, with emphasis on recent social/political debates about the meaning of the family. Examines issues of race, ethnicity, class, gender, and sexualities, and connections between these issues and the experiences and understandings of family life. Other topics include previous U.S. family forms, historical relationships between the government and families, and current economic stresses, especially tensions between work and family life.

Sociology of GenderCSO 3610 / 4 credits

Students investigate how gender interfaces with the media, the family, and other social institutions. Readings and discussions examine the organization and meaning of gender in contemporary society. Topics include gender theory, sexuality, the meaning of transgender, and the organization of gender in different cultures.

Studies in VictimologyCSO 3650 / 4 credits

Focuses on the central character in a criminal act—the victim. Objectives include understanding victimization and learning how to offer a victim real help. Diverse reactions are analyzed and various forms of practical help are examined. Special attention is given to such crimes as sexual assault and the various categories of abuse (child, adolescent, elder, parental, and spousal), and to the survivors of homicide victims.

International and Study Abroad Programs

Purchase College, in collaboration with SUNY and international partner institutions, is developing innovative study abroad, online, and international dual-diploma and degree completion programs that promise to serve as a model for global undergraduate education. Building on the college's successful study abroad programs, these international initiatives are being designed to attract a significant number of new international students to Purchase, enriching the cultural diversity of the campus community and offering Purchase students distinctive opportunities for global education.

Study Abroad

Studying in another country often becomes one of the most treasured experiences in a college education. Language and culture can be studied in an American classroom or perfected in the streets and cafes of a foreign land. Seeing an unknown part of the world and gaining a new perspective on an area of study can greatly enhance a student's education. Viewing the United States from another region of the world can enrich a student's understanding of his or her own country, major, and self. In addition, experience abroad can open new and unexpected career options after graduation.

Hundreds of study abroad opportunities are available through Purchase College, other SUNY campuses, and affiliated schools around the world.

- 1. Purchase College Study Abroad Programs

Purchase College offers study abroad programs in Argentina, Costa Rica, France, Honduras, India, Israel, Italy, and Spain. These interdisciplinary programs feature courses that fulfill requirements for the major in language and culture and/or other general education requirements. In addition to several levels of language in some programs, courses are offered in a variety of disciplines, such as anthropology, art history, creative writing, drama, history, journalism, literature, marine biology, philosophy, photography and other visual arts, and political science.

- 2. Exchange Programs

Eligible students at Purchase College may participate in exchanges with institutions affiliated with the college in Australia, China, Denmark, England, Holland, Hong Kong, Hungary, Mexico, Scotland, Spain, or Taiwan. A wide variety of disciplines, including the arts, is offered. Tuition is paid to Purchase College, so only living expenses and fees are paid abroad.

- 3. Other SUNY Study Abroad Programs

Eligible students at Purchase College may also take advantage of the hundreds of programs offered in more than 70 countries through other SUNY campuses. Credits earned in SUNY study abroad programs count toward graduation.

For students interested in studying abroad, the Office of International Programs and Services also offers a preparatory course, Going Global: Intercultural Communication.

study.abroad@purchase.eduSUNY Center for Collaborative Online International Learning (COIL)

The SUNY Center for Collaborative Online International Learning (COIL), headquartered at the SUNY Global Center in New York City, embraces the globally networked landscape of academia by supporting collaborative, online, international learning as a means to internationalize curricula, build global partnerships, and help prepare our students for global work and civil engagement. Originally conceived and developed at Purchase College, COIL engages faculty and staff across the SUNY system and in numerous countries, helping them develop courses that are team-taught with an international partner. Students enroll in these courses at their own institution and meet online with their peers abroad, working together within a course module or over a full semester. Several COIL courses have been taught at Purchase College.

International Dual-Diploma and Degree Completion Programs

Purchase College is participating in the following collaboration with a partner institution abroad:

Singapore

In the spring of 2007, Purchase completed an articulation agreement with the Nanyang Academy of Fine Arts in Singapore for an innovative degree-completion program. In this program, which involves dance faculty serving as consultants and instructors in Singapore, selected students who have completed their three-year diploma in dance in Singapore will be able to complete the BFA in dance at Purchase.

Undergraduate General Education/Core Curriculum: Requirements and Student Learning Outcomes

All Purchase undergraduates complete coursework in a common core curriculum as they progress toward graduation in their chosen majors. The core curriculum ensures that students in all majors develop a foundation in a broad range of general education knowledge and skill areas, expressed in terms of student learning outcomes (SLOs).

Because these SLOs are shared across all 64 SUNY campuses, meeting a general education requirement at Purchase satisfies that requirement at any SUNY campus and vice versa. Completing the Purchase College core curriculum satisfies all SUNY general education requirements. Transfer students who have completed 30 general education credits and any seven of the 10 SUNY general education content categories before admission to Purchase College will be awarded credit for fulfilling the Purchase core curriculum.

The student's advisor and the registrar monitor each student's progress toward the fulfillment of the core curriculum requirements; however, the final responsibility for completing the requirements rests with the student.

Core Curriculum Requirements:

All Undergraduate Degree Programs (BA, BS, BFA, and MusB)

For the most current list of approved courses in each category, please consult the current semester's online course schedule at my.purchase.edu. For additional information, please refer to courses that fulfill core curriculum requirements.

By taking at least 30 credits from the core curriculum's knowledge and skill areas listed below, including a minimum of one course (at least 3 credits) in each of the first seven areas—plus at least one 1-credit course chosen from a list of approved health, wellness, or physical education courses—students simultaneously satisfy the student learning outcomes (SLOs) defining each area:

1. Basic Communication:

Freshmen complete LWR 1110 or AWR 1100/College Writing in their first year.

2. Mathematics:
Students choose from a list of approved courses. Math placement scores may be required as prerequisites for some courses in mathematics and other natural science disciplines, in economics, and in new media.
3. Natural Science:
For (a) freshmen who have not declared a major and (b) freshmen in the BA and BS degree programs in the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences (except those who have declared a major in biology, chemistry, or environmental studies), FRS 1200/Science in the Modern World; all other students choose from a list of approved courses.
4. Social Sciences:
Students choose from a list of approved courses.
5. The Arts:
Students choose from a list of approved courses, including arts courses approved for students in all disciplines, or BFA or MusB courses for which they meet the prerequisites.
6. Humanities Group:
Students choose from a list of approved courses in the humanities, American history, or Western civilization, including many courses specially designed and recommended for freshmen.
7. Languages and Cultures:
Students choose from a list of approved courses, including courses designated as “foreign language” and “other world civilizations.” Students must complete a foreign language placement test for enrollment at the appropriate foreign language level.
8. Health and Wellness: Students take 1–2 credits from a list of approved health, wellness, or physical education courses. These credits do not count toward the minimum of 30 credits required in core curriculum courses, but all students must complete this category.

1. BASIC COMMUNICATION:

Basic Communication:

Students will:

- produce coherent texts within common college-level written forms;
- demonstrate the ability to revise and improve such texts;
- research a topic, develop an argument, and organize supporting details;
- develop proficiency in oral discourse; and
- evaluate an oral presentation according to established criteria.

Critical Thinking:

Students will demonstrate the ability to:

- identify, analyze, and evaluate arguments as they occur in their own or others' work; and
- develop well-reasoned arguments.

Information Management:

Students will:

- perform the basic operations of personal computer use;
- understand and use basic research techniques; and
- locate, evaluate, and synthesize information from a variety of sources.

2. MATHEMATICS:

Students will show competence in the following quantitative reasoning skills:

- Interpret and draw inferences from mathematical models such as formulas, graphs, tables, and schematics;
- Represent mathematical information symbolically, visually, numerically, and verbally;
- Employ quantitative methods such as arithmetic, algebra, geometry, or statistics to solve problems;
- Estimate and check mathematical results for reasonableness; and
- Recognize the limits of mathematical and statistical methods.

3. NATURAL SCIENCE:

Students will demonstrate:

- an understanding of the methods scientists use to explore natural phenomena, including observation, hypothesis development, measurement and data collection, experimentation, evaluation of evidence, and employment of mathematical analysis; and
- the application of scientific data, concepts, and models in one of the natural sciences.

4. SOCIAL SCIENCE:

Students will demonstrate:

- an understanding of the methods social scientists use to explore social phenomena, including observation, hypothesis development, measurement and data collection, experimentation, evaluation of evidence, and employment of mathematical and interpretive analysis; and
- knowledge of major concepts, models, and issues of at least one discipline in the social sciences.

5. THE ARTS:

Students will demonstrate an understanding of at least one principal form of artistic expression and the creative process inherent therein.

6. HUMANITIES GROUP:

Humanities:

Students will demonstrate knowledge of the conventions and methods of at least one of the humanities, in addition to those encompassed by other knowledge areas required by the general education program.

American History:

Students will demonstrate:

- knowledge of a basic narrative of American history (political, economic, social, and cultural), including knowledge of the unity and diversity in American society;
- knowledge of common institutions in American society and how they have affected different groups; and
- an understanding of America's evolving relationship with the rest of the world.

Western Civilization:

Students will:

- demonstrate knowledge of the development of the distinctive features of the history, institutions, economy, society, culture, etc., of Western civilization; and
- relate the development of Western civilization to that of other regions of the world.

7. LANGUAGES AND CULTURES:

Foreign Language:

Students will demonstrate:

- basic proficiency in the understanding and use of a foreign language; and
- knowledge of the distinctive features of culture(s) associated with the language they are studying.

Other World Civilizations:

Students will:

- demonstrate knowledge of either:
a broad outline of world history; or the distinctive features of the history, institutions, economy, society, culture, etc., of one non-Western civilization;
- relate the development of Western civilization to that of other regions of the world.

8. HEALTH AND WELLNESS:

Students will demonstrate:

- positive health and wellness concepts and practices; and
- an understanding of how such practices contribute to mental and physical well-being.

Courses That Fulfill Core Curriculum Requirements

Approved undergraduate courses in each core curriculum category are offered in a variety of disciplines and levels. To find courses that fulfill a particular core curriculum requirement, students can:

1. search the course schedule each semester, including winter session and summer session, at my.purchase.edu
2. refer to "Undergraduate Credit Courses" on the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education website (www.purchase.edu/co) for current or upcoming courses offered by school in the winter and summer sessions
3. consult their faculty advisor, the chair or director of their school or conservatory, the Advising Center, or the registrar
4. refer to SUNY's "General Education Requirement Approved Course Listing, by Campus," which includes Purchase core curriculum courses that satisfy SUNY general education requirements. This list is available at www.suny.edu/provost/GeneralEducation/CourseList/mastercampuslist.cfm

Please note:

1. An independent study or tutorial cannot be used to fulfill a core curriculum requirement.
2. A grade of D is acceptable in a course used to fulfill a core curriculum requirement.
3. A course used to fulfill a core curriculum requirement cannot be taken on a pass/no credit (P/NC) basis.

The Core Curriculum: Freshman Seminars and General Core Curriculum Courses

Approved undergraduate courses in each core curriculum category are offered in a variety of disciplines and levels. (For more information, refer to courses that fulfill core curriculum requirements.)

Required Freshman Seminar

Freshman Seminar: BA/BS Programs

FRS 1030 / 1 credit / Every semester

In this introduction to the merits and expectations of a liberal arts education, incoming freshmen in the liberal arts and sciences and in arts management are encouraged to become members of the Purchase College intellectual community. Through readings, discussions, and supervised activities, students learn about the college's academic expectations and its educational and co-curricular opportunities.

Graded on a pass/fail basis; cannot be repeated.

Note: Required for incoming freshmen and selected transfer students in the BA and BS degree programs (excluding the liberal studies BA), as well as freshmen who have not yet declared their major. (All incoming freshmen in the School of Art+Design take VIS 1050/ComX in their freshman year, as part of their major requirements.)

The following are general core curriculum courses that do not fall under a particular discipline:

College Writing

LWR 1110 / 4 credits / Every semester (primarily Fall)

An intensive course taught in multiple sections, by the end of which students are able to do the following:

1. Produce coherent texts within common college-level written forms.
2. Apply critical-thinking skills to evaluate their own and others' assignments.
3. Take a position of their own and develop an argument, using supporting details.
4. Synthesize materials from various kinds of texts.
5. Demonstrate the ability to revise and improve their papers.
6. Use course concepts to develop in-depth readings of texts and critically literate written papers.
7. Research a topic in detail and write a coherent, well-organized paper that develops an argument in dialogue with source texts.
8. Demonstrate proficiency in oral discourse.
9. Evaluate an oral presentation.
10. Perform the basic operation of computer use.

College Writing AP Policy for Freshmen (Academic Policies section)

Science in the Modern World

FRS 1200 / 4 credits / Spring

An understanding of scientific principles is essential for an educated and engaged citizenry. This course investigates the substance and process of modern science and its role in society, including the scientific method and nature of scientific inquiry; scientific principles, analysis, and critical thinking; sources of scientific information, critical reading, and evaluation of authenticity; and distinguishing science from pseudoscience. Each course section focuses on a different topic or theme and considers some of the important scientific issues of our times.

Note: Topic subtitles are listed in the online course schedule for the spring semester at my.purchase.edu; individual descriptions are published by the Advising Center and distributed in FRS 1030/Freshman Seminar: BA/BS Programs.

Math Fluency and Foreign Language Placement Guidelines

Math Fluency

Please note that certain courses require either a prerequisite of college-level algebra or an appropriate placement score, which can be met by any one of the following:

1. Passing a minimum of three years of sequential math in high school and receiving a score of 85 on the Sequential III (Math B) Regents exam or its equivalent

2. Achieving a score of 550 or higher on the quantitative portion of the SAT examination (recentered)
3. Passing the college-administered mathematics examination
4. Passing algebra or an equivalent course at an accredited college

Students must fulfill this requirement before enrolling in any course with a math fluency prerequisite.

Foreign Language Placement

All students are required to complete the college's online foreign language placement exam before enrolling in any level of a language.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/academicprograms/CoreCurriculum/MathFluencyForeignLanguagePlacement.aspx.

Learning Communities and Freshman Interest Groups

All first-year students in the liberal arts and sciences at Purchase College participate in smaller intellectual communities designed to appeal to students' different academic interests and learning styles. Students may choose from three types of intellectual communities.

1. Residential Learning Communities

In residential learning communities, students take at least two courses together and live together in a freshman residence hall. A faculty member in residence serves as their advisor and joins them in academic and social activities, including field trips, theatre and museum events, and dinners and other informal meetings in the faculty member's on-campus apartment.

2. Nonresidential Learning Communities

Students in nonresidential learning communities take a minimum of two courses together, but may live in any freshman residence hall or off campus. These communities are a particularly excellent way for both residential and commuter students to participate in the intellectual community at Purchase College.

3. Freshman Interest Groups (FIGs)

Like the learning communities, FIGs are designed around a specific academic interest, but students are not required to live together on campus—making FIGs an ideal choice for commuter students. FIGs are a cluster of courses organized around a specific theme or major and are offered in almost every academic area. Students in FIGs are assigned to a special freshman advisor, and their teachers work together informally to monitor their progress. While students in FIGs do not work with a faculty member in residence, they may participate in common activities, depending on the focus of their FIG.

Based on a student's academic interest, he or she will choose a FIG during summer advising and registration. Students in some majors are required to participate in a majors-only FIG (new media, for instance). New students receive information about the advising and registration process by early June, and work with the Advising Center to ensure that they choose an appropriate FIG.

