

Words in Art

Artists sometimes use words in their art to help tell a story or share an idea in a new way. In this artwork, called Grow, artist Les Levine placed the word “GROW” on top of a picture of the land. He wanted people to think about what the word means and how it makes them feel.

Now it's your turn!

Color and decorate the word “GROW” below. Use your own colors to make it your own!

Think about these questions as you create:

- What do you see growing around you this spring?
- What colors make you think of the word “GROW”?
- What does the word mean to you, and how can you show that in your art?

Have fun and let your imagination GROW!