Center for Physical Education, Recreation, and Athletics

The Center for Physical Education, Recreation, and Athletics offers physical education courses and comprehensive recreation, intramural, and intercollegiate athletics programs that provide instruction, fitness, leisure, competition, health, camaraderie, and fun at the college's expansive athletic facilities.

The Physical Education Curriculum

The physical education curriculum places major emphasis on the acquisition of knowledge and skills in lifetime activities. Self-discovery and physical development are underlying themes, and students maintain the freedom to progress at an individual pace and level of accomplishment. Courses in outdoor activities, aquatics, racquet sports, fitness, weight training, health, and safety are available on a rotating basis. One to two credits in health and wellness, currently required in the undergraduate core curriculum at Purchase College, may be earned through approved physical education courses and membership on intercollegiate athletic teams.

Note: In some academic years, the college may not be able to offer a full complement of physical education courses for credit. Lack of availability of credit courses will not prevent students from graduating in a timely fashion. For waivers, students should consult the registrar or the office of their school or conservatory.

Athletic Facilities

The modern gymnasium houses a six-lane pool with a 13.5-foot diving well and four diving boards, a state-of-the-art fitness center, three basketball courts, four racquetball courts, two squash courts, and two indoor batting cages. Additional facilities include an equipment/information center and locker rooms equipped with saunas and showers.

Outdoor facilities include 14 all-weather tennis courts, six of which are lighted for evening play; a turf field with lights; a cross-country trail and a 3.1-mile running loop; and expansive athletic fields, including baseball and softball diamonds, which are the sites for outdoor intramural and intercollegiate competition.

Physical Education Courses

Lifeguard Training

PED 1000 / 2 credits / Fall

Develops aquatic skills and basic knowledge of safety and accident prevention in the aquatic environment. Skills include preventive lifeguarding, emergency action planning, aquatic facility management, and preparation of records and reports. Qualified students receive Red Cross Lifeguard Training Certification.

Yoga

PED 1010 / 2 credits / Every semester

An introduction to the basic disciplines of hatha yoga, focusing on body awareness, appropriate body warmups, beginning yoga postures and breathing (pranayama), and relaxation skills. Upon successful completion, students understand and are able to demonstrate the basic components of yoga practice (sadhana), including safe, stable body alignment and at least 21 classical yoga postures.

Yoga Tools for Relaxation and Peace

PED 1017 / 2 credits / Every semester

In this gentle yoga course, students learn methods of caring for their physical, mental, and emotional bodies: Pranayama, breath control, classical posture and alignment, subtle mudras that transform energy to higher levels for equilibrium and healing, and a variety of relaxation experiences. Yoga Nidra (the "sleep of the yogis") leads to deep relaxation and heightened consciousness. Recommended for all students, including those who may have physical challenges as well as the most serious athletes.

Fencing

PED 1020 / 2 credits / Every semester

Designed for the novice who has never fenced, this course explores the various techniques of combat with a foil. Instruction includes the use of the foil as a weapon, with emphasis on various forms of offensive and defensive strategies; the history of fencing; bouting rules and procedures; conditioning; and fencing in bouts.

Fencing II

PED 1025 / 2 credits / Spring

Focuses on the application of the fundamental principles used in fencing bouts, with emphasis on tactics and strategies. More detailed actions are examined while refining the basics learned in PED 1020 and 1035. Students also learn advanced techniques, such as the glissade, the gain, intercepting and yielding parries, and time actions. During the fencing bouts, students learn how controlling the blade, distance, and time ensures success.

Prerequisite: PED 1020 or 1035

Sabre Fencing

PED 1035 / 2 credits / Spring

An introductory class in classical Italian sabre fencing, focusing on sabre fundamentals: the guard, the lunge, basic footwork, attacks, defenses, and sabre technique. Toward the end of the class, students participate in sabre fencing bouts and learn sabre strategy.

Swimming

PED 1040 / 2 credits / Every semester

Emphasizes both swimming and aquatic survival skills. The course includes personal safety in the aquatic environment, basic swimming strokes, use of safety and rescue equipment, survival swimming skills, rescue breathing and basic care for an airway obstruction, entries into the water, and aquatic fitness for life.

Rock Climbing

PED 1070 / 1 credit / Every semester

Students learn climbing, belaying, and rappelling techniques. Other skills include face climbing, layback, body jams, chimneying, and mantling. Top-rope climbing is included for safety. All equipment is provided.

Volleyball

PED 1090 / 1 credit / Spring

Students learn advanced volleyball skills, such as set up, blocking, passing, spiking, overhead serve, digging, basic strategy, and court technique. Playing the game is emphasized as much as possible.

Outdoor Skills (Weekends)

PED 1105 / 2 credits / Every semester

Students choose two overnight weekends in outdoor activity areas like downhill skiing, canoeing, camping, caving, rock climbing, and backpacking. Includes instruction in the various skill areas, plus wilderness first aid, camping equipment and camp setup, and survival skills.

Racquetball

PED 1110 / 1 credit / Spring

An introduction to the sport of racquetball. Skills include use of the racquet; grips, serve, and basic shots; singles and doubles strategy; shot selection; and court technique.

Scuba

PED 1120 / 1 credit / Every semester

Covers the various aspects of both skin and scuba diving and prepares students for PADI certification, including getting ready for the deep dive requirement. Upon completion of the course, students can make arrangements for the deep dive and PADI certification with the instructor.

Prerequisite: Ability to swim 200 yards without stopping and tread water for 10 minutes; must be medically fit for scuba diving.

Water Safety InstructorPED 1200 / 3 credits / Fall

American Red Cross fundamentals of instructor training and water safety instructor skills. Students must pay a $175 fee to the Red Cross for additional books and administrative fees and attend one six-week session of the Community Learn to Swim program.

Note: Students are required to teach 18 hours per semester in the Community Learn to Swim program and complete written lesson plans for each lesson taught. The teaching must be done during Wednesday or Thursday, 3:30–5:15 p.m., Saturday, 9 a.m.–noon, or Sunday, 10 a.m.–noon.

Prerequisite: Ability to swim at an American Red Cross Level 4 or better

TennisPED 1240 / 1 credit / Every semester

Basic skills and fundamentals of tennis, including grips, forehand, backhand, the serve, basic shots, singles and doubles play, court techniques, and game strategy. Match play is emphasized.

Personal DefensePED 1310 / 2 credits / Every semester

Basics of personal defense for men and women are taught: conditioning, attitude, and techniques for everyone. Realize “It could happen to you,” and learn what to do against grabs, chokes, shoves, locks, hugs, punches, and more. Women, enforce your NO! Material taken from American Kenpo, Judo, and Hapkido.

Tae Kwon DoPED 1335 / 2 credits / Every semester

An introduction to the art and science of the Korean martial art Tae Kwon Do. This traditional six-part class consists of warm-ups, basic techniques (strikes, kicks, blocks), poomse (a precise pattern of techniques), one-step prearranged sparring, no-contact free spar, and cool downs. The history and philosophy of Tae Kwon Do, physiology, biomechanics, and anatomy are also addressed. Students must purchase and wear a dobak (uniform).

GolfPED 1370 / 1 credit / Every semester

Designed to teach students the rules and skills of the sport of golf. Topics include the history of the sport; safety, grips, swing, and stance; use of irons and woods; and putting. Students are given the opportunity to apply their skills and play on local golf courses.

Latin and International DancePED 1435 / 2 credits / Spring

Students learn a vast array of dance fundamentals as well as communication and cooperation skills used to lead and follow in a dance. Styles include salsa, merengue, bachata, tango, and swing. World dance styles are compared and contrasted while increasing stamina and fitness levels. Students also explore the history of the international music and dance styles that are used during class.

Zumba Dance FitnessPED 1445 / 2 credits / Spring

Zumba is a dance-fitness program based on international rhythms, featuring interval training to tone and sculpt the body while burning fat. Students monitor the effects of dance and toning through periodic weigh-ins and taking of body measurements. The history of the world music and dance styles that are used during class is also explored.

Fitness Through Dance: JazzPED 1455 / 1 credit / Every semester

Emphasizes the development of body strength, flexibility, poise, and cardiovascular fitness through jazz-based dance. Students assess their fitness levels at both the beginning and end of the course to note their progress.

Kayaking SkillsPED 1460 / 1 credit / Alternate years (Spring)

Offers basic skills and fundamentals in kayaking, including basic strokes, maneuvering strokes, kayaking rolls, rescue techniques, bracing skills, handling a kayak, and selecting equipment. Practical experience is acquired through skill drills, timed obstacle courses, and kayak water polo.

Circus SkillsPED 1470 / 2 credits / Every semester

Students are introduced to a range of circus skills (e.g., juggling, unicycling, trapeze, sky pole, rolla bolla, stilt walking, gym wheel), which may vary depending on physical ability and experience of the class. At the end of the course, students select one or two skills to perform as a required final project.

CPR/AED and RTEPED 1480 / 2 credits / Fall

Training in the skills needed to respond appropriately to breathing and cardiac emergencies for all age levels, including the use of an automated external defibrillator (AED) to care for a victim of cardiac arrest. The first aid component provides the knowledge and skills necessary in an emergency to help sustain life and minimize the consequences of injury and sudden illness. Students who successfully complete the three course components will receive Red Cross Certification in CPR/AED and RTE (Responding to Emergencies).

Creating HappinessPED 1490 / 1 credit / Spring

The dimensions of a fulfilling and prosperous life are explored in this course, which includes a strong experiential component. Topics include happiness, self-esteem, empathy, friendship, love, creativity, mindfulness, spirituality, and humor. Students learn through lectures, class participation, self-reflection, and on-campus program involvement.

Target ArcheryPED 1510 / 1 credit / Fall

Students are introduced to the basic skills of archery, including selection of equipment, stringing, stance, grip, drawing the arrow, aiming, shooting, and error analysis, and are exposed to target and tournament archery.

Fitness and Weight Training

PED 1520 / 2 credits / Every semester

The effects of weight training on the human body. The course combines both lecture and physical activity and includes fitness evaluations, weight training safety, basic weight training programs, weight training for women, aerobic training, and proper lifting techniques. Reading is required to gain the knowledge needed to develop individual training programs.

Aerobic Fitness and Weight Management

PED 1525 / 2 credits / Every semester

Tone up, slim down, and improve your cardiorespiratory (aerobic) fitness with aerobic routines and healthy eating habits. Students work toward individualized fitness and weight goals under the guidance of the instructor and learn to identify and change unhealthy eating habits. Techniques for managing weight and stress associated with eating problems are also covered. A textbook and lectures supplement the aerobic exercise program.

Aerobic Conditioning

PED 1605 / 1 credit / Spring

Designed for students who are interested in improving their total fitness via aerobic-based conditioning. This course seeks to improve each student's level of cardiovascular fitness and involves a variety of aerobic activities. Students are given opportunities to design and practice their own routines and programs. Proper stretching techniques, basic conditioning principles, and fitness assessments are also included.

Personal Health and Wellness

PED 1640 / 2 credits / Every semester

An introduction to health and wellness concepts for the college student's lifestyle. All of the dimensions of wellness are embodied in a behavioral change project designed for each student. Topics include physical health, sexual health, stress management, drug and alcohol use, healthy relationships, and healthy eating strategies.

Wellness Strategies

PED 1645 / 2 credits / Spring

Through readings, lectures, and discussions, students explore a personal wellness vision, identify behaviors to change in their lives, and discover an integral "why" for behavior change. Students also set cognitive and behavioral goals; identify obstacles, strategies, and solutions; and move through stages of change at their own pace with instructor's guidance and facilitation. This course follows the American College of Sports Medicine wellness-coaching guidelines.

Middle Eastern Belly Dancing

PED 1650 / 1 credit / Every semester

Students learn the fundamentals of belly dancing (e.g., hip circles, undulations, shimmies) and progress to layering of movements. Familiarity with Arabic rhythms, cultural knowledge as it pertains to this dance form, finger cymbals, veil work, and choreography are covered. The natural movements of belly dancing, which improve flexibility, endurance, and coordination, are appropriate for all fitness levels.

Original Pilates Mat Workout

PED 1700 / 2 credits / Every semester

In this full-semester course, students learn about the history and development of the Pilates body conditioning method, as well as basic Pilates mat exercise workout routines. Topics include the six major principles of the Pilates body conditioning method, the five characteristics of the mind, and the "Powerhouse" and core stabilization development and its importance in physical conditioning. Students apply these concepts in their workouts.

Hapkido (Martial Arts)

PED 1710 / 2 credits / Spring

In this introduction to tactical Hapkido, a Korean martial art, participants learn basic skill sets: escaping, striking, kicking, holding, and take-downs. Additional topics include the traditions and philosophies of Hapkido, physiology, biomechanics, and anatomy related to the martial art. Students must purchase and wear a dobok (uniform) and will be given the opportunity to earn rank certification.

The History of Sports and Games

PED 1720 / 1 credit / Fall

Combines lectures and physical activity in which students learn the history behind the sport or game and have the opportunity to physically experience playing it. Topics include the importance of play in people's lives and the evolution and development of early and modern-day sports and games

Chess for Life: Training the Mind Through Mental Gymnastics

PED 1730 / 1 credit / Fall

Through the medium of chess, students can learn to perform better in sports, school, work, and life. This course works on two levels: game fundamentals (openings, middle-game tactics, strategy, and endgame theory) and life applications (problem solving, abstract thinking, improved concentration, and memory enhancement). The instructor, a certified U.S. Chess Federation coach, guides the class through a variety of chess mental gymnastics and plays simultaneous games with the students.

Women's Self-Defense with Rape Aggression Defense (RAD)

PED 2035 Refer to GND 2035 in Gender Studies Courses (School of Liberal Arts and Sciences) for description.

Varsity Sports Participation

PED 2880 / 1 credit / Every semester

Students earn this physical education credit by participating on a varsity athletic team.

Requirements: Academic and medical eligibility, and participation in practices and athletic contests for the duration of the athletic season.

Courses Offered by Student Affairs (IDI)

ESL COURSES

The following ESL courses are offered through the Learning Center in Student Affairs:

ESL I

IDI 1500 / 4 credits / Fall

Basic language skills are developed, with emphasis on generating and expressing ideas related to readings. The concepts of paragraph, topic sentence, controlling idea, introduction, thesis statement, body, and conclusion are introduced. Critical reading skills are developed through story mapping, summarizing and identifying main ideas in relatively simple texts, and other text-related tasks that encourage learners to think about similar experiences and share them verbally and in writing.

Prerequisite: Placement test

ESL II

IDI 1510 / 4 credits / Every year

Advanced language skills are covered, and students are introduced to purpose-oriented modes of writing (narration, description, comparison and contrast, and classification) that eventually lead to analysis, argument, and persuasion.

Prerequisite: Placement test

For related information, please refer to the ESL Proficiency Requirements in the Academic Policies section of this catalog. For updates on ESL courses during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/learning-center/.

CAREER DEVELOPMENT COURSES

The following course is offered through the Career Development Center in Student Affairs:

Career Planning and Decision Making

IDI 1550 / 1 credit / Fall

Designed to assist students who are beginning a career, have not yet selected their major, or are undecided on their career goals. Students apply research and career-development theory to examine how to formulate and make major and career decisions. Experiential activities include interest testing, skills and values identification, informational interviews, writing résumés and cover letters, conducting career research, interviewing skills, and the internship and job search. Participants gain insight into their career development through assessments, exploratory activities, and discussion. Limited to exploring sophomores and juniors.

For updates on courses offered by the Career Development Center during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/CareerDevelopment/student-services/exploringmajors.aspx.

COURSES FOR STUDENTS INTERESTED IN STUDY ABROAD

The following course is offered through the Office of International Programs and Services in Student Affairs:

Going Global: Intercultural Communication

IDI 2030 / 1 credit / Every semester

Introduces students to the basic concepts of intercultural communication in an international context. Topics include communication styles, international cultural factors, cross-cultural adjustment, and global citizenship. Globalization is discussed in the context of international understanding, and students correspond with others abroad to enhance their insights. This course is particularly useful for students thinking about studying abroad. Grading is on a pass/no credit basis.

For updates on courses offered by the Office of International Programs and Services during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/International/.

Academic Resource Center

The Academic Resource Center, located on the second floor of the Student Services Building, houses both the Advising Center and the Learning Center.

Advising Center

The Advising Center provides support that students need to successfully navigate their academic programs at Purchase—from the summer before their freshman year to the completion of their senior year. The center's advisors help students:

- understand academic requirements
- choose courses and majors
- select a permanent faculty advisor
- make good use of the college's varied academic support services
- find answers to last-minute questions

Students who have not yet declared a major are particularly encouraged to meet with a center advisor for guidance. Continuing students should meet regularly with their faculty advisors, using the services of the Advising Center as needed. The Advising Center also offers a peer advising practicum for current students.

The Advising Center is located on the second floor of the Student Services Building, Room 225. For additional information and updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/advisingcenter/.

Learning Center

The Learning Center at Purchase College assists students in learning, developing academic skills, and attaining academic success. The center offers a comprehensive system of support, ranging from ESL courses to help in a specific course to detailed instruction in writing and study skills. The modes of support include on-site, peer-based individual and group tutoring; online writing tutoring through the Purchase College Online Writing Lab (OWL); and assistive technology for students with disabilities.

Peer tutors are nominated by faculty members and receive effective training in tutoring at the beginning of each semester. Writing and foreign language tutoring are available throughout the academic year. In addition, peer tutors provide support in mathematics, chemistry, physics, biology, statistics, and environmental studies at the Einstein Corner in the Natural Sciences Building. Tutoring is also provided for individual courses as need arises, and the staff will assist students in forming a study group for any course the college offers.

The Learning Center is located on the second floor of the Student Services Building, Room 213. For additional information and updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/learningcenter/.

Library

The Purchase College Library is a resource of central importance to the academic life of the college, as illustrated by its location at the center of the campus. It combines technological innovation with personalized service and instruction. Library services and collections are designed to support the college's academic emphasis on learning through independent study and exploration.

The library's collections are a blend of digital and print resources, including more than 60,000 full-text online journals, magazines, and newspapers, and more than 240,000 print volumes. Students, faculty, and staff can access the library's wide range of online resources from any location by visiting www.purchase.edu/library. The library has special strengths in the visual and performing arts, including extensive collections of music scores and recordings, digitized art slides, and video recordings.

The library is also rich in technology, with public computing spaces in several areas of the library, including a Digital Media Zone (DMZ), several computer labs, "smart" classrooms, and computer areas specifically designed for group work. There are more than 200 public computers in the library, including both PCs and Macs. Students working on film projects can use an advanced Mac lab to edit their work, and music students can take advantage of the two digital audio suites in the DMZ. The Assistive Technology Room includes equipment and software for students with vision and learning disabilities. The Media Resource Center offers listening and viewing space for audio and visual materials.

Librarians with subject specialties provide individual assistance to students undertaking research and class assignments. In addition to in-person research assistance, the library provides 24/7 online chat reference and a text-message reference service. The library also has an active instructional program, which is integrated with the college's curriculum and designed to produce an information-literate student body.

Winter Session and Summer Session Dates

Please refer to www.purchase.edu/winter and www.purchase.edu/summer for winter and summer session dates and class holidays, which are determined and published annually (by October for winter session and March for summer session) by the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education.

Please note:

- The hours of in-person registration and add/drop for the fall and spring semesters are circulated in advance to the campus community by the Office of the Registrar.
- Add/drop period:
 Students are responsible for absences and any coursework missed during the add/drop period. Before adding any course, students are advised to check with the individual faculty member to ensure that they can make up any missed coursework.
- Attendance on religious holidays:
 Please refer to the Academic Policies section for guidelines.
- Some offices may close on holidays when classes are in session.
- In spring 2015, President's Day is not an official class holiday.

Academic Requirements for Degree Programs: Overview

The academic requirements specified in this catalog apply to students who:

1. commence their studies at Purchase College during the 2013–14 and 2014–15 academic years and
2. remain in continuous enrollment at Purchase College until they graduate.

Academic requirements for each major are specified in the respective program description. General academic requirements for degree programs at Purchase College are specified in the following sections:

- Academic Credit and Student Workload
- Undergraduate Degrees (BA, BS, BFA, MusB)
- Two Bachelor's Degrees From Purchase
- Second Bachelor's Degree \(Only\) From Purchase
- Graduate Degrees (MA, MFA, MM)

If the academic requirements are changed, students who remain in continuous enrollment may elect to comply with the new requirements or to remain under the requirements by which they were governed at the time of the change. The choice must be declared with the Office of the Registrar and the student's advisor.

Students who change their major are bound by the requirements for the major that are in effect at the time they officially begin studies in the program.

Students who withdraw and are subsequently readmitted are bound by program and degree requirements in force during the academic year in which they are readmitted. Exceptions are made for students who are returning to complete the senior project.

Academic Credit and Student Workload

The academic year at Purchase College comprises two 15-week semesters. The unit of credit is the semester hour, which represents:

- one 50-minute class hour per week in lectures, seminars, and discussions*
- two 50-minute class hours per week in studios, labs, field trips, and practica*
- three 50-minute class hours per week in studios, labs, field trips, and practica with little or no outside preparation expected of students
- 37.5 hours per semester of academic work in part-time, supervised independent studies.

In credit-bearing courses that meet fewer than 15 weeks (for example, winter session and summer session courses), the class hours per week are proportionately increased.

*For each credit, students are expected to complete a minimum of two hours of academic work (study, preparation, etc.) outside of class each week. Some courses may require three or more hours of outside work each week for each credit. In particular, the BFA and MusB programs are intensive professional training programs and require students' full-time commitment. Students in all majors are advised to limit their job and social commitments in order to give their coursework adequate attention.

Academic Requirements for Undergraduate Degrees

Bachelor of Arts (BA) and Bachelor of Science (BS)

1. Earn a minimum of 120 credits, 90 of which must be liberal arts credits. A total of 45 credits must be earned in upper-level (3000- or 4000-level) courses. A maximum of 4 physical education credits may be applied toward the degree.
2. Complete a minimum of 60 credits outside the student's board of study (major).*
3. Complete the core curriculum/general education requirements.
4. Complete all requirements for the major.
5. Earn a minimum 2.0 (C) cumulative GPA at Purchase College.

*Requirement 2 does not apply to students majoring in liberal studies.

Bachelor of Fine Arts (BFA) and Bachelor of Music (MusB)

1. Earn a minimum of 120 credits, at least 30 of which must be liberal arts credits.
2. Complete the core curriculum/general education requirements.
3. Complete all requirements for the major.*
4. Earn a minimum 2.0 (C) cumulative GPA at Purchase College.

*The specific number of credits required for each performing and visual arts major is listed under each major's academic requirements in the Academic Programs section of this catalog.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/Registrar/graduation.aspx.

Two Bachelor's Degrees From Purchase

Students who plan to receive two bachelor's degrees from Purchase College must satisfy the academic requirements for each degree and for two major fields. A second degree presumes that the student meets all the requirements for the first degree.

A minimum of 30 credits of additional work is required when a student with a BA or BS in one discipline at Purchase College matriculates for a BA, BS, BFA, or MusB in another discipline.

BFA and MusB students must meet the 90-credit liberal arts requirement for a BA or BS; liberal arts credits earned toward the BFA or MusB may count toward this requirement.

Second Bachelor's Degree (Only) From Purchase

Students who have received a bachelor's degree from another institution and plan to receive a second bachelor's degree from Purchase College must successfully complete:

1. at least one year (30 credits) at Purchase College
2. the requirements for the major
3. any missing general education requirements

Academic Requirements for Graduate Degrees

Master of Arts (MA), Master of Fine Arts (MFA), and Master of Music (MM)

1. Earn a minimum 3.0 (B) cumulative GPA at Purchase College.
2. Complete all requirements for the major.

Academic and Professional Integrity

Purchase College believes that academic integrity is fundamental to the teaching, learning, and creative processes. Ethical behavior is the cornerstone of an academic and artistic community. Therefore, all forms of academic dishonesty—such as cheating on exams and assignments, plagiarism, and submitting falsified data on lab work or research assignments—are considered serious violations of the Community Standards of Conduct. These standards are published by the Office of Student Affairs in the annual Student Handbook (www.purchase.edu/studenthandbook). The policy on academic and professional integrity is also available on the College Policies site (www.purchase.edu/policies).

Students are strongly encouraged to familiarize themselves with the Community Standards of Conduct and the sections concerning academic and professional integrity. In addition, students should always consult with their instructors to ensure they remain in compliance with the college's expectations regarding academic and professional integrity. Violations of the academic integrity standards may lead to formal disciplinary action.

Members of the faculty and professional staff are held equally to these standards in their work. Allegations of violations of academic and professional integrity by faculty or staff are handled through procedures outlined in the applicable collective bargaining agreement.

Guidelines for Research with Human Subjects

Research done by students for a course, independent study, or senior project must be approved by the course instructor or faculty sponsor before data collection begins. In addition, certain research involving human subjects must be approved by the Human Subjects Committee before data collection begins. Research involving human subjects must be evaluated for:

1. potential harm to subjects that may result from their participation
2. potential benefits of the research for the subject and the community as a whole
3. procedures used to insure the informed and voluntary participation of research subjects
4. procedures used to insure the confidentiality of research subjects
5. procedures for aftercare of research subjects when there is some potential for harm to participants resulting from their participation in the research

The complete guidelines, including exemptions and the review procedure, are available on the College Policies site (~~www.purchase.edu/policies~~).

ESL Proficiency Requirements

All undergraduate and graduate students at Purchase College must have sufficient proficiency in the English language. Students for whom English is a second language are required to take an English proficiency assessment test before their first semester begins at Purchase College and before advising and registration.

Exceptions to this requirement only apply to students who:

- a. have a TOEFL score of 600 (written) or 250 (computer) or 100 (Internet) or higher or
- b. have an IELTS score of 7.5 or
- c. have completed two semesters of college-level English composition with grades of B or higher.

Students in the following categories are also required to attend an ESL summer program:

- a. TOEFL score is lower than 550 (written) or 213 (computer) or 80 (Internet) or
- b. IELTS score is lower than 6.5 or
- c. TOEFL or IELTS scores are unavailable at the time of acceptance

On the basis of the proficiency test, students who need ESL instruction are required to successfully complete the appropriate level(s) of ESL courses before enrolling in LWR 1110/College Writing or other writing courses determined by the ESL and/or college writing faculty. (Graduate students are not required to complete College Writing, but may enroll in the College Writing section for international students if they want additional ESL study.)

- ESL Level I integrates listening, speaking, reading, and writing skills, with emphasis on developmental writing.
- ESL Level II, a transitional step to College Writing, reinforces communication skills and covers paragraph and essay development, sequenced writing, related grammar, syntax, and mechanics.
- The College Writing section for international students develops analytical skills required for producing coherent texts, applies a sequenced writing approach to drafting and revision, and includes grammar workshops.

Students who demonstrate proficiency at or above Level II may enroll in any course for which they are otherwise qualified. Students can demonstrate this proficiency by successfully passing an exit exam at any time during their ESL studies, with permission of the ESL instructor. In the first semester after successfully passing the ESL sequence and exit exam, undergraduate students are required to successfully complete College Writing.

To register for the appropriate ESL level or College Writing section each semester, students must obtain an updated ESL tracking form and the signature of either the coordinator of ESL courses or the director of writing (for College Writing sections). For further information, please call or email the Advising Center, (914) 251-3990, advising@purchase.edu.

Transfer Credit Policy: BA and BS Programs

A maximum of 90 credits—including a maximum of 75 lower-level (freshman-sophomore) credits—may be accepted in transfer to an undergraduate BA or BS program at Purchase College. All students in these programs, regardless of credits transferred, must satisfy all academic requirements (or their equivalencies) for the major and the degree. The number and type of transferable credits are determined by the college at the time of admission, according to the following guidelines.

1. Quarter credits accepted in transfer are converted to semester credits. Unless otherwise specified, one quarter equals $\frac{3}{4}$ of a semester credit; for example, 5 quarter credits equal $3\frac{3}{4}$ semester credits.
2. A maximum of 30 non-liberal arts transfer credits can be applied toward the total minimum requirement of 120 credits. Non-liberal arts credits are those in such areas as agriculture, business, engineering, nursing, and education.
3. A maximum of 4 physical education credits can be applied toward a BA or BS.
4. Grades of D or higher are accepted in transfer credit, although several boards of study will accept only grades of C or higher in satisfaction of major requirements. Students should consult with their board of study after registration.

5. Credits can be accepted only from accredited institutions. This includes accredited proprietary schools.
6. Advanced Placement* (AP) exam scores of 3, 4, or 5 will transfer. (Because credits vary with each exam, students should consult with the registrar.) A maximum of 30 credits will be accepted.
7. A maximum of 30 credits will be accepted through the College Level Examination Program* (CLEP). Transfer is evaluated by review of each individual test score.
8. Acceptance of a course for transfer credit does not guarantee acceptance for board of study requirements. Students should check with their board of study after registration.
9. Courses taught elsewhere for 3 credits, which are taught at Purchase for 4 credits, will transfer as 3 credits.

*Information about AP and CLEP is available at www.collegeboard.com.

Any updates during 2013–2015 to this general external transfer policy for BA and BS programs will be available at www.purchase.edu/Departments/Registrar/transfercreditinformation.aspx.

School of Art+Design: BS Program in Visual Arts

Of the maximum 90 transfer credits allowed, undergraduate students may transfer a maximum of 20 studio art credits and 9 art history credits. All upper-level studio art courses required for the BS major in the School of Art+Design must be completed at Purchase College. Please note that art credits from other schools are not automatically transferable. Visual arts studio credit is awarded only:

- a. for those arts courses, in which the student has earned a grade of C or higher, that can be considered applicable to the visual arts program; and
- b. upon recommendation of the School of Art+Design faculty, based on the quality of work presented in the student's portfolio.

Any updates during 2013–2015 to this School of Art+Design transfer policy will be available at www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/ArtDesign/Transfer.aspx.

Transfer Credit Policy: BFA and MusB Programs

BFA programs in the Conservatory of Theatre Arts require four years to complete. The standard residency requirement in the Conservatory of Dance BFA program is four years (eight semesters), with rare exceptions; the minimum residency requirement is three years (six semesters). Students who transfer to the School of Art+Design from other colleges or universities must study in residence for a minimum of four semesters (two years).

Students receive an evaluation of their credits at the time of admission to the college. Undergraduate students transferring to a BFA or MusB program may transfer credits as follows:

Conservatory of Dance: Students may transfer a maximum of 36 liberal arts credits toward the BFA, but cannot transfer dance credits.

Conservatory of Music: Students may transfer a maximum of 66 credits (up to 36 liberal arts and 30 music credits) toward the MusB. Under extraordinary circumstances, a student may transfer up to 90 credits (36 liberal arts and 60 music credits) with permission from both the area head (faculty coordinator) and the director of the Conservatory of Music.

Conservatory of Theatre Arts (BFA only): Students may transfer a maximum of 36 liberal arts credits toward the BFA. The conservatory may allow some professional transfer credits, but rarely beyond the freshman level.

School of Art+Design: Undergraduate students may transfer a maximum of 69 credits (up to 24 studio art credits, 9 art history credits, and an additional 36 liberal art credits) toward the BFA. All upper-level studio art courses required for the BFA majors in the School of Art+Design must be completed at Purchase College. Please note that art credits from other schools are not automatically transferable. Undergraduate visual arts studio credit is awarded only:

- a. for arts courses, in which the student has earned a grade of C or higher, that can be considered applicable to the visual arts program; and
- b. upon recommendation of the School of Art+Design faculty, based on the quality of work presented in the student's portfolio.

Additional information on the School of Art+Design transfer policy is available under Transfer Students on the School of Art+Design website (www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/ArtDesign/Transfer.aspx).

Transfer Credit Policy: MA, MFA, and MM Programs

A maximum of 9 graduate-level credits may be accepted in transfer to an MA or MM program at Purchase College. Transfer credits are not accepted in the MFA programs.

All students in these programs, regardless of credits transferred, must satisfy all academic requirements (or their equivalencies). The college determines the number and type of transferable credits at the time of admission, according to the following guidelines:

1. Quarter credits accepted in transfer are converted to semester credits. Unless otherwise specified, one quarter credit equals $\frac{3}{4}$ of a semester credit; for example, 5 quarter credits equal $3\frac{3}{4}$ semester credits.
2. Grades of B or higher are accepted in transfer credit.
3. Credits can be accepted only from accredited institutions. This includes accredited proprietary schools.

4. Courses taught elsewhere for 3 credits, which are taught at Purchase for 4 credits, will transfer as 3 credits.

Any updates during 2013–2015 will be available at www.purchase.edu/Departments/Registrar/transfercreditinformation.aspx.

Internal Transfer: Policy and Procedures

Matriculated students in a BA or BS program who wish to transfer into a BFA or MusB program should contact the office of the director of their intended program. Likewise, BFA and MusB students who wish to transfer into a BA or BS program should contact the office of the chair or director of their intended program. (Nonmatriculated continuing education students who wish to enroll in a degree-granting program at Purchase must follow regular admission procedures.)

1. The student will be given an internal transfer application. Deadlines for internal transfer applications vary from program to program; however, all applications must be completed and submitted at least six weeks before a semester begins.
2. The student is then advised, when applicable, about the audition, interview, and/or portfolio requirements of the intended program and the procedure for completing those requirements. The student should also be advised about the nature of the program and any implications regarding transfer credit.
3. School of Art+Design:
Students who wish to transfer from other degree programs at Purchase College to the School of Art+Design must submit to the school's main office (Visual Arts Building, second floor):
 - a. an essay of intention
 - b. a portfolio
 - c. a student copy of their transcript
 - d. an application form (available on the school's website)

Check with the main office in the School of Art+Design for applicable deadlines. After these materials have been reviewed by the Art+Design Admissions Committee and a decision has been reached, students will be informed of their acceptance or denial via a letter from the director.

For additional information, a downloadable application form, and any updates on the Art+Design policy during 2013–2015, please refer to Transfer Students on the School of Art+Design website (www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/Arts/ArtDesign/Transfer.aspx).

Transfer Eligibility for Student Athletes

When student athletes are readmitted and accepted into a degree program at Purchase College after (a) attending another two- or four-year college for two semesters and (b) successfully completing 24 credits with a 2.5 GPA or above, they will be eligible to participate in the Purchase College athletic program without having to complete a year in residence. In addition, student athletes must be deemed eligible on the NCAA transfer documents received from their previously attended institution. After readmission, student athletes must maintain a new, postcumulative 2.0 GPA or higher at Purchase College, or they will be ineligible to participate in the athletic program.

Full-Time and Part-Time Status and Overload Approval

The minimum full-time semester workload is 12 credits for undergraduate students and 9 credits for graduate students. Certain forms of federal, state, and institutional financial aid require full-time status by the end of the add/drop period. Only full-time students are permitted to live on campus.

To receive overload approval for a given semester, an overload access code (OAC) must be obtained from the appropriate chair or director by:

- a. students in the performing arts BFA and MusB programs who wish to register for more than 22 credits (a maximum of 30 credits is allowed each semester); and
- b. students in all other undergraduate degree programs who wish to register for more than 18 credits (a maximum of 24 credits is allowed each semester).

Overload policies for continuing education and summer session students are determined and published by the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education, www.purchase.edu/ce. Overloads are not permitted in winter session. Given the intensive pace of winter session courses, all students are limited to one 4-credit course; no exceptions will be considered.

Undergraduate students who pursue fewer than 12 credits (and graduate students who pursue fewer than 9 credits) per semester have part-time status. Part-time matriculated students meet the same admission and degree requirements as full-time matriculated students. Students who wish to pursue part-time studies should consult with the chair or director and the board of study to determine whether a part-time program is available.

The Freshman Year and Freshman-Year Withdrawal Policy

Freshmen in the BA and BS programs, and freshmen who have not declared their major, normally complete from three to seven general education courses, depending on their program of study. Freshmen in the BFA and MusB programs normally complete two to three general education courses as well as foundation courses within their discipline.

Freshman Seminar

FRS 1030/Freshman Seminar is required for incoming freshmen and selected transfer students in the BA and BS programs (excluding the liberal studies BA), as well as freshmen who have not declared their major. All incoming freshmen in the School of Art+Design take VIS 1050/ComX in their freshman year.

Freshman-Year Withdrawal Policy

Because the freshman program is carefully planned to provide a foundation for further academic study at Purchase College, freshmen may not withdraw from any freshman-year course without the permission of both the student's advisor and the associate dean of the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences or the associate/assistant dean of the School of the Arts.

Freshmen who fail LWR 1110/College Writing and (a) an additional first-year core curriculum/general education course or (b) a course required for their major are subject to academic dismissal at the end of the first semester.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/CoreCurriculum/freshman-withdrawal.aspx.

College Writing AP Policy for Freshmen

A score of 4 or higher on either the Advanced Placement Literature and Composition exam or the Advanced Placement Language and Composition exam satisfies the Basic Communication requirement. Students who have received a score of 3 on either of these exams will receive 6 liberal arts elective credits for their score, but will still be required to enroll in College Writing. College Writing is generally required in the first semester of the freshman year.

For updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/AcademicPrograms/CoreCurriculum/CollegeWriting-APpolicy.aspx.

Declaring a Major (BA and BS Programs)

Students who have not declared a major are strongly encouraged to meet with a staff member in the Advising Center for guidance in selecting a major. By the time students have completed 45 credits, they are expected to choose a major. Forms for declaring a major are available at www.purchase.edu/registrar (under "Forms") and in the Office of the Registrar.

For related information, please refer to:
Internal Transfer: Policy and Procedures
Double Major

Double Major (BA and BS Programs)

Students in a BA or BS program who seek a double major may do so by meeting the following requirements:

1. Complete one senior thesis or senior project, approved by both boards of study.
2. Have the program requirements for each major approved by both boards of study.

Students pursuing two bachelor's degrees at Purchase College (e.g., a BA and a BFA) should refer to Two Bachelor's Degrees From Purchase.

Minors

Optional undergraduate minors—typically five courses, or 18–25 credits of coursework—are offered in many areas of study. After choosing a major, any student interested in pursuing a minor should carefully review the requirements for the minor before applying. An Application for a Program of Minor Study, available at www.purchase.edu/registrar (under "Forms") and at the Office of the Registrar, is required for all minors.

Registration

All students are expected to register through the Office of the Registrar for all courses. Fall registration for currently enrolled students is held toward the end of the spring semester; registration for the spring is held near the end of fall semester. Registration for summer session begins in the spring, and winter session registration begins in the middle of the fall semester.

Attendance

Attendance in classes may be mandatory. During the first class meeting, instructors are required to inform students about attendance requirements and policies for that class regarding absences and assignments.

Attendance on Religious Holidays

New York State Education Law § 224-a: Students unable because of religious beliefs to register or attend classes on certain days.

1. No person shall be expelled from or be refused admission as a student to an institution of higher education for the reason that he or she is unable, because of his or her religious beliefs, to register or attend classes or to participate in any examination, study or work requirements on a particular day or days.

2. Any student in an institution of higher education who is unable, because of his or her religious beliefs, to attend classes on a particular day or days shall, because of such absence on the particular day or days, be excused from any examination or any study or work requirements.
3. It shall be the responsibility of the faculty and of the administrative officials of each institution of higher education to make available to each student who is absent from school, because of his or her religious beliefs, an equivalent opportunity to register for classes or make up any examination, study or work requirements which he or she may have missed because of such absence on any particular day or days. No fees of any kind shall be charged by the institution for making available to the said student such equivalent opportunity.
4. If registration, classes, examinations, study or work requirements are held on Friday after 4 p.m. or on Saturday, similar or makeup classes, examinations, study or work requirements or opportunity to register shall be made available on other days, where it is possible and practicable to do so. No special fees shall be charged to the student for these classes, examinations, study or work requirements or registration held on other days.
5. In effectuating the provisions of this section, it shall be the duty of the faculty and of the administrative officials of each institution of higher education to exercise the fullest measure of good faith. No adverse or prejudicial effects shall result to any student because of his or her availing himself or herself of the provisions of this section.
6. Any student, who is aggrieved by the alleged failure of any faculty or administrative officials to comply in good faith with the provisions of this section, shall be entitled to maintain an action or proceeding in the supreme court of the county in which such institution of higher education is located for the enforcement of his or her rights under this section.
 - a. It shall be the responsibility of the administrative officials of each institution of higher education to give written notice to students of their rights under this section, informing them that each student who is absent from school, because of his or her religious beliefs, must be given an equivalent opportunity to register for classes or make up any examination, study or work requirements which he or she may have missed because of such absence on any particular day or days. No fees of any kind shall be charged by the institution for making available to such student such equivalent opportunity.
7. As used in this section, the term "institution of higher education" shall mean any institution of higher education, recognized and approved by the regents of the university of the state of New York, which provides a course of study leading to the granting of a post-secondary degree or diploma. Such term shall not include any institution which is operated, supervised or controlled by a church or by a religious or denominational organization whose educational programs are principally designed for the purpose of training ministers or other religious functionaries or for the purpose of propagating religious doctrines. As used in this section, the term "religious belief" shall mean beliefs associated with any corporation organized and operated exclusively for religious purposes, which is not disqualified for tax exemption under section 501 of the United States Code.

Any updates to this policy received during 2013–2015 will be made available at www.purchase.edu/Policies/ReligiousHolidays.aspx on the College Policies site.

Exam Week

The last week of classes in each semester is commonly understood to be the exam period, and new work is not assigned during this time. The exam week schedule is available at www.purchase.edu/registrar.

Tutorials and Independent Studies

Matriculated students—generally juniors and seniors—are encouraged, when appropriate, to enroll in tutorials and independent studies. Both of these types of study enable motivated students to extend the learning process beyond the limits of regularly scheduled courses.

Tutorials

Tutorials are limited to individual students or small groups and assume a degree of academic maturity on the part of the student. Tutors meet regularly with students to discuss reading and other assignments. Students receive periodic evaluations and a final evaluation. Up to 4 credits may be awarded for a tutorial. One credit is equal to 50 minutes per week (15 hours per semester) with the tutorial instructor, plus two hours of student preparation per week.

Independent Studies

Similarly, independent studies are limited to students who are capable of working at an advanced level with limited supervision. Generally, students may receive no more than 4 credits for an independent study, with each credit the equivalent of 37½ hours per semester of academic activity.

Permission to Register

Students must complete a Special Course Contract, have their sponsor sign it, and submit it to the Office of the Registrar by the end of the add/drop period each semester. This form is available at www.purchase.edu/registrar (under "Forms") and at the Office of the Registrar. For tutorial and independent studies during summer session, please refer to Summer Session Policies below.

Eligibility and Restrictions

1. Tutorials and independent studies are limited to Purchase matriculated students. (Nonmatriculated continuing education students cannot register for independent studies or tutorials.)

2. The amount of credit agreed upon at the time of registration is the amount of credit to be awarded at the end of the semester. Credit may not be reduced at the end of the semester because of partial fulfillment of a particular course, tutorial, or independent study.
3. Students may not count more than 16 credits of independent studies, tutorials, and senior project taken with one faculty member toward the 120 (or 45 upper-level) credits required for graduation. Any exceptions to this policy must be approved by the appropriate dean.
4. An independent study or tutorial cannot be used to fulfill a SUNY general education requirement.

Summer Session Policies

1. Only matriculated students are eligible to register for summer tutorials and independent studies.
2. The content of summer tutorials or independent studies should be significantly different from courses offered during the regular summer session or academic year.
3. Students must register, pay for, and complete all work during the designated summer session period.
4. Grades are due at the same time as regular summer session grades.
5. Summer tutorials and independent studies are approved only after ascertaining that the faculty member will be available in the summer to supervise the student's work.
6. Only full-time members of the Purchase faculty are permitted to supervise summer tutorials and independent studies, but they are not paid to do so. All students should be aware that many upper-level courses in the liberal arts and sciences are available to students in the summer, and tutorials should not duplicate these courses.
7. In most cases, upper-level courses in the performing arts are not available during summer session.

Academic Credit in Performing and Visual Arts Courses (BA and BS Programs)

Students in the BA and BS programs (and students who have not yet declared a major) cannot earn credit for the same course taken more than once, except for a very limited number of performing and visual arts courses in which the content is different by virtue of the repertoire or experience level. In those cases, credit may be earned for a second registration. Students should see the registrar for more detailed information.

Any updates to this policy during 2013–2015 will be made available on the Office of the Registrar's site, www.purchase.edu/registrar.

The Senior Project (BA and BS Programs)

The senior project is a collegewide requirement for both the BA and BS. (Students majoring in liberal studies are required to complete a senior capstone course.) It is the capstone of the Purchase educational experience and the signature of our curriculum. Students devote two semesters to an in-depth, original, and creative study. The credits for both semesters' work are awarded only upon successful completion of the entire project, which may take the form of a research paper (laboratory or field), an exhibition, a piece of creative writing, or a translation. No more than two semesters of senior project credit may be applied toward a student's degree requirements.

The senior project must be sponsored by a member of the board of study in which the student has majored. After the student has chosen a faculty sponsor, he or she should consult that sponsor about the choice of a second reader.

At the end of the first semester, a grade of SP (satisfactory progress) is recorded to indicate that work is proceeding on schedule. The project or thesis is evaluated by the responsible faculty member, who obtains comments from other involved faculty. The thesis, signed by the sponsor and the second reader, must be submitted to the Purchase College Library by the last day of the semester. In the event a senior project cannot be completed on time, it is subject to the same rules that govern other incomplete coursework. However, if the senior project is not submitted to the Library by (a) the deadline for resolving grades of Incomplete (I) for the fall semester or (b) August 15 for the spring semester, an additional registration for the senior project is required. This policy supersedes any arrangements for "extended incompletes" that may have been made. Special permission from the sponsor and board-of-study coordinator is required to register beyond a third semester for the senior project.

Acceptable grades for senior projects are SP (satisfactory progress), UP (unsatisfactory progress), or a passing grade of A through D. Grades of F are only acceptable in cases of plagiarism.

Note: Any updates during 2013–2015 to the grading policies for senior projects will be available on the College Policies site, www.purchase.edu/policies.

Accelerated Status in the Senior Year

Students may be given accelerated status in their senior year by completing the senior project in one semester. Acceleration requires permission of the advisor, senior project sponsor, appropriate board of study, and/or the chair or director of the student's school.

Senior Project Registration in Summer Session

Matriculated students may register for either half of the senior project in the summer session, provided:

1. The principal sponsor can certify to the chair or director of the student's school that he or she will be present for a significant portion of the summer to provide guidance and direction to the student.
2. The project is approved and the registration is allowed for the summer by the board-of-study coordinator and the chair or director of the student's school.
3. The student registers and pays for the summer session work: 3 credits for a 6-credit senior project or 4 credits for an 8-credit senior project. (Students cannot complete the equivalent of two semesters of senior project work during summer session.) Students who register for the second half of the senior project during summer session must complete the project and deposit a copy in the Library no later than August 15.

Off-Campus Study

Approval of Off-Campus Study

Eligible students must secure approval of off-campus study before leaving Purchase and are urged to talk with their faculty advisor as early as possible during the semester preceding the anticipated off-campus study.

If the off-campus study is at an American institution in the U.S., students should obtain a Request for Preapproval to Transfer Credit, available at www.purchase.edu/registrar (under "Forms") and at the Office of the Registrar. The student completes the form in consultation with his or her advisor, who provides guidance regarding the specifics of the student's program at another institution. Specific course titles and credits must be indicated on the form. The form is signed by the student and the advisor. The completed form must be submitted to the Office of the Registrar.

Eligibility for Study Abroad

Studying abroad is a privilege and an honor. To be eligible for study abroad, students must:

1. Be in good academic standing:
 - a. Purchase College students are not allowed to participate in study abroad or exchange programs if they are on probation during any part of the proposed period of study abroad.
 - b. Students from other institutions are not allowed to participate in a Purchase College study abroad program if they are on probation during any part of a proposed period of study abroad.
2. Have at least sophomore status. Junior transfer students are eligible after they have successfully completed one semester of full-time study at Purchase. Seniors are generally advised against off-campus study unless such study is directly related to the topic of the senior project.
3. Obtain a Request for Preapproval to Transfer Credit and the Approval for Study Abroad, available at www.purchase.edu/registrar (under "Forms") and at the Office of the Registrar. The student completes the form in consultation with his or her advisor, who provides guidance regarding the specifics of the student's program at another institution. Specific course titles and credits must be indicated on the form. The form is signed by the student and the advisor, then submitted by the student for approval to:

Deirdre Colby Sato, Director
International Programs and Services
Student Services Bldg., Second Floor study.abroad@purchase.edu
(914) 251-6030

Students studying abroad through an approved SUNY program are:

1. required to register and pay tuition through Purchase
2. not considered to be on academic leave of absence
3. required to buy international medical insurance. Contact the Office of International Programs and Services or the Office of Student Financial Services (Enrollment Services) for details.

Conditions and Considerations for Off-Campus Study and Study Abroad

1. Leaves are granted for no more than two consecutive semesters for students who enter Purchase as freshmen and who have beginning sophomore or junior status at the time a leave would take effect.
2. For the credit earned to be applied toward Purchase matriculation, a grade of D or higher must be earned in academic work taken off campus.
3. Study must be done at an accredited institution of higher education.
4. Any questions concerning financial aid should be discussed with staff members in the Office of Student Financial Services (Enrollment Services).
5. The student should give the Office of Residence Life timely notice of his or her intention not to be in residence at Purchase.

Summer Off-Campus Study

The preceding procedures apply to summer study at any college other than Purchase.

Academic Internships

Academic internships provide practical experience in a field of interest to the student. Internship opportunities are available in diverse fields (for example, education, performing and visual arts, business, public service, communications, social service, and health care).

An academic internship is a supervised learning experience conducted during the course of a semester for which the student receives academic credit. During the internship, the student is expected to accomplish certain predetermined goals and learning objectives agreed upon by the internship site supervisor and the faculty sponsor. Students must also complete an academic project, which is determined in consultation with a designated faculty sponsor.

A student may earn up to 4 credits by interning an average of 10 hours per week during the course of the semester. The exact number of credit hours, which depends on the hours required for each experience, is established as a part of the Internship Learning Contract.

How to Apply

Students who have completed at least 30 academic credits are eligible to participate in the academic internship program. Students can locate available internships by using Purchase JobScore, an online service accessible through the Career Development Center (www.purchase.edu/careerdevelopment). Students are also encouraged to contact their board of study for recurring internship opportunities.

To receive credit for an internship, a student must submit a completed Internship Learning Contract (available at the Career Development Center) no later than the last day of the add/drop period. This form includes the student's contact information; the internship description and site location; and a description of the academic project, expected learning outcomes, and criteria for student evaluation, as determined by the faculty sponsor. Signatures from all the involved parties, including the site supervisor, faculty sponsor, student intern, and an administrator in the Career Development Center, are required before the form is submitted to the Office of the Registrar.

Internship Site Supervisor

The student must have a supervisor at the organization where he or she interns. To ensure that the internship has sufficient merit as a learning experience, this site supervisor must sign the Internship Learning Contract and provide a typed internship description and an outline of the competencies expected to be gained by the student. The site supervisor offers training and guides the hands-on, practical learning experience. If the site supervisor changes during the course of the internship, the student must immediately notify the Career Development Center and provide the name of the new site supervisor. Site supervisors must submit a performance evaluation of the student's internship experience, which is used by the faculty sponsor to determine an appropriate grade.

Faculty Sponsor

The student must work with a faculty member (faculty sponsor), who determines the academic appropriateness of the proposed internship and agrees to monitor the student intern's progress. The faculty sponsor reviews the internship description, outlines the expected learning outcomes of the experience, and assigns a meaningful academic project. This faculty sponsor need not be the student's regular faculty advisor, but may be a faculty member knowledgeable in a discipline related to the internship. Students are strongly encouraged to meet with their faculty sponsor on a regular basis.

Performance Evaluation and Grading

Both the site supervisor and the faculty sponsor monitor the student's progress throughout the internship and offer assistance as needed. Before the end of the internship, the site supervisor will be notified by email to complete a performance evaluation form via Purchase JobScore. The evaluation is then forwarded to the faculty sponsor, who assigns the grade for the internship based on this evaluation and the assigned academic project.

Receiving Credit

Most academic programs allow students to earn up to 12 internship credits during their time at Purchase. Because some programs have specific policies, students must check with their board of study before registering for a credit-bearing internship. Registration must be completed by the end of the add/drop period for the semester in which the internship will be undertaken. Academic credit will awarded only for hours worked during the period of the Internship Learning Contract. No "retroactive credit" will be awarded for hours worked before or after the period of the contract or after the internship is completed. Additional information is available at the Career Development Center.

Credit units are determined by the number of hours per week a student interns at his or her site. A maximum of 4 credits may be earned in a single internship. Internship credits are calculated as follows:

4 credits	150 hours total	10 hours per week x 15 weeks
3 credits	112½ hours total	7½ hours per week x 15 weeks
2 credits	75 hours total	5 hours per week x 15 weeks
1 credit	37½ hours total	2½ hours per week x 15 weeks

Note: A semester is 15 weeks in length, excluding class holidays. Internships undertaken in summer session, which is less than 15 weeks, require a proportionate increase in hours per week.

Enrollment in Liberal Studies & Continuing Education Courses

For matriculated students in the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the School of the Arts

Matriculated students in the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the School of the Arts at Purchase College may enroll in most courses offered by the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education:

1. Winter session and summer session courses are open to all matriculated students, as long as any prerequisites are met. Matriculated students should obtain approval from their faculty advisor or the appropriate board of study before registering to ensure that the selected courses meet the requirements for their degree. According to New York State policy, all students must pay for summer session courses on a per-credit basis. There are no special rates for 12 or more credits.
2. During the academic year (fall and spring semesters), a limited number of spaces are available in most credit courses during the registration period for matriculated students. Other credit courses may be opened during the add/drop period if space is available. (Before registering for these courses, students should obtain their faculty advisor's approval.) For full-time matriculated students, no additional tuition is charged; however, any listed charges for course-related expenses must be paid when registering.
3. To guarantee space in a particular noncredit course, all matriculated students need to register early and pay the full noncredit tuition. (Financial aid is not applicable.)

For additional information and updates during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/ce/GeneralInformation/AcademicPolicies.aspx.

Cross-Registration at Manhattanville College

Manhattanville College and Purchase College allow a limited number of matriculated students from each institution to cross-register at the other institution, typically for coursework not offered on their home campus. There is no additional tuition charged for cross-registered courses, but additional fees may be assessed for certification courses (excluding teaching certification).

Students require the permission of both institutions to cross-register. Purchase students who are interested in cross-registering at Manhattanville:

1. should consult with an advisor at both Purchase and Manhattanville before registration; and
2. must obtain the signatures of their advisor and the registrar.

Depending on its needs, Manhattanville College may completely restrict its registration in some areas. Manhattanville courses that are generally not available to Purchase students through cross-registration are:

- Studio art
- Management and economics
- Computer science
- Independent study
- Business
- Education
- Certification courses
- Any course that is offered at Purchase

Maintenance of Matriculation

In order to graduate at the end of any given semester at Purchase, a student must be registered for that semester. A student may satisfy this requirement either by (a) being registered for coursework until graduation or (b) registering for MOM 0100/Maintenance of Matriculation and paying $50 to maintain matriculation. Students must receive permission from the registrar to register for MOM 0100.

Students may not register for MOM 0100 while they are completing a senior project, senior recital, or senior production. An additional senior project/recital/production registration is required.

Readmission to the College

Readmission to the college is necessary for formerly matriculated students who have separated from the college. The readmission process must be completed for a student to be matriculated in a degree program. A student dismissed for academic reasons is eligible to apply for readmission one year after the dismissal. Students who wish to be readmitted should complete an Application for Readmission (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under "Forms") and submit it to the Office of the Registrar by the published deadline.

Any student readmitted to Purchase College is on academic probation for the first semester after returning. If the quality or quantity of work during that first semester is considered unsatisfactory, the student could be permanently dismissed at that time and may not be eligible for readmission.

For deadlines, additional information, and updates during 2013–2015, please refer to www.purchase.edu/departments/Registrar/Readmission.aspx.

Graduation

Undergraduate students in their junior year, or one year from graduation, must submit an Application for Graduation to the Office of the Registrar (Student Services Building, Room 113) by the deadlines published at www.purchase.edu/registrar.

Instructions for completing the Application for Graduation:

1. Make an appointment with your advisor to review your Degree Progress Report to make sure you are on track to graduate. If you are uncertain about any academic requirements or policies, please check with your school or conservatory or the Office of the Registrar.
2. If any changes to your Degree Progress Report are needed, please have your advisor send written notification to the Office of the Registrar as soon as possible.
3. Complete the Application for Graduation. Please be sure to include your signature and the signature of your advisor.
4. Complete the diploma order survey.

Please note: Incomplete or late applications will not be accepted.

Final determinations regarding degree conferrals are made by the Office of the Registrar at the end of a student's last semester of study. To qualify for graduation, all degree requirements must be completed by the published graduation date. This includes the successful resolution of all Incomplete (I) grades and receipt of all external transcripts, test scores, and department waivers or substitutions.

Diplomas are distributed to graduates approximately eight to 10 weeks after degrees have been awarded and are mailed to the permanent address on file, unless otherwise indicated on the diploma order survey. Diplomas of students in arrears will be held until all financial obligations to the college have been met and account balances have been cleared by the Office of Student Financial Services.

Students may participate in one graduation ceremony during matriculation at Purchase. If the student does not complete degree requirements by May, but the registrar has reasonable assurance that requirements will be completed by the end of that year's summer session, the registrar may permit the student to participate in the May commencement ceremony. The student will be considered a candidate for August graduation. If the student completes requirements after summer session and registers for an additional semester, the student must defer participation in the ceremony until requirements are fully completed.

Any changes in the student's senior-year plans must be reported to the Office of the Registrar. Students who wish to change their graduation date must send written notification to the Office of the Registrar and their program office as soon as possible.

For the Degree Progress Report, Application for Graduation, diploma order survey, additional information, and updates during 2013–2015, please refer to www.purchase.edu/Departments/Registrar/graduation.aspx.

Graduation with Honors

Honors Criteria

College honors are awarded as summa cum laude, magna cum laude, and cum laude. The Educational Policies Committee has approved the minimum grade point average (GPA) needed to qualify for graduation with honors in each category. Students are eligible to graduate with honors if they have:

1. completed at least 55 credits at Purchase College, graded A+ through WF (grades of P, SP, UP, or CR are not counted) and
2. achieved the following minimum GPA:
 - Summa Cum Laude: 3.90
 - Magna Cum Laude: 3.75
 - Cum Laude: 3.50

Coursework taken at Manhattanville College through the cross-registration agreement counts toward the GPA calculation and honors.

College honors are noted in the commencement program with a statement that the notation is based on seven semesters' work or the equivalent. This is necessary because the program is printed before the final semester's grades are available.

Grading System

Final course grades are obtained online at my.purchase.edu. Matriculated students at Purchase College are graded as follows:

A+, A, A- (Superior)

B+, B, B- (Good)

C+, C, C- (Satisfactory)

D (Minimum Passing Grade)

A grade of D is acceptable in core curriculum/general education courses. In a major or prerequisite course, a grade of D is acceptable at the discretion of the individual boards of study in the liberal arts and sciences.

F (Failure)

This grade counts toward program pursuit for financial aid purposes.

SP (Satisfactory Progress) and UP (Unsatisfactory Progress)

Reserved for grading of senior projects.

Note: Acceptable grades for senior projects are SP (satisfactory progress), UP (unsatisfactory progress), or a passing grade of A through D. Grades of F are only acceptable in cases of plagiarism.

CR (Credit)

For matriculated students who register for maintenance of matriculation or a SUNY study abroad program. The CR grade is not calculated in the GPA.

P and NC (Pass/No Credit Option)

1. Matriculated students may elect one course (except those specified in #4 of this section) each semester to be graded on a pass/no credit (P/NC) basis. Summer session is considered a semester for this purpose. The P (Pass) or NC (No Credit) grade is not calculated in the GPA, but counts toward program pursuit for financial aid purposes.
2. If a board of study requires that a course within the major be taken on a P/NC basis, then a student may elect a second course for P/NC in that same semester.
3. A maximum of 32 credits of P/NC work counts toward the 120 credits required for graduation.

4. The following courses cannot be taken on a P/NC basis: all core curriculum/general education courses; senior theses/projects; repeated courses; courses in one's major (refer to #5 for exception).
5. Boards of study may designate a few courses to be taken by all students on a P/NC basis. Courses so designated must be approved by the Educational Policies Committee. A board of study, at its discretion, may use pass/no credit grades for junior or senior seminars.
6. No more than two liberal arts courses may be taken on a P/NC basis by students in the BFA and MusB programs (a total of 8 credits out of the minimum 30 credits required for graduation) during their four years at Purchase.
7. Students must elect this option by the end of the third week of classes; please refer to the academic calendar for the deadline.

I (Incomplete)

This grade indicates that a student and a faculty member have entered into an agreement that grants an extension of time to complete the requirements of the course. For additional information, refer to Grade of Incomplete: Procedure for Receiving.

1. The work must be completed within four weeks of the end of the semester.
2. Incompletes that are not resolved by the deadline date or given a further extension, approved by the dean, will be converted to a failure (F) grade. Grade changes after the four-week period are discouraged as a matter of fairness to students who complete their work on time.
3. The credit value assigned at the time of registration is the credit value at the time the grade is submitted. Partial credit, whether for special or regular courses, is not given.
4. An I grade counts toward program pursuit for financial aid purposes.

AU (Audit)

The audit (AU) grade is available to nonmatriculated continuing education students only. These students may audit credit courses with permission of the instructor, who determines the requirements for participation by the auditor. Auditors pay full tuition and fees. Detailed information is available at www.purchase.edu/departments/AcademicPrograms/ce/GeneralInformation/GradesandTranscripts.aspx.

Matriculated students may informally audit courses with permission of the instructor, but may not receive AU grades. Registration for the course is not permitted, and the course does not appear on the student's academic record. Matriculated students who choose to audit a course may not register for the course later in the semester.

W (Withdrawal)

Chosen by the student, this grade is available up to the end of the ninth week of classes and signifies an official withdrawal without prejudice. It is not calculated in the GPA or used to calculate accumulated full-time equivalent status, but may affect program pursuit for financial aid purposes and eligibility for campus housing. The signature of the student's advisor is required on the Course Withdrawal form, which is available at www.purchase.edu/registrar (under "Forms"). Freshmen must also consult with and obtain the signature of their associate/assistant dean on the withdrawal form. The signatures, which do not necessarily indicate approval, are required to provide information to the advisor and the college.

R (Repeat)

Matriculated students admitted in Fall 1985 or after and nonmatriculated students registered in Fall 1993 or after may repeat any previously attempted Purchase College course to earn a higher grade at Purchase College. Only the higher grade will be computed in the student's cumulative grade point average (GPA), except when the previous grade was a permanent failing grade resulting from an academic integrity sanction. Please note that students cannot repeat courses that are no longer offered at Purchase College.

1. A student who wishes to repeat a course must complete and submit a Repeat Course form to the Office of the Registrar during the add/drop period of the semester in which the course will be repeated. This form is available at www.purchase.edu/registrar (under "Forms").
2. A repeated course in which the student receives a grade of P, NC, W, or AU does not warrant an R grade.
3. Grades of W, AU, P, or NC will not be removed from the transcript, even if the course has been repeated.
4. If the credit value of the course has changed, the repeated course is worth the new credit value.
5. A student may not receive a grade of R for a course that is repeated by either an independent study or a tutorial.
6. The Freshman Seminar may not be repeated.
7. A course may not be repeated a third time unless special permission is granted by the chair or director of the student's school or conservatory. Certain approved, repeatable courses in the arts are an exception to this rule.
8. Once the student has successfully complied with all the repeat course regulations, a notation of "(R)" will be inserted next to the original grade.

WF (Withdrawal/Failure)

Assigned by the faculty member, this grade signifies nonattendance by a student and failure to petition for a W grade. Faculty members may use the following as a general guideline:

1. If a student attended through the ninth week, he or she would not receive a WF, but rather an F or an NC, as is appropriate.
2. If a student did not attend through the ninth week, he or she would receive a WF instead of an F.

The WF grade is calculated as an F toward the GPA and does not count toward program pursuit for financial aid purposes.

Any updates to the grading system during 2013–2015 will be available at www.purchase.edu/departments/Registrar/grades.aspx.

Grade of Incomplete: Procedure for Receiving

To be eligible for an grade of incomplete (I), students must meet the following guidelines:

1. To receive a grade of incomplete (I), a student must request this grade from the instructor. Students on academic probation are not eligible for incomplete grades.
2. The instructor determines if a grade of incomplete (I) is appropriate. Criteria for this determination include previous work completed, seriousness of the student, and factors not in the student's control (i.e., illness, death in family, etc.). If an incomplete is granted, the instructor determines the date for the work to be completed (no longer than four weeks) and files the grade of incomplete (I) online.
3. If a revised grade is not submitted, the registrar will change the grade to an F.
4. If truly extenuating circumstances exist, an extension of an incomplete is possible with the approval of the student's associate dean (or the executive director of academic programs, for courses in the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education). An "Extension of Incomplete" form must be used.
5. Changes of grade other than the change of an incomplete (I) must be processed through the normal academic channels via the "Change of Grade" form.

All forms are available at www.purchase.edu/registrar.

Grade Point Averages

How to Calculate Grade Point Averages (GPAs)

Grades should be converted into quality points:

A+ = 13	A = 12	A- = 11
B+ = 10	B = 9	B- = 8
C+ = 7	C = 6	C- = 5
D = 3	F = 0	WF = 0

Example of GPA calculation:

A+	4 cr. x 13 points	= 52 quality points
B	4 cr. x 9 points	= 36 quality points
B-	3 cr. x 8 points	= 24 quality points
C+	2 cr. x 7 points	= 14 quality points
	13 credits total	= 126 quality points
126 divided by 3 = 42 divided by 13 = 3.23 GPA
[Divide the number of quality points (126) by 3, then divide by the number of credits attempted (13).]

Program-Specific GPA Policies

When a student formerly registered as nonmatriculated through the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education is accepted as a matriculated student, credits acquired (a) as a matriculated student and (b) as a nonmatriculated continuing education student are counted toward the cumulative GPA.

When a student transfers between the School of the Arts and the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences, grades previously earned remain in the cumulative GPA. However, probation is not transferred automatically. The Academic Review Committee of the accepting program decides the issue of academic probation on a case-by-case basis.

Change of Grade

After an instructor has submitted a student's grade to the Office of the Registrar, the grade may be changed only with the approval of the appropriate associate or assistant dean (or, in the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education, the executive director of academic programs). However, the final evaluation is the prerogative of the instructor.

1. If there has been a clerical error or if the student believes that the grade received is inaccurate, the student should discuss the evaluation with the instructor.
2. If there are more questions, the student should discuss the evaluation with the coordinator of the appropriate board of study or, if necessary, with the associate or assistant dean, who then notifies the Office of the Registrar. (For grades issued in courses offered by the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education, students should contact the executive director of academic programs.)

3. If a grade change involves an instructor who is no longer a member of the Purchase College faculty, the associate or assistant dean or the executive director of academic programs notifies the registrar.
4. This procedure does not apply when a student is completing work formerly recorded with the Office of the Registrar as an incomplete (I).
5. In exceptional cases, grades may be changed up to six months after the completion of a given semester. No grade changes are accepted after this date.

For updates to this policy during 2013–2015, please visit www.purchase.edu/Departments/Registrar/gradeappeal.aspx.

Dean's List

Students in the following programs who achieve the specified grade point averages (GPAs) are awarded the honor of Dean's List, which is recorded on the student's transcript. These GPAs are based on at least 6 credits graded A+ through F; grades of P, NC, UP, SP, CR, and INC do not apply.

- BA and BS programs: A semester GPA of 3.50 is required.
- BFA and MusB programs: A semester GPA of 3.75 is required.

Satisfactory Academic Progress: Overview

Academic standards in effect since September 1995 are used to assess satisfactory progress and to determine probationary status or the necessity to dismiss. The academic policies in this section define minimum satisfactory academic progress for all students at Purchase College.

Students in the BFA, MusB, MFA, and MM programs must meet these collegewide academic standards as well as the general professional standards, including professional conduct standards, governing these degree programs, and the academic and professional standards of the student's school/conservatory and program.

Satisfactory academic progress (SAP) standards for financial aid (e.g., federal Title IV aid, state aid, and other loan programs) vary from those stated in this section; please consult the Office of Student Financial Services, (914) 251-7000, for specific guidelines. However, because the criteria for satisfactory academic progress affect all students, whether or not they receive financial aid, all students should be familiar with the standards in this section.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Standards for Undergraduate Students

Undergraduate students who meet all requirements of the college, including its academic standards, are considered to be maintaining satisfactory academic progress. The following policies and procedures have been developed to measure the academic progress of undergraduate students.

Satisfactory Academic Progress: Calculating the GPA

All credit-bearing coursework for which a student is registered after the college's withdrawal deadline is used to calculate the student's grade point average (GPA).

Matriculated Students

Matriculated students are those who have been accepted as degree candidates at the college. The following applies to all matriculated undergraduate students:

1. All undergraduate students are evaluated throughout the semester, although grades are only submitted once a semester. Grades of W, I, R, and WF may affect satisfactory academic progress (refer to the Grading System for the definitions of all grades).
2. All undergraduate students are expected to maintain a minimum 2.0 (C) GPA each semester. Undergraduate students who have a semester GPA lower than 2.0 will be placed on probation and must maintain at least a 2.0 GPA in the following semester to have their probationary status removed. An undergraduate student must have achieved a minimum 2.0 GPA at the time a degree is awarded.

Full-time matriculated students are defined as those who register for 12 or more credits in a given semester. All full-time matriculated students with lower than the required cumulative average are placed on probationary status or may be subject to dismissal. A full-time student whose probationary status is not removed after the probationary semester is subject to dismissal. Full-time students are academically reviewed each semester.

Part-time matriculated students are defined as those who register for fewer than 12 credits in a given semester. Therefore, a part-time student's record is reviewed after each 12 credits of enrollment, regardless of the actual number of semesters during which the work was pursued.

Students who enroll for winter session and/or summer study are considered to be maintaining satisfactory academic progress if their previous semester's work has met the required standards.

Note: Satisfactory academic progress (SAP) standards for financial aid (e.g., federal Title IV aid, state aid, and other loan programs) vary from those stated here; please consult the Office of Student Financial Services, (914) 251-7000, for specific guidelines.

Nonmatriculated Students

Nonmatriculated students with a GPA lower than 2.0 who have not passed at least 50 percent of their coursework attempted for credit may be barred from further registration.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Standards for Graduate Students

Graduate students who meet all requirements of the college, including its academic standards, are considered to be maintaining satisfactory academic progress. A full-time graduate student is one who registers for 9 or more credits in a given semester; a part-time student is one who registers for fewer than 9 credits.

1. All graduate students are evaluated throughout the semester, although grades are only submitted once a semester. Grades of W, I, R, and WF may affect satisfactory academic progress (refer to the Grading System for definitions of all grades).
2. All graduate students are expected to maintain a minimum 3.0 (B) GPA each semester. Graduate students who have a semester GPA lower than 3.0 will be placed on probation and must maintain at least a 3.0 average in the following semester to have their probationary status removed. A graduate student must have achieved a minimum 3.0 GPA at the time a degree is awarded.
3. In addition to maintaining a satisfactory GPA, graduate students must meet all other academic and professional conduct standards set forth by their program.
4. A semester of residency is defined as one in which a full-time graduate student attempts 9 or more credits. Full-time graduate students in master's programs cannot exceed eight semesters of residency at the college to complete the requirements for their degrees. This is a minimum standard for academic progress and is not intended to represent normal progress, which is four to six semesters of residency at the college.
5. Part-time graduate students must complete their degrees with no more than 12 semesters of residency at the college.
6. Courses designated as developmental for graduate students (usually undergraduate level) cannot be credited toward a degree and do not count toward the full-time equivalent (FTE) semester. These courses are not factored into a student's GPA, but they may be used by the faculty in judging a student's overall potential to continue toward a graduate degree.

Graduate students who do not meet the criteria for satisfactory academic progress face academic dismissal. A graduate student may appeal an academic dismissal to the graduate Academic Review Committee. Appeals must be made in writing and accompanied by documented evidence of mitigating circumstances (e.g., illness, injury, personal tragedy, etc.).

Professional Standards:
BFA, MusB, MFA, and MM Programs*Professional Standards

Each of these degree programs (BFA, MusB, MFA, MM) emulates the ethics and standards of its professional discipline. Students are expected to pursue their courses of study and conduct themselves in a manner consistent with each program's criteria.

1. Students are required to maintain satisfactory academic progress as defined for undergraduate and graduate students, as well as the grading and professional criteria of their respective programs.
2. Each student's board of study is responsible for evaluating such matters as artistic growth, talent development, and a student's suitability for a professional life in the field, which—though difficult to assess in terms of grades and credits—are factored into the student's grades.

Professional Conduct Standards

All students are expected to comply with the policies and regulations established by Purchase College and their respective programs. College policies governing student conduct are outlined under Academic and Professional Integrity and in the Community Standards of Conduct, which are published in the Purchase College Student Handbook (www.purchase.edu/studenthandbook).

In the BFA, MusB, MFA, and MM programs, prompt attendance and preparation for all prescribed classes, studios, labs, tutorials, workshops, rehearsals, concerts, and performances are mandatory. Unexcused absences, tardiness, or lack of preparation indicates a lack of seriousness or interest in the program and constitutes a serious breach of professional conduct. Students should consult individual conservatory or school handbooks for the complete professional conduct guidelines for their program.

Professional Conduct Probation and Dismissal

Grounds for professional conduct probation, suspension, or dismissal in the BFA, MusB, MFA, and MM programs include breaches of professional conduct, lack of artistic growth (where relevant), or failure to make satisfactory progress advancing through program requirements. Before being placed on professional conduct probation, a student may be warned informally, but such a warning is not required. The director/chair of the school/conservatory formally notifies the student of the professional conduct probation via email to the student's Purchase College address and regular mail to the student's home address. The notification specifies the areas of concern and the corrective measures required.

Failure to satisfy the terms of probation may result in dismissal from Purchase College. While dismissal is normally preceded by a probationary period, a serious breach of professional conduct may lead to immediate dismissal. Professional conduct dismissal decisions are the prerogative and responsibility of the director/chair of the school/conservatory, in consultation with the board of study.

Copies of all letters relevant to warning, probation, and dismissal are placed in the student's file, and immediate notification is forwarded to the student. Probation and dismissal letters are forwarded to the registrar. Dismissal letters are also forwarded to the Offices of Student Financial Services, Student Affairs, Academic Affairs, and Residence Life.

Students' Right to Appeal

A student may appeal a professional conduct probation or dismissal to the appropriate dean, who will confirm or reverse the decision of the director/chair after reviewing all relevant materials. (Refer to the Academic Review Committee and Midterm Warning section for appeals of academic dismissals.)

Any updates to these policies during 2013–2015 will be available on the College Policies site (~~www.purchase.edu/policies~~).

Program Progress and Professional Standards

In addition to the professional ethics and discipline standards, including professional conduct, required in all BFA, MusB, MFA, and MM programs, students must demonstrate satisfactory progress in their school/conservatory and program as detailed below.

Conservatory of Dance | Conservatory of Music | Conservatory of Theatre Arts
School of Art+Design | School of Film & Media Studies: Film BFA Program

Conservatory of Dance

The Dance Board of Study reviews a student's artistic, academic, and technical proficiency twice each semester. In addition to prescribed coursework, all students participate in and are evaluated/graded on their freshman jury, sophomore jury, junior project, and senior project.

Undergraduate students must earn a grade of C or higher in all courses required for their major. A grade of C- or lower constitutes a failure to demonstrate successful academic or artistic progress. A student who receives grades of C- or lower for two or more semesters may no longer be eligible for scholarship funds and performance opportunities and may be dismissed from the Conservatory.

Graduate students must earn a grade of B or higher in all courses. A grade of B- or lower constitutes a failure to demonstrate successful academic or artistic progress. A student who receives grades of B- or lower for two or more semesters may be dismissed from the conservatory.

An undergraduate or graduate student may also be placed on professional conduct probation or dismissed for breaches of professional conduct at the discretion of the director of the Conservatory of Dance. In cases of professional conduct dismissal, students may or may not receive a formal warning, or probationary status, in advance. A student may appeal a professional conduct probation or dismissal to the dean of the School of the Arts.

Conservatory of Music

Undergraduate students must earn a grade of C or higher in all courses required for their major. A grade of C- or lower constitutes a failure to demonstrate successful academic or artistic progress. A student who receives grades of C- or lower for two or more semesters may be dismissed from the conservatory.

Graduate students must earn a grade of B or higher in all courses. A grade of B- or lower constitutes a failure to demonstrate successful academic or artistic progress. A student who receives grades of B- or lower for two or more semesters may be dismissed from the conservatory.

An undergraduate or graduate student may also be placed on professional conduct probation or dismissed for breaches of professional conduct at the discretion of the director of the Conservatory of Music. In cases of professional conduct dismissal, students may or may not receive a formal warning, or probationary status, in advance. A student may appeal a professional conduct probation or dismissal to the dean of the School of the Arts.

Conservatory of Theatre Arts

BFA students must earn a grade of C or higher in all courses required for their major. A grade of C- or lower constitutes a failure to demonstrate successful academic or artistic progress; students who earn a grade of C- or lower in a required course will be automatically placed on professional probation. When possible, students must repeat a required course to replace a grade of C- or lower in order to move forward within a discipline (i.e., to continue in a numbered sequence or to move from the 2000 level to the 3000 level, etc.). A student who receives grades of C- or lower for two or more semesters may be dismissed from the conservatory.

- In the theatre design/technology BFA program, repeating a required course in a subsequent semester or substitution of equivalent coursework is permitted only at the discretion of the board of study.
- In the acting BFA program, repeating a required course is usually not possible due to the cohort nature of the program. Therefore, students in this program who receive a grade of C- or lower in a required course will normally not be permitted to advance within the major.

Students in the theatre design/technology MFA program must earn a grade of B or higher in all courses. A grade of B- or lower constitutes a failure to demonstrate successful academic or artistic progress; students who earn a grade of B- or lower in a required course will be automatically placed on professional probation. When possible, students must repeat a required course to replace a grade of B- or lower in order to move forward within a discipline. Repeating a required course in a subsequent semester or substitution of equivalent coursework is permitted only at the discretion of the board of study. A student who receives grades of B- or lower for two or more semesters may be dismissed from the conservatory.

Within the BFA and MFA programs, lack of academic progress, breaches of professional conduct, as well as judgment on such matters as artistic growth and development may also be the basis for professional probation or dismissal.

A student in a BFA or MFA program may be placed on professional conduct probation or dismissed for breaches of professional conduct at the discretion of the director of the Conservatory of Theatre Arts. In cases of professional conduct dismissal, students may or may not receive a formal warning, or probationary status, in advance. A student may appeal a professional conduct probation or dismissal to the dean of the School of the Arts.

School of Art+Design

Students in the BFA and BS programs in the School of Art+Design are expected to meet all attendance and participation requirements in all studio courses. Unexcused absences, tardiness, or lack of preparation for class will not be accepted. More than three unexcused absences in any course will result in a grade of F or WF.

All undergraduate students in the School of Art+Design must earn a grade of C or higher in all studio art courses required for their major. Students must repeat a required course to replace a grade of C- or lower in order to move forward within a discipline (i.e., to continue in a numbered sequence or to move from the 2000 level to the 3000 level, etc.).

Graduate MFA students must maintain a 3.0 (B) GPA for successful progress through the program.

Lack of academic progress, breaches of professional conduct, as well as judgment on such matters as artistic growth and development may also be the basis for professional probation or dismissal.

School of Film and Media Studies: Film BFA Program

Students in the film BFA program must maintain the board of study's standards for academic and professional conduct. Criteria for advancement also include the student's fitness and potential for a professional life in the field, as determined by the board of study. Advancement each year is by invitation of the board of study following a scheduled, mandatory review of each student's work.

Any student on warning or probationary status is reviewed at the end of the semester (fall or spring). There is an ongoing assessment of professional growth in all work for all students.

Any updates to these policies during 2013–2015 will be available on the College Policies site (~~www.purchase.edu/policies~~).

Academic Review Committee and Midterm Warning

Academic Review Committee

The progress of students is reviewed at the end of each semester by the associate dean in each school (School of Liberal Arts and Sciences; School of the Arts). Appeals of academic dismissals are reviewed by the Academic Review Committee (ARC). Students are entitled to appeal dismissals at hearings before this committee, and those who are dismissed before the end of the semester have the right to an immediate appeal.

- The Academic Review Committee (ARC) for the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences is composed of three faculty members and three students.
- The Academic Review Committee (ARC) for the School of the Arts is composed of five faculty members (one from each conservatory and the School of Art+Design, and one for arts management), one voting staff member from the School of the Arts, and one or more students.

Students in the BFA, MusB, MFA, and MM programs must also adhere to the professional standards, including professional conduct, of these programs.

Midterm Warnings

The midterm warning is a notification sent after the sixth week of a semester to notify a student that there is some question as to whether the student can complete a course satisfactorily. If a student is warned of this possibility, it is hoped that he or she will make whatever extra effort that may be needed to pass (or to withdraw from the course, if appropriate).

Any updates to these policies during 2013–2015 will be available on the College Policies site, ~~www.purchase.edu/Policies~~.

Academic Probation

Academic probation is a formal notification sent to a student when his or her cumulative grade point average falls below 2.00. Copies of this notification are sent to the registrar and the student's advisor.

1. Normally, a student is placed on academic probation following a semester during which the student's progress has been found to be problematic. Probationary status is not a punitive action. It is intended to indicate problems that require correction and, if not corrected, may result in loss of federal Title IV aid and academic dismissal. However, academic probation is not necessarily a prerequisite for dismissal.
2. Academic probation is recorded on the student's transcript. To have such a notation removed from the record, a full-time student must, in the semester following the action, meet the minimum expectation described in the probation notice. The work must be completed on time, i.e., no incomplete (I) grades.
3. If placed on academic probation, students are encouraged to give particular attention to their educational and professional development.
4. In some situations, the appropriate school, conservatory, or arts board of study may determine that a student be placed on academic probation or dismissed during the course of a semester. Problems concerning professional conduct in a BFA, MusB,

MFA, or MM program or lack of classroom attendance by a student in the Educational Opportunity Program (EOP) may also fall into this category.

Restrictions of Privileges

Students who have been officially placed on academic probation are required to cease extracurricular activities in the expectation that they concentrate on their studies during the semester of probation. As soon as probation is removed from the student's record, the student is eligible to continue with his or her extracurricular activities.

Extracurricular activities are defined as:

1. Any elected or appointed executive board position in the Purchase Student Government Association (PSGA) or a PSGA-sponsored club or organization.
2. Any elected or appointed executive position in any governance organization, including the Purchase College Senate, the Educational Policies Committee, the Personnel Policies Committee, the Purchase College Association, Academic Review Committees, the Campus Appeals Board, faculty review committees, etc.
3. Participation in any intercollegiate athletic team. Students employed by the college (e.g., head residents, resident assistants, student directors) who are placed on academic probation are placed on "job probation" as well. These students have their employment commitment re-evaluated by the supervisor, who may recommend a reassignment of duties. Students on "job probation" may also be required to participate in academic support services (e.g., a study skills workshop).

Exceptions to the restriction of privileges are considered by the appropriate Academic Review Committee upon receipt of a letter of appeal within five academic working days of probation notification. The letter of appeal should state exactly what circumstances mitigate against enforcement of the rule.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Standards for Financial Aid

To maintain eligibility for certain types of financial aid, students must also meet satisfactory academic progress (SAP) standards for federal and state financial aid. For additional information on these standards, please refer to the Student Financial Services site (www.purchase.edu/Departments/EnrollmentServices/FinancialServices/).

Suspension

Suspension is an action taken by the college under extraordinary circumstances, e.g., cases of plagiarism or cheating. Serious breaches of professional conduct by students in the BFA, MusB, MFA, and MM programs may result in suspension or expulsion as well. For additional information, please refer to Academic and Professional Integrity and the annual Student Handbook (www.purchase.edu/studenthandbook/).

A student may be suspended for one semester or more and is considered to be "not in good academic standing" during the suspension period. At the end of the suspension period, the student may return to matriculated status at the college without formal readmission.

Academic Leaves of Absence

Students who are interested in studying at another campus as a visiting student, either in the United States or abroad, must receive approval in advance of an academic leave of absence. Please refer to Off-Campus Study for detailed information, including eligibility and the approval process.

Medical Leaves of Absence

A medical leave of absence may be requested by the student through the Counseling Center for substance-related or emotional reasons or through Student Health Services for physical reasons. A supporting letter from a student's attending physician, therapist, or counselor is required. Medical leaves, which are generally for a period of no less than six months and up to one year, must be approved by the associate dean for student affairs.

Renewing Medical Leaves

Renewal of an approved medical leave of absence must be requested annually in writing by submitting new medical documentation to the Counseling Center or Student Health Services. Students who do not renew their medical leaves will be administratively withdrawn from the college by the Office of the Registrar.

Returning From Medical Leave

A request to return to the college from a medical leave of absence is assessed when requested by a student. Assessments can be completed during the following periods:

- Fall semester returns: July 1 until the first day of classes
- Spring semester returns: December 1 until the first day of classes
- Summer session returns: May 1 until the first day of classes

Returns from medical leaves are subject to the recommendation of the Counseling Center or Student Health Services and approval of the associate dean for student affairs or designee. The required documentation and instructions for return requests is available online on the Student Affairs site at www.purchase.edu/departments/studentaffairs/policies/leavesandwithdrawals.aspx.

Maintaining Enrollment in the Student Health Insurance Program

A student who has enrolled in the college's student health insurance program is eligible to remain enrolled in that insurance program throughout his or her approved medical leave. To do so, the student must contact the Office of Student Financial Services before the beginning of each semester of the approved medical leave to make arrangements to pay the insurance premium in a timely fashion and to guarantee continuous insurance coverage. Failure to do so will result in loss of coverage.

Personal Leaves of Absence

Students in good standing may apply to the Office of the Registrar for a personal leave of absence. Applications must be submitted before the last day to withdraw from a course with a grade of W (refer to the academic calendar).

Leaves are normally not granted for first-year students, and seniors are advised not to interrupt their studies. When granted, a leave is usually for a maximum of two semesters. Permission to take a personal leave of absence includes the right to return without additional notification.

Notes for All Leaves of Absence

1. Students who are granted a leave at the end of a semester are responsible for finishing any incomplete work before the deadline for resolution of incomplete (I) grades (refer to the academic calendar).
2. Students on leaves of absence who are later found to be in academic difficulty will have their academic records reviewed by the Academic Review Committee (ARC). When warranted, the ARC may place a student on probation or take other appropriate action.
3. Students on leaves of absence may take coursework elsewhere as a nonmatriculated student, but cannot be guaranteed that Purchase credit will be given for that work unless specific arrangements are made in advance. (Please refer to Off-Campus Study for additional information.)
4. Academic dismissal will supersede any leave of absence.
5. Campus housing is limited and is not guaranteed for students returning from leaves of absence. For specific information related to on-campus housing, please call the Office of Residence Life at (914) 251-6320.
6. Taking a leave of absence may affect the repayment of educational loans and disbursements of student aid funds. Students who receive financial aid and/or have taken out educational loans must consult with the Office of Student Financial Services, (914) 251-7000, before taking a leave of absence.
7. Students on leaves of absence who do not return to the college at the agreed-upon time are administratively withdrawn as of the term that the return was to have taken effect. To return to Purchase College, students who have been administratively withdrawn must submit an Application for Readmission to the Office of the Registrar. Readmission, however, is not guaranteed.

Withdrawal From the College

Students intending to withdraw from Purchase College should comply with the following procedures, which are designed to ensure a smooth flow of information regarding a student's departure, to assess data regarding withdrawal, and to minimize potential problems in the event of readmission:

1. All required forms must be submitted, and an exit interview completed, at the Office of the Registrar before leaving the campus.
2. Purchase identification cards must be returned to the More Card Office.
3. Keys to residence hall rooms or apartments must be returned to the Office of Residence Life. All other keys must be returned to the appropriate building manager.
4. Refunds are based on the refund schedule published by the Office of Student Financial Services. Refunds on residence assignments are based on the date that students vacate their housing assignment and return their keys. Refunds on meal plans are calculated from the date students return their identification card.
5. Students on academic probation at the time of withdrawal will have that status noted on their transcript.
6. Students who transfer to another college are required to withdraw from Purchase College. Any matriculated student who does not register and does not notify the Office of the Registrar of his or her withdrawal from Purchase College will be administratively withdrawn by the registrar.
7. Withdrawal affects the repayment of educational loans and disbursements of student aid funds. Students who receive financial aid and/or have taken out educational loans must consult with the Office of Student Financial Services, (914) 251-7000, before withdrawing.
8. Academic dismissal will supersede any withdrawal.

Academic Dismissal

A student who is dismissed may not take any coursework at Purchase College for one year following his or her dismissal. This provision does not apply to students who have applied and have been accepted as internal transfers to a degree program different from the program in which the dismissal action took place.

In certain cases, an undergraduate student may petition their associate dean to take a limited number of courses offered by the School of Liberal Studies & Continuing Education after one semester of dismissal status. Students who had not yet declared a major at the time of their dismissal may petition the associate dean of liberal arts and sciences. Students dismissed from a degree program may petition the associate dean of their school (i.e., the School of Liberal Arts and Sciences or the School of the Arts).

Readmission after Academic Dismissal

Please refer to Readmission.

Academic Records: Overview

The Office of the Registrar maintains the official academic record of each student's enrollment and accomplishment. Before a student graduates, the academic record includes the student's transcripts from high school or other colleges. (As of September 1990, the Office of the Registrar does not maintain copies of narrative evaluations.) Students wishing to receive program clarification or to check on progress toward the degree are encouraged to see the registrar. The permanent academic record is normally available to the student for review. The record is considered confidential and is released to outside agencies only with the student's written consent.

The Office of the Registrar is responsible for implementing academic policies and procedures. It is the student's responsibility to be familiar with these policies, which are published in the Purchase College Catalog.

The Office of the Registrar is also responsible for the preparation of course schedules and registration guidelines for matriculated students each semester. The registrar must also certify students for veteran's benefits and loans. Because of close association with both students and faculty, the Office of the Registrar is an excellent source of information about the many academic aspects of the college.

Academic Transcripts

Permanent academic records are maintained by the Office of the Registrar for internal use only. Transcripts of these records are distributed externally only upon a student's submission of a Transcript Request (available at www.purchase.edu/registrar, under "Forms"). A transcript contains the following information:

1. All courses completed at Purchase College and the corresponding grades
2. Transfer credit awarded
3. Programs of study, majors, and degrees conferred

Information on obtaining academic transcripts is available on the Office of the Registrar's site at www.purchase.edu/departments/Registrar/AcademicTranscriptrequestProcedure.aspx

Financial Holds

If a student has outstanding debts to the college, a hold ("flag") is placed on transcripts and diplomas until the account is cleared. A default on New York State or federal loans would also require a hold on a student's academic records.

Policies Governing Student Records

Student records policies are designed to ensure that the college has a student record-keeping system that achieves an effective balance between the student's right to privacy and the college's need to use the same information in carrying out its educational mission. The college's policies governing student educational records are in full compliance with the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA), also known as the Buckley Amendment. These policies assure students' rights of privacy, while providing them with access to their own records.

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (Buckley Amendment)

These policies conform to the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (Buckley Amendment), referred to hereafter as FERPA, and are a declaration of existing practice. The full text of these policies, along with any updates, is maintained by the Office of the Registrar and available at www.purchase.edu/Departments/Registrar/ferpafullpolicy.aspx

I. Definitions

- A. In these defined policies, the term "student" refers to any person who has completed the registration process for any semester at Purchase College and for whom the college has developed an educational record. Applications for admission are not included in the term.
- B. "Educational records" are all collections of personally identifiable information pertaining to students; these records are maintained by the college or by parties acting for the college. This includes computer files and written materials contained in a file folder in a traditional manner. As stipulated by FERPA, the following files are not considered "educational records" and, as such, are not available to students:
 1. Records maintained by the University Police Department, the Counseling Center, and Student Health Services
 2. Financial records of parents
 3. Employment files (i.e., applications for resident assistant and student manager positions and job-related materials)
 4. Records developed and maintained by faculty and staff that serve their individual record-keeping purposes and remain exclusively in their individual possession
- C. A "school official" is a person employed by Purchase College in an administrative, supervisory, academic, research, or support staff position (including law enforcement unit personnel and health staff); a person serving on the board of trustees; or a student serving on an official committee, such as a disciplinary or grievance committee. A school official also may include a volunteer or contractor outside of Purchase College who performs an institutional service or function for which the college would otherwise use its own employees and who is under the direct control of the college with respect to the use and maintenance of personally identifiable information from education records, such as an attorney, auditor, or collection agent or a student volunteering to assist another school official in performing his or her tasks. A school official has a legitimate educational interest if the official needs to review an education record in order to fulfill his or her professional responsibilities for Purchase College.

II. Access

The essence of these guidelines and FERPA is that all students have the right to inspect their own educational records, irrespective of age or economic dependence on parents, with the exceptions listed above. Although the college is not required to release records maintained by the Counseling Center and Student Health Services, on written request by the student, information maintained in these files must be released to the appropriate professional of the student's choice.

There is a general limitation that a student may not review letters or statements of a confidential nature included in any of their files before January 1, 1975. These materials are removed before a student reviews the folder and are returned to the folder after the review, if relevant to the file. (Refer to Expunging.) All materials included after January 1, 1975, are available for student inspection unless there is written evidence in the folder that the student has waived the right to review a particular item.

A request to inspect an educational record should be made directly to the office holding the record. For those unable to come to the campus because of geographical location, requests by mail are honored. Copies are available to all students at the cost of reproduction. (Contact the Office of the Registrar for further information.)

Parents and legal guardians have access to their dependent's records if the student is a dependent in the Internal Revenue Service definition of the term or if the student has given written consent. Thus, it is the parents' or guardians' responsibility to present evidence of dependency before a student record may be released. If such evidence is presented, the student is notified.

Student records are accessible to employees of the college whose primary job responsibilities require access to some or all of the information included in a student's educational record and to employees with a legitimate educational need to review a student's educational record.

III. Right of Challenge

A student who discovers what he or she may feel to be an inaccurate, misleading, or incomplete recording of information in the personal record may request that a change be made by the appropriate submitting office. If the request for change is denied, the student may request that the hearing be conducted within a reasonable period of time by a person who is not directly involved in the issue, appointed by the vice president for student affairs and preferably approved by the student. In controversies related to a grade, the debate is limited to accuracy and completeness, and may not entail the justification for a particular grade. Complaints concerning the conduct of the hearing or the aspects of these guidelines may be directed to:

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act (FERPA) Office
Department of Education
330 Independence Avenue, SW
Washington, D.C. 20201

Students who differ with the decision rendered in the hearing are entitled to include a statement explaining their dissent in their file.

IV. Waiver of Access

Students may waive their right to inspect a particular file or portion of a particular file. Individual referees may require that students waive their right to review a particular letter of reference they have been asked to write. Faculty or staff involved in advising may recommend that students waive their right to review recommendation letters, in the belief that a waiver effectively increases the credibility and usefulness of the reference when reviewed by the admissions committee or prospective employer. The college may not, however, require that any student waive the right of access to a file or any part of the file.

Student waiver of access to letters of recommendation is generally exercised on a letter-by-letter basis. This may be done by affixing a signed, dated statement to the letter before its inclusion in a folder; or, in the case of letters included in the credential file maintained by the Career Development Center, by signing the candidate's waiver of right of access to confidential reference letters, printed on the confidential reference form.

V. Release of Records

- A. Except with respect to directory information or as otherwise allowed by law, there shall be no oral or written release of personally identifiable information from any student educational record without the signed and dated consent of the student, except to:
 1. school officials, as previously defined, who have a legitimate need to know
 2. state and federal education authorities to whom information must be made available by statute and/or for the audit of federal programs
 3. officials of another institution of postsecondary education where the student seeks or intends to enroll, or where the student is already enrolled to the extent that the disclosure is for purpose related to the student's enrollment or transfer
 4. organizations and educational agencies involved in testing, administering financial aid, or improving instruction, provided the information is presented anonymously
 5. accrediting agencies
 6. parents and legal guardians of students regarded as "dependent" by the IRS definition of the term, if dependency is demonstrated (access is "view only")
 7. comply with with a judicial order or lawfully issued subpoena, in which case an attempt is made to notify the student in advance;
 8. parents or other appropriate persons in the case of a health or safety emergency
 9. authorized representatives of the comptroller general of the United States and the Department of Education
- B. Directory information is information contained in an education record of a student that would not generally be considered harmful or an invasion of privacy if disclosed. Specific items regarded by the college as directory information are listed in the Registration Guide as part of an announcement informing students of their rights to exclude themselves from any or all such releases. Items currently regarded by Purchase College as directory information are noted below. Students also receive an annual FERPA notification through their official Purchase College email account. Students must notify the registrar in writing if they do not want their directory information to be available to the public.

Directory information:

Name
 Local campus mailbox number
 Campus telephone number
 Home address
 Email address
 Home telephone number
 Date of birth
 Matriculation status
 Class level
 Current full-time or part-time status
 Photographs
 Dates of attendance and graduation
 Major fields of student and degree
 Awards and academic degrees given at Purchase
 Participation in recognized college activities (e.g., election outcomes, membership in athletic teams, participation in plays and performances)
 Personal information on members of college athletic teams (e.g., height, weight, high school)

Also refer to the Solomon Amendment.

- C. Information may be released in an anonymous manner or in a way that does not infringe on any individual's right to privacy for research and for purposes of research or to protect the health or welfare of certain groups.
- D. Information regarding alcohol or drug use or possession may be released to parents or guardians of students under the age of 21. The guidelines regarding such release are published in the annual Student Handbook under "Alcohol or Drug Use/Possession Disclosure Policy."

VI. Expunging

Student records should be free of extraneous data that no longer serve the purpose(s) for which they were gathered. Therefore, systematic attempts should be made to expunge extraneous materials in student records. Another recommended means is to purge files on an ad hoc basis in the review given each file before the student inspects it. Judgments concerning the relevance of materials should be made by the person who is responsible for the particular file.

VII. Annual Notices

- A. Students are informed annually through their Purchase College email account of the rights provided to them by FERPA. This information is also published in the Registration Guide each semester to inform students of their rights and responsibilities. This information is provided to each student entering the college.
- B. The registrar is responsible for establishing these guidelines and monitoring their implementation. Questions, concerns, and suggestions should be directed to the Office of the Registrar, Student Services Building, First Floor, (914) 251-6360.

VIII. List of Education Records and the Officials Responsible for the Records

- Academic Records: director of admissions, registrar, academic deans, academic department, Advising Center, faculty offices
- Student Services Records: Counseling Center director, dean of students, director of student activities, vice president for student affairs, director of residence life
- Financial Record: director of student financial services, chief financial officer, director of financial aid

Educational records available for inspection do not include:

1. Financial records of the student's parents or guardians
2. Confidential letters of recommendation which were placed in the educational records of a student prior to January 1, 1975
3. Records of instructional, administrative, and educational personnel which are kept in the sole possession of the maker, and are not accessible or revealed to any other individual except a temporary substitute for the maker
4. Records of law enforcement units
5. Employment records related exclusively to an individual's employment capacity
6. Medical and psychological records
7. Thesis or research papers
8. Records that only contain information about an individual after the individual is no longer a student at the institution.

Students must not be allowed access to:

1. Education records that contain information on more than one student (the student may review only the specific information about himself or herself)
2. Financial records of the student's parents
3. Letters of recommendation or reference received after January 1, 1975, for which the rights of inspection have been waived

IX. Student consumer information requirement

In compliance with both federal and state law, the college makes available to students or prospective students information about instructional programs, costs of attending the institution, financial assistance available to students, the refund policy, qualifications of faculty members, graduation rates, and placement of grades. The vice president for academic affairs and the vice president for student affairs are available to assist students or prospective students in obtaining information specified in the Regulations of the Commissioner of Education, Chapter 2, Sections 53.1–3.4.

The Solomon Amendment 10 U.S.C. § 983

The 1996 Solomon Amendment provides for the U.S. Secretary of Defense to deny federal funding to institutions of higher learning if they prohibit or prevent ROTC or military recruitment on campus. Directory information that must be released to the military as it is presently defined under the Solomon Amendment:

1. Student's name and address
2. Telephone listing
3. Date and place of birth
4. Class level (freshman, sophomore, etc.)
5. Academic major
6. Degrees received
7. The educational institution in which the student was most recently enrolled

Any FERPA policy updates during 2013–2015 will be made available on the Office of the Registrar's site at www.purchase.edu/Departments/Registrar/ferpafullpolicy.aspx.

Appendices

Appendix A: Other College Policies Affecting Students

Appendix B: Additional Online Information & Resources

In preparing this catalog, every effort is made to provide pertinent and accurate information. However, information contained in this catalog is subject to change, and the college assumes no liability for catalog errors or omissions. Changes and new academic policies or programs will appear in the college's information notices or on the corresponding section of the Purchase College website.

It is the responsibility of each student to ascertain current information (particularly degree and major requirements) through frequent reference to current materials and consultation with the student's faculty advisor, chair or director, and related offices (e.g., enrollment services, advising center).

Notwithstanding anything contained in this catalog, Purchase College expressly reserves the right, whenever it deems advisable, to change or modify its schedule of tuition and fees; withdraw, cancel, reschedule, or modify any course, program of study, degree, or any requirement or policy in connection with the foregoing; and to change or modify any academic or other policy.

Appendix A: Other College Policies Affecting Students

In addition to the nondiscrimination policy and the academic policies outlined in this catalog, Purchase College has developed other policies that protect student rights and govern student conduct. These policies are presented in the annual Student Handbook (www.purchase.edu/studenthandbook), published by the Office of Student Affairs as a supplement to the College Catalog. It is the student's responsibility to be familiar with its contents, which include the Community Standards of Conduct.

The Student Handbook and additional college policies—including campus fire evacuation procedures, textbook accessibility and affordability laws, regulations for a drug-free environment, rules for the maintenance of public order, mandatory immunization requirements and meningitis compliance, parking policies and regulations, operational and technology policies, and the sexual harassment policy—can be accessed at the College Policies site (www.purchase.edu/policies). The following are selected highlights; students and other interested parties should refer to the College Policies site for additional information and updates during 2013–2015.

Student Rights

New York State Education Department Complaint Notice
Community Standards of Conduct and the Disciplinary System
Controlled Substance and Alcohol Policies
Sexual Harassment

Student Rights

Purchase College does not stand in loco parentis for its students. Taken from the Student Bill of Rights, as prepared and presented by the Purchase Student Government Association, the college assures students of all rights that have a basis in the U.S. Constitution and state and/or federal legislation.

New York State Education Department Complaint Notice

Purchase College administers internal procedures to receive, investigate, and resolve student complaints. Informal and formal means by which students can seek redress of grievances are identified through the Complaint Notice (www.purchase.edu/CampusLifeAndAthletics/StudentHandbook/ComplaintNotice.aspx). Students are assured of a reasonable and appropriate time frame for investigating and resolving a formal complaint, that final determination of each formal complaint will be made by a person or persons not directly involved in the alleged problem, and that assurances that no adverse action will be taken against a student filing a complaint and that notice to students about the state consumer complaint process has been made.

Community Standards of Conduct and the Disciplinary System

Members of the college community are expected to regard other members with a mutual respect for person and property. The Community

Standards of Conduct include academic and professional integrity; personal identification and representation; the rights of individuals; respect for property; the welfare, safety, and environmental health of the college community; the operation of the college; and supplemental administrative policies. These standards of conduct are necessary to meet the fundamental requirements of an academic and professional learning environment.

The college's disciplinary system is designed to promote individual student development and uphold the Community Standards of Conduct. The Office of Community Standards, which maintains the disciplinary system, is geared toward building students' understanding of their rights and responsibilities as members of the Purchase College community. It seeks to facilitate students' ethical development through education, behavioral consequences, developmental exercises, and, when necessary, separation from the college.

A single violation of the Community Standards of Conduct can result in various sanctions, ranging from an educational sanction, reprimand, and/or restitution to probation, suspension, or expulsion. Aggravated, repeated, or multiple violations may result in more serious penalties than those indicated for a first violation of a single standard of conduct. Minimum, recommended, and maximum sanctions for violations of each standard are detailed in the Student Handbook.

The campus disciplinary process is an administrative, rather than a legal, process. The standard of proof used in campus disciplinary proceedings is what is "more probable than not" to have occurred. This standard of proof is more similar to the one used in civil (rather than criminal) proceedings. Procedures are fair, respectful of student rights, and applied equally and consistently.

Controlled Substance and Alcohol Policies

Drugs are antithetical to the educational mission of the college. As such, students are hereby informed that Purchase College does not tolerate the illegal use of drugs and/or alcohol on its campus. Purchase College complies in all respects with the requirements of New York State laws governing the purchase, sale, provision, possession, and consumption of alcohol. Every member of the college community is expected to comply with those laws. No person under the age of 21 may purchase, possess, or consume an alcoholic beverage. Possession, use, sale, or other distribution of illegal drugs or alcohol may result in suspension or expulsion from the college. No special exemption from civil or criminal law exists for members of a college community.

Sexual Harassment

Harassment on the basis of sex is a violation of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (Section 703 of Title VII) and sexual harassment in any form will not be tolerated at the college. In addition, the Governor's Executive Orders Nos. 28 and 34 prohibit all state agencies from discrimination on the basis of sexual orientation. Students with grievances should contact the college's affirmative action officer or director of human resources. Pursuing a complaint on the campus does not rescind the student's right to file a complaint with an external enforcement agency. For detailed information, please refer to the Policy on Sexual Harassment (www.purchase.edu/Departments/humanresources/sexualharassmentpolicy.aspx).
